Education Board Honors Four Retiring Teachers

J. G. Phinney, chairman of the District Board of Education, presented W. J. Houston (right) with an engraved silver tray, at a dinner in the Gilbert Hotel last night. Mr. Houston leaves his post as principal of Trenton High School at the end of June.

TRENTON — Last night, the members of the District Board of Education entertained two retiring school principals and two retiring teachers at a dinner in the Gilbert Hotel.

W. J. Houston, who has served as principal of Trenton High School for the past two years, was presented with an engraved silver tray by board chairman L. G. Phinney. Mr. Houston will be leaving Trenton at the end of June. He said that he and Mrs. Houston had made many warm friends in Trenton and he promised to return from time to time for a visit. The new principal John Garrett will become principal in September.

F. W. Bowerman, principal of Trenton's Dufferin Street public School for many years, was given a gift from the board by supervisor of public schools, V. F. Carwell. Mr. Sherbert, who taught in Rossmore before coming to Trenton 18 years ago, said that the "best years of his life had been spent in Trenton." He is retiring for health reasons. During World War II Mr. Sherbert combined his school duties with those of company commander of the reserve Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Trenton.

Miss Hazel Walker, a teacher for 41 years, 29 of which have been spent in Trenton, received a gift from board member Mrs. Gabrielle Griffiths. Miss Walker, who taught at S.S. No. 4, Sidney, before coming to Trenton, said that Trenton school board had been progressive and contributed a great deal towards the advance of education.

Mrs. Nina Read, who taught in Wooler and Stockdale schools before coming to Trenton eight years ago, was presented with a gift by Mr. Carswell.

Miss Walker and Mrs. Read have taught in Marmora Street Senior Public School for the past few years.

Present at last night's dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Houston, Mr. Carswell, Mr. Houston, Mr. Garrett, Mrs. Griffiths, Mrs. Eva Baker, board secretary; George Greer, E. D. Topping, T. S. Ketchabaw, Dr. A. McNally, Louis Knack and Harold Parrow, all board members; Mr. Sherbert, Mrs. Read, Miss Walker, R. C. Conniah, and Zula Baxter.

Rev. Ronald Reid, chairman of management of the Trenton Board, was unable to attend.

G. Gerald Farrar was in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Banks Change Their Role

Every ten years Parliament reviews and revises the act under which Canadian chartered banks operate.

The next time this act comes up for revision, members of the Commons and of the Senate ought to take a long hard look, not only at the act itself but also at general trends in financial affairs.

Chartered banks are not what they used to be. The main difference is that their chief endeavor now appears to be urging people to spend, while at one time the typical banker was always preaching the virtues of thrift.

By this we do not mean to intimate that the chartered banks have no business indulging in their present effort to get out a larger share for themselves in what is called the consumer credit field. On the whole we welcome, rather than deplore, this development, since the banks, charges for lending money, although well above the simple six per cent interest that was once regarded as the maximum for bank loans, are still far less than those of finance companies.

As a matter of fact, banks are still believers in thrift and actively preach it, but most of this preaching is aimed at the young. Perhaps, with savings accounts at a record peak, the banks think these adults adequately "sold" on the advantages of thrift. Perhaps, indeed, they have sold all who can be sold; but that there are many Canadians who have not learned the lesson is clearly shown by the total of consumer debt. Perhaps some of these debtors could be taught how much cheaper it is to save today and buy tomorrow than to buy and borrow today and pay back for months on end. Life insurance companies do advocate thrift, but they get it teamed up with protection, which is not precisely the same thing.

Most ardent of the advocates of simple thrift these days are the trust companies, which more and more are coming to play the role which chartered banks once filled in the financial affairs of many an ordinary citizen. It is perhaps this reason that chartered banks have acquired substantial interests in several of the larger trust companies. Pierre Berton, columnist in the Toronto Star, recently gave a comprehensive review of this trend, not only listing the holdings of different banks in different trust companies, but also showing the numbers of individuals, but not giving their names, holding interlocking directorates involving banks and trust companies and also involving finance companies, too.

Perhaps something ought to be done to prevent the extension of this system, which looks alarmingly like a combine-or the beginning of a combine, even if it is not.

If the banks no longer find it profitable to preach thrift, then let us make certain that the trust companies remain independent to do the job.

Of course, the virtues of thrift can be over estimated. In the days when they were generally understood, we heard one old man, long since dead, assert that nobody ever got anyplace financially, until he got into debt. But the type of debt he was advocating was not the type common today—not the purchase on credit of consumer goods bound to depreciate in value but the acquisition of assets which would increase in value with the growth of the country and provide an additional source of income. He was, incidentally, one of the founders of a small trust company, long since grown past all recognition though still independent of the chartered banks.

Commonwealth Booklet

Friday, May 18, was observed as Commonwealth Day in schools in this province.

Part of the observance is the annual issue of a booklet by the Ontario Department of Education. This year its subject was "Youth in Commonwealth Africa." The "booklet," which came to our desk in the form of a score of loose sheets, printed on one side, was most impressive. Consisting mostly of excellent photographs of a wide variety of subjects, it must surely have stirred the interest and roused the sympathy of the young Canadians for whom it was produced.

In a dozen ways, it conveyed the message of Africa's eagerness to learn and progress. The primitive conditions under which this effort is being made were clearly shown. Yet we hope that teachers do not fail to impress on their classes that these pictures showed the brighter side of today's Africa. For, with one or two possible exceptions, the photographs failed to even hint at the severity of life for most of Africa's millions and without some idea of the Africans' burdens children may judge them too harshly when they exhibit impatience at the pace of change and hostility towards the white man.

I'm Impulsive You're Hasty He's Hostile

Antics with Semantics:

I am impulsive; you are hasty; he is pig-headed.

I like to greet casually; you are somewhat abrupt; he is a cut-up.

My attire; he is a walking scarecrow.

My attorney knows all the ropes; your attorney is full of tricks; he hasn't the slightest allegory shyster.

Only I have just the right degree of ambition; those less ambitious are lazy, and those more ambitious are unscrupulous.

The sole difference between a "dedicated crusader" and a "nosey reformer" consists in our agreement or disagreement with his objectives.

When I am in the mood to drive slowly, I am convinced that most auto fatalities are caused by "careless drivers"; but when I am driving fast I am equally persuaded that it is the "safety first" who account for the high accident rate.

What I mean by virtue of making changes in the status quo, I remind my friends is that "you can't stop progress"; but when I oppose making any changes myself, I declare that "we mustn't lose sight of our traditions and ancient values."

I exercise self-control; you are a little on the starchy side; he is bottled up.

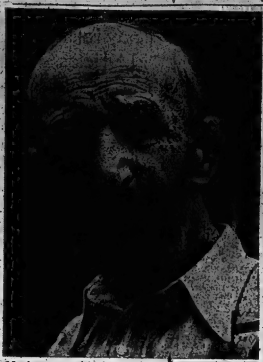
Speaking of that immense; useful word "perfection," I can imagine the last immense manager of the Wayagamack Division of the Wayagamack Pulp and Paper Company, Ltd., who has been assistant

British Columbia Restores Scene of Cariboo Rush

Barkerville: Glitter of Gold a Century Old



Reconstructed main street of Barkerville where an estimated 50 million dollars in gold was gleaned from nearby stream beds during years 1861-68. Today, miners have given way to tourists—perhaps 100,000 a season in future will trail the Cariboo.

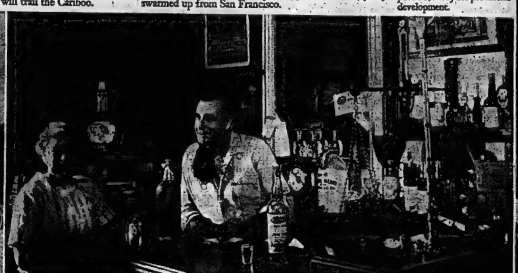
When ardent turned-goldminer Billy Barker began digging his claim just 100 years ago, other prospectors mocked his amateur efforts. A few weeks later Billy hit pay dirt worth five dollars a pan, $1,000 a foot, and the shanties around his diggings mushroomed into the biggest community north of San Francisco and west of Chicago. As the flow of yellow gold nuggets dwindled, the roistering town sank into obscurity for nearly a century. Today, Barkerville is once more appearing on the map of Canada. Increasing numbers of tourists are hitting the old-time trails of the 30,000 gold-seekers who flooded up from the western states in 1858—nine years before Canada became a nation, half a century before the Klondike gold rush in Yukon. To encourage visitors the British Columbia government is restoring Barkerville as a historic landmark—a place where summer vacationers can dream of the rip-roaring past, the human endurance, hardship, exultation and fortune finding that paved the way for provincial development.



Nearly a century old, Mr. F. J. Tregillus came to Barkerville in 1886, still prospects area.

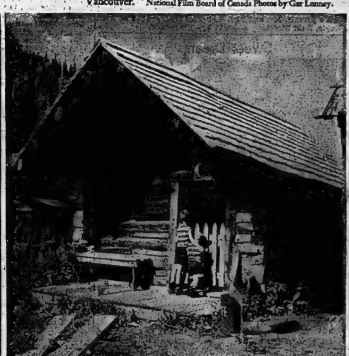
Mrs. R. H. Craft pans for gold in Williams Creek where fortunes were found a century ago.



Kelly's saloon in Barkerville. Town was razed by fire in 1868, rebuilt, then all but forgotten as gold discoveries came to a halt. Tourists, above, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCaugherty are from Kamloops, B.C.

St. Saviour's Church, Barkerville, nearly a hundred years old.

Blacksmith shop, Barkerville, where many mining tools were made.

In February, 1858, fifty pounds of raw gold arrived at San Francisco for minting. It came from the Hudson's Bay Company deep in the wilderness of what is now British Columbia. The mint superintendent, soon after receiving the gold, attended a meeting of the San Francisco volunteer fire department. The talk turned to gold, the superintendent said, "Boys, the next excitement will be up north on the Fraser River" — and the Cariboo gold rush was on.

Within two months the first of 30,000 men who were to swarm up the river that summer had disembarked at Fort Victoria on Vancouver Island where 400 Hudson's Bay Company employees and British colonists were living. In the following decade was born the beginnings of what later would become British Columbia, most westerly province of Canada.

The flood of miners from San Francisco were of many nationalities including American, British, German, Italian and Chinese. Steamships, old and new, seaworthy and decrepit, were pressed into service to carry the adventurers north. A few miners came from Ontario and Quebec, some taking ship all the way around South America to reach the mouth of the Fraser where Vancouver now stands. All made their way up the Fraser River Valley, north into the mountains, undergoing hardships of climate, hunger, frustration and loneliness in their search for golden wealth. Some found what they were looking for, others died for it, most lacked the staying power, gave up in disappointment and returned south. For 10 years the gold held out. New claims were found to be rich, old claims became barren. Men left the Cariboo, then returned. Men found fortunes, but died in the poorhouse. Others bought claims thought to be mined out by their owners—and found they contained more gold than they had yet yielded. Roads took the place of foot trails, hotel stopping places sprang up. Wagon trains ran to schedule, camels were tried (unsuccessfully) as freight animals. Communities mushroomed, business flourished. Saloons and breweries thrived, churches were built.

At last the flow of gold ebbed, yet many who had been attracted inland remained to farm, trap and develop the country. A prime factor in the birth of Canada's far west, the Cariboo gold rush (which started 10 years before the Yukon rush of 1898) has left many mementos for the tourists of today. One of these, Barkerville, is a town named after a sailor who struck it rich where other miners swore no gold existed.

This town is being restored by the British Columbia government to provide vacationers with an insight into the good-bad days, a century ago, when fortunes in glistening millions of dollars were made overnight, lives lost in the bitter winters of the mountain passes —and a Canadian province stirred into life.

Trade Show Will Be Made Annual Event

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian sample shows, such as the one now being held in Toronto to display Canadian products to American department store buyers, will be made annual events and will be extended to Europe, Trade Minister Hees announced Tuesday night.

Addressing a dinner at which he was host to Canadian exhibitory and American visitors, Mr. Hees said the success of the Toronto show led to the decision to repeat it, and added:

"We will also hold in Europe just as soon as it can be arranged an all-Canadian show in the heart of the Common Market.

We will fly buyers from all over Europe to a central location to see Canadian goods."

He predicted that a similar sample display in Montreal June 19-30 will be bigger than ever "because they are going to know, more, about

"JUST KNOCK THROUGH THIS WALL . . ."

Some of the suggestions made to prospective buyers are enough to turn us purple. "Pull out this wall and you'll have a dandy big living room." "Put a door here, there and the house will be filled with sunshine."

Maybe so. But sometimes knocking out a wall results in a living room full of plasterers. Ripping out that porch may fill you with more debris than sunshine. Where the cautious buyer will call a house on the strength of possible alterations ONLY if we know its construction, make those changes feasible.

If you want a house that's ideal AS IS — without knocking out or ripping out—by wire . . . pick up the phone and call us.

WEDDINGS

MONTGOMERY — WATSON

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty spring wedding on Saturday, May 10, at 2.30 p.m., when Alberta May Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Watson of Stirling, became the bride of Robert Lorne Montgomery, son of Mrs. William Montgomery of Stirling and the late Mr. Montgomery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in a floor-length bridal gown of nylon lace. The fitted bodice was attached to a bouffant skirt of nylon net over rayon accented with a border of sculptured lace at the hemline. The dainty square-cut neckline was trimmed with seed pearls and the long pointed sleeves closed at the wrists in lily-point cascades. She wore a waist-length veil of nylon net embroidered with tulle scalloped edge, caught to a seed pearl tiara headdress and carried a white Bible crested with red Sweetheart rosebuds with satin streamers.

Mrs. Maurice Montgomery, of Stirling, was matron of honor and wearing a street-length gown of turquoise silk organza. The fitted bodice was styled with a wide cummerbund which ended in a large satin bow at the back.

Miss Barbara Montgomery, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, attired in a street length gown of lime-green nylon chiffon over taffeta with shirred bodice and cascading back streamers.

Miss Linda Watson, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a similar gown in yellow nylon chiffon. All three attendants fastened bows of white velvet bows and veiling. They carried cascades bouquets of white chrysanthemums and fern, and wore matching shoes trimmed with seed pearl drops. Their gowns were complemented with dainty strands of pearls, the gifts of the bride.

Mr. Maurice Montgomery was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were: Messrs. Norman Reid and Robert Green, of Stirling.

Mrs. Harry Brown, church organist, provided the traditional wedding music, and Mrs. Bruce Glendinning was soloist, singing before the ceremony, "For You Alone," and during the signing of the register, "I'll Walk Beside You."

The reception was held in St. Paul's dining hall, to which the United Church women catered.

Mrs. Montgomery received the guests wearing a toast beige two-piece ensemble of rayon and nylon lace over satin in sheath effect with matching accessories, and corsage of baby-pink rosebuds. She was assisted by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Watson, of Hawkesbury, wearing a tafeta dress of navy blue with white flecks and corsage of red roses.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake decorated with white scrolls and silver leaves, and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and surrounded with lily-of-the-valley. The bridal bouquets added to the nuptial effect.

Guests were in attendance from Toronto; Havelock; Peterborough; Clarmore; Trent River; Bridge; Apsley; Belleville; Rawdon; Stirling and Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will reside in an apartment of the 6th concession of Rawdon, Ontario.

Previous to the wedding, the staff of the Elaine Shoe Store plant presented the bride-to-be with a steam iron, and the bridegroom, who is employed at the Rathbun and Wells Frame Shop, was the recipient of a platform rocker. The bride was also entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Maurice Faulkner with Mrs. Ivan Eggleton as co-hostess.

LITTLE — ULASK

A quiet, but pretty spring wedding was solemnized on Saturday, May 24, at 2.30 p.m. in St. Paul's United Church parsonage by the Rev. Harry M. Davis, pastor of the bride, when Miss Myrtle Alice Ulask, of Newcastle, Ontario, daughter of Mrs. Markley Ulask of Newcastle and the late Mr. Ulask became the bride of George Franklin Little, of Shannonville, son of Mr. Robert George Little of Shannonville, and the late Mrs. Little.

The bride was attractively attired in a white nylon sheer of powder blue chiffon over matching taffeta, fashioned with bodice of lace and fitted bodice having rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a matching petite floral hat, gloves and satin pumps and a single strand of pearls with matching earrings and red rose corsage completed her nuptial costume.

She was attended by Mrs. Vernon Kilpatrick, of Belleville, R.R. 2, who wore a pink nylon net dress fashioned with pink floral hat, and pink and white accessories, with corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Vernon Kilpatrick, of Shannonville, R.R. 2 attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's table was appointed with a dainty, cutwork linen cloth and centred by a white, three-tier wedding cake accented with blue roses and topped with white doves and nestled about the base with white tulle and pink rosebuds. Tall blue candles in crystal holders added a further nuptial accent.

For the wedding trip to Clayton; Watertown and a tour of the Thousand Islands, the bride donned a linen sheath accented with brown and matching jacket, straw hat and beige accessories, with corsage of Talisman roses.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at several showers and a presentation; a personal shower by her Norwich friends; by the girls at the home of Mrs. Victor Kennedy, of Belleville, with a miscellaneous shower; at a community shower in Shannonville, where the happy couple were presented with a chrome filling stile and a purse of money; at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tomlinson, R.R. 7, Shannonville.

The Experts Say

Chemical Additives Keep Fruit Crisp, Prevent Mould

By EDNA BLAKELY

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumers worry about chemical additives in foods because they do not understand what they are or what they do, says Eleanor Ordway of the consumer relations section of the federal health department's food and drug directorate.

"If consumers want modern up-to-date foods they must have additives," Miss Ordway said. "Additives are the tools of the food technologists."

For the last two years, the directorate has been working on a new food additive regulations. Former regulations worked on a "gentlemen's agreement basis but the new regulations will be law-bound and manufacturers will have to adhere to them."

The proposed regulations, governing between 250 and 300 additives, have been submitted to food manufacturers and associations for their comments. Miss Ordway said it is hoped the regulations will be in effect by the end of summer.

GETS NAME

The list of additives has been given the name GRAS which stands for "generally recognized as safe."

All those on the list now are in use and meet the following requirements:

The additive as used is harmless. There is a need or technological justification for its use in the interests of, or for the benefit of, the consumer.

There is a suitable method of assay for the determination of the additive in the food. The additive does not conceal damage or lead to the perpetration of fraud.

Food colors are not included in the new list because they are already included in food and drug regulations.

Citizenship Week Marked By C.W.L.

On May 14, the Catholic Women's League of Belleville observed "Citizenship Week", at a particularly interesting meeting held in St. Michael's Academy hall arranged by the Civic Action committee.

Mrs. Joseph Gallagher, president of St. Michael's Parish Council, welcomed Mrs. Vincent Muldoon, president of St. Joseph's Parish Council, and Mrs. Jack Darlington, Holy Rosary president, along with many members from all three parishes.

Women on the March, an excellent documentary film, was shown. It vividly outlined women's struggle to achieve recognition as a "person" in the eyes of the law, Pierre Berton's commentary brought home to the audience the outrageous struggle of women, during this present century, to achieve legal status and the franchise.

Following this, a second film portrayed the problems of European immigrants to Canada. One of the members, Mrs. Conrad Piwowarski, who, along with her family, has just received her Canadian citizenship papers, commented briefly on the latter film. She mentioned some of the problems which face an immigrant to any new country, and some of the acts of kindness which had made her feel so welcome here in Canada.

She was thanked by Mrs. Herbert Brown.

Mrs. Jack Darlington urged all League members to assist at the annual tag day, to be held this month. Volunteer diggers are asked to contact Mrs. Lemaden, the convener. Headquarters for the "Tag Day" will be the Cancer Society Club Rooms on Pinnacle Street.

Proceeds from this project each year are used for financial assistance to the following organizations: The Canadian Cancer Society; the Ontario Homes for Mentally Retarded Infants, Plainfield; Belleville and District Retarded Children; United Appeal; Christmas Welfare in the three Belleville parishes; and Christmas gifts for residents of the Hastings County Home.

Last year's total was $424, and it is hoped that this year's tag day will be another successful project.

The last portion of the meeting was devoted to questions on League by-laws, which were answered by Mrs. Ben Burley, a member of the Advisory Board of the Diocesan Council.

Coffee and refreshments were served, bringing to a close an interesting and informative meeting.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

SOME SMOKERS COMMUTE IN CONFUSION

Why aren't railroads more quickly routed away by air-conditioning?

Accumulating smoker writes that, like others, he has his favorite car — the third one up from the diesel engine. Frequently, enough to be annoying, the smoker will lose track of his sequence and mark this car "for a non-smoker." The example of human fallibility may be understandable, but not condoned. Moreover, when he catches the smoker smoking.

It's enough, this reader says, to drive him to commuting by car, where he can smoke in peace and the only signs he sees are the ones on the road.

Listen to the man talk, I guess that literally. Too many of us bear part of a person's sentences and assume we know the rest of it. And, too often, we're wrong.

I've listened to short, hot arguments that have burned a hole in my pocket when they didn't realize that the speaker was on his side.

It's good manners to hear the other person out.

"Wife Preservers"

To cheat pancakes effectively and easily, just sprinkle salt on a flattened plastic and rub.

Besides, you might learn something.

Like a lemming bent for destruction in the open sea, the party live-wire is the victim of an irresistible urge to drown himself society in his own wit.

Despite the stifled yawns of others, or the vista of heads buried in arms from his, he plunges on and on, like a wound-up toy that hasn't had sense enough to stop.

He's the first one to take up a new fad, a new joke or a new dance and the last to recognize when each of them has become an old bore.

More unfortunately, he has very opinion that he bolsters and he'd him to the party solely to liven things up. It goes without saying that the poor lady had other plans.

The Bengalese Have A Way With Fish

by Mary Moore

The fish recipe I am passed on to give you today was designed for economical fish fillets. I used haddock the first time that I made it and pole fillets the second time. It is a method that came from India but I have tampered with it to suit myself and in turn hope it will please you.

BENGALESE POACHED HADDOCK OR FILLETS:

(The original of this recipe called for buttermilk instead of sweet milk and cumin seeds. That version is satisfactory but I like the following better.)

About 4 cups milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoons Tabasco, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon turmeric, about 2 lbs. haddock or other fish fillets such as flounder or pole, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour.

Combine milk, salt and Tabasco in large frying pan. Bring to simmering point. Add chopped green pepper. Sprinkle turmeric over raw fish fillets and rub in gently on both sides. Lower into liquid in pan and simmer covered 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Length of time depends on thickness of fillets. Carefully lift out and transfer fish fillets to hot platter. Reserve liquid. In another pan melt and brown butter slightly; stir in flour until blended. Pour liquid in pan into butter-flour mixture and stir until thick. Add lemon juice. Pour over fish fillets, being sure gravy reaches is distributed evenly on top. Serve with rice or spread fluffy hot cooked rice on hot platter, arrange cooked fish fillets over it and pour milk sauce over all. Serves 4 to 5.

Another tempting fish dish reminiscent in principle of above is

SWISS'S CREAMED COD ON BOILED POTATOES (repeated from March 2/60):

Buy a cod fillet. Wrap in a cloth, or cookery parchment and simmer gently in covered pot with water to half cover for 30 minutes. Unwrap and flake and remove all bones. Make 2 cups medium white sauce (4 tablespoons each butter and flour, ½ teaspoon salt, heated and blended together and 2 cups whole milk stirred in until thick). Reheat the flaked cod in this in top of double boiler. Serve on cut up hot boiled potatoes (about 7 or 8) for a delicious inexpensive dinner that will serve 4. With it serve a salad or shredded carrots, lettuce, tomatoes and celery, dressed with mayonnaise

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Bachelor Goes Courting

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—I'm a farmer and have lived and worked on the farm all my life (31 years). My Dad and Mother have decided they will retire and move in to town this year sometime. Now I must get married and run the farm. My problem is I know a few family about 15 miles away from here. But trouble is I don't know the girls too well. They are about 18 and 20 years of age. Am I too old for them?

These girls are quite tall and have kind of dark blonde hair. I've always had a soft spot in my heart for a tall girl. I didn't marry younger because I feel I still had time. And during those years I have worked hard, and saved up money to buy my own land.

How should I go about the whole thing, making sure I don't make a fool of myself? I'm a patient person and would like to make a proper approach. Is it proper to take such things as flowers to a girl right from the start? I've taken few girls out in my life, but that was only for the fun of it. I didn't promise anything and didn't get serious. But this is different. I would and could give any of them a good home, but have no idea how I will turn out.—SINGLE FARMER.

DEAR SINGLE—Eighteen and twenty can be pretty juvenile for a hard worker of 31. What else do you know about them?

If your girls have taken responsibility and grown up fast, this means a lot. Is their religion like yours? And their education? Which one would you pick?

Obviously there is a lot to discover. Start by becoming a family friend. Write a note saying you would like to drop around some time for a visit. Maybe take something from your own farm which might interest them all.

Flowers are nice, but not the first thing.

And since you are putting yourself on the marriage market, spruce up with a good suit. Never goof by failing to bathe or shave. Look your best.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—My daughter is going to be married in the near future and I would like to know what expenses are paid by the parents with regard to (1) church rental, (3) flowers for the bridesmaids, (3) corsages for the mothers, (4) boutonnieres, (5) flowers for the church? Also, do the parents pay for the invitations to be printed?—MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.—(1) A charge for church rental is not usual, although for large weddings carpets, ribbons or awnings are sometimes rented.

2.—Flowers for the bridesmaids may be considered part of the wedding expense (and hence the responsibility of the bride's parents). However, in some communities it is customary for the groom to send the bride's bouquet and he may in this case pay for the entire bridal party flowers, as well as corsages for both mothers.

3. The groom provides boutonnieres for himself, the best man and the ushers.

4. Flowers for the church are provided by the bride's parents.

5. The bride's parents pay for the invitations.

• • •

DEAR DORIS:—I am a young widow, no children, and my husband was killed in an auto accident five months ago. I plan on doing a bit of dating this summer and wondered: should I still wear my rings on the same finger or leave them home, or just wear my engagement ring, or what is proper?—BEWILDERED.

DEAR BEWILDERED—A widow continues to wear her rings on the same finger until she marries again. When she removes her wedding ring, she may continue to wear her engagement ring on her right hand.

Anyone who is well enough acquainted with her to be making dates will be quite aware of her status.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—The British economy is often said to teeter on a razor's edge. Sometimes the edge is sharp enough to draw blood.

That is the situation this week as Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative government, reviewing a series of by-election reverses, comes in for sharp criticism from independent commentators and from its own backbench supporters.

The mood in the governing party is unquestionably testy. Recent by-elections have shown that the British public for the time being is fed up with the Conservatives. All the talk is of a "Liberal revival" which, if it continued, almost certainly will bring Labor back to power at the next general election.

The only crumb of comfort for the Conservatives is that the election probably won't be held for another 18 months, and in the interval anything can happen.

UNREST DEEPER

Meantime there is deeper unrest among Macmillan's followers than at any time since the Conservatives toppled Labor from power in 1951.

Money is the root of the Tory problems. Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the Exchequer, has sought to keep pay increases pegged at a level of 2½ per cent while the government formulates a long - term national wages policy in conjunction with industry and trade unions.

But the "pay pause" as the wages policy is called, is hard to apply fairly. The government has declined the salary list strictly over the public sector of employment, refusing any substantial increases to nurses, teachers and probation officers.

But it is a government firmly committed to free enterprise, and as such as been reluctant, unwilling or unable to impose the same restraint on private industry.

TOLD TO BE PATIENT

By an unlucky stroke of timing, this "quality" of approach was blazoned before the public one last week when British dockers received a pay increase substantially in excess of the government's maximum of 2½ per cent. In the same breath Health Minister Enoch Powell was in effect telling the nurses to be patient for a while longer.

As it happens, nurses are among Britain's economic Cinderellas, laboring long hours for less money than charwomen and for cleaning offices.

The dockers, on the other hand, are publicly regarded as ready-dealt men looking in any great conscientiousness. But they are represented by a powerful union, whereas the nurses won't use the strike weapon.

The government's varying approach is noted by The Times, which says it appears that "the hand that wields the cargo hook can in times of industrial crisis reply on an award of eight to nine per cent, whereas the hand that soothes the feverish brow will simply have to put up with an inquiry."

SHIFT EXPLAINED

Generally, there seems to be a feeling that the government is not producing any convincing measures to lift Britain off the economic razor's edge. Hence the sudden recent shift to voting Liberal, a trend that has the Tory rank and file calling for changes at the top.

Some criticism is being directed against Party Chairman Iain Macleod, who is also leader in the Commons. Many Conservative backbenchers would like to see Macleod replaced as party boss by Lord Hailsham, who specializes in the kind of ringing inspirational speeches the party now needs.

Macmillan is scheduled to make his next public speech Wednesday. His supporters will be waiting anxiously for some indication of a government move, including possibly a small-scale cabinet shuffle, as a means of easing the present discontent.

TO INCREASE DRAFT

BONN (AP)—West Germany still start increasing draft calls this summer to give its armed forces a strength of 500,000 men no later than 1966, the defence ministry said today. They now haved 360,000 men.

BAR LIBERAL

Meadow Lake, a prospective Social Credit candidate dropped out of the running—intentionally, Fred Murray, who earlier had paid his $200 deposit and filed his papers, withdrew Tuesday. He gave no reason for his withdrawal and was not replaced.

There were no other surprises before nominations closed.

Seventy candidates were named for the 21 seats. The PCs had a full slate, Liberals 18, Social Credit 12 and Communists two—in Port Arthur and Mackenzie.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's riding of Prince Albert was among those that nominated early, with four candidates in the field. Mr. Diefenbaker's opponents are Roger Carter, NDP, a 40-year-old Saskatoon lawyer who is the first bid for public office; Ken Solheim, Social Credit, 34-year-old Prince Albert contractor also making his political debut, and George Brandt, president of the Cumberland Liberal Association, who failed in his bid for a provincial legislature seat in 1952.

A former Liberal cabinet minister, J. W. Pickersgill, is running for the Liberals in Provencher, with his only opponent Whitford Minister, 56-year-old commercial traveller for the PC choice.

Two Liberal women candidates were named—Mrs. Lilla Jane Mercier, the first member of her sex to be named to the constituency of Chapleau, and Mrs. Isabel Hardie, who is trying to retain the Yukon seat held by her husband, Mervyn Hardie, since last year.

Following is list of candidates nominated in Ontario constituencies:

Legend: PC — Progressive Conservative; L—Liberal; NDP —New Democratic Party; SC—Social Credit; Comm—Communist; x-member of last House. Figures bracketed after constituency name indicate party majority in last election, or by-election.

Algoma East—SCEP (Comm)—Douglas Fisher (NDP), Gilbert Heath (SC), Osmo Lahti (Comm), Lloyd W. Morgan (L), Norman Wilson (PC)

Cochrane—(L 919)—Lovi Albert (SC), Francois Bordeleau (PC), Joseph A. Habel (L), Ross A. Paton (NDP)

KILL NEPALI REBELS

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Four Tibetan rebels were killed in a clash with government forces in the southwest Nepal district of Dang, a home ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

DENIES 44 CALLS

Scott that McDermott and Feeley had had the 1958 prison sentence of Windsor gambler Frank (Curly) Gardner cut short through "politics," but said that Shrubb and Sgt. John Anderson of the gambling squad had told him at the time there was "crooked politics" involved in the release.

WAS RELEASED

Gardner, a former henchman of the Toronto police Rosedale Club near Windsor, was released under a medical certificate after serving three months of a one-year sentence for operating a gaming house at the now-closed Roseland.

Wright said Shrubb told him the shortened term was "as other move by crooked politicians" and added Shrubb had told him he had "concrete proof" of this. Shrubb had expressed pleasure at going to Peterborough where there would be "none of this puss-pooling with politicians."

The former officer completely disclaimed the allegations of bribery in connection with the Shrubb shift to Peterborough as attributed to him in Scott's reports.

According to the Wright version as relayed by Scott, Shrubb's position in Peterborough had been "bought" by the two big gamblers through bribery of a police committee composed of Police Chiefs Earl Bird of London, Garnet Mc-Gill of Toronto Township and John Patrick of Kitchener.

RATE WERE PAID

Chief Knight was reported as having received $5,000, Meehan $2,000 and Sergeant Detective Sansone of London and Patty Wells, whose home town were not given.

Shrubb's wife also was alleged to have received $2,000 to induce the officer to take up an apartment away from the gambling squads—an allegation she already has denied before the commission.

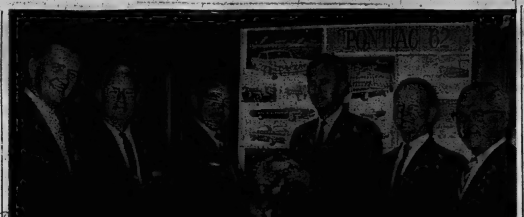
Wright called the whole series of bribery allegations "foolishness." He said Scott had made them up.

He also said he could not recall, because he had been drinking, three statements listed by Scott as having been made to him in Wright's presence in 1960 by Const. Carman Lawrence of the anti-gambling squad:

1. That a member of the attorney-general's legal personnel was receiving $600 a month from "the Thieves" (the police pseudonym for McDermott and Feeley).

2. That Lawrence and Const. Kenneth Lamorie of the squad were receiving $500 a month from gamblers including $200 from McDermott, (Lamorie and Lawrence resigned at about the time Wright was arrested in 1960.)

3. That Lamorie and Lawrence went to Sammy Balsam, a Niagara Falls bookie, in an attempt to get paid for tipoffs.



TRACKS DOWN CALLS

Const. Moore, who produced a bulging portfolio of telephone long-distance records, told of tracking down Scott-Wright-McDermott calls during early 1960 when Scott was posing as a crooked policemen in an effort to trap Wright, who also claims that he himself was simultaneously trying to track down leakage in the OPP.

He listed 46 calls to Scott from telephone booths in Belleville, where Wright had been moved after being transferred off the anti-gambling squad, and 64 calls to McDermott from Belleville booths.

Fifteen calls to Scott had been followed—with an average time lapse of one minute and 45 seconds—by calls to McDermott from an adjoining booth. In five cases, calls to Scott had been followed by calls to McDermott from the same booth, the average time between the two calls in this case being about four minutes.

Twelve calls from McDermott's home at nearby Port Credit, using the telephone listing of another person, had been examined by the officer. Eight of these had been made to the Ramsee Club at Niagara Falls on days on which Scott had deliberately provided a tipoff on a raid.

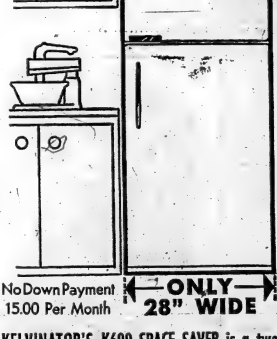
Trial of Salan In Final Day

PARIS (Reuters)—The trial of former Gen. Raoul Salan entered its eighth and probably final day today with the death sentence considered a virtual certainty for the leader of the European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

All the evidence has been submitted and only the final statements of the defence and prosecution were left to be heard on the charges against Salan of treason and terrorism.



The prosecution will demand the death sentence as it did in the trial of former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, Salan's senior aide who was sentenced to the guillotine six weeks ago.

The 63-year-old Salan spent most of Tuesday in prayer.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. H.V. — If she won't mind Larry I can't visit my daughter.

Wanda V. — How can I watch over a wild teen-ager?

• • •

Mrs. H.V. — We have a married daughter living out West, a married son living a block away and a 15-year-old son living at home with us. Our daughter expects her second child soon and is counting on me to stay with her family while she's in the hospital, and for a few weeks after her return.

What can be more natural than for me to send my young cat over to his brother's house for the month or so I'll be away? I can't leave him home with my husband. They get into terrible arguments and when I'm not there to keep them apart, I shudder to think what could happen. I figured he'd have some respect for his brother and especially for Wanda, my daughter-in-law, who's new in the family.

But Wanda says no, absolutely no. She wants me to take Larry along.

• • •

Wanda V. — Her mother-in-law considers herself a progressive mother where her baby boy is concerned. He's never been disciplined and, as a result, is a wild kid. He won't take orders from me, I'm sure. He doesn't act friendly to anyone in the family except his mother and me. Making me responsible for him would ruin our friendship.

The boy is an adolescent and too much for me. He flares up easily if crossed. Maybe it's all right for him to practice on his trombone at all hours in his own house. My in-laws own it. But we're not tenants in ours and if he behaved the way he does at home, we'd be evicted.

Frankly I have enough of a job taking care of my husband, her other son. She'll have to figure out some other solution for this one.

The Council: As Confucius might put it: She who seeks hospitality for child must raise to be gracious guest. Larry's behavior may be the kind that "only a mother can love." If so, Mrs. V. is not free to run off and leave him with anyone else, certainly not with her young daughter-in-law, who is not long out of her own adolescence.

Parents with "theories" on child-raising are entitled to work out their ideas to their heart's content. But, unless their methods produce a civil and civilized youngster, they can't expect his "misfits" him—half-bashed, half-shaped — upon kindly friends and relatives who must assume he knows the routine, basic "rules" of social conduct. Thus, if Larry flouts authority and can be managed only by his mother, Mrs. V. must stick around. There must be something wrong with his background—or with the home situation, if he can't be left with his father. And Wanda's not a mother-substitute for a brother-in-law only a few years older than she, especially one with more than the usual teenage problems.

There are two possible courses for Mrs. V. which come to mind. One is to take Larry along on the western trip. Perhaps the shock will hold off till the end of the school term. If not, some understanding may be worked out whereby he can join his mother and sister and the latter's family immediately after his examinations. Or if there he can be enlisted to help with the other child, to run an important errands and be otherwise useful. Away from his old haunts and stultifying cronies, with a new and challenging Larry may reveal himself. At least in letters home, Mrs. V. and her daughter will probably depict a Larry whom Wanda won't recognize — able, willing and a real "Jack Dalton of the Marines"! Nothing like a change of climate for some kids.

Otherwise, Mrs. V should postpone her visit. She must choose between doing right by her daughter's baby or her own baby. Then her own is more mature, or can be left in the proper hands, she can skip it.

How to Cook PORK ROASTS

Place roast fat side up on a rack in an uncovered roasting pan—centered in a moderately slow oven (325°F) and roast to a well-done stage (internal temperature 185°F as indicated on a meat thermometer). The cooked meat should be greyish white in colour with no trace of pink, particularly near the bone — and should be fork tender. Season halfway through cooking. Serve with gravy. Roasting times are based on the temperature of the meat (40°F) when taken from the refrigerator.

City Cannot Regulate Sale Of Fireworks

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville of the Supreme Court of Ontario ruled today that the city of Peterborough cannot regulate the sale of fireworks, adding that such a bylaw passed by the city was substantially beyond its powers.

He granted an application by the T. W. Hand Fireworks Company against a bylaw passed by the city to prohibit or regulate the use of fireworks in the area and to prescribe the conditions under which fireworks displays may be held.

Mr. Justice Landreville said a municipality may prohibit the setting off of fireworks at any time during the year, "but if it decides to do so, the prohibition must be all-comprehensive, and cannot be limited to certain classes of persons."

The bylaw disqualifies persons under 18, although section 9 of it fail to prohibit them from having, buying or selling off fireworks, Mr. Landreville said. Prohibition against all minors was fair in theory, but not under the present of a regulation.

"Public fireworks under 18 have the same right as adults under any statute, unless specifically prohibited," he concluded. "They are legal entities."

His decision said he was also giving consideration to the argument that the bylaw is an attempt to license the possession of personal property.

HERSEBEKE, West Germany (AP) — A four-engined U.S. Navy Constellation aircraft broke up in flight Tuesday and crashed in flames near here in south Bavarian town, killing all 26 aboard.

The plane carried 22 navy officers and men and four army personnel, authorities said, on a routine navigational training mission.

Officials at first reported that the WV-2 Lockheed Constellation—which apparently exploded in the cloudless sky—was on a secret mission. later, a spokesman for U.S. Strike Command Air Force headquarters at Norfolk, Va., said the secret mission report resulted from what he called a misunderstanding.

The spokesman said that the navy department in Washington confirmed 26 persons had been aboard although the flight manifests indicated the plane was carrying 22.

All bodies were reported recovered.

HEARS HOWL

A fish hatchery worker said the plane hurtled toward the earth with a shrill and frightening howl, and then "there was a terrible explosion and flames shot up."

Heat from the flames—which could be seen for miles around the Bavarian countryside—drove back the farmers who gave to help any who might have survived.

The Constellation—flying out of Frankfurt but regularly based at Rota, Spain—had radioed an emergency signal and apparently was trying for a landing at Munich.

ARCHBISHOP RETIRES

MONTREAL (CP) — Most Rev. John Ireton, 73, Anglican archbishop of Montreal, announced his retirement Thursday after 50 years in the ministry. He was named archbishop Nov. 24, 1959, after 17 years as bishop. Earlier he served the church in Toronto, Ottawa and Fenaghvale, Que.

"Jest a Second"

"What the dickens are you reading now?"

BY JOSEPH HEYWOOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It was probably inevitable that the trend of United States comic strips would eventually draw a blast from Soviet officials. Some "Russian" lines already caused uneasy comment at home.

Now Vyacheslav N. Bounine, first secretary of the Russian embassy in Tokyo, it was just too much that a pig starring in the current episode of Pogo looks curiously like Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Bounine wasn't comforted when the cartoon character—instead of confining himself to his sty—began spouting proverbs in the manner of Khrushchev.

"You forget prominent previous! Very funny in Russian! Not funny in English. Will be divided among the peasants."

STIRS AT REGISTERED

Pogo artist Walt Kelly has used satire against figures of both left and right in the political field. He depicted the late senator Joseph McCarthy as Simple J. Malarkey and recently published a collection of his cartoons under the title The Acid Society, aiming at the right-wing John Birch Society.

Kelly has also lampooned the New Republic—has carried the whole country" he says—so called comics calming, of all people, Little Orphan Annie and Li'l Abner, representatives of big-time real political situations at home and abroad, and the ultra extremist right-wing solutions."

Ben H. Bagdikian wrote in the New Republic that "the whole pow! zock! blooey! school of humor in the comic-strip section" page of the paper is becoming illustrated political propaganda.

Things had changed since Li'l Abner, Orphan Annie and Waugh was able to speak in his book The Comics of a not-so - unwitting that comics syndicates kept out of politics, he added.

Bagdikian is intrigued by the "new generation" who is really 37 years old although ever a little girl, toppled Castro as Manhattan Tzvo, declared in Tribulo. The writer once claimed the Li'l Abner is enamored in Annie's strip in September months, "all done in the patriotic righteousness." Other un-comic examples:

Mary Lee of Terry and the Pirates, having foiled a Russian plot, later is arrested on a space failure in the Pacific, flew to Berlin where one of his men becomes enamored with a ballerina who was really working for the Reds, and ended up with a finger for Mrs. Khrushchev.

Court Rejects Attempt to Upset Will

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada rejected an appeal Tuesday to upset the will of A. Bowmanville, Ont., man on grounds that the will was obtained by fraud and the undue influence of his housekeeper.

Daniel Kaufman died at the age of 84 in Bowmanville 13 days after he signed a new will leaving all but a small proportion of his $21,500 estate to the housekeeper, Mrs. Beasie Walley. His daughter, Mrs. Gladden Anderson, received $600 and a second daughter, Mrs. Ida Houge, $300.

The two daughters contested the will in the Ontario Supreme Court which ruled that the will was obtained "by fraud or undue influence of . . . Beasie Walley." The Ontario Appeal Court later reversed the decision and said the will was valid.

The Supreme Court rejected an appeal by the two daughters against the Ontario Appeal Court decision. The appeal was dismissed from the bench and no reasons for judgment were given.

Poll Reveals Majority Like Queen's Voice

LONDON (CP)—A Daily Mirror poll reveals that a majority of Britain's youth like the Queen's voice and think she deserves all the comfort she can get.

The newspaper is conducting an inquiry into how people between 15 and 25 view "royalty, religion and the people who rule us." The poll involves "hundreds of young people."

Today, the survey shows that three out of four young persons say that the Queen deserves the luxury she receives and three out of five like the Queen's voice and accent.

Four out of five do not mind the Queen supporting hunting and similar blood sports and eight out of 10 days she helps to keep the Commonwealth together.

The Queen stands at the head of the list of those persons in the news that young Britons would most like to meet. Prince Philip is second and Elvis Presley third.

Albert Schweitzer is fourth on the list with President Kennedy fifth.

Seven out of 10 young persons would rather have a Royal Family than a president and only one in five think royalty is out of date.

The poll says that young people tend to choose between the Queen and Prince Philip because "is the least frayal," the least symbolic of the monarchy."

Another Launched

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—The air force launched another of its secret satellites from this Pacific coast base today—this one in pre-dawn darkness.

A spokesman declined to say anything other than that the unmanned satellite was boosted skyward by a solid propellant Blue Scout rocket, the same type used in past launches.

Prisoners at Penal Colony Defy Prison Authorities

MADRID (Reuters) — Some 500 long-term prisoners today defied prison authorities at a penal colony near Cadiz in a demonstration in sympathy with Spain's growing wave of strikes.

The prisoners have resisted since Tuesday efforts by guards and firemen to force them back into their cells at the Puerto de Santa Maria Prison in southern Spain.

Reliable sources said the demonstrators used bottles to attack fellow convicts who refused to join the prison yard demonstration, wounding two, one severely.

The demonstration occurred as Spain's growing labor strife entered its second month with some of the emphasis shifting from economic demands to protests against the regime of Gen. Francisco Franco.

Official sources said that more than 80,000 workers now were on strike throughout Spain.

The largest number were in the northern provinces of Asturias where more than 21,000 coal miners and metal workers resisted government efforts to get them to return to work. The strikers have gained the support of seven outlawed political parties including the Communists.

The Communist party loaned a manifesto calling for an "immediate development of the anti-Franco movement with the use of all forms of struggle."

Six other clandestine parties in Madrid also issued an appeal for "collective acts of civil disobedience" to protest against Franco's "despotic" regime.

All Wanted To Shake Hand At Same Time

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker was nearly mobbed Tuesday night in the suburban Don Mills Curling Club of about 3,000 persons who all seemed to want to shake hands with him at the same time.

The prime minister's 10-minute speech was mainly lost in a babbish of conversation and occasional shouts of "Speak up" and "Louder" caused by poor acoustics and a faulty public address system.

There were also some scattered boos. At least a few Liberal supporters trickled into the meeting. Books of matches proclaiming "Mr. Pearson team for Canada" were tossed on the press table and a door attendant whispered to members of the following throng "vote Pearson."

Mr. Diefenbaker countered shouts of "Louder" with the the story about the public speaker who asked whether those in the back of the hall could hear him. They shouted "No" and the speaker said "You're lucky."

Mr. Diefenbaker was speaking in the most populous constituency in Canada—York-Scarborough.

The crowd sang For He's a Jolly Good Fellow and gave him three cheers at the end of his address.

Onetime Boxer Wins Bout With Robber

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Johnson, 59, onetime featherweight amateur boxer, won a bout with a would-be robber Tuesday as he chased the man with 26 cents in the United States.

Johnson, a cashier in a Toronto liquor control board store, was carrying the money to a bank. With him was Frank Scott Donagh, 52, a counter attendant at the store.

About 30 yards from the store, the man stepped from behind a parked car, "Give me the bag," he said, grabbing for the briefcase.

When Johnson hung on, the man hit him on the side of the head.

The assailant came back with a swing that sent Johnson sprawling. He kicked Johnson several times to make him release the bag, but Johnson swung back with his left hand. He flung a left to a couple of good punches," he said.

It was the smallest he got of the bag, sprinted through a car lot and escaped over nearby railway tracks.

Johnson weighs 145 pounds, about 20 less than his namesake, the former heavyweight boxing champion. He fought more than 20 bouts as an amateur around his Durham, England, home in the 1920s.

Uranium Sale To U.K. Has Been Completed

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker confirmed Tuesday that Canada and the United Kingdom have agreed on terms for the sale of Canadian uranium.

Mr. Diefenbaker confirmed the report that an agreement has been reached when questioned at a press conference here. However, he refused to give details.

He said that "in a spirit of goodwill, Canada has made an excellent co - operation, an agreement has been arrived at and all that is left are the final matures."

The agreement would end more than a year of continuous negotiations between the two companies.

Reports say the contract will be in the neighborhood of $120,000,000 or approximately 12,000 tons sold between $5 and $5.25 a pound.

According to the reports the agreement is expected to give producers about 17 months production, although this will vary among them. Each mine, it is reported, would receive costs of production plus a percentage and profits.

There are currently seven producing uranium mines in the Elliot Lake and Bancroft areas of Ontario and in northern Saskatchewan.

New Approach to Mental Illness Treatment Urged In Brief to Commission

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Mental Health Association Tuesday urged a bold new approach in the treatment of mental illness to knife though obsolete, restrictive notions.

In its brief to the royal commission on health services, the CMHA proposed that mental illness should be dealt with in the same framework of organization, administration and treatment as physical illness.

Suggesting th'a t significant gaps remain in public knowledge of the subject, it charged that business executives, chartered accountants, bankers, lawyers and related groups are more inclined to discriminate against mental illness than is the "man-in-the-street" or certain other groups such as teachers or clergymen.

The brief described the medical profession as being "very reluctant to accept mental illness as a group of diseases needing the active or competent investment of professional time, training, research and public money on a physical illness."

SPENDS LITTLE

Dr. F. C. B. Challe, professor of psychiatry at the University of Toronto, told the commission that Canada is spending five cents per capita on psychiatric research compared with 20 cents in the United States.

The federal government should increase its grant for research programs by 10 to 20 per cent, the brief added.

Mental illness still is often regarded as a "crime to be punished, a sin to be whipped out," it said.

"Although it has long been known that a high incidence of mental and emotional illness is much greater than that of most physical illnesses."

The CMHA also said mental health services should be given "grossly inadequate" at a time when the best opportunity exists to exercise modern preventive techniques.

CHILDLESS DISTURBED

Its brief said there is evidence that between five and 10 per cent of Canadian school children show symptoms of emotional and mental disorder serious enough to require professional help.

A fully-staffed child guidance clinic should be established and 15 to 20 hospital beds for disturbed children for every 100,000 of 25,000 children or 100,000 population, it said.

The CMHA called for—an expansion of provincial laws dealing with the procedure by which mental cases are committed to institutions.

The common procedure for mentally ill persons picked up by the police is to lodge them in cells until papers can be prepared and sent them to hospital for treatment.

Anzac Forces Prepare to Go To Thailand

BANGKOK (Reuters) — Token military forces from Australia, New Zealand and probably Britain were being drawn up today to join U.S. troops in Thailand.

The combined military operation was said only the formal approval of the Thai government.

An Australian force of 1,500 men force already has been accepted by Thailand but similar offers from New Zealand and Britain still are being considered, it was said.

The combined operation is drawn up as a test of the military effectiveness of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization, comprising the U.S., Britain, Australia, France, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Of the seven SEATO members, only France was believed to have declined any offer of troops to join U.S. forces which arrived here a week ago as part of an expression of American determination in the face of pro-Communist pressure in neighboring Laos.

Since the arrival of U.S infantry and marines the military situation in Laos has been at a standstill with diplomats trying to solve—by negotiation — the kingdom's bloody civil struggle.

The U.S. force has been built up of almost 5,000 men with strong aerial support, but the orbs of forces from other SEATO countries to be sent here still was not known.

All Expenses Will Be Paid For Life

BARRIE (CP)—Carol Hare, 17, and seven feet six inches tall, will have all her expenses paid for life as compensation for a fractured spine she suffered in an accident.

Carol has been in a Toronto hospital since August last year when she tripped on a broken sidewalk in Collingwood, about 35 miles west of here.

She has been paralyzed from the neck down since the accident and has paralysis is expected to be permanent because of damage to the spinal cord.

Mr. Justice C. D. Stewart in Toronto approved an out-of-court settlement by counsel for the girl and the town of Collingwood.

Her lawyer, William McMurtry, Toronto, said no figure could be stated in the over-all settlement because of the involved terms.

All the girl's medical, nursing, hospital and dental expenses will be paid. Her father, Alfred Hare, will have all his expenses paid with an additional amount to cover housekeeping.

U.S. Woman Tourist Hit By Stray Bullet

BELGRADE (Reuters)—The United States embassy here today was investigating the shooting incident near the Yugoslav-Greek border which saw an American woman tourist was slightly wounded, usually reliable sources said.

The injured woman, whose name was given as Patricia Johnson, received a flesh wound in the shoulder from a bullet when a burst of gunfire hit a car she was driving along a frontier road late Saturday night, it was said.

Yugoslav soldiers were said to have fired on the car from both sides of the road just before the shooting.

Another American woman in the car whose name was given as Roseviths Ralzield of Kansas unhurt.

Both women were understood to be employed by an American firm in Geneva, Switzerland and were on a two-month tour of Europe.

They told a U.S. embassy official they lost their way in the dark and took a wrong turn while driving between Titograd, capital of Montenegro in southern Yugoslavia and Pec, the sources said.

Fire to Give Scott Carpenter A Landmark

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—A giant man-made forest fire may be lighted in Saskatchewan in time to give United States astronaut Scott Carpenter a landmark to watch for during his orbital flight.

The Cape Canaveral Project Mercury launching is scheduled for Thursday.

The Saskatchewan fire would be to clear almost 30,000 acres of mostly non-merchantable timber in an area about 113 miles northeast of here. The area is to be flooded as a reservoir for the Squaw Rapids hydro - electric development.

R. N. Gooding, Saskatchewan's natural resources department construction chief said Tuesday:

"We may try to light the fire for the American astronaut launching to give him a view of Saskatchewan as he whirls around the earth."

At least 30 men are to touch matches to the woods across a 200-mile wide front. Mr. Gooding said most of the crews who will handle the blaze already were in position awaiting suitable wind and weather conditions.

A fireguard 150 miles wide between Nipawin and a helicopter is to be used for aerial co - ordination.

MAY LOSE CITIZENSHIP— Prof. William Heckscher, director of Utrecht University's Iconological Institute in The Netherlands, may lose his Canadian citizenship unless he returns to Canada by 1964. Canadian law requires him to return after a 10-year-period and he has already been granted a fifth extension, having left Canada in 1947. Prof. Heckscher is shown with wife Mary of Toronto and daughters Diana, 17 (right) and Catherine 15. (CP Photo).

UTRECHT, The Netherlands (CP)—Prof. William Heckscher, one of the world's leading authorities on the history of art, still faces the choice of going back to Canada for a year's residence or losing his Canadian citizenship.

Prof. Heckscher, 57, was born in Hamburg and became a Canadian in 1944. He left Canada for a teaching post in the United States in 1947 and since 1955 has been director of Utrecht University's Iconological Institute.

He thus falls within a section of the Canadian Citizenship Act which provides that a naturalized Canadian will lose his citizenship if he stays outside Canada for more than 10 years.

WANTS RULE PASSED

The professor hopes that the Canadian government may act on a bill proposed last July by J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal citizenship minister. The bill would amend the Bill of Rights to ensure that Heckscher's citizenship cannot be revoked simply by a ministerial decision.

When the bill was introduced in April, the government had not indicated its acceptance or rejection of the measure but cabinet sources at the time said it was expected to be viewed favorably.

The professor went to Canada in 1940 to lecture at Carleton College in Ottawa, the University of Toronto and the University of Manitoba.

In 1941 he married Mary Leitch of Toronto and they now have two daughters—Diana, 17, who studies at London's Royal Ballet school, and Catherine, 15, who attends a high school near Utrecht.

Heckscher says he came to Holland because of "the special opportunities Utrecht University can offer me."

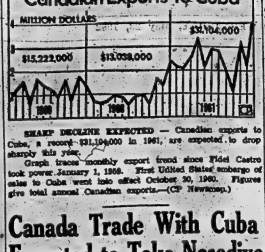
Colleagues rank Heckscher as the world's second leading authority on iconology after Panofsky. Heckscher studied under Panofsky while taking doctor's degree at Hamburg University in 1935.

Back-to-Farm Plan Cause of Mass Flights

HONG KONG (AP) — Reports of an ambitious back-to-farm program for Communist China's seemingly industrialized millions provided new insights today into the mass flight of refugees from the Chinese mainland.

A British businessman who visited Communist China said Saturday that vast unemployment is spreading through most of China's major cities as a result of a government retrenchment plan calling for the resignation of all factory workers employed after 1958 and their return to their home villages.



He said discontent was widespread in many cities. He quoted a university student in Shanghai as saying: "Our leaders seem not to know what they are doing. China has been liberated 12 years and yet hunger is gripping the land."

One Western observer in Hong Kong said the Chinese Communists are making the same mistake they made in 1958 in their "great leap forward" campaign. First they tried to achieve too much in too little time, he said, and "in the present confusion plan they are trying to cut down too much in even less time."

Fleeing from hunger in South China, the Chinese have overflowed the facilities of Hong Kong and since May 1 British police and border guards have possibly 32,000 back behind the Bamboo Curtain. This action has raised a storm of world criticism.

ESCAPE FLOODS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Floods caused by ice jams swirled into two villages Monday. At Aniak, on the Kuskokwim River 300 miles southwest of here, 37 of the 244 residents were removed from their homes. About one-quarter of the 450 residents of Fort Yukon, 100 miles northeast of Fairbanks, abandoned their homes.

SHARP DECLINE EXPECTED — Canadian exports to Cuba, a record $31,104,000 in 1961, are expected to drop sharply this year.

Canada Trade With Cuba Expected to Take Nosedive Due to Dollar Dryup

By JACK BENT

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian trade with Cuba is expected to take a nosedive this year.

The anticipated decline is perhaps an even lower level than before the United States clamped on its sanctions against the Castro regime may remove a source of irritation from Canadian-American relations.

Authorities here are convinced that, barring unforeseen developments, Cuban purchases from Canada in 1963 will be only a fraction of the $31,104,000 they reached in 1961.

They expect that the total ban on Cuba's dollar - earning exports to the U.S. will dry up the Caribbean country's supply of convertible currency used to finance purchases from Canada.

One estimate is that Canadian exports to Cuba will just about level out with Cuba's imports from Canada, which are higher than the $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 expected to be the final 1963 figure.

NEW ORDERS DROP

New orders from Cuba are reported to have practically ceased in the last several months.

The $31,104,000 in Canadian sales to Cuba last year, compared with $13,038,000 in 1960 and $15,222,000 in 1959, represent about one per cent of this country's total export trade.

Canadian exports have not come anywhere near taking up the slack left by the U.S. embargo on shipments to the Red-controlled island republic, first imposed in the fall of 1960 and since tightened up.

In 1959, the last full year before the break in economic relations, the U.S. shipped to Cuba $438,502,000 worth of goods and imported from Cuba $474,653,000 worth. In 1960 these figures fell to $222,734,000 and $337,165,000 respectively.

As late as last year, however, U.S. Cuban trade was still appreciably higher than between Canada and Cuba.

KENNEDY'S BAN

American exports totalled about $14,000,000—less than half Canada's—but Americans living ports dwarfed those of Canada, running well over $30,000,000.

Canada sells the U.S. this year — mostly cigar tobacco-for running at about the same clip as 1961 until President Kennedy on Feb. 7 banned all purchases from the island.

This move is believed to have completed Cuba's ability to buy from Canada since trade all along has been on a dollar basis. It is considered possible, however, that the Soviet Union will help fill the gap by providing Cuba with more hard currency in payment for sugar. If this should happen Cuban purchases from Canada might remain fairly brisk.

Trade officials here had always expected—and, so warned exporters — that the relative boom in trade with Cuba would be shortlived.

TEMPORARY MEASURE

It was seen as an outgrowth of Cuba's need to keep its economy going in the transition period of reorienting its trade toward the Soviet bloc.

Some observers estimate that this year 85 to 90 per cent of Cuba's foreign trade will be with the Communist countries, mainly Eastern.

Long before February's U.S. ban on imports, trade officials had noted a falling-off in some of the heaviest lines of Canadian purchases from Canada.

In the first 10 months of 1961 Canada sold 900,000 worth of cattle to Cuba, an average of $60,000 a month. In November, sales were $5,000.

Swine sales in the first 10 months reached $1,081,000. In December there were none.

This could mean Cuba has completed its breeding herd program.

Sales of baby chicks and hatching eggs continued heavy, possibly a reflection of Cuba's policy of encouraging production of high-protein foods such as eggs and chickens.

SHRIMP WOODPILE

More than $2,700,000 of Canadian exports to Cuba last year were in two categories, used in making paper. Other sales included potatoes, tallow, chemicals and pharmaceuticals, fertilizer, power-pole transformers, flour, lard, sheet and strip, synthetic rubber, copper tubing, containing board, veterinary medicines and vaccines, valves and automatic powder.

Many officials here feel that American criticism of Canada's trade with Cuba has been unfair. They maintain that, with the possible exception of the U.S., Canada has done more than Canada is restricted trade in strategic goods with Castro.

Canada has had an embargo against shipments of arms and strategic materials since 1948. When the U.S. was still selling military hardware to Fulgencio Batista and maintaining a military mission in Cuba to train his troops, Canada had cut off arms to both sides in the civil war. Batista was overthrown Jan. 1, 1959.

NO TRANSHIPMENT

The trade ban was tightened in 1960 when Canada applied to Cuba the NATO list of goods to be withheld from shipment to any Communist country.

Canadian officials have been vigilant to see that this country does not serve as a back door for clandestine shipments of goods from the U.S. to the Cubans.

To cut off any possible U.S. complaint, authorities forbid transhipment of American goods exported to Canada. This even applied to a shipment of oil-jellies.

The Canadian embassy in Washington has been trying to convince U.S. officials in Washington to whomever will listen but this hasn't been altogether successful. Behind the scenes the U.S. government has come to accept the Canadian attitude but there are still criticisms made in Congress from time to time.

Canada's position is that it has no grounds for forbidding all commercial relations with Cuba and that Castro's government has gone out of its way to see that no pretext is given.

Rural Political Picnic Brings Out Big Crowd

By JAMES NELSON

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson, fresh from an old - fashioned rural political picnic with rustic-clad supporters cramming, moved his campaign into the weathervane territory of Eastern and Northern Ontario today.

He planned to drive about 125 miles to Trenton, taking him through four constituencies east of Toronto, and then to fly to Sudbury and Elliot Lake for a one-night stand in his own riding of Algoma East.

Later in the week he will concentrate on the northeastern part of the province, working his way back to Ottawa Friday night.

The picnic Tuesday at the farm home of John Addison, 73-year-old Toronto industrialist, drew 30 miles north of Toronto, left Liberal workers elated. They called it one of the best events yet in the election campaign.

It brought out a crowd of 3,000 or more. It was difficult to judge the size, since the people milled about on the greensward eating cold fried chicken, potato salad and ice cream.

SHOWS TALENTS

It gave Mr. Pearson an opportunity to display his talents as "Mr. Average Canadian" — known as "Lester B." Pearson. Before mingling with the crowd he spoke briefly from a hayrack.

"I don't know what kind of a platform this is," he said, "I guess it really is a hayrake and not a platform." Actually, it was a hayrake is a good Liberal platform because we are going to make hay on June 18."

He said it was a great conference, compared to the rain the picnic in a helicopter, and recalled the dairy Liberal political picnics were a popular event.

Opposing contestants held similar picnics in home ridings, he said.

WISHES HAD ACCEPTED

He wished Prime Minister Diefenbaker had accepted his challenge to a debate in just one setting as the Addison farm.

Today's tour by automobile, before flying north from Trenton, was to take him into Belleville, Ont., Cobourg, Dunham, Northumberland and Peterborough.

The last has been a staunchly Tory riding since the beginning of the century. The first three, including Labor Minister Starr's Oshawa—scored big Conservative majorities in 1957 and 1958 but earlier were regarded by politicians as fighting grounds. Since the 1930s they have switched their party allegiances periodically.

Prime Minister Heaps Scorn on Opinion Polls

By DAVE MACINTOSH

Its aims, he said here Tuesday, are the "complete" Confederation for Canada's centennial in 1967 and the strengthening of "Canadianism."

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke publicly three times in the Toronto area Tuesday: At a reception at a shopping plaza in Etobicoke Township, at a press conference in his downtown hotel, and in the suburban Don Mills Curling Club where he was nearly mobbed by about 3,000 peace-time workers forward to shake hands with him.

In the cavernous curling club, the prime minister's 16-minute speech was all but drowned out by a fanfare of public address system, bad acoustics and the noisy, conversational hubbub.

He cut it much shorter than usual and the hand-shakers immediately surged around him while officials tried frantically to form some semblance of order. He pumped hands for an hour—one leg of the tour he made twice in the afternoon at the shopping centre, All told, about 1,000 persons grasped the multi-tinted mitt.

TO ADMIT R.K. REFUGEES

At his press conference, Mr. Diefenbaker made these points:

1. Canada will admit 100 refugees from Hong Kong "very soon" and provide food and other relief for other refugees from Communist China in the British colony.

2. An Anglo-Canadian agreement has been arrived at for British purchase of Canadian wheat.

3. Canada has no intention of "pulling troops out of Europe."

4. Conclusion of an agreement between the federal and British Columbia governments on development of the Columbia River before the June 18 election date is "very doubtful."

Mr. Diefenbaker flies today to Winnipeg for a public meeting there tonight. He goes to Saskatoon on Thursday.

DERIDES POLLS

At least twice Tuesday, Mr. Diefenbaker heaped scorn on the public opinion polls which show the Liberals leading in the election campaign.

He said it was shown in 1957 and 1958 that what the polls say is not the case. "It was true in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the West. Remember in the Conservative party in Quebec was "very" in favorable."

PRINCESS ENGAGED?

LONDON (Reuters) — Kensington Palace officials refused to comment Monday on a West German newspaper report that Princess Alexandra of Kent is secretly engaged to Prince Xavier of Hesse. The princess and the prince, both 31, were reported often in each other's company in Athens 10 days ago at the wedding of Princess Sophia of Greece and Don Juan Carlos of Spain.

NDP Promises The Maritimes A Better Deal

By DAL WARRINGTON

HALIFAX (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, began a two-day Maritime election tour here Tuesday on a pledge to give the region's citizens a living standard equal to the best in Canada.

He said the present standard lags far behind that of other Canadians because the region's economic development "has been deliberately stifled or starved from neglect."

About 700 people heard him speak in a high school auditorium that seats 1,000. Six of last Sunday's nine NDP candidates joined him on the platform.

The former Saskatchewan premier said the Maritime electoral victory for which he is noted. His 90-minute speech was liberally sprinkled with anecdotes, but it dealt mainly with serious economic matters—regional and national.

He said one in every five or six Canadians qualifies for welfare payments "simply because of poverty."

"Canada has no national economic planning" which other major Western industrial nations have accepted.

BASE ON NEED

Applying this policy to maritime problems, a New Democratic government would set up a program of provincial equalization payments based on fiscal need. These would provide adequate funds for education, health and welfare benefits comparable to those in other provinces. Meanwhile the Atlantic economy would be "adequately developed."

He said Conservative and Liberal governments had failed to do this because they "are afraid of the power trusts in the land."

"It's a great kind of equality," he said. "All are equal but some are more equal than others."

"as dead as a dodo," he said.

WILL AMPLIFY

The prime minister said his speech to the campaign will be to discuss matters which he plans to bring into effect through his "new national program." He would amplify the speech tonight. He had made it in his kick-off speech at London, Ont.

The Conservatives, he said, will build on foundations they have already laid.

He said Prime Edward Island "will stand with us again." The province was the only one in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the West, Ontario to the Conservative party in Quebec was "very" favorable."

PICTON

Moderator Will Be Speaker At Anniversary

On Sunday, May 27, the Rt. Rev. Robert L. Taylor, D.D., D.D., Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will be the anniversary preacher at St. Andrew's, Picton. This will be his only appearance in this area during his term of office which will terminate in June.

Dr. Taylor has served the Church in Western Canada for 36 years and for the past 19 years has been minister of St. John's Church, Medicine Hat, Alberta. Although he has always been an active part in all affairs of the church, Dr. Taylor is best known and beloved as a pastor and preacher. Through his wise counselling and teaching the church in Medicine Hat has tripled its membership and Missionary zeal has so flourished that today more than 30 per cent of its contributed by its members to this area of church work alone, this, as contributed at the beginning of his ministry.

Yet stability tell only a part of the story of his ministry for St. John's Church, Medicine Hat is today one of unusual spiritual vitality, as is evidenced by the active men's fellowship which, meets for prayer thirty early Friday morning and by the women's prayer meetings which are also a part of the regular weekly activity of the church.

Many young people from St. John's Church have gone forth to serve the church either as lay leaders or as ministers of the gospel. Among this latter group is the Rev. Donald G. Kemble, minister of St. Andrew's Church, Picton.

Mr. Taylor was born in Scotland, 32 years ago, and brought to Canada by his parents as an infant. His primary and secondary school education was obtained in Orillia, Ontario. He was graduated in Arts from the University of Toronto in 1923 and after three years later received the diploma of Knox College. At Knox convocation in April 1961 he was granted the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa.

Japanese Paper Is Eliminating Comic Strip

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese newspaper is eliminating temporarily the American comic strip Pogo after the Soviet embassy protested that a Russian-talking pig in the strips current episode bears striking resemblance to Premier Khrushchev.

Editor Kimpei Shiba of the English-language Evening News said Sunday the embassy did not request that the strip, by Walt Kelly, be dropped. The decision to skip the series until the current sequence ends was made because of the newspaper's policy not to use caricatures of heads of state "if they are in bad taste," Shiba said.

"I'm just glad they read it as far as they have," he said, "but I wouldn't consider publication, they are no near Vladivostok."

In Toronto, The Globe and Mail simply said the Pogo sequence on the Russian-speaking pig from its comic page and carried a box saying that "Pogo will be back when Walt Kelly returns to the Okefenokee folk."

Lately, the newspaper has been running old Pogo strips, not previously published in Toronto, in place of the Russian sequence.

The Men's Commercial "A" Bowling League changed its annual get-together format last night and it proved a huge success.

They invited their wives and sweethearts for the first time in the history of the weekly league and everybody enjoyed every minute of it.

The league's dinner-presentation-dance was held at Club Casara at 10:30 after enjoying the conventional but delicious turkey dinner and the dancing to Don Fairman's popular orchestra.

President Wally Dever was chairman and announced that an election held previous to the banquet the current slate of officers was returned in office. These are president Dever, secretary Cam Smith and treasurer Ralph Tuck.

League and sectional champion teams with individual awards were presented with trophies awards and miniatures.

Individual awards were presented by Geo. H. Carver, to president Dever who had the average (223) award. Jim Elliott took the high triple game with his (917) and the high single honor was won by Al Absent with his (370).

Handsome gifts of appreciation were presented to Wally Dever and treasurer Tuck by secretary Cam Smith. Mr. Dever was honored.

A highlight of the pot-pourri dancing was a "Twist" contest.

Where Is Paret Money?

Mystery Overhangs Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—An air of mystery hung over the commission room today as a legislative investigation into the death of Benny (Kid) Paret, former world middleweight boxing king, entered its third and final session.

Two questions are foremost in the minds of the investigators:

1. Where are the income tax records of Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro?

2. What happened to $35,000 Paret is alleged to have been carrying when he left Las Vegas, Nev., last year after a fight with Gene Fulmer?

"We must have these tax records to show us whether Alfaro is indeed the benevolent patron of fighters who claims he never made any money out of boxers until Paret became champion," committee chairman H. R. Gross made said Tuesday.

Joseph P. Soviero, committee counsel, said: "We want to know what happened to the $200,000 Paret earned between 1958 and 1962."

Alfaro testified Tuesday that he understood Paret carried $35,000 in cash when he flew to Miami, Fla., after the Fulmer fight.

Alfaro didn't want to put the money in the bank and so I told him to hide it behind the end of a drawer in his wardrobe. Whether he did or not, I don't know."

Soviero said Paret's widow has found no trace of the money.

Paret died April 2 of injuries suffered when he was knocked out in the 12th round of a middleweight championship bout here with Emile Griffith March 24. The committee is to determine whether dying should be outlawed as a sport in New York state.

Alfaro had been asked to take his tax records to the hearing but he appeared empty-handed, he was ordered to produce the records at an executive meeting June 13.

He said he mailed his accounts numerous times and left messages but that he hadn't heard from him.

Sports Snapshots

By GRAHAM COXE

WINNIPEG (CP)—An idea is growing that could bring professional hockey back in Winnipeg and lay the foundation for further development of pro baseball.

Spearheaded by energetic and ambitious Alderman Mark Danziker, the idea involves the formation of a Winnipeg Sportsmen's Club and envisages as many as 2,500 members.

His idea has already received approval from Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation, an organization partly sponsored by the city that operates both the Winnipeg Arena and the Winnipeg Stadium.

There already is a baseball club operating in Winnipeg and playing in the class-C Northern League, but pro hockey was withdrawn with collapse of Winnipeg Warriors of the Western League in 1926.

Danziker, who brought the Goldeyes baseball team to Winnipeg in 1954 and owned the club until 1957 when he sold it to a private consortium, would not say whether the proposed sportsmen's club would, or could, take over the Goldeyes or what league a hockey team might enter. But he said he foresees no problems once the club is organized.

DUES $24 ANNUALLY

The alderman, a city representative on the Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation board, said plans now call for a $300 initiation fee payable over six years and a $24 annual membership fee.

The $750,000 from initiation fees, he said, would finance club rooms in the Winnipeg Arena and both the hockey and baseball clubs which would, of necessity, have full working agreements with major league teams.

He declared he feels that only in the major leagues is it possible for individuals to own and operate a pro team. In the minors, community ownership was essential to assure the support needed for continued existence.

Alderman Danziker suggests membership in the club could include use of club room and cocktail bar, parking facilities at the games and possibly even tickets at half price.

"Winnipeg has no athletic club of any sort and I think a city of 500,000 should support one.

"People like to rub shoulders with athletes and sporting people. The only problem I can see is holding the membership down to 2,500.

"Every athletic organization in the city will be invited to become corporate members in the club. In this way it truly will be a city-wide organization.

Membership shares would be negotiable but under rigid control so that no individual or group could gain control.

"If a person wished to give up his shares, we would hope he would sell them back to the club. In this way we would be able to better control their sale and the operation of the club.

"We want to give it a little class and keep it a little exclusive. If people find something hard to join, then they really want to become members. It's human nature."

TORONTO (CP) — Beauty Strip, the batting black filly owned by Conn Smythe, proved that her last victory in allowance company was no accident when she defeated a fashionable field of fillies in the sixth race at Toronto Thursday.

Argonauts Seek Dublinski

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts have taken steps to acquire quarterback Tom Dublinski from Hamilton Tiger-Cats, coach Lou Agase said Tuesday night.

There was no indication how the negotiations have progressed between the two Ontario Rugby Football Conference clubs, but Agase added:

"Hamilton will have to give us more than Dublinski to get Bobby Kuntz."

Kuntz, a linebacker who blossomed into one of the Argos' biggest fullback threats last season, has announced his retirement to devote full time to the family business in Kitchener, but Toronto has given the Ticats permission to negotiate with him.

It's no secret that the Argos would like stronger quarterback support for John Hole, something their recruiting program has not achieved. The only seasoned performer in camp is Nobby Wirkowski of the coaching staff, and Agase would prefer him not to play.

Dublinski, former Argonaut and now a Canadian citizen, appeared infrequently in Tiger-Cat games last year.

Wants Crack At Gene

Downes Verdicts Fullmer

LONDON (AP) — Terry Downes, with one member of the fighting Fullmer family vanquished, waited today to take on the next—with the world middleweight boxing title as the prize.

The dynamic Londoner, who has recently served in the U.S. Marines, outpointed Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, over 10 furious rounds at London's Wembley Indoor Stadium Tuesday night.

Millionaire retired farmer Merv Jensen, manager of both the Fullmers, said the fight will be on—if Gene is offered enough money.

"It's up to promoter Harry Levene to make Gene an offer," he said. "If the money is right, Gene would be ready to come over to London soon, maybe in June, to defend his title against Downes.

Downes flailing his arms like a man possessed, launched a non-stop attack on Don after the crew-cut American had threatened to outbox him in the early rounds.

At the end of the fight, Downes had his opponent on the ropes and was landing two blows to Fullmer's one.

It was the same kind of fight that took Downes to victory over Paul Pender of Boston in the same hall a year ago. That victory made Downes world champion in the eyes of New York, Massachusetts and Europe. But he lost his share of the crown back to Pender in Boston a little more ago.

Gene Fullmer and Pender may clash in August to sort out the tangle of the world title.

"But in the meantime, Gene is in training, and I can't think of anything better than a fight against Downes," Jensen said.

"There wouldn't be a slight-climb in the whole fight. The referee could sit in the third row at the ringside."

OWNER SELLS OUT

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Robert L. Osborne, one of three major co-owners of Oakland Raiders, said Tuesday he has sold his stock in the American Football League club to the other owners. He said the franchise, last season's champion, is not for sale.

Osborne, one of the original organizers, said he lost more than $200,000.

If you're fed up with "sky-high" heating costs... here's an opportunity to do something about it!

Many customers of Lakeland Natural Gas have found they could save $20, $40, $60 or $100 per year when they changed to natural gas. You can do it too!

Because we know natural gas will heat your home more efficiently and economically, we'll let you "try" it for a year so that you can prove to yourself it actually does. Lakeland Natural Gas will install a conversion burner in your present furnace. You don't have to buy it! You don't have to pay to have it installed! All you pay for is the gas you use. At the end of a year, when you've discovered how much you've saved with natural gas, you can either buy the conversion burner, or rent it for only $20.00 per year. If you're not satisfied we'll take it out at no charge to you!

Will you really save on heating costs? Try it and see! You save because there's no furnace cleaning with gas. You save because there are no moving parts to be replaced. You save on service call costs because Lakeland provides FREE 24 hour service on all gas equipment. You save on hydro costs because natural gas does away with electric burner motors. And you save because natural gas does a more efficient job—heats your home better for less.

Don't put up with "sky-high" heating costs any longer. Have your Lakeland home heating specialist give you further details on Lakeland's free "home-trial" heating plan. Arrange to have him call, at your convenience, by returning the reply card mailed to your home, or use this handy coupon; or contact your local natural gas dealer.

Leafs Edge Red Wings, Move Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Buffalo Bisons could face nothing but left-handed pitchers the rest of the season they're likely to be in the International League pennant in a breeze.

The enemy has thrown 10 lefties against the Bisons this year and 10 times Buffalo has pasted him. The Bison lineup is loaded with eight right-handed swingers.

Southpaw Carl Mathias joined the parade Tuesday night. Syracuse Chiefs started Mathias and he was clobbered until he retired in the fifth inning. The Bisons went on to win 8-3, registering 3½ games behind the first - place Jacksonville Suns, who whipped Atlanta Crackers 8-5.

Toronto Maple Leafs moved into third place with a 3-1 decision over Rochester Red Wings and Richmond Virginians edged Columbus Jets 4-3 in 10 innings.

INFLICTS DAMAGE

Footballer is now Hubi Herrstein, the only left-handed hitter in the Buffalo batting order who inflicted the main damage on the Chiefs Tuesday night. In six trips to the plate, he belted a homer, three doubles and a single, driving in six runs.

Rookie John Boozer went all the way for the Bisons, hanging up his fourth victory without a setback.

The Suns won through the charity of Atlanta relief pitcher Roy Vickery, who walked two batters in a row with the bases loaded in the ninth inning.

The Leafs moved half a game ahead of the Red Wings in the battle for third spot. A two-run single by Bill Lajoie in the seventh inning provided all the Wings' runs. Cal Browning, who pitched the first seven innings, was the winner, Pat Gillick was the loser.

Tribe Free With 'Gophers'

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a good thing for the league-leading Cleveland Indians that their sluggers are finding the home run range regularly. Their pitchers have been overly generous with gopher balls.

While the Indians have hit 47 homers, second highest total in the American League, Cleveland pitchers have yielded the most home runs in either circuit, 50. Kansas City and Detroit pitchers have allowed 46, followed by Washington Senators, 42, and New York Yankees, 32.

Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff heads the National League with 43 gopher balls. Then come Chicago Cubs 42, St. Louis Cardinals, 40, Milwaukee Braves, 39, San Francisco Giants 38 and New York Mets 37. The figures are complete through Monday's games.

Houston Colts have permitted the fewest homers in the majors 21 while San Francisco has hit the most 50.

Larry Jackson of St. Louis is the individual gopher ball leader in the National League with 10. Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Phil Regan of Detroit and Ed Bakow of Kansas City top the American League with 10 apiece.

Says Duck Picture Not 'Promising'

REGINA (CP) — Aerial surveys of Saskatchewan's duck population are providing a "not-too-promising" picture, wildlife director Ernie Fayeter said Tuesday.

He said the surveys so far show fewer ducks in southern Saskatchewan than originally estimated and that ducks flying north may not breed this year if the northern lakes do not soon become ice-free.

The Ducks Unlimited conservation agency in Winnipeg said last week that duck habitat conditions across the northern Prairies and parklands in Western Canada were improved over last year.

SUBS FOR BROTHER

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight Phil Moyer of Portland, Ore., agreed Tuesday to substitute for his ailing brother, Denny, against Ted Wright of Detroit Saturday night in the television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Teddy Brenner, the Garden matchmaker, said Denny, 24, had to withdraw because of an infected left ear.

Phil, 24, has a 35-5-5 record. Weight, 157, has a 39-7-5 record.

Looks Like No Fight In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson told Michigan boxing commissioner Dave Gudelsky Tuesday that a proposed title fight in Detroit appears out.

Gudelsky quoted Cus D'Amato as saying in a telephone conversation that Detroit promoters Leon Saddler and Elisha Gray "didn't come up with their promised amount of guarantee —$750,000."

In view of that, and a "disappointing" counter - offer D'Amato said he would not accept the pair as co-promoters of a proposed match between Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston.

Gudelsky told D'Amato he was not necessarily bound to those promoters "if you can supply us with one who is acceptable." But, the commissioner added, "you must have a Michigan co-promoter."

Gudelsky said it was the first contact he has had with any of the principals in the proposed match which Saddler had tentatively planned for Sept. 17 at Briggs Stadium in Detroit.

Quinte Soccer

The RCAF Flyers and 6RD battled to a 3-5 draw in a Bay of Quinte Soccer League match played at the station last night.

Coull was a two-goal man for RCAF with Dunham, Blair and Spencer booting the others.

Four Intentional Walks Maris Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hey, Mick," went the plaintive cry, "you'd better get back here. I'm tired of getting all these walks."

Roger Maris, who set a major league record for intentional bases on balls in New York Yankees 3-1, 12 - inning victory over Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night, telephoned the ailing Mickey Mantle after the game.

His first words to the other half of the Yanks' famed M and M slugging duo were a half-joking plea for the quick return of New York's star centerfielder, in hospital here with a muscle tear in his right leg.

"Now I know how it feels," Maris told Mantle of the intentional walks.

Maris, who normally bats third in the lineup and Mantle fourth, usually doesn't have to worry much about intentional bases on balls. Most managers and pitchers don't care to walk Maris with Mickey coming up. Mantle, however, frequently has his troubles in that respect. He has walked 39 times in 30 American League games this season.

But with Mickey out, Roger is finding out how the other half lives. The pitchers are passing him to get to either John Blanchard or Hector Lopez.

He faced the pitcher six times in Tuesday night's game and drew five walks, the last four intentional. It was announced as a major league record for intentional passes.

In each case Maris went to bat with runners on second or third base—or both—and first base open.

BCIVS Junior Girl Star Wins 4 Firsts

Miss Sheryl Drysdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Drysdale, and a BCIVS junior track star, established a fine record at the COSSA Track and Field Meet in Peterborough, Saturday.

Miss Drysdale brought home four "firsts."

She won the Junior girls' standing broad jump with a distance of 7 feet, 4 inches. She took the 75-yard dash in 9.8 and the 50-yard dash in 8.1.

Miss Drysdale climaxed her fine effort by running anchor leg on the winning BCIVS junior girls' relay team.

Unfortunately her name was omitted from the results published yesterday.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

I theorized when the Kellar family came up with the family softball team with more Kellars on the roster than you can shake a stick at, that the city had established something of not only a sports record but family production too.

It seems I was wrong.

I was wrong, too, when I columned that a family with anywhere from twelve to twenty males, uncles, dads, cousins and brothers, which could field a softball team, was likely to be unequalled anywhere in Ontario if not in Canada.

Now I believe this city has established something of a record that can scarcely be equalled by any community of its size between the coasts.

It seems that Belleville can form a league of family clubs and if they continue entering we may have to make a two-section circuit.

And the challenges are out!

"So the Kellars think they have a softball team. Tell 'em we'll take 'em on anytime."

The voice of Harold Thompson of Ameliasburg, I believed, bombed over the telephone.

"I've got ten Thompsons who can take on any family of softballers from anywhere and make 'em say 'uncle'."

But you ain't heard nothin' yet!

Hot on the heels of this challenge comes another.

This time it was a low voice that trickled over the telephone wire.

"Are you the man who put it in the paper about the Kellars having a softball team and wanting to play other families?"

I pleaded guilty.

"Tell 'em the Boomhours are throwing them a challenge to play softball," said the voice.

This was a new one. I asked the "voice" what constituted the Boomhour family squad.

"We have ten available—and more where they came from," was the gentle boast.

I learned that 62-year-old Oscar Boomhour is the Casey Stengel of the Boomhour Battalion. He is the coach and the boss.

Then there are Ralph, Carl, Doug, Harold, Leo, Murney, Jimmy, Vernie and Earl" and more where they came from."

I haven't received the roster of the Thompson base-trotters but I understand Coach Harold Thompson is rounding up another dozen of the clan to augment his "ten" just in case he needs substitutes or reinforcements.

This could develop into a family softball feud that would make the Hatfield-McCoys hillbilly nastiness look like a strawberry social.

The three squads could stage an elimination contest, play a round-robin, with no holds barred or wait for more entries to make it a better circuit.

Perhaps the O'Feervers and the O'Mahoneys could join forces with permission to obtain players from Lower Slobbovia or Upper Mongolia to round out the squad. They could toss in a couple of O'Hoarns, and add an O'Cook or two with, "Tomahawk" O'Hill in reserve, just in case.

The challenges are serious. So there you are, gentlemen of the Kellar, Boomhour and Thompson clans. I've done my part.

Let me know when the first round gets under way. I wouldn't want to miss it.

Dodgers Slice Giants' Lead Again

Tommy Davis Turns Trick

By MEEK MATHEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Davies is in a hurry to run mood.

Davis, 23, a Los Angeles Dodger outfielder, belted a decisive two-run homer against San Francisco Giants for the second game in succession as the third-place Dodgers knocked off the National League leaders 5-1 Tuesday night.

Davis hit a two-run shot for a 3-0 lead Monday night, driving in the runs that proved to be all the Dodgers needed in an 8-5 triumph. Tuesday night he clouted a two-run blast in the fourth inning that snapped a 1-1 tie and sent the Dodgers in front to stay.

Davis has slight hits in 16 at-bats against San Francisco this year. He knocked in 11 runs in the four games against the Giants.

The defeat, fifth in seven games for the Giants, cut their edge over the Dodgers and second - place St. Louis Cardinals 2½ games. The Cardinals remained percentage points ahead of Los Angeles, extending their winning streak to six games by whipping Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 behind Bob Gibson's four-hitter.

The fourth-place Cincinnati Reds nipped Milwaukee Braves 3-2 in 12 innings, Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1 and Houston Colts beat New York Mets 4-3.

GIANTS TIE IT

Jim Gilliam's single following a single by Maury Buzright and a sacrifice, scored the Dodgers' first run in the third inning, but the Giants tied it in the fifth on a double by Willie Mays and a clutch Hiller's single.

In the Dodgers' sixth inning, Willie Davis singled with one out and Gilliam then tagged his 10th homer of the year, off loser Jack Sanford. Willie Davis singled in the Dodgers' final runs.

Stan Williams (3-1), who allowed only three hits for eight innings, got credit for the victory as relief help from Larry Sherry after the first two Giants singled in the fifth. Sherry got Jose Pagan on a double play grounder, then Willie McCovey grounded out to end things.

Gibson (4-2) had a two-hitter going until the ninth inning when Tony Taylor singled and Johnny Callison homered, snapping a string of 32 scoreless innings by the Cardinal right hander.

Three errors by the Phils contributed to their fourth straight loss as Bob Wine's bad throw and a dropped fly by Wes Klaus with the bases loaded gave St. Louis three runs. Paul Brown (0-1) took the loss.

The Reds came up with two runs in the 11th as Gordy Coleman, who had homered in the second, led off with a single, Art Shamsky walked and Leo Cardenas drove in the runs that won for Cincinnati.

Commercial League

Trudeaus Defeat Point Anne

Trudeau Motors defeated the Point Anne Cementmen 10-7 at the CNRA Park last night in the opening game of the City Commercial softball league schedule.

The winners jumped into a 4-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back. They piled up three more runs in each of the third and fifth innings.

Point Anne registered five of their runs in the fourth frame to cut the Trudeau lead to 7-5. They made it 7-6 in the top of the fifth before Trudeau scored it up. The losers final run came in the seventh.

Junior Day pitched the distance for the winners, giving up eight hits, including a home run by Ron Hull and a grand-slam homer by Rusty Logue, both in the fourth inning. He fanned two and walked three.

Denny Hall started for the Cementmen, giving way to Dave Penney in the fifth. They allowed nine hits, whiffing three and passing eight. Hall, who was the loser, walks playing a major role in his defeat.

Eddie Pietz, with a triple and a single, and Lyle Wannamaker, with two doubles, paced the Trudeau batters. Donald Johnson had a triple while singles went to "Shakes" Baker, Jack Whiting, Ab Wright and Bob Wannamaker.

Rusty Logue added a single to his four-run homer to spark the Cementmen. Ron Hall also homered while Bert Whalen hit a double and single and Denny Hall two singles. Graham Hofwood also hit safely.

CAHA In Session

O'K's Trail For World Hockey

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP) — International competition took the spotlight Tuesday at the third day of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's five-day meeting.

Delegates approved the selection of Trail Smoke Eaters as Canada's representatives in the 1963 world hockey tournament. At the same time, they were warned by president Jack Roxburgh that under the present system of picking its international representatives Canada will have one tough time winning a world's title and an even tougher time winning an Olympic.

Also approved were tours of Eastern Canada by a Russian hockey club and of Western Canada by a team from Czechoslovakia. The Russians will be in Canada from Nov. 14 to Nov. 30. Dates have not been set for the Czech tour.

DEBATE MAGAZINE

Today the delegates meet in closed session to decide if the CAHA should publish its own hockey magazine. Officers who favor the periodical say magazines and papers now in the field would be too concerned with professional teams.

The decision to send Trail to the world championships follows CAHA practice of inviting Allan Cup champions to represent Canada in the international event.

Secretary - manager Gordon Jockes told the meeting Trail Smoke Eaters had bid "if suitable financial arrangements can be made."

Roxburgh said Canada's attempts to put together strong amateur clubs for play against European teams are hampered because too many of the best players are controlled by National Hockey League teams.

He praised Trail Smoke Eaters, Canada's entry last February in world play, as "a wonderful team and would have won the title if it had got a few breaks. Calt Lindmark scored behind Sweden at Colorado Springs, Colo., while Canada was short of the play, it just couldn't put the puck in the net. But because of Trail, the people in Sweden was "the best team they have seen."

JUNIOR JUNIORS

After all eastern branches declared their inability to contest a Canadian intermediate final because of late playoff dates, delegates voted that western champs will be declared the Dominion titleholders in future series. But any eastern club will be entitled to challenge the westerners if it wants to enter the final.

Delegates also decided to set up a committee to correct a variation of calibre in junior hockey across the country because of population differences and other factors.

Roxburgh said a CAHA rule permitting the western champions to pick up six players for the Memorial Cup final has created headaches and other ways must be found to make the finalists more evenly matched.

Bobcats Shade Juniors

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Scoring two unearned runs in the top of the tenth inning, the Bobcats handed Rollins Construction Juniors a heart-breaking 3-2 setback in Bellville and District softball league play at the Fairgrounds last night.

The loss was Rollins' second in as many starts but they had no one to blame but themselves last night. They failed to hit in the clutches and committed errors that cost them the game.

Winning pitcher Bob Green ignited the winning rally himself when he led off the tenth with a base on balls. He was forced at second but the return throw to first base on the ex-mound double play got past the bag and Floyd Crawford scaled to second with one out.

Jackie Hughes hit a hard ground ball to short that went through McGuire's legs and Crawford raced home with what proved to be the deciding run. Hughes advanced to third on Burke's fly ball and came home on a wild pitch to make it 3-2.

Rollins got a man as far as third in the bottom of the inning when Zakos doubled and advanced on a passed ball. Green got mad at the time and Green got Weston on a pop up to end it.

The Juniors missed chance after chance to tie the lead. Fog and the Cats only error put two on with none out in the first before Zakos grounded out and Green fanned the next two batters. In the seventh with the score tied 1-1, Fog Kellar hit a triple leading off for Rollins. He died on third base.

Temple's Tebbies opened the scoring in the second when Brown doubled between two outfielders to fill the bases. Green's two-out grounder was booted at third base to allow the run to score.

The losers tied the score in the fourth when Weston and Gardner hit solid doubles. Gardner was then stretched to third but he died there when McGrimmon popped up.

Green scattered seven hits in going the route for the victory. He clamed six strikeouts while issuing three free passes, fielded well to rob the Juniors of a couple of hits and helped his own cause at the plate as well.

Young Bobby Ebbser, pitching his first softball game, went all the way for the losers and deserved a better fate. He gave up five hits in all after having a two-hitter going for him into the ninth. He struck out two and walked three.

Pat Gilmouw was the only Bobcat with more than one hit, getting two singles. "Wiener" Brown hit a double, Green and Jim "Skinner" Marrow a single apiece.

Paul Zakos collected a double and single for the second night in a row to lead the Juniors. Fog Kellar had a triple, Don Gardner and Pete Weston a double each, Chief McGrimmon and Joe Robitaille a single each.

Take Lead As Indians Lose

Yankees Win Four-Man One-Hitter

By JIM MACKLESMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even for New York Yankees a 19-inning, fourteen-pitcher game is a new way to win.

They came up with the gem Tuesday night by edging Los Angeles Angels 3-1 to recapture the slender lead in the American League race.

Whitey Ford, a stylish left-hander, played the lead pitching role with seven hitless innings before he was forced to retire with a strained back muscle. Luis Cortes brought in going until one man was out in the ninth, when Bob Rodgers singled for the lone Angel hit. Then Bud Daley went two innings and Bob Turley pitched the 12th.

The Yanks got eight hits and 10 walks — seven of them intentional—off four Los Angeles pitchers but had to squeeze out their runs, both of which scored on sacrifice flies by catcher Elston Howard.

KEEP UP BOTH RUNS

Rookie Joe Pepitone got three New York hits and set up both runs, while home run king Roger Maris drove five walks—four intentional—for one-game major league record.

The Yankees took over first place by 13 percentage points over Minnesota Twins, who edged Washington Senators, 6-5. Baltimore Orioles, with pitcher Milt Pappas and slugger Jim Gentile supplying the power, beat Cleveland Indians 4-1 and dropped the Indians to third place from first, half a game off the pace. Kansas City Athletics pinned the eighth straight loss on Boston with a 5-1 triumph.

The Angels jumped ahead of Ford and the Yanks in the first inning when Albie Pearson walked, stole second, took third on a groundout and scored on Steve Bilko's fly. Dean Chance blanked the Yankees until the sixth, then Tom Tresh walked and scored around on a single by Pepitone, an intentional walk to Maris and Howard's grief scoring fly.

Turned back by relievers Ryen Duren, Jack Spring and Tom Morgan through the 11th, the Yankees finally broke the ice when Pepitone again the key. The reserve outfielder tripled with one out and, after intentional walks to Maris and Hector Lopez, Howard lofted a fly to right. Lee Thomas made the catch—easier than it looked—wheeled and made a good peg home—but too late to head off Pepitone.

STAND OFF SENATORS

The Twins pushed their only runs into the second and third innings, then had to stand off the Senators.

Minnesota starter Georges Maranda, who doubled twice and drove in the deciding run, had to be bailed out of trouble by Lee Stange in the fifth inning and Dick Stigman was forced to call another upstairs in the seventh.

Ray Moore stymied the final Washington rally in the eighth and was credited with the victory, his third in four decisions.

Lennie Green hit a two-run homer for the Twins in the second inning and they routed Joe McClain in the third with a five-run cluster highlighted by singles by Bob Allison and Jerry Zimmerman and Moore's double that scored Chuck Cottier whacked a two-run homer in the Senators' seventh, lowering it 6-5, but Stigman and Moore shut the opposition at bay the rest of the way.

Pappas (5-2) provided all the margin the Orioles needed when he homered with a man on base in the fifth inning against Cleveland starter Jim Perry and Gentile connected for a pair of round-trippers, giving him 12 for the year and a tie with Mickey Mantle for major league honors. Pappas has three hits this season—all homers.

After surviving several jams, Pappas gave way to Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth following a double by Bubba Phillips. The knuckleballing reliever continued to whiff batters and was tagged for Jerry Kindall's run-scoring double. He held the Indians hitless thereafter.

Cleveland went without a homer for the first time in 10 games, managing only five hits.

Dave Wickersham was the winner over the Red Sox in his first big league start with full support from Kansas City teammates Diego, Manuel Jimenez, George Alusik and Joe Azcue. Wickersham, a relief specialist up to now, gave up five hits and no walks in eight innings, then Segui retired Boston in order in the ninth.

Jimenez hit a two-run homer off Galen Cisco in the first inning and later added a single for a two-for-two day as Athletics got increased his season's to 263. Alusik had a triple and double. Azcue hit a run-scoring double.

Award Ceremonies on NBC Ran 20 Minutes Overtime

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—If any people are really unhappy about Tuesday night's awards of Emmys, television's equivalent of the movies' Oscars, it must be the owners of TV sets, who claim so loudly that Hollywood is the television capital. Hollywood Tuesday night received only Emmys compared with 13 for New York and two for Washington.

If there is another unhappy group, it can only be the American Broadcasting Company. The network garnered but one during the awarding, voted to Richard Rodgers for his score in last season's Winston Churchill series. Meanwhile, NBC carried off 11 statues and CBS 10.

The award ceremonies, on NBC, was a fast, non-nonsense show, and it finished only about 20 minutes overtime, which is not bad. And it was not due to spending a lot of time on special material—adding verbiage and television commercials—it limited speeches to a few seconds. Only Harris was the only one who cried—and, between commercials, used his taped performances by the variety stars nominated for awards. Which made good sense.

MOSTLY DESERVED

Speaking personally — and, either at 11, one's enjoyment of television is a personal matter — I was glad to see although the awards for the most part went into the hands that most deserved them.

While I would not complain for a moment about Julie Harris' award for playing the title role, I would, however, gobble my hat if Ingrid Bergman, sponsored by Italian Film Export, should give Bob an Emmy for outstanding irony.

Certainly no program merited an award more than the weekly variety Garry Moore Show, which never seems to have an off night.

The Bob Newhart Show earned the Sylvania Award in the comedy, and Tuesday night it got an Emmy for achievement in the field of humor. The program has been cancelled by its sponsors, and that's why they'll Five-year-old Demon Dandy won the first division with Russ Caldwell driving. The bay horse from the Boyce Stables of Ottawa paid 3.70 2.40 and 2.40.

Second in this division was Van's Pride, Cooper driving, 2.80 and third was Marty's last at 3.10.

The four-year-old gelding was driven by Ken Carmichael and paid 12.60 5.20 and 4.00.

HAMBURG (CP) — Peaches Atom, owned by H. J. Macbirnley and H. Altman of Oshawa, was the fastest mile trotter of the Buffalo Raceway field for interference but after the turn for home.

The win in the $4,000 feature went to Bold Colby with Bud Gilmour driving.

Sports in Brief

BILLS SIGN FUNTER

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Billy Atkins, the American Football League's leading punter and pass receiver last season, has signed his 1952 contract with Buffalo Bills, the team announced Tuesday.

SECOND BRAVE AILS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves said Tuesday that pitcher Cecil Butler had been admitted to Milwaukee Hospital for treatment of a virus sickness and that pitcher Jay Franz Bolling, who was sidelined earlier with poss monitis, would make his next road trip to Chicago with the team.

Ex-Mayor New Owner Canucks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fred Hume, new owner of Vancouver's Western Hockey League club, hopes to blow coach Max McNab away from San Francisco Seals.

The former Vancouver mayor, who outbid two other groups seeking to buy the Canucks, said Tuesday night he wants McNab as his general manager. He made the bid himself over with Coley Hall, owner of the Seals.

"But I'm leaving no doubt in anyone's mind that McNab will be the Canucks' G.M.," he said.

McNab has three years to go on a contract with Hall. One of the league's best centremen in his playing days, McNab worked for Hume as coach of the former New Westminster entry in the WHL.

Directors of the Pacific National Exhibition, owners of the Canuck franchise, voted Monday to accept the $180,000 bid from Hume, who has a playing deal with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Vancouver businessman Harry Gross, who had a player swap with Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL, bid $155,000 for the Canucks. The NHL Montreal Canadiens are a group of Vancouver businessmen offered $150,000.

The sale must receive approval of directors at their annual meeting in San Francisco Friday and Saturday.

Award Ceremonies on NBC Ran 20 Minutes Overtime

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—If any people are really unhappy about Tuesday night's awards of Emmys, television's equivalent of the movies' Oscars, it must be the owners of TV sets, who claim so loudly that Hollywood is the television capital. Hollywood Tuesday night received only Emmys compared with 13 for New York and two for Washington.

If there is another unhappy group, it can only be the American Broadcasting Company. The network garnered but one during the awarding, voted to Richard Rodgers for his score in last season's Winston Churchill series. Meanwhile, NBC carried off 11 statues and CBS 10.

The award ceremonies, on NBC, was a fast, non-nonsense show, and it finished only about 20 minutes overtime, which is not bad. And it was not due to spending a lot of time on special material—adding verbiage and television commercials—it limited speeches to a few seconds. Only Harris was the only one who cried—and, between commercials, used his taped performances by the variety stars nominated for awards. Which made good sense.

MOSTLY DESERVED

Speaking personally — and, either at 11, one's enjoyment of television is a personal matter — I was glad to see although the awards for the most part went into the hands that most deserved them.

While I would not complain for a moment about Julie Harris' award for playing the title role, I would, however, gobble my hat if Ingrid Bergman, sponsored by Italian Film Export, should give Bob an Emmy for outstanding irony.

Certainly no program merited an award more than the weekly variety Garry Moore Show, which never seems to have an off night.

The Bob Newhart Show earned the Sylvania Award in the comedy, and Tuesday night it got an Emmy for achievement in the field of humor. The program has been cancelled by its sponsors, and that's why they'll give Bob an Emmy for outstanding irony.

Yankees By Ten Says Joe

MOSCOW (AP)—Joe "Di-Maggio made a discovery Tuesday which has eluded other athletic visitors to the U.S.-Soviet relations.

"Russian is no harder to understand than a Stengelese," the Yankee Clipper said, and that just about even know Russian."

DiMaggio, departing for Copenhagen after two days of sightseeing, told an AP reporter his first trip to Communist Russia had been a pleasant sidelight.

DiMaggio spent the morning sightseeing. With the calculating eye of a man who spent years measuring the distance to the walls of Yankee Stadium, Joltin' Joe gave special attention to the forty Kremlin towers.

"It'd be tough," he commented.

That brought up current baseball.

"It'll be the Yankees by 10 games in the American League," he said in perhaps the first baseball forecast ever made in Red Square. Asked about Casey Stengel's current ball club, he was less optimistic.

"The Mets? Last or next to last. After all, it's their first year."

AT THE PARE — Popular songstress Connie Francis makes her motion picture debut in MGM's "Where the Boys Are", Thursday at the air conditioned Park Theatre. Although Connie sings two songs in the film, her role is primarily a light comedy characterization. Also starred in the production are Yvonne Craig, Dolores Hart, Jim Hutton, Barbara Nichols, Paula Prentiss and Chill Wills. On the same program in color is nothing you've ever seen before, "Gorgo".

TOMMY DAVIS

Jim O'Toole (4-6).

Don Cardwell (1-4) took care of the pitching for the Cubs with an eight - hitter while George Altman drove in all the runs with a two-run homer in the fourth inning and a run-producing single in the fifth.

Cardwell didn't start, but after retiring 12 Pirates in order at one stretch before Pittsburgh scored its lone run in the eighth frame on singles by Bill Mazeroski, Dick Groat and Bob Skinner. Bob Friend (4-5) lost his fourth straight game.

Roman Mejias got the Colts their first run in the fourth inning with a homer and Norm Larker accounted for the decisive runs with a two - run triple in the eighth. That gave the victory to Dick Farrell (4-3).

Farrell scattered 10 hits, working out of a ninth-inning jam by getting Elio Chacon to ground out after singles by Charlie Neal, Felix Mantilla and Richie Ashburn scored one run. The loser was Jay Hook (3-4).

'The Defenders' Wins 4 Emmies to Reign as Champ Of TV Awards Show

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The law, as practised on television, won over medicine Tuesday night in the 14th annual Emmy awards show.

The victorious, inflicting solid voting from New York members of the TV Academy, was an upset. Ben Casey, TV's sudsy medico, was a favorite with eight nominations more than any other series, but when the whole operation was over, Casey had struck out.

The Defenders won Emmies for outstanding drama; for best actor for star E. G. Marshall; best director for Franklin Schaffner and for best writing for Reginald Rose, its creator.

Ellen Corby's Victoria did better than Ben Casey. The Hallmark production of Victoria Regina won best actress award for Julie Harris; best supporting actress for Pamela Brown, and the show was adjudged best program of the year.

WINS ACTOR TITLE

The best actor award went to Peter Falk, nominated for his role of a truck driver in The Price of Tomatoes on the Dick Powell Show.

This was Falk's second Emmy nomination in two years, and he also had two Academy Award movie nominations in the same time.

Shirley Booth, winner of a movie Oscar and numerous other awards, won an Emmy for best actress in a series.

Don Knotts, the deputy on the Andy Griffith Show, won his second supporting actor Emmy in a row.

BERNSTEIN SCORES

Leonard Bernstein won two Emmies. One was for the outstanding children's program for his young people's concert with the New York Philharmonic; the other was for his Philharmonic Hall debut.

The Gary Moore Show was named best variety show, and its conductor, Carol Burnett, was named best variety artist.

Special trophies awards were given to CBS News for its tour of the White House and to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, the tour's pretty conductor.

Heads of the news departments of ABC, CBS and NBC also got trophies as awards for coverage of the year's most exciting television program—John F. Kennedy's trip around the earth.

Following a pattern of recent years, at least one TV star found himself with an Emmy—and no show. Comic Bob Newhart, whose show has not been renewed, won the award for best comedy show.

Two Editorial Changes Made In Maclean's

TORONTO (CP)—Two senior editorial changes in Maclean's magazine were announced Thursday by publisher F. G. Bronfer.

The present editor, Blair Fraser, will be transferred to Ottawa as overseas editor.

Mr. Lefolii joined Maclean's nearly five years ago as a copy editor following a varied career in journalism and broadcasting in Europe.

Mr. Fraser, a native of Spiddney, N.S., is a graduate of Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S. He worked for Reuters news agency in Montreal before becoming Maclean's Ottawa editor in 1943.

Vincent Edwards Will Likely Be in Ben Casey Next Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

George Chakiris finished Diamond Head and took off for a vacation in Europe. He planned to tour the continent unnoticed, but will be be able to after his recent fame? This is George's first vacation. If you don't count the months between jobs when he was a hoofer. He reports to Japan for Flight to Ashiya in August.

Vincent Edwards indicates he'll come to terms with the Bing Crosby company for a second year of Ben Casey. He takes three weeks off this summer to do a role in Carl Foreman's The Victor in Europe.

Blake Edwards predicts unanimously that Jack Lemmon will win next year's oscar for Days of Wine and Roses. Part of his prediction is based on nothing to do with it, says he. He would be right.

Rod Taylor is breathing more easily now that his proposed television series Sea Hunt with Beat was too late for the spilling season. He has many film offers to follow the series. So why did he do the series pilot? "Because I was frightened to death of ending up—mirely a television actor," he explained, "and the deal with Fox also called for three $2,000,000 features." He still gets the features, but is relieved of the series.

ANDREWS SEEKS JOB

On the other hand, Dana Andrews is shopping for a series after years of holding out on television. He doesn't want the work—his real estate business is booming—but actors like to act.

Preview: Satan is a sure bet for the family trade, and it's hard to find such attractions in today's market. The watery plot can't be taken seriously by adults, but all ages will enjoy the action scenes, among the best ever filmed. The scene in which Red Buttons rockets a pet over a tree full of monkeys is a gem. Palatable entertainment.

URGES FACULTY TRADE

TORONTO (CP) — The exchange of professors universally faculties between countries was suggested Tuesday by Robert J. Wallace, Progressive Conservative member of the last Parliament for Bellin, at the 22nd annual national citizenship conference. The exchange would be for a period of about four years, and should lead to the granting of degrees.

Astrological Forecast

Thursday, May 24
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Don't allow yourself to get upset as a result of what others say or promise. But if you are to fulfill potentials you must act on your own and carry out plans.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20)—You may feel "put out" by something which is said by well - meaning person, especially one in authority. Now is use common sense. Be diplomatic. Avoid self-pity.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—If you can be Flexible today, you can get almost anything you go after. Being versatile is part of your Gemini nature. Today you could sling though toward success.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—You could "sense" danger signals and ignore them. This leads to trouble. Not if you heed intuitive intellect, you will gain much emotionally as well as materially.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21)—Wanting to be in spotlight could be cause of careless statements, actions. Better take precautions. Cycle has been better. This would be good time to "pull in horns".

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23)—Strive for harmony, especially in connection with domestic matters. Showing others that you are willing to cooperate could lift unbearable emotional burden.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)—Creative forces come to fore - end you find yourself centre of admiring glory. Good for new romance, but remember tomorrow.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Chips may be down in connection with promises made in past. If you gave your word to younger person recently you are reminded of it today! Follow through.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Beware of those who make numerous promises, but put little or nothing in writing. Others may feel you are not quite "okay". Play cards close to chest.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20)—Skirts for dictatorship in approach to personal, professional matters. Do not permit price to deter you. Go after quality rather than sordid bargain.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Cycle now up. Act with confidence, sweep away gloom clouds. You have tendency to brood due to sensitive, Uranian nature. Let superiors see you are capable.

Pisces Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—You could feel "fenced in", due to emotional pressures and "messages" from conscience. Take things as they come. Do your best and refuse to be intimidated.

If today is your birthday this is year when your influence is felt in new quarters, when you mature, when your talents "flower". Don't hold back. Give your all. August promises to be outstanding month.

General Tendencies: Idealism a key. Cycle up for Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces. Striking discipline for "truth". Hours of revelation revivals of "crusades". Unusual day, to say the least.

LOCAL CANDIDATE SPEAKS TO NATION.—Robert Temple was the keynote speaker of a program of Liberal leaders who are broadcasting the Liberal party's platform across Canada. Mr. Temple spoke on the CBC Dominion network from CKLC, Kingston, to 39 stations from Vancouver to Halifax.

Support An Active Candidate

Bob Temple Opening Gun For Liberals Over CBC

Last Thursday afternoon, Hastings' South Liberal candidate, Robert Temple, took time out from a busy local schedule to open the national Liberal Party's coast-to-coast radio campaign over the 39-station CBC Dominion network. Mr. Temple spoke on the Liberal proposed old age and portable pension plan.

This plan, provides for an immediate increase in the old age pension to $75 per month for an individual with married couples to receive a minimum combined pension of $140.

The plan will be self-supporting, requiring no additional taxation, and will be based on a progressive fund which will grow with an expanding national economy.

Contributions will be made to the plan by both the individual and his employer with special arrangements for self-employed people to participate. If a person should change his job his full pension rights will go with him.

Upon retirement at 70 he can expect, if he is now under 60 years of age, a pension amounting to one-third of his wages during the years when his earnings were at their highest point. This plan will apply to anyone making up to $200 a month so persons who are well-to-do can be expected to make their own private pension arrangements, although provision is made for those earning in excess of $500 a month to participate but only up to the same amount as a $500-a-month wage earner. As an example, an average wage earner who is currently making $75 a week and is under 60 years of age can count on a total pension of $243 a month for him and his wife combined from the old age pensions and the contributory pension.

There will also be a choice open to each individual as to whether he wishes to accept an earlier pension, proportionately reduced, at 65 years of age rather than wait until he is 70. Earlier pensions will also be available for anyone who is disabled before retirement age and benefits will be made to the widow or orphans if a contributor dies.

The plan will swing into full operation, although increased benefits will be available from year to year during the interim.

This is because sufficient time is required to build up a safe working reserve for the fund and to provide for a smooth adjustment, where necessary, with existing private plans.

Mr. Temple emphasized that it was the Liberal Party which introduced the Canadian old age pension scheme in 1926 and that this new plan is being introduced because of a need for it. The plan features the best benefits of any old age pensions system anywhere and is second to none, he concluded.

Mothers Play, Children Stray Says Trustee

KINGSTON (CP) — There would be fewer problem children in Ontario schools if mothers would forgo recreational activities, an Ontario school trustees council official said here during the weekend.

Mrs. Graham Kearns of Orangeville told delegates to the convention of the Associated High School Boards of Ontario that the very existence of school trustees is being challenged today.

"The work of a school trustee becomes more time- consuming each year and I feel strongly that if mothers would forgo one pleasure, whether it be curling, bowling, golf or bridge, and take more interest in the schools of their children during the formative years there would not be so many problem children in our schools today."

TO GUIDE CARPENTER

CANBERRA (Reuters)—The Woomera rocket range in South Australia will be lit by flares of 1,000,000 candlepower to help guide Malcolm Scott Carpenter during his orbital flight, Supply Minister Allen Fairhall said today. He said the flares will appear to Carpenter like a pinpoint of light.

3 Dead, 6 Missing In Quebec Slide

Bank Of River Rolls On Men Handling Logs

Debris Stretching Mile Blocks Northern River

BAIE COMEAU, Que. (CP) — Three men are dead and six others reported missing after they were buried under an avalanche of sliding earth and rock Wednesday at a logging site 40 miles north of this St. Lawrence River port.

They were among 17 men working on a pile of logs in the Toulnoustoc River, when the avalanche occurred. The eight others succeeded in escaping.

Names of all 17 men were not available.

They were employed by the Quebec North Shore Paper Company.

Reports reaching Baie Comeau, 75 miles northwest of Quebec City, said "a slice of earth" suddenly detached itself from the steep river bank and slid down on the log pile and the logging workers.

The resulting debris, reported to be a mile long, a half-mile wide and 40 feet thick, also blocked the river.

It was learned here that all the men working on the pile were carrying life - belts and the search was being pressed in the hope that the six reported missing have survived.

Moslem Troops Go Into Action For First Time

ALGIERS (AP) — Moslem troops of the new local force went into action for the first time today—against their own people.

Without firing a shot, the troops dispersed a Moslem mob that surged from squalid tenements near the central vegetable market after European terrorists firing from a car wounded a Moslem.

Within minutes after the shooting, hundreds of Moslems milled in the nearby streets clamoring for European blood and brandishing steel bars and clubs.

A loudspeaker called on the rioters to disperse and return to their homes. Members of the police force of the Moslem National Liberation Front, the FLN, helped to direct the crowd.

Elsewhere in Algiers, terrorists killed at least three Moslems and wounded two others.

DEPLOY IN SUBURB

One company of the local force recently was deployed in the Bab-el-Oued suburb of Algiers and two others will be deployed soon on the city's outskirts. A detachment of 250 Moslem policemen arrived with anti - machine-guns took over a police station in Algiers' east end suburb of Hussein Dey Wednesday.

Officials in the barricaded police headquarters said they most if not all police in Algiers will be Moslem by the time Algeria votes on self-determination July 1.

While measures to destroy the European Terrorist Organization were slowly being put into effect, authorities lifted the visa requirement for women and children wishing to leave Algeria.

Planes and ships have been shuttling between France and Algeria to take all those fleeing from what was uncertainty at the country's major cities.

In the last few days, settlers have been leaving at the rate of about 1,000 a day from Algiers alone.

The police radio network reported 29 persons killed Wednesday, including four Europeans, and nine wounded in terrorist attacks. Identified on the Secret Army, which wants to keep Algeria under French rule.

All Escape Titan Blast In California

CERICO, Calif. (AP)—A Titan missile, a 98-foot-tall ICBM, blast today as its silo exploded at the missile complex near Chico.

Twenty - four persons were in the underground silo when the air force announced.

There were no fatalities.

The silo, a concrete housing and silo in the complex escaped damage, as did the control center, the announcement stated.

The explosion occurred as contractors were running a test before turning the base over to the air force.

The air force spokesman declined to say what caused the blast or to comment on whether it resulted while test fueling of the Titan missile was under way.

Boost Salary Of Ministers

KINGSTON (CP)—The synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario voted Wednesday to boost the minimum salary of ministers in the diocese by $1,000 each of the next two years.

U.S. Will Take Several Thousand Chinese Refugees at Hong Kong

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States will take several thousand Chinese refugees off British hands in the Hong Kong area but it won't open its vast larder to Mao Tse - Tung. The refugees are to start moving to the U.S. in June.

President Kennedy says that before the U.S. is willing to send food to Red China, it would have to know whether food is needed and under what conditions it would be distributed.

He told a press conference Tuesday that a serious food crisis exists on the Chinese mainland and that, among other factors, is causing thousands of refugees to swarm into Hong Kong. But he observed, as on previous occasions, that the Chinese Reds haven't made any specific request for American food.

SALAN GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR TERRORISM

General Stripped Of Many Medals

PARIS (Reuters) — Former Gen. Raoul Salan was moved to nearby Fresnes prison at dawn today to begin a life prison term while French newspapers described his sentence as appeasement and a victory for the terrorist Secret Army Organization.

President de Gaulle's rightist political opponents claimed a victory when the convicted Algiers rebel escaped a death sentence Wednesday night.

French newspapers, with the exception of the rightist Aurore, were chagrined by the totally-unexpected leniency. The death sentence had been considered a certainty.

(In Tunis, headquarters of the Algerian provisional government, the sentence stupified both Tunisians and Algerians. State-owned Radio Tunis called it an encouragement for terrorists "to sow death.")

RIGHTISTS STRONGER

The leniency was considered likely to increase political attacks on the government by rightists in their campaign to keep Algeria French.

The sentence was pronounced at the end of Salan's nine-day trial after a prosecution bid asked that he be condemned to death.

He was tried for leading the Secret Army, violent opponent of Algerian independence, and the abortive "generals' putsch" in Algiers on April, 1961.

The same high military court six weeks ago sentenced the Se-

Two Planks Nailed Into 'Confederation Platform'

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister Diefenbaker nailed two planks into his "confederation platform" Wednesday night, promising a second trans-Canada highway and a national power grid.

Plagued at times by hecklers, he told an audience of 4,400 in the Winnipeg Auditorium that the second highway will proceed "very shortly" and described the power project as "the next great plan" for Canada.

Liberal Leader Pearson, speaking to 1,000 in the stamping northern Ontario uranium town of Elliot Lake, said he is "a little sceptical" about Mr. Diefenbaker's statement that a new uranium contract with Britain is ready for signing.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, predicted that the reduced exchange value of the Canadian dollar will push living costs to new heights. He spoke in the farming village of O'Leary, P.E.I.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson addressed 200 in a half-filled auditorium at Brandon Man., pledging that his party would appoint judges without political patronage.

Three of the four party leaders will change provinces today, Mr. Diefenbaker heading for Saskatoon and Regina, Mr. Douglas flying to Toronto and Mr. Thompson travelling into Nova Scotia for a speech at New Glasgow.

Mr. Pearson was to go deeper into Northern Ontario with a stop at Timmins and Kirkland Lake.

Earlier this week in Toronto the prime minister said he intends to outline a "Confederation platform" during the remainder of the campaign. The promises in his Winnipeg speech were the start.

On the power grid, he said the electric power surplus of one province should be made available to the others by the grid, a national hookup of power systems.

The third plank of the government's development plan would emphasize processing

Red Border Guards Make No Move to Stop Refugees

CP from AP-Reuters

HONG KONG — Communist Kwangtung residents to applyloudspeakers on the border appealed today to Chinese fleeing Red China to stay home and help grow needed food, but Red border guards were reported to not have made no attempt to stop the flow of refugees with force.

About 4,000 refugees crossed the border into this British colony from Red China early today and were detained.

British authorities have turned back more than 50,000 refugees since May 1. Another estimated 8,000 to 10,000 have slipped by the British, further crowding conditions in the colony, and the British say they cannot absorb any more.

Government officials said they had no evidence as yet that troops and authorities had decided to try to stop the mass defection. They are watching anxiously for any signs of such official.

Unconfirmed reports from the border area Wednesday had indicated that a number of refugees would drop because Communist border guards were making moves to stop the flow.

There was no official confirmation today of the reports which told of shots being fired over peasants' heads near the border area.

Villagers in the security area claim to have heard militiamen on the Chinese side urging residents to stay and help grow more food.

LIBERAL PARTY COUNSEL GETS THREAT LETTER

Warned to Lay Off or Else

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal party counsel R. J. MacKinnon today told the royal commission, into crime that an anonymous letter has warned him to "lay off or else."

Mr. MacKinnon said that a friend received the letter at his office this morning and telephoned him about it during the commission hearings.

The letter got together with words clipped from publications apparently threatened some persons whose names were not mentioned by the Liberal party lawyer.

As read to the commission, the letter stated:

"Tell MacKinnon to lay off or else we get you and "(name omitted) had good luck."

Mr. MacKinnon said he considered he should publicize the matter immediately in order to "rid this sort of silly nonsense."

Boy Killed by Lightning Bolt As Severe Storm Sweeps Ont.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Southern Ontario farmers today counted the cost of destruction left in the wake of a series of thunderstorms which struck scattered parts of the province Wednesday.

An 11-year-old boy was killed as a result of the storm which also damaged tobacco crops, uprooted trees, knocked down hydro wires and stranded a host of motorists aboard in Lake Ontario.

Lightning from the storm set fire to barns.

Killed in the storm was Rickie Mathers of St. Catharines. He was struck by a bolt of lightning as he ran across the street to his home. The lightning tore off his clothing, singed his hair there and ripped off his shoes.

The boat stranded in Lake Ontario was towed to safety today. Captain Jan Makkerel, 36, Robert Long, and his son, Robbie, 14, all of Toronto, were aboard the 38 - foot sloop. They were unharmed.

Consumption Of Control Fuel Causes Concern

Carpenter Told to Use Manual Control

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Mercury Control Centre here reported today that the capsule carrying astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter apparently landed in the Atlantic Ocean some 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral—or 200 miles beyong its intended landing point. Because of loss of radio communication, there was no confirmation of Carpenter's condition.

Officials reported the spacecraft launched with 2,220 miles from the point where it was estimated the spacecraft landed. The plane, Scott air force gen rescue craft, flew toward the area with a team of para-rescue men.

There was no immediate estimate how long it would take the plane to reach the scene.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter completed his second orbit of the globe today and prepared to come down with after one more circuit.

Rapid fuel consumption in his Aurora 7 spaceship caused great concern during his second orbit. But after careful consultation with the pilot, the Mercury Control Centre reported:

"We see no reason why he shouldn't continue into the third orbit; but we emphasize that he limit his automatic fuel consumption."

The latter was an order sent from the control centre at Cape Canaveral to the tracking station at Point Arguello, Calif., for relay to Carpenter when he passed overhead.

DETECT CONSUMPTION

Officials detected fast consumption of fuel in the craft after the second orbit began and told Carpenter to begin making more use of his manual control system to conserve the dwindling hydrogen peroxide.

Apparently Carpenter did not hear the original order, which came from the Canary Island tracking station, and it had to be repeated before he got it in Australia, Muchea and Woomera.

Carpenter told Mercury officials there was enough fuel to complete the three - orbit mission and the order was given to proceed.

As he passed over Cape Canaveral just before entering the third orbit, it was learned he attempted to jettison a balloon which he had stored behind the capsule for one whole orbit. He reported the jettison switch would not work and he was unable to release the 30 - inch balloon.

Ground technicians assured him that the presence of the balloon would in no way affect the mission and that it would

Bank Of River Rolls On Men Handling Logs

Debris Stretching Mile Blocks Northern River

BAIE COMEAU, Que. (CP) Three are dead and six others reported missing after they were buried under an avalanche of sliding earth and rock Wednesday at a logging site 40 miles north of this St. Lawrence River port.

They were among 17 men working on a pile of logs in the Toulnoustoc River, when the avalanche occurred. The eight others succeeded in escaping.

Names of all 17 men were not available.

They were employed by the Quebec North Shore Paper Company.

Reports reaching Baie Comeau, 75 miles northwest of Quebec City, said "a slice of earth" suddenly detached itself from the steep river bank and slid down on the log pile and the logging workers.

The resulting debris, reported to be a mile long, a half-mile wide and 40 feet thick, also blocked the river.

It was learned here that all the men working on the pile were carrying life - belts and the search was being pressed in the hope that the six reported missing have survived.

Since the training commenced last fall 711 men have taken the survival training.

One hundred and six signed up for the 4th course completing this week, and of the original number 84 will complete the course.

Annual Inspection Staged Of Quinte Sea Cadet Corps

The cadets of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Quinte" held their annual inspection parade on Friday in the Cadet "ship" on the harbour. Due to the weather the parade was held indoors instead and the corps was inspected on board the ship by Lieut.-Commdr. H. G. Chaussee, C.D. RCNR, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. "Chaudiere", Kingston.

The rain did not, however, affect the smartness on the part of the cadets during the inspection on the water. With the absence of gale-force winds, the ship remained steady under power. In the sail past were the corps' two whalers, gaffer and the yachts "Mistral" and "Cascade", aboard which the cadets received training in sailing.

Commander Chaussee took the salute from the outer bridge of the Sea Cadet building as the boats passed on returning to harbor. Coupled with this phase of the inspection was the physical demonstration of seamanship in tying up and casting off, the boat pulling procedure, commendations via Morse lamp and radio were received from ships in sight of the harbor.

Sitting displays held in the building included a first aid display by the recent graduates of the 1963 St. John Ambulance course under Sub-Lt. Al Bockley, a bowline and hitches display under Mr. Jack Adamson, a hunter safety demonstration by Petty Officer Second Class and a dinghy rigging display by AC John Wood.

COMPLIMENTS CADETS

In his remarks following the inspection Commander Chaussee complimented the cadets on their smartness and on putting on a fine display of seamanship under poor conditions which required a reversion of the program. He also thanked the officers and petty officers for their assistance in exercising full participation in the corps' activities.

He urged the cadets to take a keen interest in their schoolwork as well as their cadet activities and emphasized the need for a good education to qualify for whatever career they might wish to do.

Commander Chaussee also thanked the Sea Cadets for their great pride in their uniform and in their work and were members of the Senior Service and were a part of Canada's first line of defence. He urged them to take full advantage of the training and instruction as provided by their officers.

The inspecting officer also complimented the Navy League for the help they had given the musical salutes for divisions and sunset. Lieut.-Commdr. (Jr. der Sub-Lt. Joe Meldrum of the Navy League Cadet Corps.

AWARDS PRESENTED

The annual awards for the cadets' proficiency in various corps activities were presented by Commander Chaussee. Petty Officer Second Class Blair Johnston received the Women of the Moose Trophy as the corps' most outstanding cadet for all phases of the corps' activities.

The Seldon Trophy for the corps' best sailor on the basis of sailing competition among the cadets was awarded to Petty Officer Second Class David Gray.

Awards for the top mark in Able Cadet examinations and the Leading Cadet examinations were presented to AC John Ward and AC Douglas St. Laurent respectively.

Certificates for passing their course examinations were presented to PO David Cox, PO Blair Johnston and LC Douglas St. Laurent. It was noted that LC St. Laurent had written the best paper of the many written by cadets for the LC's rate in Ontario area.

Following the inspection, a reception was held at the Yacht Club for the inspecting officer and visiting officers by the Navy League branch of Belleville, a member of the United Appeal, which sponsors the Sea Cadet Corps.

Also present for the inspection were Comm. Off. Arthur Hill of the Area Office Sea Cadets, a number of officers from Trenton, many past cadets, parents and interested observers.

A bargain of pornographic pictures and literature was displayed at the hearing Commission counsel Roland P. Wilson said the pictures were found in Wright's possession when he was arrested on May 24, last year.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, sole member of the commission, asked Wright about some of the articles seized by the anti-gambling squad and about not have been destroyed.

"No, other officers kept obscene photographs for their own stores as headquarters," Wright replied. He said he took part in an OPP raid on a poker game at the home of Leonard Tait, Gladstone in Cornwall in August, 1958.

Wright said he must have thrown the key to a safe he had case during the raid and somehow failed to find a dresser drawer at home.

Insp. Graham said he found certain financial papers but found no trace of a second diary which Wright had kept. Graham said he also much of the testimony he was presented in the last four days.

Wright has been convicted, with others, of conspiracy with McDermott and Vincent Presley, of obtaining police information and becoming a member of the gambling squad after he had been transferred from the station as he revealed his income tax troubles and his commission counsel declined into his total earnings by about $8,700 during that period.

Despite earlier evidence that he had boasted of teaving up $50,000 in a gambling tipoff—a state m e n t he discovered Wednesday—Wright told the commission he is broke.

Head of Wright's day was taken up with a long series of denials of material in reports turned in by Det.-Sgt. Ernest Coust, George Scott of the anti-gambling squad who quoted him as crooked policeman to gather information against McDermott and Presley.

1. Wright received $1,000 a month for "looking after" the McDermott - Presley gambling operation in the Windsor area while it was running.

2. Wright supplied information for gamblers at Peterborough.

3. Wright told "Tuy or Joe" anyone on the OPP.

4. Sgt. John F. Cronin had made at least $100,000 from gamblers before retiring from the force.

5. Insp. Allan Stringer, now head of the OPP's Kingston district, had tipped off McDermott and others to a projected series of raids in Hamilton, which failed.

6. Costing of the McDermott-Feeley Roseland Club near Windsor had resulted in a cap-ital loss of $250,000."—Wright.

7. In 1960 Albert Iamelli of Niagara Falls was expecting the possibility of opening a club in St. Catharines and an inspector there had been tipped off.

8. Police Chief John Patrick Kitchener was paid $1,000 by Cookstown club to OK' any cheques presented by Kitchener Construction.

9. Police Chief Cecil Pay of Niagara Falls was paid $1,000 by McDermott asking to see him.

10. Some Niagara Peninsula politicians had been paid money.

Inspector Allan Stringer, now head of the OPP district centred at Peterborough, had tipped off McDermott and others to a projected series of raids at Hamilton, which failed.

MRS. GEORGE BAKER

TRENTON — On Tuesday, service was held in St. Columba United Church for Mrs. Sarah E. Baker, of 64 Kerr Crescent, Trenton, with Rev. Baker officiating at the home last Sunday.

The service was conducted by Rev. Baker, assisted by Rev. Allister, pastor of St. Ola Church, and Rev. Clarence Wright, of Murray, John Palmateer, Thos. Carroll, Harvey Phillips, Jos. Mitchell and George Starks.

Interment was in Greenbush cemetery, R.R. 3, Stella.

Mrs. Baker visited at the Weaver Funeral Home in Belleville Public Utilities, stated there was quite a bit of isolated trouble, most of it due to the high winds and fall of transformer and sectionalizing fuses, and to broken service limbs falling on wires.

TRANSFORMER HIT

Mr. Burnham said one hydro repair crew was on duty from noon 1.30 this morning and two crews had been out since shortly after that time.

Careless Driving Charge Proven Against Airman

An air force man, LAC Brian Frost, was fined $10 and court costs in county magistrate's court this morning when he was found guilty on a charge of careless driving.

Mr. Hannon was represented by T. Lally and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Evidence given by Mr. Hansen was proceeding south on Highway 33, intending to turn west onto the Oak Lake Road. As the driver was attempting to make the left-hand turn he was hit and struck by another southbound car driven by Corporal Kearns of R.R. 2 Frankford.

Two passengers in the Hansen vehicle testified that Mr. Hannon made his left - hand signal with his hand and that he proceeded around the highway. Mr. Hansen said he missed the turn and had to back up.

Mr. Hearns, driver of the second vehicle involved, testified that he was not proceeding south he observed a vehicle in front of him, heading north towards him. He said he pulled out into the left lane to pass and at the same time the driver of the car ahead of him made a left turn.

Mr. Hearns told the court that he could see this car for some distance and that the back-up lights were showing. Both he and the driver of a northbound vehicle testified that they saw no signal.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Wills said in view of the fact that the occupants of Mr. Hansen's vehicle had testified and that Mr. Hansen himself had looked in the rear view mirror, Mr. Hansen's vehicle was there, and if they did not see it, it was their fault.

"In my opinion," said the magistrate, "the defendant was making a turn when the movement of another vehicle was affected. I must find him guilty."

Storm Sewers Filled, Hydro Transformer Hit as 2.85 Inches Rain Fall on City

Storm sewers in the downtown area were filled to overflowing last night as one of the heaviest downfalls of rain in several years was experienced, officials at the Belleville Filtration Plant stated 2.85 inches of rain fell between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. and from 3:30 this morning when the rain clouds finally broke.

Accompanying the rain, was several thunder and lightning flashes and rolling thunder keeping many sleepy residents awake.

There were a few power interruptions caused by lightning in Prince Edward county putting CJBQ radio off the air for several hours.

The city public works department reported about 30 calls complaining about flooded basements and other troubles. The number of complaints, however, was not as great as might have been expected considering the amount of rain that fell.

HEAVY RAIN DEEP

Sewer maintenance and checking of the storm sewer system, was felt might have had something to do with the lack of complaints of flooding.

But at that the water ran deep about the curbs in the downtown area as storm sewers were unable to handle the large amount of storm water.

But the flooding was only of brief duration and the water drained away as soon as the storm abated.

Mr. E. Burnham, manager of the Belleville Public Utilities, stated there was quite a bit of isolated trouble, most of it due to the high winds and fall of transformer and sectionalizing fuses, and to broken service limbs falling on wires.

Expect Madoc Liquor Vote Will Show Split

The official result will not be known until later in the day, but a preliminary count last night indicated that residents of Madoc village narrowly approved a dining room liquor licence and turned down operation of a beverage room.

Yesterday's vote on the two liquor questions brought to one of the largest votes in the history of the village. Village Clerk Ken Kincaid said approximately 850 persons went to the polls.

When the official count is made early this afternoon it was expected there would be changes from the preliminary results announced last night.

Mr. Kincaid noted the preliminary count indicated the dining room licence question would be carried while the beverage room question would be turned down. A 60 per cent affirmative vote is necessary to carry liquor questions.

Addressing Trenton Rally, Pearson Says Real Issue Is Party With Best Record

TRENTON — Addressing a Liberal rally at the Quinte-way Hotel here yesterday afternoon, Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson stated that the real issue in this election is the records of the Progressive Conservative and the Liberal parties.

Mr. Pearson paused to greet the smiles coming outside the hotel and in the lobby, before proceeding into the main dining room where the real crowd had waited for more than an hour, preceding a Liberal victory duty.

As he progressed into the dining area, the hundreds of assembled party stalwarts showed their loyalty by pounding and enthusiasm can do by making the rafters ring with the cheers.

Mr. Pearson made his way slowly through, shaking hands on all sides. He was grinning from ear to ear. At the end of the hall, he greeted his old friend, Senator W. A. Fraser, warmly, passing the group to the heads of Mayor Maclean Haig and Mrs. Effie McCabe - from Belleville, then sat down while Bob Ransom, president of the Trenton Liberal Association, took over the duties of chairman.

MANY REQUESTS

The official welcome over, the mayor reminded Mr. Pearson that Trenton needed a bridge, development in the bay area and, said the mayor, "there's always the bay itself. I'll be right on your tail."

Mayor Haig spoke of Mr. Pearson as "the best and one of the greatest Prime Ministers of Canada."

Senator Fraser was introduced as "our very own senator."

Dr. Pauline Jewett, Liberal candidate for Northumberland, took a bow. She had remarked earlier that "this wasn't her show."

Hastings South candidate Robert Temple, whose show it was, started off his contribution by lifting the microphone out of its holder.

"I've lifted this thing out by the roots," he quipped, struggling to put it back together again, "and we're going to take this riding apart the same way."

Mr. Temple went on to refer to the Liberal leader as "the greatest of Canadians," and said that the huge and enthusiastic crowd augured well for the future of a Liberal government to power and the election of a Liberal candidate in Hastings South.

Mr. Pearson agreed that the size of the crowd was "encouraging."

"I'm confident, but not over confident," said Mr. Pearson, "with this kind of support we Liberals should be asked to form the next government. But we can only do it by hard work. It's the last three and a half weeks that count."

Mr. Pearson said that he was "happy" to have Mr. Temple and Dr. Jewett representing this Liberal party in this area.

ISSUE IS RECORD

"The issue of this election is fundamental and simple," said Mr. Pearson, "the real record of the last government's past five years and which party has the best record. The Conservatives have tried, but their best hasn't been good enough. We can do better. There's no use of the Prime Minister telling us we're in the middle of a great expansion." In April of this year, close to half a million people were out of work. If things go on as they are, by 1964 we'll have 600,000 persons unemployed. Let the Prime Minister tell us what he's going to do about this particular problem."

Mr. Pearson spoke of the recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar as "humiliating."

"The result of devaluating the dollar to 92½ cents will be that you'll get an increase in the cost of everything you buy. And it reflects a lack of confidence in the stability of the Canadian dollar," Mr. Pearson warned.

Mr. Pearson said that he had more faith in Canada than ever before but that he had no faith in the present government.

"If the Liberal party is put back into power," said Mr. Pearson, "once again we can move forward. With the young, energetic candidates we have, the Liberal team can do the job. And I'm proud to be the leader of the team."

Following his brief address, Mr. Pearson took off down the dining hall again, shaking hands as he went. A 30-car cavalcade escorted him to RCAF Station Trenton, where he boarded a plane which was to take him into the Sudbury district.

RCAF Hunts Man and Dog On Lake Erie

TRENTON, Ont. (CP) — Six RCAF planes today were pressed into a search of central Lake Erie for a man and dog missing since Monday from Port Chagrin, Ohio.

Ernest M. Bodner set sail this morning with his pet dog, and told his wife he would be home in five hours. He had not carried a three horsepower outboard motor.

United States Coast Guard craft are also searching for the 17-foot sailboat, Bo-ru-ty.

Little hope that either is alive as they held today's search storm swept the lake Wednesday.

Search and rescue officials at RCAF Trenton base said no trace of the man or his boat has been reported, and that the search is being concentrated on the north side of Lake Erie near the international boundary, and between Point Pelee and Long Point.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION — South Hastings Liberal candidate, Robert Temple and Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson respond with a victory salute to the enthusiastic welcome of over 800 party supporters and citizens yesterday in Trenton. A warm reception was given the Liberal leader along the route of a motorcade through Trenton to the RCAF station.

New Fire Hall Will Be Opened At Frankford

TRENTON — On Saturday, new fire hall at Frankford will be opened and heads of departments from the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual Aid Association, as well as the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Highways; Elmer Sandercock, MLA for West Hastings, and Warden Harold Varty of Hastings will attend the official ceremonies, which are scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m.

The new hall, which has been six months in the building, will house the department's modern truck and other auxiliary equipment.

SOMEONE KILLED CAT

She was just a friendly little white cat. She lived on Marmora Street in Trenton. She liked to play with the children in her "own" family and the kiddies in the neighborhood.

This was a well-loved cat. Last winter when she was sick, the family sent her to the animal hospital and Dad paid the bill — $22 — without a murmur, because the children loved the little white cat so.

Last Sunday, her family went out for a ride, leaving Kitty playing in the back yard. When they returned the children looked for Kitty. They found her — beaten to death — in the yard, with the cruel stick beside her.

The police have been notified, but nobody knows how to answer the children's tearful "Why?"

ANCIENT AREA

Persians and Arabs trading in slaves and ivory were settled in parts of Kenya in east Africa as early as the seventh century.

P.S. Inspector Injured, Car Hit by Train

TRENTON — Mr. C. E. McMullen, 60, public school inspector for all Trenton and residing at Victoria Beach, Colborne, was injured and his car a complete wreck, when it was struck at a CNR crossing on Rockcliffe Road by a train coming from his home to Highway No. 2, early on Wednesday morning.

Mr. McMullen was thrown clear of the car in the ditch but the car rolled over on him, pinning him beneath. He was rushed to Cobourg General Hospital and today his condition is reported as "fair." He suffered a fractured rib, abrasions and contusions to the head and body and shock.

3.04 Inches Rain Reported By Station

TRENTON — A record 3.04 inches of rain fell yesterday evening according to RCAF Station Trenton, causing a number of flooded basements throughout town, as well as several power interruptions. Previous record was 2.78 inches on July 16, 1956.

Public Utilities manager James Page reported that the transformers on Flindall and Victoria streets were struck also caused power interruption by lightning and knocked out lines on Spring and Meyers of service. Failing tree limbs streets.

ENJOYING CAMPAIGN — Above may be seen Liberal leader Lester B. "Mike" Pearson and Mrs. Pearson, and local Liberal candidate Robert Temple and Mrs. Temple as they met before a reception for Mr. and Mrs. Pearson in Trenton yesterday. Both Mr. Pearson and Mr. Temple expressed delight with the campaign's progress.

burst up on re-entry into the earth's atmosphere after the third orbit. Carpenter then took more pictures of the balloon.

The balloon surface is divided into five equal sections of different colors. The idea is to enable Carpenter to determine which color man can best perceive in space.

Performing as if he were right at home in the strange world of weightlessness, the pewter-hued astronaut Virgil I. Grissom on the ground in Cape Canaveral that everything was fine and he was in excellent condition as he sailed overhead at the end of two orbits.

Carpenter looked at his first orbit at 10:19 a.m., EDT, flashing over Cape Canaveral 90 miles up.

The hydrogen peroxide is squirted out in jet form from small holes around the nozzle of the capsule. If the capsule shifts off its planned attitude for some reason, jets fire to push it back on the proper attitude (its angle of relation to the horizon).

CAN CONTROL PITCH

The astronaut can control the roll, pitch and yaw of his capsule by using the manual control stick to engage these jet streams.

As he entered the second orbit, Carpenter was told to assume more manual control of Aurora 7 to conserve the fuel, which is used up more rapidly when the automatic system is operating. By taking manual control, Carpenter could use a steadier course and thus eliminate some need for firing the jets.

A false reading on a chart in the Mercury control center caused some concern late in the first orbit. A medical gauge showed that Carpenter's body temperature was 102 degrees. Astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper at the Guaymas, Mexico, station asked Carpenter if the reading were correct. Carpenter replied:

"No. If so, I'm sure I would be sweating in my space suit."

The powerful rocket broke loose from its earthly bonds at 8:45 a.m. and shouldered its way into the sky to start Carpenter toward the journey through the stillness of space.

The rocket rose slowly at first, restricted by the 120 tons of fuels packed in its tanks. But it quickly gathered speed as the three engines, generating 360,000 pounds of thrust, hungrily consumed the volatile fuel.

The rocket lifted straight as an arrow for about 30 seconds and then pitched over a north-east heading.

As the rocket entered the cold air of the upper troposphere, 35,000 feet, its wake trail spewed out from behind it.

As the rocket rose, Carpenter reported that all systems in the capsule were working.

BOOSTERS SEPARATE

Two and a half minutes after launching, Carpenter controlled by radio to the Mercury control centre that his two booster engines had separated successfully from the main sustainer part of the rocket.

A steady stream of radio data flowed from the rocket and capsule. Carpenter, 37, himself was reported on cabin pressure and the gradual buildup of gravity forces that were pushing him back into his contour couch.

At 3 minutes, 56 seconds after launch, Carpenter said "my condition is good."

Minutes later, Carpenter's Aurora 7 space capsule settled into the planned orbital path more than 100 miles above the earth —following the same trail blazed three months ago by John Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth.

Seconds after entering orbit, Carpenter began exercising the capsule's manual control system so he could match the Atlas booster rocket as it fell away from his capsule.

The reports from the Aurora 7 were relayed to hundreds of reporters here by the Mercury Control Centre on Cape Canaveral, where tense officials carefully monitored all aspects of the flight and condition of the navy lieutenant-commander.

DELAYED 45 MINUTES

The blazing Atlas rocket rose majestically into a clear sky after a 45-minute delay because of visibility-limiting ground haze in the launching area.

Just as it did on Glenn's flight, the Atlas performed with amazing precision. With each point accuracy it pushed the spacecraft through a keyhole in the sky" at the desired speed and angle. If it had missed that spot in gauge 100 miles high and 300 miles northeast of the Cape, the Bermuda tracking station would have ordered Carpenter's craft back to earth immediately.

The control centre reported five minutes after blastoff that Aurora 7 was in successful orbit and ready to circle the earth seven circuits of the globe if necessary. But the mission was planned for only three orbits, the same as Glenn's. Seven orbits would entail returning the astronaut's capsule to earth somewhere in the Pacific, and would involve the deployment of great numbers of recovery vessels.

If the three orbit mission was completed, flight time would be about four hours and 30 minutes. If all went well, the capsule would parachute into the Atlantic near Grand Turk Island, 800 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral about 1:35 p.m. EDT.

Despite the extreme stresses of rocket acceleration, Carpenter calmly reported on conditions in the capsule. He said there about eight hours of gravity pressed him against the contour couch, and then increasing the weight of his lean, trim body eight times its normal 150 pounds.

Shortly after insertion into orbit, Carpenter reported on cabin pressure, oxygen supply and other instrument readings in his capsule.

Communicating with him from Grand Turk Island, 800 miles away was astronaut Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom, who last year made a suborbital rocket trip.

After Aurora 7 was successfully launched, the astronaut reported the capsule had turned 180 degrees as intended, so that he was riding upright and backward through space, with the capsule's blunt heat shield leading the way.

Donald Seames Hurt as Car Takes to Ditch

A Plainfield man, Donald G. Seames, age 31 is in the Belleville General Hospital today as the result of a car accident which occurred early this morning.

Provincial Police Constable Glen Hulser, investigating officer, said that Mr. Seames was proceeding north through the village when his car left the road and struck a tree.

The car travelled through the ditch for some distance before striking the tree, then continued for a considerable distance on its side before coming to rest.

Const. Hulser said the car was completely demolished.

The driver, Mr. Seames was taken to the hospital suffering lacerations to oily head, Dr. Dinneen attended at the scene. Mr. Seames is being kept at the hospital for observations.

The accident occurred around 1.30 a.m. this morning.

Const. Hulser said it was raining heavily at the time and visibility was poor. It is believed the slippery pavement contributed to the accident.

Police Cruiser Skids Into Bayside Ditch

An Ontario Provincial Police cruiser from No. 9 district headquarters, Belleville, proceeding west on Highway No. 2 just out of Bayside Wednesday, skidded off the road into the ditch.

The accident occurred around 11.30 p.m.

Stanley Park Group Stages Fireworks Show

The first annual fireworks display sponsored by the Stanley Park Homeowners Association late Monday night was enjoyed by a huge crowd of adults and children. The well-organized display got underway at dusk and as each rocket, Roman candle and spinning pyrotechnics shot across the evening sky, hundreds of young voices oohed and aahed with delight.

The event took place in a large field to the rear of the Belleville Bowl, located for the occasion by the Stanley Park Homeowners Association.

Prior to the fireworks display a parade, entertained with a program of delightful music by the Belleville Public School Band, under the direction of Mr. AM Cooper.

Many residents of the Stanley Park area worked hard to make the event a success. The committee for the occasion was Mr. Nick Banek and Squadron Leader Bill Bridge arranged and supervised the work of the gunpowder squad. Mr. Bill Sharkey was in charge of supervision and Recreation Commission assistant Mr. Ed Pascal looked after the grass to be mown and safety forces to be stalled.

Quintena Rebekahs Hold Delightful 'Garden Tea'

The magic wand of the "Once-Upon-a-Time" fairy tales has not become obsolete. Yesterday afternoon this same wand was waved over the auditorium of the I.O.O.F. hall on Front Street and there has been ordinary assembly room became a veritable garden of flowers, fragrant with the perfume of purple and white lilacs and the yellow of golden and mauve chrysanthemums. One could almost hear the trills of the feathered songbirds as they balanced on their little white bird benches, while others were busily engaged in building their nests among the sprays for the season. Not alone were the winged denizens of the air, but poised upon the colorful flowers which here and there added their beauty to the setting, were lovely little butterflies in pastel tints of yellow and blue.

PINK FLAMINGOES

At one end of this lovely garden two maidens, one in a bathing suit reclined upon a chaise lounge, sunning herself; while the other, under a green fringed garden umbrella, was enjoying a cooling drink, and around several pink flamingoes stood at ease.

On entering the garden, one passed beneath a trellis arbor covered with evergreens, trailing vines and pink flowers, and down a pathway lined with tall standards of mauve, white and yellow chrysanthemums, into the tea room through the open, white picket gates, at the entrance of, which stood a green trellis with flowering vines.

At the rear of the auditorium were two tea carts, each guarded by a tall white standard of chrysanthemums, the Union Jack and the flag of the Quintena Rebekahs in pale satin bearing the emblems, the Dove of Peace; Beehive of Workers; the Lily of Purity and the Five Point and Stars. The emblems in green on the pink ground represents Canadian Friendship and Eternal Love." At other strategic points were white baskets of more lilacs in mauve and white.

GOOD QUALITY hair ribbons need not be expensive. See, but they'll look better and last longer than ordinary ribbons. After each wearing, wash them in mild soap, dip them in a stiff-starch solution, then they're easier to wet, spread them on a flat surface (the top of the washer or dryer, for example). No ironing needed.

St. George's Guild Visits The Capital

On Tuesday the members and friends of St. George's Guild enjoyed the annual bus trip to Ottawa, where they spent the day, visiting the Parliament Buildings, and a most interesting tour through the mint.

The remainder of the day was spent in window shopping on the main streets of the capital, where the attractive merchandise was displayed, and leaving up in memory's hall the interesting sights seen, including the wonderful display of tulips, gifts from her majesty, Queen Juliana of Holland, as well as making a tight-seeing tour around the famous Experimental Farm.

Later, they returned to Belleville, tired, but happy.

Fashion Industry Italy's Biggest Dollar Earner

By VERA MARTIN

ROME (Reuters) — The fashion industry has become one of Italy's biggest dollar earners.

Exports of garments increased by 53 per cent between 1957 and 1960 and figures for 1961 and 1962 are expected to show further increases.

The twice-yearly showings of new Italian collections are becoming more popular with the press, and buyers alike. Some 800 buyers and 200 fashion reporters are expected to attend the next showings in Rome and Florence next July.

Wife Preservers

New coats in sweaters, jet-age hoopless, bikinis and splendid 50-piece advance "coordinates" as reading nears completion. Critics and patients cast food to selected treasures and hold it at a happy mean level beforehand.

them, including such houses as At present, Italy has about 30 high fashion houses, most of Schiaparelli, Princess Galitzine, Carosa, Simonetta, Simonetta Fabiani, de Luca, Luciani, and Pucci, are well-established.

SOME NEWCOMERS

They include, however, a few promising newcomers. — Fabrizio di Sorquet of Naples, Renato Balestra of Trieste and 36-year-old Roberto Capucci, who took his collection to Paris last January on the strength of his work's strongest competition.

Italian clothes have been successful because of the highly individualist character and artistic sense of Italians. Even ready-to-wear garments are in such variety that women who have taken a dislike to one rig of seeing identical dresses.

Italian knitwear, too, has had an enormous success all over the world. Cleverly chosen leathers, combined with flattering styling, resulted in the export of 30,000,000 pairs of shoes last year.

The firm of Ferragamo, which numbers some members of the British Royal Family among its customers, boasts that there were four queens in its small Rome shop one morning.

Question: Our new daughter is to be christened in a few weeks. This is our first child. I plan to invite a number of friends as well as family to the ceremony, which will be held in church. Afterward, everyone will be asked back to our apartment for a light buffet luncheon. Should a formal, engraved invitation be sent out? I've never received one, myself, although I've been to a few christenings, and wonder if it is correct to do so. — Mrs. M.M.A., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Answer: Formal invitations are not sent out for a christening. Only family and very close friends usually are invited, and they may be contacted very informally. Invitations may be extended by phone or in person, or, if you feel you want to make it more "official," a short note may be sent to everyone on the guest list.

Question: My husband wants to invite a few business acquaintances to a buffet supper we plan to give next month. I've met neither the men nor their wives, but he insists I be the one to send the invitations. Would this be proper and, if so, how should it be done? Mrs. A.Y., Hoboken, N.J.

Answer: Ordinarily, the hostess handles all invitations on a woman-to-woman basis. In this case, though, the wives might not know who you were if you called out of the blue, so it would be proper to let your husband pave the way. Correctly, he could invite his business associates in your name by saying: "We're having a party June 30th, and my wife would like you to come. She'll call Mrs. Doe about the details. Then, when you call "Mrs. Doe," don't know who you are and have her answer ready. If you drop a note, it should be addressed to the wife, even if you've never met her, and signed with your name alone.

Question: I've been invited to a tea to meet a new neighbor, and plan to accept if I don't have to stay too long. On the day in question, I have two meetings to attend and would like to sandwich in the tea if it would be proper just to pop in and out again. Could you enlighten me on this? — Mrs. J.R., New Haven, Conn.

Answer: A half-hour is considered minimum for a large tea. At smaller teas, guests usually stay at least an hour, and usually more, if you have to leave under the wire, however, explain to your hostess and try to depart without fuss or fanfare.

Question: I am one of a committee of four which was organized to plan a high school reunion, with our former teachers as guests. It is to be held at a country club, beginning with a cocktail hour. Beginning

Two members of our committee would like to serve fried chicken and beef. In order for both to be served, the platters will be passed hand-to-hand. Is what is called "family style" service.

I and another member of our committee do not feel that this is proper, and would like your opinion. — Mrs. G.M.H., Hinsdale, Ill.

Answer: With a large group and with a choice of entrees, a buffet service would be more practical and gracious. Passing platters of food can be quite cumbersome, and there is a chance the food might cool by the time the meat and vegetables are all passed 'round in this manner. If, for some reason, it's not possible to arrange a buffet or have waitresses do the serving, then the next best solution would be to appoint a hostess to preside over the dishes at each table and do the serving.

Question: My daughter is to be married next month, and we've invited the minister who is so perform the ceremony, and his wife, to the wedding reception. They have accepted. Now I'd like to know about seating them. Should they be placed at the table with the wedding party, or should they be seated at the parents table? — Mrs. R.R., New York City

Answer: Since you're having a special table for the parents, the minister and his wife should be seated there. The minister should be placed to the left of the bride's mother and his wife, to the left of the bride's father. The groom's father goes to the right of the bride's father.

Question: I know the groom isn't supposed to see the bride in her gown before the wedding, but is it proper to have a formal portrait taken before the ceremony? A friend will be taking photos of the wedding, but I would like to have a formal portrait of myself and the groom taken a week or so in advance. — Miss J.B., West York, Pa.

Answer: A purist probably would say "no," and chuck about how it's bad luck for a groom to see his bride in her wedding dress before the ceremony. But if you're not superstitious and are not a slave to convention, then it would be perfectly proper for you to have a formal portrait taken before the wedding.

Question: My daughter eloped a month ago, and she and her husband now are living near this place of business in a town nearby. My daughter doesn't want me to send out announcements, but I do think our distant friends and relatives should be notified. Those living nearby naturally know about her marriage. Is it proper to send out an announcement of an elopement, and, if so, may it be engraved and how should it be worded? — Mrs. H.C., Teaneck, N.J.

Answer: If this is your daughter's first marriage, an engraved announcement may be sent out even though she eloped. The announcement is worded in the traditional way: Mr. and Mrs. John Doe have the honor of announcing the marriage of their daughter Mary, etc. An engraved announcement is never sent out if the bride is a divorcee.

Question: At a party, my husband was standing talking to a woman who was seated in a chair. Because the room was noisy, he had to bend low to hear what she was saying. When I finally rescued him, he was grateful. His back was getting awfully sore. Wouldn't it have been more courteous for her to stand in this instance, even though she was talking to a man? — Mrs. L.S., Croton, New York

Answer: A woman may remain seated when speaking to a man who is standing. But in a case where she was causing the man practically to bend over backwards to be polite, it would have been more gracious of her to stand up to carry on the conversation.

Question: I recently attended my niece's wedding. Her father died a few years ago, so she asked an uncle to give her away. He and his wife have no children of their own. After the reception, my brother, also an uncle of the bride, was quite bitter about this, claiming that since he was older, he should have escorted her down the aisle.

My question is: Who should give the bride away in place of her father, and who should make the decision if the problem comes up? — G.M., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Answer: When a bride's father is deceased, she then may ask her brother, if she has one, or any other male relative to give her away. The only formal stipulation is that the relative who performs this duty be over twenty-one. The bride, herself, usually makes the final decision about which male relative should be asked to officiate.

Pound Cake With or Without Spice

by Mary Moore

This hoary Pollyanna is sakng permission to print just one grandmother's worth of grip-ing is all I ask.

In the past three weeks there have been three dismal failures in the course of my experiments in the kitchen. Even when things are thrown in the garbage it is a gloomy experience, but when they reach the table, smound which are writing poor favorite people, and when served are a gooey mess — boom! Doesn't it?

But one ray of sunlight showed through. One of the experiments was to try adding maraschino cherries to a new light pound cake recipe and the cherries fell to the bottom — but the cake called for spices and they stayed afloat. I'm glad they did because it was one of the finest pound cake batters I've gotten on to years, if you like spices a little or a lot; if you like having a cake in the refrigerator that may be instantly sliced, dainty and thin, for tea or luncher or snacks; even if you find like eating try this

2 cups sifted but unsifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon nutmeg (or ¼ teaspoon each mace and cinnamon), (spices optional), ¼ teaspoon salt, eggs, 1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla (or 1 teaspoon almond flavoring or 1 tablespoon maraschino cherry syrup).

Sift together the flour, baking powder, spice or spices if used and salt. Beat the 5 eggs together until very thick and pale and lemon-colored — at least 10 minutes. Cream the butter until light and airy, and gradually add all sugar to it until mixture is fluffy. Add flavoring that you choose. Add beaten eggs to butter mixture and beat again. (The batter looks curdled, but do not worry about it. This is corrected later.) Blend in sifted dry ingredients. Butter and line a standard loaf pan 9¼ x 5 x 3¼". Line bottom with buttered wax paper. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. — a hair's breadth over 300 deg. Fahr. — for 1½ hours. I turned the temperature down to 300 when the cake had baked 1¼ hours. Carefully cool on rack leaving paper on bottom. This cake is at its best for slicing when cold and at least 24 hours old. Wrap well and store in refrigerator.

Mother's Helper

THE IDEA of going for any kind of a medical check-up is far from tempting to most children. For healthy youngsters, it's a bore. For less healthy ones, such visits may be dreaded. Combine them duties with something that's fun, and all obstacles should disappear. Avoid using a treat as a bribe, but promise it as a natural follow-up.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Widow of Sixty Forgotten

DEAR DORIS—I became a widow eight months ago, am in the early nineties; have some means. Therefore not dependant on any one family or friends.

But I have found people, even my best friends, seem to shun me, as outsider. My family will go a week or two and not even telephone. But if I call them and invite them to dinner they will come. I have rotated invitations so as not to cause hard feelings.

The friends whom I have met make promises to invite me to dinner, lunch or tea down town and have never made good their promises. Why?

Now I have not made my grief a public issue with anyone. I spent 35 years with my husband, and he died after a lengthy illness. Some of my so-called friends never even phoned or sent a card and I have yet to hear from them.

This is not self pity, but I have adjusted, and just wonder when their time comes how they will accept it.

We always attended funerals, either by phone, visit or card—to let them know we sorrowed with them. Time heals, yes! But it leaves scars. And one has many lonely hours to think.

Can you help me solve the problem with some of your good advice?—LONELY WIDOW.

DEAR LONELY WIDOW—It happens time and again. When one partner is left alone, he or she takes on a completely different status with friends. Not that they like you any less; it's more that you just don't fit in with get-togethers where couples are the order of the day.

Once you are over the initial shock, the different kind of life before you can be a stimulating one. May I suggest to you that now there is time for a new kind of self-expression?

You say you are in your sixties. From the tone of your letter, you have a young point of view. Perhaps the thing for you to do is don a new spring outfit and join in some of the activity which is going on around you.

There are community lodge clubs, functions at your church, volunteer work to be done for a charity. To find out what's going on and where you can best fit, get in touch with the Children's Aid Society, 63 West Moira Street, Belleville.

DEAR DORIS—I noticed that a girl called Bessie is saving pictures of Queen Elizabeth II. I am also a fan of Queen Elizabeth II, and am a scrapbook on her as well as other members of the Royal Family.

I would also be very much interested in hearing from any others who have scrapbooks or collections on any of the Royal Family.—LORRAINE.

DEAR LORRAINE—Good for you. I hope you will find some others interested in the hobby of yours through the column.

TO LICE TO KNOW—The one publisher of songs in Canada is Mr. Gordon V. Thompson, 32 Alcorn Ave., Toronto 5, Ontario. I should warn you that the market is very limited. Usually a song has to be introduced by a star performer or be part of a musical comedy in order to catch on.

(Doris has helped others. Have you written her about your problem? Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Alex G. — A month ago my wife and I had some words and I slapped her. It was all in the heat of the moment and I was sorry right away. But the next morning she took our 13-year-old boy and left. I've had no word from her since.

I went to the Bureau of Missing Persons at police headquarters and they said they couldn't go after her because she's over 21. Now I got word that her sister is in touch with her and knows she's in another state. But she refuses to tell me even what part of the country. I'm sure the boy are living in.

I'm ready for a showdown with the sister, but my friend Lou says I'll make things worse. Well, how does he suppose I get my wife back?

Lewis N. — I'm sure there's a better way. Al is behaving now then adding fuel to the fire by pestering and threatening Eva's sister. I can't believe the police won't do a thing to help him. Eva and the child. But even if they did, that's not saying she'd agree to come home.

I think Al should let time heal the wounds, I know Eva. She's a lot like my wife, very true and loyal but terribly touchy. Although I never struck my wife, I did a awful many things at her. She cries and carries on. But in the end she comes around to seeing my side. She admits she goaded me. She pushed me too far. I think Eva, too, will come back of her own accord, realizing that Al is really a good man but she provoked him and he forgot himself.

The Council: Plotting out with one's fists is, of course, a elemental reaction to stress. Alex grew angry at Eva, the adrenalin flowed to fire the muscles, and social But-Civilization set in and Eva was safer that the anger be released without personal violence. Lacking a punching bag on the premises, Alex might just have to walk around the block a few times rather than use Eva's face for his outlet.

But with the damage done, what now? Reading the riot act to his sister-in-law would be ludicrous, Lewis is right regarding that. The sister may not have the whole story herself. Perhaps Eva merely phoned to say she's all right, without giving an address. Eva sounds scared! She's not ready to have Alex come after her yet.

As a service to Alex, we called the Bureau of Missing Persons in his city to ascertain their policy in tracing vanished. We explained that Alex couldn't afford the services of a private detective agency, or a lawyer. The policeman on the other end confirmed what Alex said: They won't go after a woman who left home "for a cause." Her absence is no mystery; Her husband knows why, bringing her back would violate her civil rights. She has a right to live where she can be free from fear of violence. "How does she know," he added, "that he doesn't send her home so he can bop her again?"

Alex's best bets then are: a) Listen to Lewis's cools longer. Perhaps Eva will relent. Contact a private tracing service and secure them of your own contriteness and your willingness to submit to marriage counseling. Along with that, no that bitter words won't add up to Zed. Maybe they'll believe you and intervene.

Bride-to-Be Honored at Gift Shower

STIRLING — On Thursday evening, Mrs. Maurice Faulkner with Mrs. Ivan Eggleton as co-hostess, entertained about 30 ladies to a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Albertha May Watson, bride-to-be.

Pink and white streamers and balloons filled with confetti were used for decoration. The group enjoyed games and contests. The guest of honor was given a floral corsage and a decorated chair and Mrs. Ivan Eggleton used an appropriate address and made the presentation of a large array of gifts.

The recipient unwrapped her parcels and expressed warmest thanks for both party and gifts and invited the ladies to visit her when she was settled in her apartment in Hawden township.

The hostess served dainty refreshments and those in attendance expressed their personal wishes for future happiness.

DESERONTO

Chairman Would Not Put by-Law On Agenda

DESERONTO — Town council was again in session on emergency meeting on Tuesday night when a by-law was given the chairman of by-laws to present to the meeting. Councillor Deller, the chairman of the by-law committee asked when he was given the by-law when the declaration had been made to pass it. He claimed that as chairman of the committee he should have had some knowledge of it. The by-law was to rescind the by-law authorizing the loan on the high school before the Nanpacee school area. Councillor Deller quoted rule 33 to the mayor. The mayor stated that he had phoned Councillor Deller. Deller said that the clerk had informed him of the by-law and Friday and he had instructed the clerk to phone the ministers Board. Councillor Deller asked if the school board had sent the letter to council and was advised by the chairman of the board had brought it to the mayor.

Apparently some of the councils members were talking to the chairman of the school board had the by-law prepared to be passed at this meeting. The mayor told the clerk to read the letter, which had not been read publicly before. He further stated that on legal advice it be passed and not considered to accept the result of the vote of the people. Apparently, according to an opinion voiced at council meeting the council were willing to accept the result of the vote but the school board was not. Councillor Deller said that it was impossible to find out if a meeting of the school board had been held between the letter to the council or if it had been done only by a few members of the board. Councillor Deller finally advised the mayor that he would not present the by-law to the council passed if he would contest the legality.

Reeve Lott suggested that a notice of motion be given tonight and council meet to consider the by-law on Wednesday night. Finally Reeve Lott presented a notice of motion that a by-law be presented to rescind by-law no. 1548 at the next meeting.

Apparently it is felt that the decision to close the school is the sole responsibility of the school board regardless of the opinion of the people. Councillor Deller stated that the school board must be afraid of the result of the vote.

Councillor Allard for the third time introduced a motion that the council concur in the resolution of the school board that Deseronto join the Napanee school area. For the third time he could get no one to second his motion.

The only other items of business handled were a letter regarding the auditors and council decided to ask for fees for the job.

A letter from Mrs. Roach on Mill Street regarding a tree was referred to the street committee. A request for a refund on taxes was referred to Court of Revision and a petition from the residents of upper St. George St. and Maple Avenue about the condition of the road was filed as the matter had been attended to previous to council meeting.

East German School Boy Hit By Seven Bullets

BERLIN (Reuters) — A 18-year-old East German schoolboy hit by seven bullets fired across a canal in the British sector of Berlin Wednesday while Communist police fought a fierce gun battle from either bank.

The East German press agency ADN said Wednesday night one of the Communist guards had been killed and two other badly wounded. West Berlin police reported no casualties.

It broke out after Communist guards began firing on the boy at the Swedish across a canal dividing East and West Berlin.

West Berlin police said the boy, wounded in the lungs, arms and legs, struggled to the West Berlin bank under the protective fire of West Berlin police.

The boy later underwent a two-hour operation in a West Berlin hospital.

Maj.-Gen. Claude Dunbar, the British commander in Berlin, sent a protest to Soviet commandant Maj.-Gen. Andrei Solovyov.

Dunbar's letter said a careful study of the incident left no doubt that East Berlin police "deliberately opened fire on West Berlin police and officials and that their shots were aimed at the British Sector."

It said the British commandant held his Soviet opposite number responsible for taking adequate measures to punish all those concerned in this incident and to prevent the occurrence of any further incident of the same kind.

DESERONTO

Test Drilling For Water Authorized

DESERONTO — A special meeting of the Town Council and the Public Utilities Commission with representatives of the Water Resources Commission was held in the town hall. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the water supply for the town, as there have been a great number of complaints about the condition of the water.

As an introduction the council reviewed the work that had been done on the wells on Beckett's Island and told how, it had attempted to estimate the flow obtained.

The geologist and engineer from the Water Resources Commission expressed the opinion that a sufficient supply of water for town purposes could be obtained through the natural flow of the. The members of the Water Resources Commission explained the financing of a project such as they suggested, if the town voted to go into a capital work project with the Commission the cost of the test drilling will be added to capital expenditure and the town will have twenty-five years to repay. Failing a capital work project, the cost of the test drilling will have to be repaid in five years.

On a motion the council agreed to enter into an agreement with the Water Resources Commission for test drilling to the amount of $15,000. This work will be supervised by the Water Resources Commission, which will also advertise for tenders for the job. It is expected that work will begin in about eight or ten weeks.

There was some discussion also with the members of the Commission regarding the sewage system for the town. The Council agreed to bring the engineering survey of a sewage system up to date, to be in a position to discuss this matter fully with the Commission.

It seemed to be the opinion of the council and utilities members that sewers will have to be installed very shortly. It is hoped that some of the work may be done under the winter works projects.

DESERONTO

Glider Lands Undamaged On Bell Farm

DESERONTO — The family of D. H. Bell just west of the town, were given a thrill late on Monday afternoon when a glider landed on their farm. The Bells were working around the farm when Mrs. Bell noticed the glider soaring overhead and she called to her husband and children. The glider seemed unable to continue and they watched it float downwards and bound 'it hit the ground. They immediately investigated and found the pilot and glider were undamaged. Because a large herd of cattle were pasturing in the field, they found they would have to move the glider as the cattle insisted on checking it, too, and would have damaged it.

The pilot was Mr. Ben Price, of Montreal, who, with five other gliders, took off from Havelockbury some six-and-a-half hours earlier. Mr. Price had stayed aloft the full length of time and was trying to land at Mohawk Airport.

Mrs. Bell, Jimmie and Barbara Bell, Larry Heroux, and Arson Lord of town and Miss Monica McKenna, of Wolfe Island, helped dismantle the plane and carry it to the Bell's front barn.

Mr. Price phoned Montreal and the car and trailer that was following him was collected at Kingston. The group stayed after 6.00 p.m. and left for Montreal about ten after enjoying coffee and rhubarb pie with the Bell family.

Both the pilot, Mr. Price and Mr. Webb are employed at Canadair in Montreal.

Yanks Will Not Quit Laos Unless Vietminh Pulls Out

WASHINGTON (CP)—A well-informed diplomatic source says the United States won't get out of Laos unless Ho Chi Minh's tough Vietminh troops also are pulled out.

The U.S. is reported to have only a few hundred so-called military advisers in Laos while the Vietminh from North Viet Nam is reported to have about 5,000 guerrillas.

The black - uniformed Vietminh are reported by American sources to have spearheaded the Communist drive in Laos and because of their superior fighting ability have filled the royal Laotian defenders with terror.

"Every time the royal Laotian troops would hear that the black uniforms were approaching, they would flee," a qualified American source said.

WOULD BALANCE SIDES

The U.S. view is that once the Vietminh pulls out—and there is no indication as yet that they would agree to this — there would be sufficient balance between pro-Red and pro-Western troops in the Asian jungle country to assure the security of a neutral regime.

The pro - Red Pathet Lao would remain in the north and the royal Laotians in the south may not have resulted from the U.S. decision to attempt to hold Laos, the informant said this may be the case. He said it could be argued that the Soviet decision to intervene in Laos reflected "a certain amount of reaction to our presence there."

Opposes Plan For Admittance Of Refugees

HAMILTON (CP) — Gary Thertkoff, New Democratic candidate in Hamilton West, said Wednesday refugees from Hong Kong should not be admitted to Canada ahead of families of new Canadians.

Mr. Thertkoff, riding opponent of Immigration Minister Fairclough, told a meeting of Local 1005 of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) the government's decision to admit 1,200 Chinese refugees families was prompted by a "foolish remark" of Mrs. Fairclough. He did not amplify the reference.

He said Canadian citizens of all races are struggling to bring their wives and families to Canada.

"Are the wives and families of these citizens to lose their rightful priority because a cabinet minister made a foolish remark?"

WARNS SMOKERS

LONDON (AP) — The health ministry began distributing posters today warning Britons against cigarette smoking. The posters, in red and white on a black background, say: "Danger! The more cigarettes you smoke the greater the risk of death from lung cancer, chronic bronchitis or heart disease. You have been warned."

Suzanne Maifano of Tahiti Enjoying Life as Wife Of Annapolis Valley Actor

By IDA DETREMAULT

HANTSPORT, N.S. (CP) — The pretty Polynesian girl was named Twotiatti Tevahinehotpous Maldano. Now everybody just calls her Suzanne.

She has a smile that sparkles like pearls, a temper like a tropical storm, skin the color of coffee and a charm as enchanting as the island of Tahiti.

She's the wife of Hantsport native Wayne Dewar. They came to this Annapolis Valley town last fall from roles in the MGM refilming of Mutiny on the Bounty.

It was the start of a brand new way of life for Suzanne. In the routine of a shipping and industrial town of 1,300 where girls wear shoes, eat their beef and usually become either 40-hours-week workers or housewives.

Suzanne was born 24 years ago on the little island of Makemo, five days by ferry north of Tahiti. She entered a Tahitian convent at seven and left at 18, was a nurse for two years, married a Frenchman and half for a stopping tourist firm, then joined the cast of the Bounty in Tahiti.

BRANDO'S STAND-IN

Wayne, a seaman on the Nova Scotia-built version of the mutiny, met Suzanne in Tahiti. He worked during the filming as a stand - in for Marlon Brando. They were married in Las Vegas while MGM did studio shots in Hollywood.

Suzanne and Wayne have been living at the Dewar home until the young couple find their own island to establish a matrimonial atmosphere. Wayne sings and plays guitar. His two sisters sing and play piano. His father, a lumber surveyor, also sings and plays guitar.

Seated at a dinner table, Suzanne explained the difference between Canada and Tahiti. After eating every vegetable on the cornerd beef, meat loaf, potatoes and sauerkraut, she remarked that her husband's people in the food in Tahiti is not much different from what "we eat here."

In the Pacific island, however, new fish when lemon is one of the most popular dishes. She says there isn't as much to do here as in Tahiti but she likes it and will go wherever her husband goes.

Wayne says he would someday like to return to Tahiti where "it was like there's a party every night . . . everybody is your friend . . . even then night . . . everybody cries when you leave."

He's looking for a job but doesn't like shift work and says he may move in the Dartmouth-Halifax if he can't get what he wants here.

Health Group Assails 'Patchwork' Legislation

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Public Health Association declared Wednesday the existing "patchwork" of health laws in Canada must be completely overhauled.

In a brief to the Royal Commission on Health Services, the association said Canada should develop a more positive attitude toward health.

It called for more emphasis on preventive services. In 1959, an estimated $1,272,000,000 was spent on personal health services, compared to only $68,000,-

Says Canada Sets Example To Other Lands

EDMONTON (CP) — Immigration Minister Fair closely said Wednesday Canada's decision to accept 100 Chinese refugee families from Hong Kong is intended as an example to other countries.

She told a press conference that if other countries followed Canada's example and "did their part," it would help reduce the overcrowding in the British crown colony.

Mrs. Fairclough said that in the last 10 years Canada has admitted 23,000 Chinese refugees but she declined to say how many may eventually be accepted as a result of the recent exodus from Communist China.

The number of Chinese refugees admitted to this country would depend on their qualifications and ability to be absorbed into the social structure of Canada.

000 on public services—excluding treatment, the brief said.

The Canadian Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in its brief said: (I wants Canada to be a "nation of robust game-loving people" and warned of the dangers of becoming a nation of "neuro-tic pill-swallowers."

It said that 25 per cent of Ontario's secondary schools do not have a qualified woman teacher of physical education for girl students.

The Ontario Chamber of Commerce and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Ind.) told the commission of their differing attitudes on how to best look

The chamber brief said it is after the health of Canadians, "opposed to the introduction of a compulsory and universal state medical plan," adding that government help is necessary only for "those who cannot provide for themselves."

The electrical workers said a "comprehensive health program for the Canadian people is a national responsibility, which the federal government must acknowledge." The cost of such a plan could be met by diverting money from the military budget, it added.

Rescue Dog Caught in Pit For 37 Days

The dog had fallen into the cave-in April 15, and constant landslides made rescue attempts dangerous. But when Lassie was seen running about the pit bottom, a rescue was tried.

Workmen lowered a basket on a pulley into the hole, baiting it with dog food and an old jacket Lassie used to sleep on at home. But Lassie could not be coaxed into the basket.

The workmen gave up. Later, Meckler checked the pit and saw the dog in the cage. He pulled Lassie home. The dog apparently survived on rainwater.

'Sheer Physical Hardship' Words Used by Gen. Odlum To Describe Boer War

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Sheer physical hardship."

Brig.-Gen. Victor Odlum used the first three words to sum up Canada's first experience in a war that "did not directly concern her—the Boer War in South Africa 1899-1902.

The war was 60 years and 10,000 miles away from his comfortable book - lined living room but the former soldier, diplomat, newspaper man and business executive could still conjure a picture of exhaustion, disease and filth in a way he described as an "education in international responsibility" for Canada.

The veteran of the Boer and two world wars said the soldiers of France saw nothing of the hardships British troops, including 5,300 Canadians, faced in South Africa.

"One time we trudged all day and all night, then were ordered to charge up a hill. We ran about the same speed as the ordinary man would walk. It was ludicrous. The Boers walked until we were part way up the hill, then rode away."

KILLED LICE

Hunger was often the rule, and disease, as much as the enemy, took its toll. Only 88 Canadians died in action; 135 died of illness or accident.

"It became a rule to kill 100 lice a day. Then you stopped because there was no end to it."

The grey-haired general, now 81, relaxed among one of the finest private collections of books in Western Canada as he was interviewed shortly before the 60th anniversary of the end of the Boer War May 31.

The rather short, ramrod straight man with sparkling eyes can discuss many subjects as a result of his wealth of experience and avid reading—his figures he has read 8,000 of his more than 10,000 books.

Son of a Methodist missionary-teacher who served in Japan, Victor Odlum, a native of Cobourg, Ont., was on his own at 17 when he joined the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment as a private in 1899.

He arrived in South Africa at Christmas of that year, served his term and was returned home, only to re-enlist and go back as a lieutenant — "on a horse."

WANTED ADVENTURE

The war was an outgrowth of unsatisfactory relations that had long existed between British and the Dutch-speaking republics of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State.

Though it ended in surrender of the Boers, Britain agreed to permit teaching of Dutch in schools and promised eventual self-government.

There was considerable controversy in Canada over whether this country should send troops. The idea was supported by many in English-speaking parts of Canada, but some opposed it and were joined by French-speaking Canadians.

Gen. Odlum said that at the time he told himself he was going "as a patriot." Now, looking back over 60 years, he says he realized he "went for adventure."

He was at Paardeberg when Conje, one of the leading Boer generals, surrendered. "Dressed as if he was a parson. Another time he and others sat on top of a hill while Boers on each side shelled each other over their heads. "That was nice."

SHORT OF FOOD

But the general's chief recollection is of exhaustion, disease and filth.

There was seldom enough food and often almost starvation rations. Supplies had to be brought to the front in convoys of 16-oxen wagons. The escort and the oxen had to be fed from the wagons and there was little left for the troops.

Dysentery was one of the most common diseases. There were few days when he and his companions weren't carrying a disease - wracked body out for burial.

"Often we had to walk through miles of mud. It was similar to the mud on the Prairies. It piled up on the boots.

RECALLS BOER WAR

Brig-Gen. Victor Odlum, a veteran of the Boer and two world wars, says Canadian soldiers in the 1899-1902 Boer campaign faced physical hardships and disease of a degree not experienced in the other two wars. A total of 135 Canadians died of illness or accident; only 88 died in action.—(CP Photo).

Some days we could only make eight miles on a march."

Asked if he thought Canada should have entered the war, he said it was an "education in international responsibility" and one of the processes of growing up. Canada was "cutting its teeth" in South Africa, he said.

The war was the start of a distinguished military career for him. He rose from major to brigadier in the First World War, was mentioned in dispatches seven times, decorated several times and was three times wounded.

WAS AN EDITOR

He also was the 2nd Canadian Division overseas in the Second World War but before the invasion of France was taken into the diplomatic service and served in Australia, Burma, China and Turkey.

Before the First World War he was editor-in-chief of the old Vancouver World and after the war was owner and publisher of the morning Daily Star which folded in 1933. Until a few years ago he was director of several business firms.

"When I came back from China (he was ambassador between 1946 and 1947) I told all my friends to read everything they could about Africa. They didn't heed me. Now look at Africa today."

He bought his first book — a collection of Robbie Burns works—to read on the way to South Africa. He still has it.

"Every once in a while I feel I should weed out some of the books. Then I end up with one book and I say: 'Well you poor thing you'll have to go.' Then I put it back."

Will Appoint Commissioners In Near Future

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada will soon appoint high commissioners to Jamaica and Trinidad, External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday.

Mr. Green made the announcement at a Progressive Conservative meeting here.

He said Canada will make the appointments when the countries attain their independence. The appointments, he said, were only one way, in which the Canadian government was attempting to take a greater part in world and commonwealth affairs.

"Canada has a big part to play . . . in removing distrust and suspicion in the world."

He said one of Canada's chief assets in world affairs is its good relations with the emerging bloc of nations.

The government's biggest contribution was in working for disarmament between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Tim Buck Says P.M. Had to Peg Dollar

TORONTO (CP)—Tim Buck, national chairman of the Communist Party of Canada, said Wednesday night the Diefenbaker government wanted to avoid pegging the dollar at 92.5 cents in terms of U.S. funds until after the election but was forced to make the move by an external triumvirate.

Although not specifying their actions, he said he suspected President Kennedy, the U.S. federal treasury board and the International Monetary Fund saw the Canadian financial situation as an "opportunity to warn the Diefenbaker government that it had to fit in. . . ."

Mr. Buck made it clear in his 70-minute talk to about 50 supporters, that to "fit in" meant for Canada to become an economic and political satellite of the United States—eventually he said might come by 1970.

The 71-year-old former leader of the Communist party who stepped down to his present post this year, appealed to his audience to convince their families and friends to vote for the New Democratic Party in the June 18 federal election.

"The NDP is not a Socialist party. It is a reform party," he said. "But we need reform parties."

BOOST STURGEON

LONDON (AP) — The Volga River should be a major future supply of sturgeon, a source for caviar. A big reservoir for culture is being prepared on the built at Volgograd, formerly Stalingrad, and nearly 1,000,000 fish will be released into the Volga each year.

Diefenbaker Urged to Take Federal Action to Halt Violence in Union Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been urged to take federal action to halt violence in a bloody interunion struggle on the Great Lakes before lives are lost.

The request was delivered to Mr. Diefenbaker's office Wednesday in a letter from President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The head of the 1,250,000-member CLC cited incidents of beatings, break-ins, shootings, threats, harassment and heavy-handed tactics in the last six weeks to support his request for "all possible steps to end violence, restore order and protect the safety of individuals."

He also asked for a full-scale investigation of the Canadian Seafarers International Union of Canada, which is trying to fight off a new union of seamen, the Canadian Maritime Union.

The fledgling CMU was set up, with congress help, after the SIU was expelled from the CLC for raiding another union. It broke the SIU's hold on Canadian seamen last month when it gained a contract with Upper Lakes Shipping Limited, to represent some 400 seamen on 25 ships.

Since this break-through, violence has erupted around the Great Lakes ports—in Port Arthur, rifle shots at Toledo, obscene telephone threats to CLC secretaries in Toronto, intimidation at Twin Rivers, Que., and other incidents.

In each case cited by Mr. Jodoin, the violence was directed against CMU members or their supporters.

Several persons have gone to hospital with serious injuries after beatings.

"The wave of violence that has swept the Great Lakes has created a reign of terror," said Mr. Jodoin.

The latest incident happened in Montreal, when CMU's President Michael Sheehan, a former SIU official, stepped from his house to be met with a shotgun blast that struck the side of his car.

The current turbulence on the inland shipping scene seems to be following a similar struggle waged in 1949 when the SIU was expelled from the old CIO American-born Harold (Hal) C. Banks, were invited to Canada to scuttle the Communist-dominated Canadian Seaman's Union.

Witness Says He Paid M.P. $10,000 'Fee' for Purchase Of Property for Post Office

OTTAWA (CP) — A Cornwall man testified Wednesday that he paid a member of Parliament $10,000 as a "fee" for the purchase of his property by the government six years ago but didn't learn until two years later that the payment was unnecessary.

He also said two Montreal men who had an interest in the property told him the "fee" had to be paid or the sale would not go through.

The case continues today. Bruneau has pleaded not guilty.

Bergeron told how in 1956 the government paid $48,000 for his large property in Rawdon-bury, Que., as the site for a new post office.

A few days later he went to Bruneau's office in the Parliament Buildings. Bergeron said he placed $10,000 in small bills on the desk and Bruneau picked the money up and stuffed it into a pocket.

The $10,000 was his fee for looking after the business in Ottawa." Bergeron told County Crown Judge Thomas Costello of Kitchener, who is hearing the case without a jury.

The Crown alleges that the money was a bribe which Bruneau corruptly accepted for use of his influence in the land deal.

TESTIFIED UNDER ACT

The Cornwall service station operator arrived at the office at the same time as Bruneau, about a year ago, and charged with corruptly giving a bribe to the MP. He was tried twice last fall but both times the jury disagreed. He is out on $300 bail.

Bergeron said Bruneau promised him a government job. The Crown introduced letters alleging the bribe was offered to about a dozen firms, most of them outside the government, before any work got done.

The witness said he "drifted" for about two years before "people" told him that Bruneau was the man to see if anyone wished business him to get it back.

Bergeron said he went to Bruneau immediately after his money but Bruneau said he didn't have it.

Bruneau's managers testified that Bruneau paid off $5,000 in cash to Bergeron in 1957, the date on which Bergeron said the $10,000 was paid.

Bergeron said that some time after Bruneau refused to return the $10,000 he went to the RCMP at Cornwall and gave them a statement. Later, he and Bruneau were arrested by the Mounties.

JUNGLE KILLER

LONDON (CP) — Wild Life, journal of the East African Wild Life Society, reports a leopard in the Ngong area of Kenya has a habit of killing hyenas and hanging their carcasses on trees. There is no evidence, the leopard eats hyenas, the journal says; it just kills them.

Two Suspects In Shooting Being Sought

MONTREAL (CP) — Police are continuing a search for two men who blasted away at Michael Sheehan, president of the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC), with a 12-gauge shotgun. They were armed with warrants, obtained by Sheehan, after he identified two of the three men he said fired at him from close range on a street across from his downtown Point St. Charles home Tuesday.

The shooting was believed linked with the bitter rivalry between the CMU and the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) over bargaining rights for inland vessels plying the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes.

Sheehan was expelled from the SIU a year ago for alleged improper conduct and has since formed the CMU as a rival organization. Recently, the CMU obtained bargaining rights for some ships that were formerly manned by the SIU.

Sheehan said he was getting into his car when he saw another vehicle approach. He ducked as a shotgun barrel was pointed through the window. The blast missed, but ripped a 10-inch hole in the side of his car.

Former Deputy Trade Minister Talks on Market

TORONTO (CP) — Mitchell Sharp, former deputy minister of trade minister, disagreed Wednesday night with the idea that Canada should join the European Common Market or, alternatively, seek reciprocity with the United States.

Mr. Sharp, Liberal candidate for Toronto Eglinton in the June 18 federal election, was speaking to Eglinton Rotary Club.

"There have been suggestions that Canada should join the European Economic Community," he said. "I am sceptical about this, first because I do not think we would be invited, and second because I think it would be a very artificial arrangement for Canada and would not work satisfactorily."

He said Canada should not oppose Britain's proposed entry into the Common Market but should strive to get the best possible conditions for entry of Canadian goods into the trading group.

"There have been suggestions, too," he said, "because Britain is entering the EEC we should enter into a free trade arrangement with the United States."

The suggestion is not valid. By joining the EEC Britain can hope to have a large influence upon its policies. If we were to enter a free-trade arrangement with the U.S., we would be sunk without a trace."

Anti-Catholic Movie Wins At Festival

CANNES, France (Reuters)—A fiercely anti-Catholic Brazilian movie, O Pagador de Promessas (the Payer of Promises), won the Golden Palme prize at the Cannes Film Festival Wednesday.

It was the second successive year that a film strongly critical of the Roman Catholic Church took the top award, which went last year to Vittorio Gassman for Il Sorpasso (the Overtaking).

Anticatholic Brazilian director Lois Bunuel.

Bunuel's nationality is Brazil's country were French director Robert Bresson's Le Procez de Jeanne d'Arc (The Trial of Joan of Arc) and Michelangelo Antonioni's L'Eclisse (The Eclipse) from Italy. Both got special awards.

Other best acting in Long Day's Journey into Night, Americans Katherine Hepburn, Jason Robards Jr., and Dean Stockwell and Bering the Ralph Richardson shared the best acting awards with two other British performers, Rita Tushingham and Murray Melvin, in A Taste of Honey.

Trade Minister Spends Busy Day in North

SUDBURY (CP) — Trade Minister Hees Wednesday night predicted "tremendous benefits" for the ore-rich Sudbury area from the recent reduction of the Canadian dollar.

"This is going to make more jobs available in" the Nickel Belt," he told a campaign rally in Capreol, 15 miles from here, "because it relies heavily on exports of nickel, copper and lumber."

Devaluation would mean cheaper prices abroad for Canadian products, Mr. Hees said.

The rally was the last of a series of public appearances by Mr. Hees in Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury in favor of Conservative candidates.

During a hectic 18-hour-day the trade minister addressed two hospitals and an old people's home, spoke to 25 service club luncheon, and shook hands with some 300 shoppers at a garden party, all in Sault Ste. Marie, then boarded a single-engine chartered plane for a two-hour flight to Sudbury.

He then tackled a television interview, a supper meeting and speech, and a rally.

He used every opportunity to push a two-fold message: Elect a Conservative candidate and increase exports.

The recorded 15 - minute broadcast carried by the CBC in the Trans-Canada radio network in the free-time election period was broadcast at various times across Canada.

Dr. Harley said there are indications the cheaper dollar, requiring an extra 7½ cents on the Canada dollar of imports, already is pushing Canadian living costs higher.

"If not checked early and by firm measures, this could be the beginning of the inflationary spiral which so often accompanies a currency devaluation."

Dollar Pegging Criticized by 3 Candidates

OTTAWA (CP) — The recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar was described by three Liberal candidates in a radio broadcast Wednesday night as a move that has brought higher prices and a loss of public confidence.

Major John Lloyd of Halifax, Liberal candidate there, set the tone of the broadcast by saying Tory party talk about the dollar "while there is still enough of it left to talk about it."

Withdrawal of Ferocious North Vietnamese to Hanoi Part of Solution for Laos

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United States is working on a solution for Laos that would provide for the withdrawal of balanced factions and forces and the withdrawal of the ferocious North Vietnamese to Hanoi.

Policy-makers say the U.S. will make it clear it won't withdraw its small land and military advisers from Laos unless the Communists also withdraw the North Vietnamese who apparently have a three - to - one overwhelming superiority over the Royal Laotian defenders.

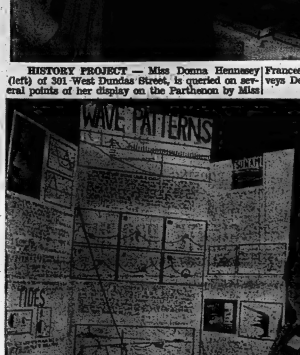
In fact, as one official described it, the Royal Laotians are so afraid of the Vietcongs that on hearing of the approach of the black-uniformed attackers, the Royal officers are the first to get into their jeeps and flee.

So the American idea is to get these well-trained attackers out of the country as part of any final East-West deal to neutralize Laos under Prince Souvanna Phouma.

And when this is done, and the Americans also withdraw the troops that support the pro-Red Pathet Lao, the neutralists and the pro - Western Royal factions would remain in their present environment—the Reds in the North and the pro-Westerns in the South.

Further, the planners visualize that by withdrawing from the neutral regime in the hands of a neutral, with three ministers from a government job. The Crown introduced letters alleging the bribe was offered to about a dozen firms, most of them outside the government, before any work got done.

The witness said he "drifted" for about two years before "people" told him that Bruneau was the man to see if anyone wished business him to get it back.



Bergeron said he went to Bruneau immediately after his money but Bruneau said he didn't have it.

Bruneau's managers testified that Bruneau paid off $5,000 in cash to Bergeron in 1957, the date on which Bergeron said the $10,000 was paid.

Bergeron said that some time after Bruneau refused to return the $10,000 he went to the RCMP at Cornwall and gave them a statement. Later, he and Bruneau were arrested by the Mounties.

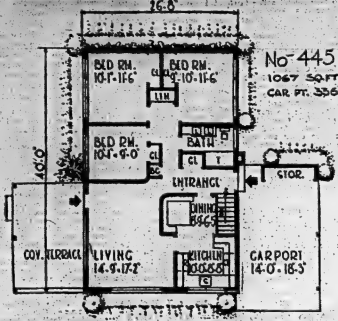
Robarts Denies Program Being Sacrificed

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Robarts Wednesday denied "irresponsible statements" that academic instruction in Ontario secondary schools is being sacrificed for technical and vocational training.

"Nothing is farther from the truth," the premier said in outlining the province's new secondary school program in a half-hour speech to the Ottawa Canadian Club.



Mr. Robarts, also education minister, said that in planning the new school program—which is bound to require major revisions as the plan proceeds—"we are being very careful not to compromise standards."

"Not only will the academic program be retained, but with a more careful selection of pupils, suited to academic pursuits, the content of courses can be strengthened and made more significant.

"At the same time, however, technical and commercial training will assume a role that is commensurate with the changing economic pattern."

HOME OF THE WEEK

While quite modern in concept, it is a very practical and convenient house, and incidentally an easy one to build. Note the entrance from the carport which gives direct access to all areas of the house. Kitchen has pullman breakfast corner with pedestal table and padded bench. Glass block and vent fan back of the range are practical items. High placement of serving type windows in bedrooms allows for easy furniture arrangement. House could be built on a 50 foot lot but a larger one is recommended. Construction is brick veneer with stone facing, but instructions are included showing how to build in solid brick or frame if so desired.

Standard builders blueprints for this design No. 425 cost $5.00, for the first set and $2.00 for additional sets. They are available in Canada by return mail. (Ontario residents must remit 3 per cent sales tax). Now available at this newspaper office is the new 1962 design book entitled "Canadian Guide to Home Planning and Design," price $1.00, and is tax free. 'Walk-up' Wicket Service Here First in Province

The first "walk-up" wicket service in Ontario will be featured at the Bank of Montreal's new air - conditioned building, which is being officially opened this weekend at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets.

Norman Keith, the manager, says the sidewalk banking unit has been designed as a major time-saver for people of Belleville and it will be especially convenient for mothers with baby carriages.

Located in a recess close to the bank entrance on Bridge Street, the "walk-up" wicket is sheltered from the weather by a canopy.

The wicket will be open during normal banking hours. In case the teller on duty is called inside the building temporarily, a bell has been provided for the customer to attract her attention.

The wicket is designed so that the customer speaks to the teller through an "intercom." She will push out a tray into which the customer places his deposit or cheque. In only a few moments, the teller will return the receipted deposit slip or cash.

Canada's first such "walk-up" wicket was introduced by the B of M's suburban Montreal branch in 1958.

BM Founded By Montreal Men in 1817

The Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal is one of the senior units of the nation's senior financial institution. The B of M was founded in 1817 by nine Montreal merchants and has had an important role in the development of Canada ever since.

The B of M issued Canada's first native currency. It also founded the branch-banking system, considered to be one of the finest in the world, when it opened a second office at Quebec City, two weeks after its opening in Montreal. Branches soon followed at York (now Toronto) and at other outposts and trading centres across the country, including the office here in 1843.

Today, with more than 880 branches throughout the ten provinces, the B of M also has offices in the United States, England, France and Japan, as well as Canadian Army and RCAF bases in France and Germany.

In conjunction with the Bank of London and South America, the B of M in 1958 founded the Bank of London and Montreal Limited, now operating in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Customers Can Deposit At Any Time

An "around-the-clock" depository unit will be one of the many modern features of the new premises for the Bank of Montreal's Belleville branch being officially opened this weekend.

The unit allows both private and business customers to make deposits at any time of the day or night.

Customers with private accounts are supplied with special envelopes by the B of M, while those with business accounts are given canvas wallets.

The envelopes and wallets slide down a chute into a safe-keeping unit inside the bank where they remain until the B of M is next open for business. The deposits are then processed in the usual way.

WORKING WITH THE PEOPLE OF BELLEVILLE FOR 119 YEARS

Belleville was a little town of just 3,000 people when the Bank of Montreal established its first office here in January, 1843, bringing the community's first permanent banking facilities.

The Belleville B of M is one of the Bank's oldest branches, having been established only 26 years after the parent institution in Montreal, in 1817.

Its first premises here were located on the north side of Victoria Avenue. A few years later, larger premises were obtained on the west side of Front Street, where the branch remained until 1857. It then transferred to a stone building at Pinnacle Street and Victoria Avenue, the Bank's home for 65 years.

Then, in 1922, a move was made to Front and Bridge Streets site of the new building now being opened.

Bank of Montreal to Hold Open House Here Saturday

The sparkling new air-conditioned premises of the Bank of Montreal's Belleville branch are getting their finishing touches today and the new building will be ready for the "Open House" to be held there on Saturday afternoon, Norman B. Keith, manager, said today.

Mr. Keith said the event will be marked by a ribbon-cutting ceremony by Mayor A. McLean Hale, accompanied by F. D. Mulholland, the bank's vice-president and general manager.

The new two-storey structure has a frontage of 58 feet on Front Street and 94 feet, on Bridge Street. It was erected in two stages, to allow business to continue without interruption during construction. When the first stage, for the bank's books and records, is situated on the mezzanine at the rear of the office.

There is elevator service between the main, mezzanine and second floors.

The office is fitted with an acoustic - tile ceiling, to help keep noise to a minimum, flush recessed lighting, walnut woodwork, and colorful and non-skid rubberville flooring. It is decorated in a light, pleasant colour scheme.

Belleville architects, Watson and Wiegand, designed the new building, which was erected by Emmons and Mitchell Construction Ltd., of Kingston. The exterior of the building is trimmed with granite, brick and limestone.

A conference room, for customery use as required, is situated on the second floor, while additional fireproof security facilities are also provided.

Belleville Branch of BM Was Opened Here in 1843

Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal was established in 1843, and ranks as one of the oldest offices in the bank's extensive organization, comprising more than 600 offices in Canada and abroad.

The local B of M was originally located in a small premises on the north side of Victoria avenue and was operated under the management of George Benjamin. He later became registrar for the county and was the first publisher of the Intelligencer.

SAWDUST SIDEWALKS

When the B of M opened in Belleville, the small community had a population of only 2,000. Buildings were mainly wooden structures, streets were unpaved and sidewalks were generally sawdust, which became a sea of mud in wet weather. Lumber was the community's principal industry, but this declined by 1900 as timber became scarce.

However, Belleville was developing in other directions, with the aid of the arrival of the Grand Trunk Railway, when it made the town one of its chief divisional points. This gave rise to the establishment of a number of factories here and marked the starting point of local industrial development.

PINNACLE LOCATION

A few years after its establishment, the B of M moved to a two storey building on the west side of Front Street, immediately south of the Anglo-American Hotel. In 1857, less than a year after the first through train arrived from Montreal en route for Toronto, the B of M moved to a two-storey building on the corner of Victoria avenue and Pinnacle Street, which was rapidly becoming the main business thoroughfare.

In 1929, the old Merchants Bank of Canada merged with the B of M and the more modern Merchants Bank building, which was erected by Emmons and Mitchell Construction Ltd., of Kingston. The exterior of the building is trimmed with granite, brick and limestone.

Following the official opening on Saturday afternoon, the B of M will open for business on Monday morning and will hold "get acquainted" hours from 1.30 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when the branch staff will conduct visitors from the general public through the office.

Norman Keith, BM Manager, Native of West

Norman B. Keith, manager of the Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal which officially opens its new building this weekend, came to the post in June last year, from Regina.

Born and educated at Waldron, Sask., he joined the B of M there and subsequently served at several branches in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

In 1950, he was appointed accountant at Winnipeg branch and, two years later, moved to Regina, to serve in the same capacity. In 1954, he established an office on the north side of Regina and was manager there until his appointment to the Belleville B of M last June.

Mr. Keith succeeded A. E. F. "Jerry" Jarrett, who was manager when the new building premises were started in December, 1960. Mr. Jarrett, manager of the local B of M for six years and a banker for 45 years, retired last year and was one of Belleville's best-known business men.

QUEBEC (CP) — Joseph Henry Frith, 66, of Ottawa, was sentenced Tuesday to two years in penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to stealing $22 from a church collection box.

Topics this week: Clues that may detect likely candidates for fatigue heart attacks and possible precautionary steps for avoiding such seizures.

CORONARY PRONENESS?

Dr. Harold Z. Pomerantz of Montreal has unearthed evidence that early greying of hair, large waistline while rising at the edge of the cornea of the eye known as arcus senilis are traits that might identify individuals predisposed to coronary artery disease.

He found these traits appeared from two to three times more frequently in a group of 88 coronary patients than in a group of 95 normal controls.

Wrists eight or more inches in circumference were defined as large to massive; and measurements under 6½ inches were classified as small. The sequence of moderate greying of the hair and premature greying before age 35 was found to be highly significant in the coronary group 46 years and older.

EXERCISE

A study of 155 marathon runners has convinced Dr. Joseph B. Wolffe, medical director of Valley Forge Heart Research Institute that the best protection against hardening of the arteries is a lifetime of physical activity.

He found that blood cholesterol levels, a suspected cause of coronary artery disease, and actual signs of hardening of the arteries were much less in marathon runners than in the general population. The runners ranged from 17 to 63 years of age.

NIBBLING

Various studies have shown that high blood cholesterol levels can be lowered by substituting unsaturated vegetable oils for a percentage of saturated animal fats present in the average American diet.

But if people react like chickens, merely changing the habit of fixed meals to a pattern of dayiong nibbling would drive the cholesterol levels still lower.

Studies reported by the National Heart Institute show that chickens fed twice a day developed hardening of the arteries seven times as severe as in chickens given access to the same kind of food 24 hours a day. The nibblers also had much lower blood cholesterol levels than the twice-a-day eaters.

Autopsy Shows Former Official Was Murdered

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP) — An incomplete autopsy shows Henry Marshall, former agriculture department official, did not commit suicide but was murdered, a medical expert said Tuesday.

Before he was shot last June 3, Marshall, 62, had been checking the cotton acreage allotments of Billie Sol Estes, the west Texas financier since indicted on federal fraud charges.

Dr. J. A. Jachimczyk of Houston, Harris County medical examiner, said he told county grand jurors his preliminary finding was murder.

District Attorney Bryan Ross told reporters the autopsy likewise indicated that Marshall, struck by five bullets from a 22-calibre bolt action rifle, was shot in the back.

Dr. Jachimczyk declined to say whether he believed the shots were fired into Marshall's back. His medical team found nine holes in the exhumed remains — five marking spots where bullets entered and four where they emerged, the physician said.

Marshall was found dead near his farm home eight miles from Franklin. The rifle lay beside the body.

Justice of the Peace Lee Farmer ruled it was suicide after delaying his inquest ruling for five days. After the report by Dr. Jachimczyk, Farmer said "I just don't know."

'Little Joe' May Become 'Big Joe'

NEW YORK (AP)—It's premature, of course, but baseball folks are beginning to talk about lanky Joe Pepitone in the same breath with Yogi Berra and Stan Musial.

It's a long, long way from Newark, N.J., centre-field great to the 21-year-old rookie struggling to make the Yankees' talented lineup, but the old Yankee Clipper put his stamp of approval on young Joe this week.

"The most instinctive young outfielder I've ever seen in a Yankee training camp," Joe DiMaggio said.

Now the rookie Yankee outfielder-first baseman is dogged with DiMaggio as the last two Yankees to hit two home runs in one inning in the American League.

Pepitone accomplished it Wednesday in New York's abbreviated game that beat Kansas City Athletics 15-2. He let go with a solo blast and followed the big inning with a three-run homer, the 15th man in major league history to hit two in an inning.

Wright Fitness Director

OTTAWA (CP) — Gordon A. Wright, 52, of Toronto, a former collegiate wrestler and rugby player, Wednesday was named director of fitness and amateur sport for federal health and welfare department.

For the last 14 years he has been Ontario's director of physical and health education. Wright's announcement said he will move shortly to his new post, was in a country - wide civil service competition. Salary will be $14,000 to $15,000.

A native of Cromarty, Ont., he was a member of the intermediate intercollegiate rugby championship team for two years while at the University of Toronto. He also won the Canadian senior intercollegiate wrestling title and placed second in the Canadian wrestling championships in Montreal in 1934.

Since 1936 he has been president of the Canadian Association for health, physical education and recreation.

METS BUY PITCHER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York Mets Wednesday night purchased relief pitcher Willard Hunter from the Los Angeles Dodgers' Omaha farm club in the American Association. The 27-year-old lefthander appeared in 79 games in 1960 with Montreal of the International League and in 68 games with Omaha last year.

Will Increase Race Schedule

HULL, Que. (CP) — Coun. taught Park Recovery announced Wednesday that it will increase the harness racing schedule by five nights a week from four, beginning next week.

Since the start of the season the track had been racing only Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night. It will add Thursday to this schedule.

Johnson To Fight German

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson has made up with his manager, Pat Oliveri, and the two announced Wednesday the champ would defend his title June 23 in Berlin, Germany, against Gustav Scholz.

Johnson and Oliviero disclosed they had signed a new four - year contract, ending months of litigation and hard feelings that almost cost of the fighter's career when he reportedly defended the unpopular Doug Jones of New York here May 12.

Under the new pact, Oliviero is Johnson's manager with the final say on all contracts, but George Gainford, adviser of Singer Ray Robinson, has entered the picture as a 15-per-center. Gainford, the contract stipulates, will be Johnson's "business representative." He will handle preliminary negotiations the all Johnson fights and submit them to Oliviero.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Allis scored his third consecutive victory at Old Woodbine as he won the featured Havelock Claiming Purse on Wednesday. Ridden by Herlon Dalton, Allis ran seven furlongs through the slop in the good time of 1:26 1-5 as he defeated Credit Curb by a neck. Blendell finished third.

The daily double paid $18.30 when Lady Hymont and Shasta Road won the first two races. The quinella of Dark Jet and Moonlighter in the fifth paid $77.50.

There was an unusual incident in the sixth race when jockey Dick Armstrong, riding Menari, appeared to mistajige the finish line and eased his mount about 20 feet from the wire. Menari, which had been leading, lost a photo finish to the fast-closing North Bay.

CAHA Approves New Stick

Wants Canadian Olympics Team

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP)—Delegates to the concluding sessions of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting today will make a decision which they hope will bring the Olympic hockey title back to Canada for the first time since 1952.

They are expected to reject president Jack Romburgh's plea not to send a team and decide to follow the usual practice of asking their officers to select the strongest senior club available for the 1964 Games, stocking it with some replacements.

While most delegates favor forming a national team from the best amateurs in the country, the cost almost rules out such an undertaking.

Secretary - manager Gordon Juckes estimates that sending a national team to Europe would result in a loss of $64,000.

Delegates also will consider two alternate methods of picking Canada's team. The first would have the army train and control the club. The second would have all branches select all - star teams for a round-robin tourney, the winner to go to the Olympics.

Saskatoon Quakers of the Saskatchewan Senior League Wednesday became the first club to officially apply for the trip. The Quakers were defeated in the western senior final by Trail Smoke Eaters, who are expected to represent Canada in the 1962 world tournament.

In other business Wednesday delegates decided to publish a monthly magazine devoted to attracting more interest in amateur hockey. Officers said the publication is needed because others in the field are too devoted to professional teams.

Juckes said the magazine will show an estimated $11,000 profit after expenditures of $132,000. Circulation, based on probable CAHA registrations, is estimated at 155,000.

Len Taylor, sports editor of the Kitchener - Waterloo Record, was named editor. The first edition will be on newsstands Oct. 1.

Delegates decided to have minor hockey players pay a subscription fee of 25 cents when they get their registration cards. Junior A, senior and intermediate players will pay $1.

The CAHA also honored four Eastern Canada hockey veterans for long and devoted service to amateur hockey. Receiving "meritorious awards" presented for the first time in the east were Dr. S. H. Hutt, 73, of Chesterville, Ont.; Leo E. Sirois, 78, of the Town of Mount Royal, Que.; Hanson Dowell, 56, of Middleton, N.S.; and Lorne Miller, 66, of Noranda, Que., and North Bay.

The awards were created by the CAHA in 1960 to honor men for their outstanding contribution to hockey. Five Western Canada men received similar awards last January.

The CAHA voted to ask for a $50,000 grant from the National Fitness Council to hold hockey clinics across Canada and approve the Frank Boucher "hockey stick" as conforming to its standards.

Boucher's stick comes in two sections — blade and handle — which are joined together by an aluminium sleeve. If one section breaks, it only needs to be changed and Boucher told the delegates his invention "will cut down a team's stick bill from 40 to 75 per cent."

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A quinella of $148.50 was produced at Western Fair Raceway Wednesday night when Stormy Rhythm placed first and Chief's Lady, at 8-1 shot, placed second in the fifth race of the nine - race program. Stormy Rhythm paid $12.80 for a $2 mutuel.

MONTREAL (CP) — Curly Lambert was the big winner in Wednesday night's $6,000 featured invitation race at Richelieu Raceway.

Second was Ave Song, who paid $4.40 and $2.50. Third-place Duke of Decatur paid $2.40.

Attendance was 9,268 and the mutuals registered $437,940.

Still Some Bugs to Iron Out in Emmy Awards

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — There still are some bugs in the machinery of the Emmy awards, but the annual balloting within the U.S. television industry to reward its best efforts of the year is a fine idea in many ways.

First and most important, its total emphasis is on quality. Television, currently under so much criticism for its output, often tends to defend itself by arguing that as a mass medium it is providing programs that the mass wants and likes.

It was noteworthy that Tuesday night, the little gold statuettes most often given to programs which rarely, if ever, find their way onto any list of television's 10 to 20 most popular shows.

Take, for example, the play NBC's Victoria Shaw-Jackson as "program of the year." It was seen, undoubtedly, by only a small percentage of the vast potential audience because two other special programs were competing for attention at the same time.

Yet is television's "program of the year" best when selected on its appeal to mere members of viewers, the statues would have gone to the Miss America pageant contest, the Rose Bowl football game, or some such special show.

The Emmys also honor the outstanding grand series. While it is a popular CBS show, it is incredibly watched by smaller numbers than Wagon Train or Bonanza, both of which which have been standing at the head of all popularity lists this season.

Given their own choices, children would probably turn to cartoon shows like Popeye or old movie shorts like The Little Rascals. But it was Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra that won in the children's programming category for their young people concerts.

Recommended tonight: CBS Reports, 10-11 p.m.—Breaking the Trade Barrier, a look at the tariff situation.

Marilyn Back at Studio And Everybody Is Happy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe is back at work after missing her "happy birthday" to President Kennedy, and everyone is happy—even Marilyn.

Last week it was a different matter. Twentieth-Century Fox grumbled that Something's Got to Give was delayed by the star's absence. The studio thought she should stay here and work.

"I told the studio six weeks ago that I was going," she explained. "I consider it an honor to appear before the president of the United States."

Besides, she said, she is a Democrat.

Marilyn reported back to work on time—for Monday morning, and the studio was pleased with the progress. The film had to shut down briefly a week ago when she was ill.

SPIRITS HIGH

The blonde was in fine form when I visited her. Her spirits were still high from the Garden appearance and the president's remark afterwards: "I can never retire from politics." It was her first public performance since she entertained troops in Korea. "I liked it," she said.

About the rest of her form: Dandy. Fifteen pounds have settled away, leaving a trim but not curvy figure. How did she do it?

"It helps to have a bad gall bladder," said Marilyn, who had hers removed last June. "The rest is low cholesterol, avoid animal fats. Who needs them? Vegetables, fruit and fish (sweet artists).

AT THE BELLE — A game of hide and seek ensues between Piper Laurie and Jackie Gleason as they search for a missing elevation in Madison Square Garden.

All in Sport

"Heavyweights—always heavyweights! Can't you manage a flyweight once in a while?"

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN—Mickey Rooney and Buddy Hackett, left, star in "Everything's Ducky", along with Jonnie Sommers and Jackie Cooper as a navy psychiatrist. The duck is named Scuttlebutt and he's the reason "Everything's Ducky" in the new comedy now playing the Belleville Drive-In Theatre. 2nd new feature is Jules Verne's "Mysterious Island", in Eastman color and features Michael Craig, Joan Greenwood and Gary Merrill.

Indians Send Taylor To Suns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Ron Taylor, considered one of the brightest prospects on Cleveland baseball pitching staff at the start of the season, has been sent to the Tribe's Jacksonville, Fla., farm club in the International League.

Front-office brass said there is every reason to believe Taylor, who hails from Leaside, Ont., will be back but "he is not getting the work he should be getting here."

At Jacksonville, where he will be on 24-hour recall, Taylor will be in steady action, getting needed experience.

When Taylor made his American League debut with a brilliant 10 - inning performance April 11, it didn't appear he would be doing much sitting around. The 26-year-old lefthander blanked Boston Red Sox for 11 innings but lost 4-0 when Carroll Hardy hit a grand-slam homer in the 12th.

In recent games Taylor has been hit hard. He has appeared in eight games for a total of 23 1-3 innings, has a 3-2 record and a 5.84 earned run average. He was used sparingly in relief.

"He will make it back here", Cleveland official said, adding that "somebody had to go". Taylor left to make room for Wynn Hawkins, who is on indefinite leave from the army and is on the active roster.

VICTORIA (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League will provide Victoria with a full team if the city is readmitted to the Western League, a spokesman for a group of Victoria businessmen said Wednesday. John Bassett Jr., head of a newsman Victoria syndicate, said Toronto general manager and coach Punch Imlach has assured the group of full support. Decision on the Victoria bid will be made this weekend at the annual WHL meeting in San Francisco.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo H. Carver, Sports Editor

Dick "Bulldog" Brower, a nice gentlemanly type who would rather kick you in the teeth than shake your hand, is the feature wrestling attraction here tomorrow night.

The master of mayhem, an ex-chiropractor who says he would rather "break bones than mend 'em", makes his 1962 mat debut against Gentleman Jim Hady, a dandy athletic type who has many championships to his credit than an Olympic team.

The "Bulldog," the guy who soared hell-bent out of me in a personal dressing-room interview last year, hasn't improved, temper-wise, one iota.

As a matter of routine he uprooted a row of seats in Maple Leaf Gardens a few weeks ago and clouted his opponent over the noggin with it.

The fans hate his innards. But that doesn't bother the "Bulldog." They don't bother me whatsoever. Why should I care what a bunch of jerks do? As long as they pay for their seats they can yell insults at me as much as they want. I suffer all the way to the bank."

"That goes as long as they keep their hands off me," growled the "Bulldog." "Once they touch me they're in for trouble. I'd as soon ram their heads against a wall as look at them."

"I'm not interested in other people," he says. "I don't care what I say, how I act, or what I do. I can buy and sell my way out of any situation I get into. There's nobody in the world I have to impress."

Nice guy, huh?

"I'm so much more intelligent than the fans that I don't even bother to get involved with them. I just tell them to go mind their own business. If they keep it up I ask the manager to eject them, and if he won't it sure as hell will."

He says he is making $100,000 a year. He wears $275 suits, shoes worth $40 a pair, two diamond rings, one worth $900, the other $600. His hats cost $50. He says he likes buying expensive hats because if people try to steal them from restaurants or hotels it gives him fair chance to beat them up.

Don't go away!

Meet "Mr. Irresistable," known ring-wise as Sweet Daddy Siki. He is the world's largest beatnik, and a new wrestling sensation.

The pad lad from Greenwich Village, New York, is striking in appearance with his dark-hued skin, blond hair and moustache, plus peppermint striped trunks and an assortment of dazzling jackets which he says range in cost from $1,000 to $3,000 each.

He has more than unusual looks to offer. A highly skilled and experienced wrestler with a superb frame, he's five feet, eleven, weighs 240 and is a formidable opponent for any of the top men of the sport. His specialty hold is a reverse chinlock which he calls the "Beatnik Hangman Hold."

"Sweet Daddy" is intensely proud of his appearance. How came the "Sweet Daddy" tag? "The first time the ladies saw me they just naturally called me 'Sweet Daddy'," he says.

"When I look in the mirror every day, I see the most beautiful body in the world," he tells himself. "I just cannot find a fault with it."

Back to Gentleman Jim Hady for the moment. He was a star-and YMCA wrestling champion and starred in baseball, football, basketball, bowling and other sports. He won a city, state and doubles bowling championship. He is five feet, nine, weighs 225 and is of Syrian-Russian extraction.

"Mr. Kleen," who made a big hit in his debut last week here, is back again with Tommy O'Toole, the Irish grappler.

Donovan First To Win Eight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember the hard-luck Dick Donovan of just a year ago, with his arm aching and a string of five successive one - run losses? He luck is a little better this season, and so is his record—8-0.

The big right-hander became the first eight-game winner in the majors Wednesday night when Cleveland Indians cut loose with another eleven-run home run attack and overpowered Chicago White Sox 5-4. Pinch-hitting rookie Al Luplow and Chuck Essegian connected back-to-back in the ninth inning as the Tribe won for the third time in a week with ninth-inning homers.

The victory enabled the Indians to keep pace with New York Yankees in the American League race and gave another boost to the dogged Donovan, who survived that 0-5 start with Washington Senators last season and finished 10-10 with the AL's leading earned run mark.

It was, incidentally, the first one-run decision this year for the well - traveled 34-year-old pitcher, acquired by the rebuilding Indians in the off-season swap that sent Jim Piersall to the Senators.

YANKEES STILL LEAD

By winning the squeaker, Cleveland remained a half-game behind the Yankees, who burled Kansas City Athletics 13-7 with a nine-run eighth inning triggered and capped by rookie Joe Pepitone's home run blasts. Boston Red Sox ended a string of eight losses, beating Minnesota Twins 6-1 and dropping them to third, one game back. Washington whipped Los Angeles Angels 7-2, while Detroit Tigers and the Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

Donovan was tagged for 10 hits, one a two-run homer by Al Smith in the first, but singled in one run himself as the Indians started their rally in the White Sox all the way.

Dom Zanni, who had pitched strongly in relief of Juan Pizarro, was the victim of Cleveland's uprising in the ninth. Luplow led off with his scoring homer of the day. Considine, Jimenez and Kirkland each singled, Kirkland's line drive scoring Considine. Essegian promptly zeroed in on the same sector with his 11th of the season.

TIP FOR BATTING LEAD

The homer was Essegian's only hit and he dropped into a tie for the league batting lead with Kansas City's Manny Jimenez at .378.

Donovan was within one out of his sixth complete game when he was lifted in the last of the ninth after allowing a single and a walk. Bob Allen then polished off Floyd Robinson.

Pepitone and fellow rookie Phil Linz, both fill-ins for the injury-hobbled Yankees, produced handsomely in the explosive rout of the Athletics. Both got four hits by Dan Pfister and trailing 7-4 going into the last of the eighth, the Yanks sent a parade of 12 men to the plate, with the first eight reaching base and five scoring before a man was retired. They counted their nine runs on five hits and four walks.

Pepitone kicked off the rally with a homer and climaxed it with another with two aboard, becoming the 15th major leaguer to homer twice in one inning. Linz took over at third after Clete Boyer was hit on the wrist by a pitch in the third, homered in the seventh with one on for his first hit in the majors, and sent the Yanks ahead with a two-run single in the big eighth.

CLEVENGER WINS IT

Tex Clevenger, called up from the minors Tuesday, was the winner in one inning of relief and Diego Segui took the loss.

Jimenez whacked a three-run homer for the losers.

Rocky Colavito got a ball to begin and behind the seven-hit pitching of a pair of big league armers, Earl Wilson and Dick Hackett, Gary Geiger had the honor and double in Boston's 13-hit offensive against Don Lee and two Minnesota relievers. Ed Bressoud also homered and Carl Yastrzemski collected three hits. Bich Rollins' homer accounted for the Twins' lone run.

Pete Burnside pitched a nine-hitter for the last-place Senators, who broke away from the Angels in the first three innings with seven runs—four of them unearned. Harry Bright led Washington with a triple and single and three runs batted in, while Danny O'Connell added three singles. Ted Bowsfield of Penticton, B.C., was the losing pitcher.

Patterson, Liston Agree

Chicago Site For Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—If you've been worrying where the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight will be held, you can relax now. Chicago is the spot, on either Sept. 17 or 24.

"Unless something comes up, Chicago is the place," Patterson told a press conference Wednesday evening. The night before Patterson thought it was all set for Detroit.

DEPENDS ON RENTAL

The only hitch that has to be overcome in Chicago, according to both Patterson and Bolan, is to get a "reasonable rental" for either Soldier Field or Comiskey Park.

The Illinois Athletic Commission has okayed Liston as a challenger.

Patterson is partial to Chicago. It's the city where he won the then vacant heavyweight crown by knocking out Archie Moore in 1956 and it's the site of boxing's richest gate—the $2,658,660 pulled in by Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for the famous "long count" battle in 1927.

"The fight is a cinch to gross about a million and a half in Chicago," said Bolan. "We ought to do at least four or five million more with closed-circuit television and the rest of the ancillary rights."

"If it fails through, I'll go to Liston's camp or he'll come to mine and we'll fight it out," said Patterson.

Four Lady Bowlers Qualify

The roll-offs of the Player's Bowling Festival will be held Saturday, May 26th, at Aprile Bowl, 1099 Kennedy Road in Scarborough.

Some 167 finalists from southern Ontario will be on hand to compete for all-expense trips for two to the Caribbean.

The festival employs a unique scoring system whereby ladies compete against their previous average scores. This allows the poor bowlers equal opportunity to win Caribbean holidays.

Roll-offs start at 7.30 p.m. and are expected to run through until 2.30 p.m.

Winners will be announced Sunday, May 27th, following a tabulation of all scores from 13 roll-off centres in Eastern Canada.

Four women bowlers will represent the Belleville Bowl-O-Drome at the festival. They are Barbara Leeson, Rosemarie Hagg, Dorothy Fayette and Elaine Finlay. All bettered their average by substantial amounts.

The roll-offs were conducted by "steps." In the first step some 300 bowlers took part. Forty-seven survived for the second step.

Phils Beat Em, Dodgers Win

Skidding Giants Lose 3 In Row

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia's flip-flop Phillies, rejoining the National League cellar, respected mens here for the 1962 campaign, Wednesday night and Frank Thomas added insult to injury by belting a two-run homer in the 10th inning to give the Phils a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Flying solid ball after shocking the Giants out of last year's disastrous 23-game losing streak and a last-place finish 46 games back, the Phillies thumped the league-leading Giants 10-7 Wednesday night.

It was the third consecutive loss and the sixth in eight games for the Giants who set until a week ago were pulverizing the opposition with 17 victories in 20 games and had built a 1½-game lead.

Meanwhile the Phils, striving to climb into the first division of the expanded 10-club circuit, have cut the Giants' edge to 1½ games while moving into a virtual tie for sixth place.

Los Angeles Dodgers moved into fourth place within a 9-1 triumph over New York Mets, behind Don Drysdale's three-hitter. Bill Skowron also had a five-hitter, a three-victory string ended by a 3-0 loss to Pittsburgh Pirates, dropped into third, 2½ back.

Houston Colts blanked the Cincinnati Redlegs 2-0 on Ken Johnson's five-hitter and Milwaukee Braves beat Chicago Cubs 4-2 as Warren Spahn posted the 364th triumph of his career with a five-hitter.

ROOKIE LEADS PHILS

Tony Taylor and rookie Ted Savage each stroked a double and two singles, scoring three runs apiece, to pace the Phillies' 13-hit outburst against Mike McCormick (1-2) and four successors.

Art Mahaffey (4-5) started for the Phils, allowed only four hits through six innings, but had to leave when his arm stiffened. The Giants battled back with three runs each off reliefers Jack Baldschun and Jack Baldschun but fell short.

The Dodgers cracked a 1-1 tie in the eighth when singles by Jim Gilliam, 1-for-4 for the night, and Willie Davis plus an intentional walk to Tommy Davis loaded them up against Mets' starter Roger Craig. Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly knocked in Gilliam with the go-ahead run and Skowron added an insurance run, the victory was Drysdale's sixth against three losses. Craig (2-5) also went the distance, allowing 11 hits.

JACKSON BOMBED

The Pirates jumped on Larry Jackson (4-6) for four first inning runs when Bob Skinner walked with the bases loaded on a bad throw, Don Hoak and Howie Goss provided the other runs with doubles. Ken Hunt homered for the Cards. Harvey Haddix (3-2), who allowed one earned run in six innings, got the victory.

Johnson's five-hitter gave him his edge over Reds' starter Bob Purkey (4-3) in the first inning seven triumphs deastte holding the Colts to eight hits. The victory was the second in a row for Johnson, who has dropped nine games was the second in a row for Purkey, who has dropped five losses. Norm Larker's single and a double by Carl Warwic in the fifth and a double by Don Buddin and Al Spangler's single in the eighth brought in the Houston runs.

The Braves snapped a 2-2 tie with two runs in the sixth on a walk, an error by Ron Santo, Hank Aaron's single and a double-play grounder by Del Crandall. The unearned tallies handed widely-used Robbie his sixth loss, Spahn (5-4), coding Milwaukee's four-game losing string, moved within three victories of 100th place on the all-time victory list.

Coleman To Write Column

TORONTO (CP) — The mystery of what Jim Coleman will do when he leaves The Jockey Club July 1 was cleared up today by another mystery man.

Scott Young, writing in The Globe and Mail, says Coleman will write a three-times-weekly column for S o u t h a m p t o n papers when he leaves the club where he has been publicity director since 1952.

Coleman, one of the best-known sports columnists in Canada and a veteran of 31 years in the business, announced his resignation from The Jockey Club Tuesday night when he accepted the Man of the Year award from B'nai Brith's sportsmen's lodge. But he didn't say what he would do.

For the last five years Coleman has written Saturday sports column for The Globe and Mail, in addition to his job with The Jockey Club.

WON'T MAKE NHL

MONTREAL (CP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday he is sure the league will reject a proposal to establish a coast-to-coast rival.

He described the proposal, made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Ottawa last weekend, as out of harmony with major hockey rules-making bodies.

However, he said the league may approve elimination of the red line on as experimental basis in some minor leagues but would not accept it as a general rule in the more important leagues. The experiment had been tried in the past and rejected as unsatisfactory.

British Recognize Pender

Fullmer, Downes Bout Off

LONDON (AP) — British boxing officials refused Wednesday night to sanction recognition of Paul Pender as world middleweight champion, and a proposed title fight between Gene Fullmer of Utah and Terry Downes of London was called off.

Promoter Harry Levene wrestled to stage the fight at London's Earls Court Stadium on June 26. Fullmer, already recognized as world champion by the American National Boxing Association, said through manager Marv Jenson he was willing.

But the British Boxing Board of Control said no.

Teddy Waldman, secretary of the board, announced: "We recognized Downes as world middleweight champion but left it to Paul Pender (of Brookline, Mass.) How we recognize him, dar. Obviously, the one logical match to clear up the world middleweight situation is Fullmer vs. Pender."

If Fullmer-Pender fight had been set for Bowman, Mont., June 9, However, it has become uncertain because of the inability of the promoters to get a television sponsor.

'Amateurs' Share the Wealth

OTTAWA (CP) — Gordon Juckes, secretary - manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Wednesday night announced the net earnings of senior and junior A clubs in 1961 - 62 playoffs.

Edmonton Oil Kings, western Canada champions, were the leading money-earners in Memorial Cup Play. Their share after all expenses were paid was $18,787.

Leading money - earner in Allan Cup play was Winnipeg Maroons with $10,921. Kapuskasing Cnt., cleared $1,318.

Juckes said that because of a new television fees sharing plan adopted by CAHA delegates at the annual meeting, some teams will receive slightly more than the announced figures.

Spanish Police Protect Life Of Juan Peron

MADRID (Reuter) — Spanish police have stepped up security in Madrid as a precaution against Juan Peron after discovering a plot to assassinate the exiled Argentine dictator, it was announced today.

Argentine Radio close to Peron said no attempt has yet been made on the life of the 67-year-old former president.

But the circles said they had got figures and documents revealing reliable information showing that an attempt on his life was planned.

Since then the permanent police guard on Peron's apartment have had been increased to 25 men from three. In addition, for the first time since Peron came to live in Spain two years ago, his car is being escorted by a police patrol car.

Peron was rejected recently as considering plans to set up a government-in-exile after Argentina President Jose Guido disallowed sweeping gains by Peronist candidates in Argentina's March provincial elections.

Plan to Start Second Highway P.M. Promises

By DAVE ROBERTSON

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker says he needs five more years "to Confederation" can be completed to all its essential elements."

The outline of his "Conservative Platform" he sketched here Wednesday night before a crowd of about 4,400 in Winnipeg Auditorium. Canada's centennial in 1967.

Some of the things the government plans to do, the prime minister said, include: A start on "very shortly" on a second trans-Canada highway; a national power grid in co - operation with the provinces; expansion of the Industrial Development Bank; extension of export credits; improvement of transportation and communications systems; agreements and a "new low freight policy" for British Columbia and Eastern Canada.

The prime minister received a pledge of full support from Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, who said every Western farmer has a better deal because of Mr. Diefenbaker.

HECKLER ACTIVE

There were a half - dozen hecklers in the balcony. The hecklers had to be given propelled out of the Canadian dollar at 92.5 cents in relation to the United States dollar. The government's attempts to free James R. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada — Mr. Coyne resigned after the Senate vivisected the bill to seek 15m—cent unemployment.

"What happened to our dollar?" and "we want our dollar back" were some of the shouts heard in the heaviest heckling Mr. Diefenbaker has encountered in his current campaign, which takes him today to Saskatoon and Regina.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked what those hecklers had said when the Liberals had frozen the dollar before 1950.

When Mr. Diefenbaker said twice that the former Liberal government "betrayed" on the rights of Parliament there were repeated cries of "what about Coyne?"

When Mr. Diefenbaker said his government plans the "rounding-out of Confederation" a heckler shouted "with unemployment."

AUDIENCE DISAPPROVES

The audience drowned out scores of the listening with applause, one counter - heckler shouted: "Let's see polls: "Bunch of Liberal fisks."

Mr. Diefenbaker twice referred to a second trans - Canada highway.

The first time, he said administration will proceed with it "very shortly" after the first Monday in June.

Later, he said his government "intends to launch" a second highway.

The planned development which he dealt with in the greatest detail was a national power grid.

He said Ottawa is prepared to help any provincial agency that undertakes a grid by underwriting some of the cost of planning, surveys and a scientific breakthrough in long-distance power transmission. Any benefits from these should be made available to others.

The grid was part of the government's second five-year program. The third stage would put about $2 billion into mining and manufacturing in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker again criticized former Ottawa "bureaucrats" who now were running the Liberal caucus.

The prime minister expressed his "deep regret" to Mr. Roblin who had given to Manitoba the best government he has ever known in his years in Western Canada.

He had read in the press that Mr. Roblin was cool to the federal Conservatives.

"I wonder what happens when he gets hot." Mr. Diefenbaker asked.

Elliot Lake To Get Share Says Pearson

By JAMES NELSON

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson, delivering a hard-hitting speech to 1,000 of his area supporters, Algoma East riding here Wednesday night, warned Prime Minister Diefenbaker against giving preference in unemployment aid to Saskatchewan.

Elliot Lake, the model uranium-mining community started by the old Liberal government in collaboration with the now provincial government, Conservative Premier Frost, should get top priority because of the loss of sales it has suffered since the glooming promises heard so far in, he said.

He said that if he is elected prime minister on June 18 there will be a new deal for Canada, and especially for Elliot Lake, which once had a population of 20,000 and now is listed on the Ontario leading lobs from as 10,000.

Mr. Pearson drove to Elliot Lake in a convoy of some 100 cars in about 90 minutes. The government would take any squalls cancelled flights of three small single - engine aircraft from Toronto.

STUMPING NORTH

He was scheduled today to visit Liberal rallies and attend coffee parties in Sudbury, Timmins and Kirkland Lake before the government on overnight train from North Bay tonight to take him to the Upper Ottawa valley for a tour by automobile Friday.

Mr. Pearson criticized prime minister Diefenbaker and his Conservative government Wednesday night for spending two years negotiating a contract to sell Canadian uranium to the United Kingdom and still leaving the price and allocation of supply contracts unsettled publicly.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced in Toronto Tuesday that the Liberals had agreed to the deal signed. Mr. Pearson said he was puzzled "what was the point of a thing, coming out on the day I'm supposed to be in Elliot Lake."

"It should have been signed two years ago. It was signed exactly two years since it was first talked of. Why the 18 hours of delay?"

"After June 18, we are going to take over and do it right."

"Let's find out how this contract is going to be allocated. We have got to get absolutely sure Elliot Lake gets its fair share and that too much of it does not go to the province from which the present prime minister comes."

CAMPAIGNS IN EAST

Earlier in the day, Mr. Pearson campaigned through eastern Ontario, mixing high-flown international and parish - pump politics.

At Cobourg he was made honorary president of the Golden Plough Peace Foundation and promised to contribute one dollar for every income personally to its works.

At Courtice, near Oshawa, he spoke from the cement cap on an old well in the village square.

Everywhere, he remarked on the blue skies and the air of business of the surrounding countryside, and its optimism in the campaign.

The theme was, briefly: The voters turned out of office in 1957 and 1958. The Conservatives have had their chance, and now it's time to turn them out of office, and give the Liberals a chance."

Mr. Pearson drove first from Toronto to Brooklin, where he was introduced to a crowd of about 800 in the town hall by Heber Down, reeve of Whitby township, an avowed Conservative.

"This is the most embarrassing thing I have ever been called on to do," he said, However, he introduced Mr. Pearson as a Nobel Peace Prize winner and said it is a wonderful thing for Canadians to vote as they like, without being told how to vote as in totalitarian countries.

"I guess we'll mark him

"Fred said it would be tough getting out tonight."

NDP Promises Better Deal For Farmers

The New Democratic Party leader wound up a day of whistle-stop campaigning through the western part of the Island Wednesday with a speech in a packed high school auditorium here. Many of his 500-odd listeners were farmers.

The New Democratic government, when it is elected, he said, "will make it its business to see that these great monopolies are taken over and operated on a so - operative basis so that the primary producer will get his fair share of the consumer's dollar."

O'Leary, a farm marketing community of about 1,000, is noted for its strong co - operative organizations.

"Every year farmers are getting less . . . and the processing monopolies are getting fatter and richer," he said.

Mr. Douglas promised that an NDP government would also organize co - operatives to produce the things the farmer needs, such as machinery and farm fuel. He offered farmers long-term loans for co-operative marketing and buying, plus individual credit for family farms and small fishermen.

Mr. Douglas started his Island tour at Charlottetown, where he arrived by plane from Halifax. His visit included speech to a small crowd in the market square and a greeting from Progressive Conservative Premier Walter Shaw at the provincial building.

Patronage Scored by Socred Leader

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Robert N. Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, criticized what he called the old concept of political patronage in public office Wednesday.

"A Social Credit government would set up a non-partisan committee to advise the government on new judicial appointments.

"One of the vital roles in society is that of judge, yet political appointments too often have reduced these posts to unattractive pleasures."

Mr. Thompson said "political patronage and subservience to Canada's best administrators to take part in public life are two major stumbling blocks to good government and Canadians end up with second-rate government as a result.

"Our present policy of indiscriminately cutting up the political pie for Sunshot Jack Horners is all right for Jack but hardly fair to the taxpayer.

"Canadian citizens must have the right to be tried by impartial non - political judges and they must be the best-qualified lawyers in the land.

"If more of us made our opinions felt at the political booths and if more of Canada's senior businessmen and administrators took an interest in politics and public life we would have less ad and be free from the-boys patronage and bureaucratic inefficiency."

NOTED ILLUSTRATOR trator who died in 1901, was Kate Greenaway, the English noted for her work on books water - color painter and illus-for children.

Astrological Forecast

For May 25
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Key word is responsibility. Where none could be brought to bear in connection with past promises. Where money is concerned, even friends could be irritable. Live up to obligations.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): See situation as it exists, not as you wish it could be. Hard work indicated today. But also a great deal of satisfaction. Give your best, and there will be rewards.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Older member of family, or person in authority, commands your attention. Choice of following advice or ignoring it is left to you. Better stick with experience.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Some of the more practical aspects of life must be faced today. Running away from realities only compounds every little. Today examine money questions carefully.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Tremendous challenge could become evident. Your own strength and love for the drama of "coming from behind" could make this exciting, constructive time for you.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Trying to "push" your way could boomerang. Best to be diplomatic. Let opportunities, persons come to you. Take it "slow and easy," but keep moving.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): You know that an emotional rut is as real as actual one. What you do about it today could affect your life for some time to come. Plan with foresight.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Conservative view best. Hold back on impulsive action which could cause embarrassment. Take time to make decisions especially when they affect security, family, future.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): All through the day you have the opportunity, the urge to expand. Don't hold back, but give of yourself. Be generous and helpful.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Practical matters could "weigh you down." But apply natural intelligence and you will see the light. Avoid being depressed over minor problems. Have faith.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Cycle up, but with opportunity comes responsibility. Don't try to shirk duties. Draw upon experience, knowledge. Results and success will follow.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Do not misinterpret the obvious. There's no room for superstition in your activities. Really nothing to fear. So make this day a productive one.

* * *

If today is your birthday . . . This is one of most important periods of year for you; invest in your own abilities. You are versatile, but you often go off "track" when you insist on perfection. Others as they are, and you will be happier.

General Tendencies: Persons born in February apt to be in power positions. Special word for Leo: Be diplomatic and control tendency to "grab" spotlight.

Musical Comedy in Cafes Quite Popular in Canada

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Night club musical" is the - road, a theatre-restaurant innovation that has been spreading in the United States for two years, made its Canadian debut here with the musical comedy The Pajama Game.

Drama critic declaimed it as the "greatest display in show business since Show Boat" and Jack Sta[illegible] ... Ken Staziller and Bob Millen, owners of the Cave Theatre Restaurant where the production was staged, watched the opening as curtain-up was two hours with a $35,000 investment at stake, then relaxed as the cash came in and champagne flowed.

Next day, Vancouver Sun critic Jack Richards said the presentation of a full - length musical comedy with dinner "worked to perfection."

Miss Tytherleigh of the Vancouver Province made the Nero reference and added: "There are times when a critic wants to grab a handful of superlatives and use them. This is one of those times."

The Pajama Game, with Broadway's Susan Johnson and Larry Douglas in leading roles and the rest of the cast drawn from artists with experience in Vancouver's Theatre Under the Stars, was booked for 3½ weeks. Its initial success indicated extension to 13½ weeks.

Staziller said the show was intended as the first in a series of five or six such productions a year at his night spot where his partner spent $16,000 for stage and lighting alterations and laid out $6,500 a week in production costs.

Staging is done seven style, with the audience sitting on three sides of the stage and the orchestra on the fourth. Scenery shifts and players come on stage from three directions, trotting between the tables.

It was the success of similar productions in the United States, particularly San Francisco, that persuaded Staziller to gamble on the idea.

They've been sold out every performance since they started. They worked with the Sacramento Summer Theatre to establish their company."

De Gaulle Said Livid As Salan Escapes Death

Think He May Declare State of Emergency

PARIS (Reuters) — A presidential announcement of new government measures to combat subversion was awaited today as the verdict in Raoul Salan's trial continued to mete headlines in France.

President de Gaulle was reported livid over the life term dealt Salan for his leadership of the terrorist Secret Army Organization and the 1961 Algiers revolt.

Lawyers for former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, Salan's top lieutenant in the Secret Army, have asked for a revision of Jouhaud's death sentence in the light of Salan's escape from the firing squad.

There was widespread speculation about what de Gaulle's next moves will be. Some veteran political observers thought he would declare a state of emergency in France under Article 16 of the constitution.

Under Article 16 the president is authorized to "take measures required" to deal with extraordinary circumstances.

APPROVES MEASURES

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte de Villedieu said de Gaulle approved new measures "to ensure the effectiveness of the repression" at a cabinet meeting Thursday.

Salan was sentenced after the trial to France Prison. It was believed that the former chief would start his life term on the island of Aix off Brittany, 200 miles southwest of Paris.

Paris newspapers meantime bannerlined French and world reaction to the life term dealt by Salan Wednesday.

Four Industries Only on Hand At Safety Course

Only four Belleville industries of the fifteen expected were present at the first afternoon session of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association's fifth Safety Course for Supervisors, at the Queen's Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The course, which may not be repeated in this area for several years, is being conducted by the I.A.P.A. staff in Trenton. With the first class yesterday it will stretch out in a four-week course every Thursday for the next six weeks.

Fred Blaynay, IAPA Supervisor in charge of the course, commented first on the "disturbing factor" in the late arrival and non attendance of members of the course. He described the course as "designed to teach you to teach safety in your own operation."

Mr. Blaynay conducted the first session himself, devoting it to a short history of the IAPA, from the organization's founding in 1917; and a summary of the Workmen's Compensation Act, from its inception in 1915.

He pointed out the cost of accidents in industry; more than $83 million paid out in compensation during 1950; and explained that 15% was accounted about one fifth of the actual total cost of accidents to industry for the year. He translated this to cost of $33 per year to every man, woman and child in Ont.

COST STILL MOUNTING

One man's injury, for instance, has cost $250,000 so far and the cost is still mounting. Not only must we prevent such accidents, according to Mr. Blayney, in the sake a way to find out what's causing them. "When you hear this," he said "the remedial action comes from between your ears."

The course being conducted as a discussion type programme, calling for most suggestions, and directly responsible for the course held in Belleville, is F. W. Marriott, field representative for safety production in the—Ottawa, St. Lawrence and part of Central Ontario areas. Cost of the course to the firms represented is $2 which pays for the accommodation in the Queen's Hotel.

Present at the first afternoon session yesterday were Yorke Motors Ltd., Canadian Fairbanks-Morse Co., Dominion Tradesa Motors Ltd., Lloyd Neiser, of Amphenol Canada Ltd., Don Dennison of Deacon Brothers Sportswear Ltd., and Jerry Ackerman of the British American Oil Company Ltd.

N.Y. POLICE

tribute mental illness to Scott, who had been turned loose by OPP superiors in 1940 to pose as a crooked policeman in tracking down leakages in police moves to the McDermott-Foster combine.

In another development Thursday, the commission heard Lorne Dunlop, barrister warning that B. J. MacKinnon, Liberal party counsel at the inquiry, should "lay off."

MENTIONS TROUBLE

The anonymous letter, made up of scrap letters from newspapers, was received by Ronald Ellis, Belleville, president of the Young Liberals in Waterloo North and now a Liberal candidate. Ellis' Mr. MacKinnon was called off, it mentioned trouble for Hon. Lionel Conacher, Joyce Frith of Toronto, president of the Ontario Liberal Association.

The OPP began an investigation, but one officer said he did not think anyone was "taking it too seriously." Mr. MacRitchie said it "nonsense."

Links between Lawrence and Conacher, Lamoria, another big signed gambling squad member, and Gambling were made by Thomas Lamoria, brother of Lamoria, Jr., a jury alleged but had quickly retained to the office. He found the anonymous letter watching him.

The April 29, 1950, raid was successful on Mar. 2 Scott —in his role of undercover agent, Lamoria, Jr., testified, from MacDermott who had stated Lamoria said Anderson was "all right."

WAS ACCURATE

"So McDermott's information was accurate," Mr. MacKinnon commented.

"Very accurate," the officer said.

Later, commission counsel Roland F. Wilson had Lamoria read from his record Lamoria as telling him that he and Lawrence would have big gambling enthusiasts fine.

That was false, the former police said, stated.

He denied another Scott alleged to have told Lawrence (Lawrence) had gone to Sammy Salsam, Niagara Falls, to "get inside" Salsam "polishes" payoffs for information.

Salsam has been mentioned in previous testimony as Slaggie Peninsula bookie and owner of a gambling squad information.

In another occasion, after Scott, Lamoria and Lawrence had dined at Niagara Falls at the Flamingo Club, Scott had entered this in his diary, Thursday Lawrence's counsel asked:

"Did you pay your patches?"

"I never had any patches," the witness insisted.

DENIES PHONING

He denied specifically that on the way down he had discussed phoning Salsam concerning the raid and had placed a call to Salsam concerning the raid to get Lawrence out of jail. Salsam from St. Catharines.

"Do you recall that Lawrence was the person you would be ready the following Wednesday?" counsel asked.

He denied this.

Sgt. Anderson elaborated in a 20,000 page report quoting McDermott as saying that Lawrence was trying to get a patch "across the river," apparently in upstate New York.

The report said "the best was on" against New York Yankees at the time and Lawrence one big bookie had moved into Ontario. Anderson, he said, Lamoria was trying to, get protection to any others who might move into this province.

LISTS POINTS

Anderson listed a number of points that had led to suspicions of Wright'sdishonesty.

1. Wright had helped the sergeant fix a tape recorder to his person for an interview with Frank (Curley) Gardner, a Detroit henchman of Windsor who apparently was getting ready to talk in 1950, and word of this got to McDermottz

2. The New York - Ontario objective raids.

3. In 1949, Anderson had held a meeting in strict confidence with Mayor F. J. Miller of Niagara Falls to discuss gambling dures against gamblers. Wright had heard of the meeting, though it was supposed to be known only to Commissioners W. H. Clark and Assistant Commissioner Ward Kennedy.

HOLY ROSARY

The annual father and son banquet was held in the K. of C. Hall on Wednesday, May 21st. A specious, well lighted hall, decorated in very good taste with and wholly suitable for banquets of this kind.

The tables were like a picture in an old fashioned garden. Yellow tulips, lilac, all manner of salads and jellies with sparkling silverware on white tablecloths. The scouters spelled a hearty welcome to the fortunate guests.

The chairman was smartly captained by Scout Billy Gray and Scout Jim Doran and Jimmy Barrett. Grace was said by Father Maurice Sullivan and the toast to the Queen. The ladies then served dinner. Huge platters of turkey, ham and chicken, mashed potatoes, vegetables, gravy, dressing, coffee and ice. Scout Billy Gray thanked the ladies very sincerely for the splendid meal and followed showed the appreciation felt by everybody but, the Rev. Father Sullivan said, "the work of the Mothers' Auxiliary cannot be too much appreciated by us." "I am so sorry we are all very grateful to Mrs. Hogan and the committee members for the wonderful work they do and I am sure they will be on the front move next month.

Mr. William Smith gave a very brief but sincere speech of welcome and then introduced the guest speaker, Mr. D. B. Jenkinson, who said how pleased he was to be on many interesting and invited them to improve their scoutsintercourse with the Rover Crew, attending their meeting, or better still joining the group themselves. Mr. Jenkinson was happy to meet the Ashley gang, many of whom had been in the Cubs with his own son-lak. Scout Ken Smith was presented with his B.C.D. badge and attended to her like a good Scout should. Frank Mulvenna, president of the Parish Men's Club, gan, auxiliary president; two very faithful workers who have served with the 3rd for many years. Scout David Long, a Tenderfoot, was presented with who was very attentive to the wants of his "Skipper."

Father Maurice, group padre, appealed to the fathers to help the boys build a club house. An eloquent and persuasive speaker, we had fallows of the 3rd Cubs, some being erected almost at once. He said he was proud of the 3rd Scouting as a smart and correctly uniformed. Uniforms are but trifles and carry no obligations. Boy Scouts have to be polite and always young gentlemen. He told of how he escorted some sisters in his parish and, remembering the small boy say "Look - A man Sister." And a colored girl once exclaimed "Here comes the church." While in Paris he was very pleased to be complimented when the people cheered him explaining that he was a priest, because, they, but his uniform with the polished buttons. One has the penalties of a smart uniform.

BADGES

Akela Harold Lyon presented the following badges: Tenderfoot Star to Cub S. Meagher; First Star to Cub Norman Doran; Second Star to Cub R. De Genove; Athletes and Cyclist to Cub Terry Doran; Cyclist to Cub Jimmy Barrett; Cyclist to Cub Gary Doyle; Athletes and Pets to Cubvers to Cub W. Peck; Gardeners to Cub Norman Doran; Cyclist to Cub Larry Doran; Cyclist to Cub Paul Kelly. Two Cubs have all but completed their Tracky Lynx Badge with Scout Sandy Hay. This Pack has gotten off to a good start in all its going stronger all the time. Cub Jack Harris in his report said they had six new Chums and four transfers since last year. He thanked Scouts to Cubs S. Hay, R. Lyon, W. Gray and T. Robert for their best six of the year. A.C.M. Vince Kelly is a later addition to the Pack and is proving his value.

FILMS

Father Maurice pronounced benediction and the meeting was handed over to Mr. Hardy Hogan, Rover Leader in an old "friend of Scouting" and one of our best supporters. The films were "Lure of the North" and "Spring" Very interesting colored pictures and amazing fishing by special request of the Scouts. Appeal to boys and men alike these films, shown through the courtesy of Carlings, are particularly suitable for any Scout gathering.

Thank you Mr. Smith for your invitation to what proved to be a very enjoyable evening.

CANNIPTON

All parents are asked to be at the church hall next Wednesday at 7.30 p.m. for a very special "Parents' Night". The Leaders are depending on you to be there. Don't let them down. Wednesday, May 30th, 7.30 p.m. Be there!

Councillors Inspect Road, Have to Mend It to Move

Morningtry township councillors found themselves stuck in the mud last night, when they took side trip from a routine look at the Tabernacle church, and set out to inspect the road. It turned out the road needed more than inspecting, and the councillors ended up back into their cars, a mile-and-a-half from the nearest farm house. There they found they couldn't push it out; but they did manage to turn it up and build a firm footing of rocks under the wheels. Most councillors have got home after midnight.

Morley Perry, of Frankford, inspired the trip to the Tabernacle church. Since the building was closed and the congregation moved to Wooler last year, the church board had been trying to sell it. Mr. Perry planned to buy it and convert it to a house.

When he applied for a building permit though, it was denied. As a church, the building was not subject to building by-laws, and it was built with no regard to them. Now, under the by-laws, for instance, a lot size of 100 by 200 feet is required for the church stands on is 80 by 160 feet. Also, the building may not be less than 63 feet from the centre line of the road, and one side of the church is 27 feet from the centre line, so that a part of the church is more than 18 feet from the road allowance.

But the councillors went up to take a look at it anyway. They found that Mr. Perry could buy enough land from the township to make the lot a lot large enough for the church to become a house, but part of the road allowance from the road to worry about. The church, too, was less it's moved.

Council Considering Levy Of $200 a Year Sewer Fee For Murray Twp. Residents

TRENTON — In a three-hour session last night, Trenton council passed up by-laws to enable it to install sewers in a positive stand on some issues; made some negative decisions on others and adjourned until next Monday night.

Considering value discussion amongst Murray Township residents, who, by the way, may soon be town residents, was a half-decision to revert to the system of charging out-of-town users of town sewer facilities a $200 annual fee. In 1960, town council made the decision to charge out-of-town residents this fee for the privilege of hooking onto town sewer mains. After a considerable amount of heated argument, most of the township residents came up with the $200, as the alternative was that their sewer service would be "cut off".

He asked why the fee had not been paid last year.

Mayor McConnell said that when persons living in the Deveren Gardens area had agreed not to hook up privately last year, council had thought it best not to bring up the question of payment.

"But I understand that others have been hooking up are using the sewers now", said Councillor Lloyd Worrall, "I don't see why it isn't collect".

"I'm warning you there'll be another big storm. If they're accidental, carry on with the $200, as the alternative was that their sewer service would be "cut off".

At election time, all political parties try to be all things to all people, or at least to all voters. Mr. Robert Thompson of the Social Credit party, though, seems to have gone one step further than rational in proclaiming that Social Credit has become the champion of small-e conservatism and small-l liberalism.

It is a pity that Mr. Thompson should have wandered into the morass of double-talk, because under his guidance Social Credit in this election has come close to making sense—which is an unlikely achievement for any political party at election time and doubly so for a party with the Socreds' history.

Mr. Thompson is at least half right. If his party could rid itself of its weird and wonderful monetary theories, and if it could shed its dragon's tail of reactionaries who labor under the delusion that their assorted prejudices have any right to be considered conservatism, it would indeed be emerging as the champion of small-e conservatism. Social Credit, under Mr. Thompson, is displaying a preference for the known discomforts of a tried and tested system as compared with the unknown perils of attempting to improve and alter existing institutions. This is a long way from the policies of the Progressive Conservative party under Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who places the emphasis on the first part of the party's name. But it is a point of view which has adherents and has every right to have a party voice.

This party voice, though, will certainly be combated if it attempts at the same time to express small-l liberalism. Mr. Thompson seems to base his confidence in being able to perform this ventriloquistic miracle on a belief that both small-e conservatism and small-l liberalism believe in pay-as-you-go government and the principle of free enterprise. By the accident of nationality, this is true of small-e conservatism in Canada—in other lands it might favor witch-doctor rule, military dictatorship or even Stalinism, whatever had been that particular country's heritage from the past. Small-l liberalism, however, in Canada and in other lands with similar political and economic systems, has long since divorced itself from that belief in laissez-faire in which British liberalism had its birth. That belief, it held by any, is now the sole property of the small-c conservative.

The small-l liberals have no party voice, but may be found scattered through the Progressive Conservative, Liberal and New Democratic Parties. Most of the members of all these parties, however, are neither small-c conservatives nor small-l liberals but are small-s socialists—but firm believers that what is needed in politics is not so much firm principles as a readiness to embrace opportunities and to be guided by the maxim that politics is the art of the possible.

Yesterday's Follies

A boy recently lost his left eye after being wounded by an arrow fired at random into the air. The St. Thomas Times-Journal comments editorially that bows and arrows and sling-shots have gone out of fashion. This stirred personal memories. When we confront today's teenagers for recklessness on the highways, or for brawls, no matter how well founded these criticisms may be, we might perhaps do well to recall the common-place misdemeanors of our own youth.

The writer recalls a favorite game, played with a younger brother. The landing of an outside staircase was fortified with hay. The defender laid in a large stock of arrows, the stalks of such flowers as hollyhocks or phlox or stocks. The defender armed himself with bow and shield and tried to storm the fortress, firing the while. Only good fortune, surely, spared both brothers both their eyes, while the fact that a window, at the foot of the outside staircase, remained unbroken must rank as a miracle.

Forty years or so ago, every boy went armed with a slingshot, fashioned from the strong rubber of an automobile inner tube. Small stones were the customary missiles—but one town boasted a plant manufacturing nuts and bolts. The slug of metal punched out to make a three-eighths inch nut nestled comfortably in the pocket of a slingshot and was much to be preferred to a stone, for accuracy and for shocking power. Even at considerable distances, it would sting through stockings or knee pants.

Such things, of course, ought not to be even whispered the next time Junior is getting a dressing down for playing "chicken" with the family car.

Anything Can Happen, This Day and Age

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Almost everything happens to you if you live long enough. That is the reason why I think any acquaintance told the story years ago, when I came to him with some problem, was not so bothering me at the time.

It is a good thing that I have short memories. And it is remarkable how comforting that thought can be, times of stress or crisis. The only way to avoid trouble is to avoid living.

American, particularly, became one because here, bred by geography and history tend to think of life as a series of problems and solutions. But less fortunate peoples, in other parts of the world, know better. Life is not a series of problems and solutions — it is a predicament.

There are some problems that have no solutions. There are some questions that have no answers. There are some situations that must simply be lived through, and cannot be worked out.

It is this kind of acceptance, of stoicism, that seems to be lacking in our exhuberant American nature. We cannot bring ourselves to believe that life is a predicament, and not a group of questions which we can solve satisfactorily. This is as true in our national outlook as it is in our personal viewpoints.

Part of our resistance, and resentment, and frustration about the present world situation comes from this attitude. We simply cannot believe that the unsolved crisis in international affairs cannot be solved by turning the right key, or banging on the right table, or being more aggressive or being more patient.

Yet, all the realistic evidence points to the fact that we are caught in a web of history in which there are no satisfactory solutions, but which we cannot be wished away, or frightened away, or talked away, or even fought away. We are here, and we are here, and the principles of free enterprise in some measure symbolize — I surely dying together.

This is what we find so unpalatable: that we are no longer the sole masters of our own destiny, that we are caught up in a web of history, and we cannot act as we please. Our greatness and boldness we have long been accustomed to, but this new humility is a gift we are unprecedentedly poor at but it also made us the slaves of the circumstances.

The world is now balanced precariously on the edge of a precipice. Survival calls for decisions of a kind we have not seen the tension without fight or flight. We have learned to make new questions have been propounded by our scientific advances. There is no ultimate test of our maturity greater than the willingness to accept the predicament, and to treat it with tact, not with cowardice or bravado.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 26th, 1933.

The latest edition of the "Courier," the publication of King George School, contains many interesting articles on school events as well as well written verse, and clever sketches or drawings by the pupils. The "Courier" has been a credit to success since its inception, for a number of years, was sponsored by Grades seven and eight only; now, however, it represents the combined efforts of the students of both.

According to reports from various parts of the city, Bells is attaining phenomenal growth. In certain sections it has reached the 100 per cent test, but to date the record is held by a farmer near Tabor who produced a stalk measuring at least 10 inches.

Last night a stranger walked into Red Cross headquarters located in the Campbell-Pinnacle St., and quietly laid $20 on the table. He said, "I am Mr. Fred Short of the Short Show now playing in your city," he said, "and I would like to contribute this cash contribution. Not only this," he added, "but I will also donate fifty per cent of the receipts taken at my shows to this fine cause."

A very enjoyable birthday party was held last evening in the Odddfellows Hall, it being the 25th anniversary of the founding of Robekah Lodge in Belleville. Visitors were present from Stirling, Trenton, Madoc and Oshawa.

Nineteen years ago May 24th, the first delivery of mail by carriers commenced in this city. The first delivery was accomplished, not much difficulty; letters were not addressed to streets and numbers and it was a great help, although the many addresses in the city directory and from other sources. At eleven o'clock in the morning the letter carriers started on their route and the last carrier finished his route at 8.30 in the evening. The carriers and some prominent citizens were grouped upon the post office steps on Bridge Street and a photograph was taken. Those in the group besides the carriers were: Mayor J. F. The original letter carriers shown in the photograph were: C. H. Lloyd, H. Symons, S. W. Bird, G. A. Irvine, W. Claire Irvine, H. M. Baker, T. H. Andrews, F. J. Bowen and P. O. Pilsey. Soon after the delivery system was commenced the following carriers were added to the staff: A. C. Burton, W. J. Holland, W. R. Hinchey and D. M. Farrel and they have served eighteen years. Later the following were added to the staff: George Hay has served six years, Charles Jelly two years, Charles Turnbull and L. Wilson, all were in the summer two years. The staff now numbers thirteen. The first letter was delivered by one of the carriers to E. Guss Porter, M.P., during the opening proceedings on the post office steps. Speeches were made by Mayor Wills, E. Guss Porter, M.P., J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., and John Elliott.

Great Work by Young

Brantford Expositor

Are the Russians (who claim to have been first in the airplane flying in the field of investigations) belatedly imitating certain so-called "fads" of the "capitalist" world they lashed on to something different?

A spokesman for the Soviet Academy of Sciences recently announced that scientists in the 35-40 year age bracket would be given the job of finding the older generals would be put on half-time to make room for the younger men.

The idea, if it is ever given effect, would be based on the words of Bruce Bliven, writing in The New York Times Magazine, "a talented man is likely to produce his most significant achievements earlier in his career than is commonly realized". He quotes from studies by Dr. Harvey C. Lehman, of Ohio University, to support his proposition.

Lehman found, for example, among 52 "greatest" chemists, that "most of their most important work was done in the years 44 per cent in their 30s and 16 per cent in their 40s, and less than one-fifth of one per cent after they reached 60. This did not discount entirely the value of experience, they did it in a way advanced in years. He inferred a corresponding ratio of value between work they did in the years of youth and that they did in old age.

He mentioned that of a number of eminent English writers most started out at an average age of 23 and finished their career at about 57. A number of factors were speculated to account for this.

Maybe exceptions prove the rule, but we can think of some notable ones. The famous British statesman, William Ewart Gladstone, commenced his third term at Prime Minister when he was 84 years old. Winston Churchill first became Prime Minister when he was 66 and took the office again when he was 77, retiring four years later. Bernard Shaw, the naturalist, who lived to be 73, published his "On the Origin of Species" when he was 50. Mao Tse-tung, China's top man at 59, Franco, Spain's No. 1, Inonu, Chile's Nehru 72, the Soviet Union's Khrushchev 58 and Premier Georges Bidault, France's Adenauer 80, Lord Russell of Liverpool, Britain's famous mesmerist and philosopher, is still going strong at 80. Somerset Maugham, one of the outstanding writers of his time, is 79. Other oldsters who continued to write brilliantly were H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw, Eden Phillpotts, and Anatole France.

Dr. Wilder Penfield Woldcaster is over 80 and still bringing out hilarious books. Our own Thomas B. Costain, at 77, only lately produced "The Last Tudor", unsurpassed for his most warmly received of all his histories (as distinct from his historical novels), and he's not done yet, either!

The author of the article we speak about says that "Age, indeed" he mentions that Ben Franklin invented bifocals at 78. Sir Thomas Lipton only discovered his double stars when in his 80's, Thomas Hardy continued to pour out poems until he was nearly 80, Artist Michael Angelo at the ripe old age of 87 was still producing masterpieces when he also was 87.

The conclusion, as reached by Messrs. Bliven and Lehman, is that growing old is not a uniform process. So don't let it get you down!

Drunks Build Fine Airport

New Hampshire Issue

Helsinki, Finland, roughly the size of Wales and Washington, D.C., has a beautiful jet airport, built largely by jailbirds, serving time for drunk driving.

Now, undoubtedly nobody can escape severe sentencing if caught drinking in Finland, but most of the prisoners who built the airport as part of their "corrective labor" included bank officials, mercantile men and white collar workers. Two were members of the parliament. Although the "corrective political "built" the premier refused to get the "drunk" for drunk driving. So they put in six months with sledge hammers.

Not Unusual for Babies To Encounter Eczema

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our six-month-old baby has eczema. She is strictly on a diet, prescribed by our doctor, but at least once a day her body flames up in red spots. The itching is terrible and she is scratched all over. — B.C.

This annoying skin rash is generally a form of allergy, if both parents had some sort of allergy, perhaps mild enough so that neither recognized it as such, the baby can have an intense tendency in that direction, however.

The likeliest "trigger" for the attacks is some food, although it may be something that is touching wool, silks, ordinary dust, the lacquer finish on the crib, etc.

As for foods, milk and cereals should be suspected first. Soy bean milk, which for babies can be substituted for cow's milk. Oil cereals can be used instead of the usual wheat or oat cereals.

Fruit or vegetable (in puree form) may be the cause. Still a bit later babies begin getting eggs, fish, meat, or cereal, or strained meats. These, too, can be culprits.

I agree that it's not easy for parents or doctor to put a finger on the offending food (if it is a food allergy) right off. Sometimes skin tests help solve the mystery.

In time, youngsters usually outgrow eczema, but is is such a trying thing, both for baby and parents, that the sooner it is cured, the better. And usually it can be.

Scratching should be controlled, or limited, because the scratches admit bacteria. Anxious transient infections which accentuate the whole problem. Boric acid baths, lotions and creams reduce irritation, and ointment or bandages cover the hands prevent clawing.

Eczema isn't a disease that's inherited. What is inherited is allergy — and the allergy causes rash and itching, and the rash is "eczema."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman, 31, and 4 feet, 10 inches tall. I weigh 91 pounds. I have small bones. I have been told that there is some kind of operation that will increase my size. — M.M.

Don't be misled. Except in cases of distinct glandular imbalance, I don't think hormones are the solution to the "short people grow" in the normal growing age. And after that age, hormones can't do anything at all. By 21, growth has stopped. The size of the bones is solidified, and that's what puts an end to growing taller.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss muscle-jumping, especially in the legs. I can see them jump. My doctor says my nerves are fine. I look nerve medicine but it didn't help much. — L.J.A.

It's annoying — known professionally as "jitter legs" or "restless legs." The precise reason is not known. Occasionally reducing coffee helps. Sometimes a calcium deficiency is present.

In other cases, small does of quinine sulphate or possibly quinidine sulphate, at bedtime, may help, as the drugs usually manifests itself after retiring. Your doctor can prescribe suitable dosage for you. There was a report, recently of propylora causing restless legs. This is a disorder of pigment metabolism and requires special urine tests. This cause is not common.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Tribune Syndicate, P.O. Now Painting Not Popular

West German Bulletin

Illnesses are largely dependent on the social atmosphere which is attached to them; and the fainting fit, once the pseudo reaction to bad news and shocks, is no longer popular. Dr. Hans Schaefer, psychiatrist of Tubingen to 2,000 doctors from Germany and abroad at the session of the 56th annual assembly of the German Society of Internal Medicine, in Wiesbaden.

People today are not inclined to react spontaneously to emotional shocks, he noted, and hence "fainting fits, inner coldness and indifference to-ward the phenomenon" (opinion, the pattern of our reactions has sharply shifted. We react more and more inwardly to sudden psychological shocks and to long years of mental tug to lasting burdens and tension.

The modern doctor, he said has to reckon with emotional problems that well-nigh all of acute different characters are rising more slowly and lasting longer.

Professor Schulte deplored the modern tendency to seek the psychological root for all illnesses, calling this outlook just as wrong as if it so believe that psychological strains such as pain or annoyance could invitipain or all illness. On the contrary, he assured his public that doctors are only normal and help people to develop the "thick skin" they need to get through life as comfortably as life allows.

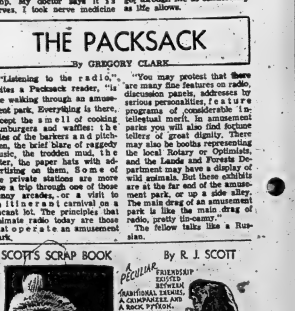
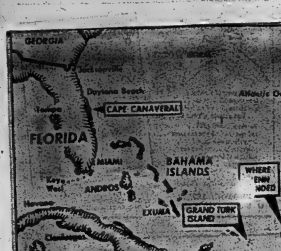
THE PACKSACK



By GREGORY CLARK



"Listening to the radio," writes a Packsack reader, "is like walking through an amusement park. Everything is there, except the smell of cooking hamburgers and waffles; the cries of the barkers and a pitchmen, the brief blare of raggedy music, the frantic shouts of the lifter, the paper hats with advertising on them. Some of the private stations are more like a trip through one of those arcades, or a visit to an illegal carnival on a Sunday in Connecticut. Or a animate radio today are those that operate an amusement park.

"You may protest that there are many fine programs of radio, discussion panels, addresses by serious personalities, but I regard programs of considerable intellectual merit. In amusement parks we also find food-fortellers of great dignity. There may also be booths exhibiting music, the Dionne Quints, Hitler, the paper hats with advertising on them. Some of the private stations are more like a trip through one of those arcades, or a visit to an illegal carnival on a Sunday in Connecticut. Or a animate radio today are those that operate an amusement park.

Beaverbrook Buys Ad to Hit Common Market

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Beaverbrook today took the unusual step of personally buying a full-page advertisement in his own mass - circulation newspaper to attack Britain's bid to join the European Economic Community.

"By seeking to enter the Common Market our rulers have set their feet on the path of disgrace and betrayal," declared the Canadian-born publisher in his right wing Daily Express. "They must be halted."

Beaverbrook said President Kennedy and his emissaries are trying to thrust Britain into the Common Market with immense pressure.

"The president thinks that our membership would strengthen the Western alliance against communism," he said. "The president is wrong."

"We shall not be a stronger ally but a weaker ally for the United States if we join. We shall be tied politically to Italy which has the largest Communist party outside of the Iron Curtain. Italy may well have a half-Communist government any year."

"We shall be tied to France. The French Communist party is the largest in the country. Outside that party all is strife and division."

"We shall be tied to Germany. Germany is 40 years has only done a secret deal with Soviet Russia. Germany may well do a third. . . ."

GASPE LAWSUIT JUDGE

Mr. Justice Antoine Lacourcière has presided over two years of hearings in the Gaspe Copper Mines Limited union-management lawsuit. Gaspe workers of America (CLC) for Lacourcière is still being sued by Workers of America (CLC) for an alleged $2,300,000 loss of profits and expenses during a 1957 walkout at its Murdochville, Que., mine. Fifteen thousand pages of testimony have been heard and lawyers will deliver their final argument this summer.

Judgment in Strike Case May Have Profound Effects On Many Labor Relations

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP)—The court is clear of witnesses now in the $2,300,000 - plus, 15,000 pages of testimony. The lawyers will deliver their final arguments this summer.

And then Mr. Justice Antoine Lacourcière will begin forming his judgment on the Gaspe Copper lawsuit, a judgment that may have profound effects on union-management relations — the case as $55 witnesses marched to the stand over 16 months, must decide:

1. Whether or not the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) may be held responsible for the loses of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited during a bitter and illegal 1957 strike.

2. If so, how much Gaspe Copper should get of the $3,300,000 it claims in loss of profits and expenses incurred during the walkout at its Murdochville mine.

LAW DEFENSES

Quebec law, which differs from the legal systems in force valid in other parts of Canada, says a parent body is responsible for the actions of its employees.

The company says "the Pittsburgh - based USW instigated, maintained and financed" the walkout by more than 900 men — mostly members of USW local 4251.

The defence countered that the "Pittsburgh - based USW could not, under Quebec law represent the men. It said the local raised the $2,000,000 national union had applied for certification as bargaining agent.

Gaspe Copper's delaying tactics was the firing of Theo Gagne, president of the Murdochville local, pleaded he was not striking, the union alleged.

The company contended that Gagne, a plumber, was laid off because he had work.

It said the union poured $500,000 in strike benefits into Murdochville during the seven-month walkout and encouraged violence. Court of Quebec witness speeches and radio broadcasts.

STATEMENTS CONFLICT

Gaspe Copper also alleged that 4881 records showed that the strike was planned well in advance and that the union had provided financial backing.

Union witnesses replied that the minutes referred to a strike planned against Noranda, parent company of Gaspe Copper, and said the presence of union officers and funds was justified under the circumstances.

Two provincial police sergeants testified that Bedard did nothing to calm strikers when a police bus arrived at a picket line.

Later, police Lieut. Gerard Tremblay testified that Bedard twice asked him for time to talk strikers into leaving company property.

The record contains many answers like:

Union officials Gagne and Bruno MacDonald were arrested at Perce the day a conveyor belt was dynamited because they remembered a famed pierced rock was hidden by fog.

Gaspe Copper lawyers Gagnon testified that Bedard had brought the Perce lighthouse keeper to the stand to testify there was no record of fog in the area that morning.

CLAIM IN DISPUTE.

Then union witnesses testified that the Perce light had only one hand-operated foghorn on the coast.

"The keeper at Perce isn't on duty 24 hours a day, while the others are," testified Paul Vallée, superintendent of lighthouses for the federal department of transport. "We can't depend on the lighthouse at Perce."

Early in the court proceedings, testimony — mostly around company efforts to justify its $3,300,000 claim and union efforts to cut it down.

Union witnesses included Montreal economist David Soul, who said the lost production claim should be reduced to $2,000 from $4,500,000 because improper means were included.

Soul returned to the stand later, to say the claim should be reduced because the company had saved $338,000 in taxes during the walkout.

APPEAL LIKELY

Regardless, it's a big-money case. One lawyer said legal fees and expenses plus court costs will run into the $1,000,000 area.

This summer, both sides will present their final arguments and Mr. Justice Lacourcière, nearly five years after the strike ended, will begin work on his judgment.

Whichever way the case goes, an appeal is expected.

As for the men who fought the union, left.

Three harbor bombings, one of which killed two children, have been attributed to the strike. The provincial policemen used tear gas, there were fist fights and scuffles.

But the USW never did get a chance to recruit the Murdochville workers. They now have an independent organization, which the USW calls a company union.

Thailand Hears Laotian City Falls to Reds

BANGKOK (Reuters) — The prime minister of Thailand, Marshal Sarit Thanarat, said today he has received a report that the southern Laotian provincial capital of Savannakhet has fallen to pro-communist Pathet Lao forces.

Sarit, who had just returned by helicopter from a visit to northern Thailand, told reporters he has had no confirmation.

It was not known whether the town had fallen under seige or been evacuated and then occupied by the Communist rebels.

Savanno, situated in south central Laos, has long been in the frontline of the right-wing Laotian regime's defence against the Pathet Lao. It is about 60 to 70 miles from the Thai border.

Savannakhet is the capital of the southern Laotian province of the same name which has long been the centre of Pathet Lao activity for some months.

Foreign intelligence sources in Bangkok and the Laotian capital of Vientiane have said that the southern Laotian provinces of Savannakhet, Sarvannakhet and Chamassak are most likely settings for any further violation of the ceasefire by the Pathet Lao following their capture of Nam Tha and Muong Sing in the north.

United States special forces troops are believed to be in the area training rightist Laotian government forces in anti-guerrilla warfare.

Carpenter dramatically eased himself out of the floating spacecraft and into a rubber dinghy. Then, with the world wondered what had happened to him, he sat and waited for help.

BEACON HELPS

It was not long in coming—though to millions of keyed-up observers it seemed an eternity. A homing beacon, part of the Mercury spacecraft rescue equipment, caught the attention of a Navy Neptune search plane 41 minutes after the capsule splashed down in the ocean.

At 3:20 p.m. the navy craft sighted the capsule and was able to send out the news that the astronaut was aboard his raft, waving his arms vigorously and therefore apparently in good health.

A helicopter took Carpenter to the carrier Intrepid, from which an airplane delivered him to Grand Turk Island. The destroyer Pierce picked up Aurora 7 and took it to Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, for airlift later to Cape Canaveral.

At Grand Turk—the name island to which Marine Lt. Col. John Glenn was taken after his Mercury flight—Carpenter was met with an embrace by Glenn and was warmly handshaken by another fellow astronaut, Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra.

Glenn then pressed his cheek against Carpenter's, then turned and brushed tears from his eyes.

EXULTS OVER SUN

The manner in which Carpenter was taken, he was quoted as exulting, "fits our anxious concern." Carpenter was more beautiful than anything in this world.

Asked whether he had any anxious moments, Carpenter said he had "a few moments of anxiety near the retro fire, over whether I was going to have enough fuel." One of the concerns on the flight was the possibility of depletion of fuel for the rockets that control the attitude of the spacecraft.

Glenn, during the wait at Grand Turk for Carpenter's arrival, said that "I don't think there was anyone on Cape Canaveral who doesn't have some doubts some time during the day." I know I did."

Carpenter was sure to get a big welcome from splashed Florida communities and from the wife and four children who watched the thundering lift-off Thursday.

President Kennedy telephoned congratulations to Carpenter. His home town of Boulder, Colo., said it expected that by then Monday night for a welcoming ceremony. Tuesday Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada, on the campaign trail in Saskatoon, Sask., wired a tribute to the president.

But the big - city ticker parade that greeted Glenn, Navy Cmdr. Alan Shepard and Air Force Capt. Virgil Grissom are probably not in the cards for Carpenter. Space travellers are

Coast Guard Resumes Hunt For Champion

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The coast guard today resumed its search for Donald Dodge, the United States men's singles tennis champion, who vanished Thursday after taking his kayak for a practice run on Lake Ontario's waters.

Dodge, a 21-year-old native of Nile, Mich., and a music major at Oberlin, had set out from a beach in a park just north of the city and had planned to go as far as a nearby pier.

The kayak was found overturned hours later about two miles off the lakeshore list, but the coast guard failed to turn up anything else.

Karpuk Wins Court Appeal

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Karpuk, 35-year-old former professional football player, won an appeal Thursday against a conviction for stealing $110 from a Toronto supermarket in August, 1961.

The Ontario Court of Appeal upheld a defence plea that Karpuk, a former S. Tupper Bigelow, who sentenced Karpuk to three years in jail, lacked the jurisdiction to try him.

Karpuk, a former player with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference, had been on $2,000 bail pending the appeal.

The Progressive Conservatives have filled their slate of candidates for the June 18 election election and for the first time in election history Social Credit has placed a candidate in every Quebec constituency.

The Tories met their deadline Tuesday when choice of Gerard Hebert in Montreal St. Jacques and Louis Desmarais in Portneuf brought the PC Canadian total to 263 and election chief John Dupont in Trois-Rivieres gave Solital Credit 75 Quebec candidates.

The Liberals completed their slate a week earlier in the week but will have only 264 candidates in the field since their nominee in Skeena was turned down by the returning officer because of the rules of the Canada Election Act was not observed.

A total of 944 candidates now is in the race, just 10 more than the record set in 1962 when 934 seats were at stake.

Ship With 800 Dutch Troops Reaches Irian

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP) — The transport Zuiderkruis arrived in Hollandia today with some 800 Dutch troops for the occupation of formerly West New Guinea against the Indonesians.

Some of the reinforcements were unloaded in Hollandia, while others remained on board to points in the invasion - threatened territory.

The arrival of recent Indonesian paratroop landings, meanwhile, appeared to have ended the tension in Hollandia itself and children were evacuated from Pik Hok by boat before the Saturday.

Reports from Kalmana, in the Sorong general region, said Dutch Aircraw backed by planes opened an attack on Indonesian troops when paratroopers dropped May 12. The reports said the Indonesians were driven back and pinched in the jungles north of Kalmana.

Book Committed On Two Charges Of Perjury

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Book, former building inspector in suburban Scarboro, was committed Thursday for trial on two charges of perjury.

Book, who resigned his job a month ago, was charged with giving false evidence to a judicial inquiry last year into Minico's building practices.

The charges state that Book told the inquiry he obtained money for a garage and a boat from a relative whereas two builders testified they gave Book interest-free loans to build the garage.

Joseph Kaselic and John Kavcic—who "did't homes in Minico during 1956—told Book gave them no security or note for the loans and no time limit was set on when the money had to be repaid.

TO BECOMPEL POLICY

He told an open-air meeting of 1,000 persons that acreage payments, which have been made on an emergency basis in the past, have "become part and parcel of the policy of this country."

A vote against the government would mean a vote against acreage payments, he said. Fifteen of the Liberals' 2,800 he reported the government is considering bilateral food shipment agreements with Commonwealth countries, particularly the West Indies.

Mr. Pearson said the Liberals would provide special incentives for new farmers to locate in single-industry centres such as Elliot Lake and Temagami. The Liberal government had made a start on this idea before it was defeated in 1957.

MEETS MINERS

He spent three hours making, streeting, shook hands with miners coming off shift at the Saskatchewan potash mine at Esterhazy 150 at an afternoon reception. Earlier he had been in the Sudbury and told a rally of 300 party workers he is confident of victory.

At Kirkland Lake Thursday he spoke to 700 in a theatre, saying Mr. Fleming was inconsistent in his dollar policy and "every time he has changed his mind he has short-changed Canada."

Mr. Douglas said big mining companies are taking advantage of dollar devaluation without by increasing output and employment but by raising their increasing profits."

The NDP leader said he is amused by Liberal criticism of the dollar move. "Only a year ago," the famous Liberal rally directly in Kingston, Mr. Walter Gordon—now Liberal economic policy adviser—said that devaluation would be a smart move."

Mr. Douglas said the Liberal Credit government would make the dollar stock in the emerging area of Canada instead of a depressed one, with a "realistic policy of independent policy formed from political expediency."

The Martinize province had received only promises from the old-line parties. "Small wonder they feel no vital interest in for a tomorrow that never comes."

County Councils Have Become Social Clubs

GEORGETOWN, Ont. (CP)—J. R. Sams, past president of the Ontario Association of Counties said Thursday night the county system was effective 100 years ago but must be drastically revised today.

Mr. Sams told a regional planning conference that county councils have become nothing more than social clubs and municipalities which have a good tax structure are trying to shed the luxury of county council.

The county form of government should be revised to embrace public works, planning, provision of hospitals, public transportation, the administration of justice and to some extent education, he said.

Community boundaries should be realigned to conform with modern economic units and county council members elected with representation based on population.

Holy Rosary P.T.A. Holds Interesting May Meeting

Holy Rosary P.T.A. held its May meeting recently in the school with Mr. F. Mulvihill presiding. The Reverend Ives Purcell opened the meeting.

The usual reports were read and old and new business discussed.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. F. Rice, convenor of nominations. Mrs. Rice entered the following slate of officers for the coming year on the board:

President, Frank Mulvihill; vice-president, Barry Blaind; treasurer, Frank Reight; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Adams; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mabel Guilfoyle.

Mr. Mulvihill accepted the presidency for another year, as was the custom. Mrs. Rice called for further nominations from the floor for the other offices. There being none, the slate of officers as presented was elected by a showing of hands.

The Reverend Ives Purcell, the spiritual director of the PTA, thanked the past executive for the fine work sponsored on behalf of the members and their children. Children, as a rule, do not want to go to school, but it is the parents' duty to see that they obtain the best education they can. The greatest teacher that this world has ever seen was Christ, Himself. To be like Him one must practice what he or she preaches. If children are taught honesty, truthfulness, and to say their morning and evening prayers, the parents' duty is done. Only these some rules.

The Reverend Sister Frances Teresa spoke briefly, reminding parents to see to it that their children said their morning and evening prayers during vacation time. Children should be equipped with prayer books and beads when going to Mass. Sister repeated His Grace, the Archbishop, the Most Reverend J. A. O'Sullivan, when she said religious vocations come from homes where the parents are very particular about their children's spiritual welfare." Sister thanked all the parents for their co-operation during the year.

The president thanked the Rev. Sister Frances Teresa for her words of advice, and extended his appreciation to the past executive, also to the sisters and teachers for their co-operation.

Next on the agenda for the evening was a program prepared by the Reverend Sister Mary James, teacher of grades 2 and 3, to demonstrate what is being taught in school with regard public speaking and speech training.

Reughan Adams assumed the role of master of ceremonies, introducing those taking part. The first item on the program was entitled "Polly's Sunday Visit" with Hilda Hay playing the part of Polly. Others taking part in the skit were Vernon Golden, Vickie Sheridan, Judy Asselstine, Ann Guilfoyle and Darlene MacDonald.

A recitation by Michael Reed came next on the program with Holy Rosary theme song, "Don't Be Late," as his topic. Third was a speech by Vernon Golden on "Cause or Wonders of Electricity."

A skit by two boys, Dick Probet and Carl Chaika, dressed as Junior Franciscans, discussing the life of a Franciscan Brother and Priest; a recitation by Lillian Boerri followed, being about "That Awful Johnny Brown"; Mary Downey described how to be better teachers of the Mystical Body of Christ. "The Helping Hand" skit, with Gary Hinds and Jimmy Hollquist; Jane Britton gave a speech on "Television"; and Dawn Bowes described a bee sting in "It's Nothing To Laugh At."

The last number was dedicated to the Blessed Virgin and was the most beautiful of all. All the boys and girls marched in with lighted candles in their hands, the girls having veils on their heads, all singing the hymn "Immaculate Mary." Michael Reed and Robert Soucy sang the verses.

After kneeling down in front of the Blessed Virgin's statue, "Tis the Month of Our Mother" was rendered by Michael Reed while Ken Smith recited the poem, "O Our Lady."

The applause that ensued after each individual performance showed clearly how keenly the audience appreciated the high calibre of their program.

Mrs. A. Blaccito, on behalf of all present, thanked the Reverend Sister Mary James for presenting such an interesting program. Sister replied that high school pupils could not have done better. With this, the meeting was brought to a close.

WOMAN CORONER

Dr. Agnes I. Jamieson, who graduated from University of Toronto in 1935, was the first woman coroner in Ontario in 1942.

Avondale H-S Lists Officers

Many parents were in attendance for the annual meeting of the Home and School Association and "Open House" at Avondale School on May 22nd.

ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Ross T. — They should send Jay to camp, with pay, son, Norman.

Ross T.—We've just signed up with Acamp in the Poconos for our son to spend his summer. Right along we thought the H.'s would send their son, too. The two boys are inseparable and this would give them a lot of new experiences they can't have in the city.

Now I leave Elsie H. is undecided. She thinks it's a good idea to let each boy try to get around on his own, making new friends instead of depending on each other so much. Well, where can that be easier than in a camp where their ages, boys from all over and so many interesting projects to choose from?

She'd certainly have an easier summer herself, knowing Jay was off her hands and, yet, safe and sound and enjoying himself.

Elsie H. —We're having second thoughts about camp for Jay this summer. Mrs. Berry in Rena is disposaled. It's not just that we think Jay is too dependent upon Norman as his steady pal, although it might do them both good to look at each other from a distance, write cards and letters and then compare notes in September. They're each 10 and have hardly been apart since they were 6.

But there are other considerations. For Rena, camp means a perfect vacation for her and her husband. Norman is their only child. But we have two little girls at home. They're 5 and 7. We'd still be tied down. Also, we've applied to the U.E. Forest Service for a camp site, so that we might go camping as a family for a few weeks.

The Council: It's that time of year again, when the word "camp" rolls off many tongues, each with a different taste for the term. For Rena, it's caviar, the luxury-item which will give her and her husband a period to slip out of the parent role and live like second honeymooners. Their Norman will be out of the way and painlessly occupied. Elsie, however, sees camp for Jay as just a side dish, not enough nutrition for the family to warrant the expense and trouble.

The question arises: The honest answer is for both, because whatever refreshes, relaxes and stimulates one end of a household has an upbeat effect on the other end. Thus Norman's separation from Rena and her husband gives them all a breather, a chance to explore a different way of living.

Camp for Jay, on the other hand, would effect no such release for the rest of the H. family, and might even produce very limited advantages for Jay himself at this stage of the H.'s fortunes. Let's say Elsie's weakness and signs blow up. If he's the clinging, dependent fellow she says he is, he'll spoil the Do-nothing act with Norman at camp. Even separate bunks won't stop the mail battle pull between them, and the effort to build new friendships will be spoiled.

Then's the chance that he may feel pushed out of his home and his parents and resentful that full attention upon his sisters. He may actually prefer to remain on the premises and participate of family vacation plans. He's bowled off as a troublemaker or misfit. Also, this particular camp may be fine for Norman, but poison for Jay. Camps either bring rigid about program, others encouraging much free thinking. When it's camp time for Jay, Elsie will have to pick one that matches his needs, not sign up blindly because Norman's going.

Well yes on Elsie's side. It might be a good idea to start saving up for the time when all three children can be sent to camp, giving the H.'s taste of what Reta will have — freedom from heavy responsibility.

Meanwhile, the family camp-up session at Reta. So does day camp, if there's one nearby. Jay could get his outdoor fun and still join in with whatever's cooking at home.

Teen-Age Canada

Special Laws For Teens

By JACK HUTTON

Can Canadian teen-agers be sued in our courts? Or is the law rather remote institution reserved for adults?

How many teen-agers, I wonder, realize that they have special rights under Canadian law—as well as responsibilities?

For example, the following questions have come to this column over a period of time. And we'll try to answer them and a few other related ones at the same time.

1. At what age can teen-agers marry without their parents' consent? Let's hope none of you are considering this drastic step, but a marriage can be annulled if you are under 18.

2. Can the courts sue a teen-ager to collect money owed? This is a neat legal point and needs some explanation. First, the firm will always want to know whether you are 21 before giving credit on an expensive item.

Stores can sue for payment on what the law calls "necessaries." But they cannot sue a teen-ager for non-necessities, and you will find that any store will keep this very carefully in mind when extending credit.

For example, an 18-year-old fellow who has taken a job in an office needs a suit to keep his position. But the courts would look at any local retailer differently if he went out on a spree and bought 20 suits from one store.

3. Can a teen-ager be asked to testify in court about an accident he or she witnessed? Yes. Even very young children can be asked to add their testimony in court cases.

4. Do a teen-ager's earnings belong to him or his father? Theoretically, your parents can demand at least a portion of your part-time earnings because they could legally ask for room and board.

5. What about car accidents involving your automobile? Is a teen-ager legally responsible? You bet your bottom dollar every responsible, whether you're over 21 or not.

If you've loaned the car to a friend careless enough to get involved in an accident, you're still responsible. The other driver can sue both of you—but will probably single you out.

You are not liable, by the way, if your car is borrowed without your permission. And you are also not liable if a thief steals your car and becomes involved in an accident.

6. Does a teen-ager ever have to pay income tax? Yes, this is something common to anyone who earns more than a minimum of $1000 of taxable income in Canada. Age has nothing to do with it.

I might add that the federal income tax department counts everything you earn in that sum—baby-sitting charges, snow-shovelling, gardening services and so on. However, few teen-agers have to worry about the problems of income tax.

One final piece of advice from a lawyer friend: Teen-agers should be careful to observe the same rule so many adults overlook: read everything carefully before signing it. And consult a lawyer if you're not sure about anything.

I can't tell you that now. You'll find out about mortgages, contracts (including marriage) before you find you've made a mistake early in adult life. A lot of adults you and I both know would appreciate it.

TEEN MARRIAGES

Speaking of teen-agers and marriage, I was more than surprised to find the other day that the average age at which Canadian girls marry is still around 18.

What are the chances of a successful marriage? American surveys figure that if you get married between 18 and 21 there is only a 40 per cent chance that the marriages will last.

If you are between 21 and 25 the odds go up to at least 50 per cent. And if both partners are more than 25 the experts claim that there is a 70 per cent chance of a successful marriage.

Quite a problem, isn't it? I can only assure you (having been married myself for the grand length of time of two weeks now) that statistics mean little if you're sure you've found the right person.

But remember that there is no hurry. If you're under 21, take a lesson from the experts' warnings and give it a great deal of thought before taking the grand step. You'll never be sorry.

ONE-UPMANSHIP?

We'll all be watching Mike McManus, 17, of Timmins, this summer. He's volunteered to try beating the world's flagpole-sitting record during the golden jubilee of his hometown, Timmins, Ont.

Only one problem: the local committee, if it accepts his offer, still has to find a suitable pole.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

You may be the naturally friendly type, but should you show it? Perhaps knowing the answers to the following questions will help you clear up that social shyness.

1. If you recognize someone at a party who doesn't seem to recognize you, should you say hello anyway?

2. When you move into a new neighborhood and don't know the neighbors, is it correct to invite them to get acquainted?

3. When you meet people for the first time, is it alright to address them by their first names?

4. If you live in an apartment house, this question has probably popped into your mind often: Is it proper to speak to neighbors in the corridor, even if you've never been introduced?

5. Maybe you feel that getting to know the right hosts is better will boost his chances for promotion. Should you invite him and his wife to dinner at your home?

6. Do magazine friends in a restaurant? Is it alright to hop over to their table to say hello?

7. Is it a party breach to keep neglects to introduce you to other guests, what should you do? Introduce yourself?

8. When travelling on a train, plane or boat, is it permissible to speak to fellow passengers without any sort of formal introduction?

9. Suppose you're seated with a group of strangers at a sub-function dinner. Is it proper to introduce yourself and join in the general conversation?

10. If you phone a friend and discover she's having a party, is it proper to present a plea for an invitation, as well?

Answers:

1. Yes, but make the greeting brief if it's obvious the other party has the faintest notion who you are or where you met. Under the circumstances, it's better form just to mention your name, say hello, then move on.

2. In more formal times, a new neighbor always waited for the oldtimers to make the first social move. Today, it's not considered "improper" for newcomers to invite a few neighbors in first, providing the wives have had a chance to establish some sort of over-the-fence rapport in advance.

3. If it's the custom, and the people are in the same age bracket, first name usage is taken for granted. Older folks, however, should not be treated so familiarly on first introduction.

4. It's proper and courteous to nod and say hello to neighbors you see daily in the elevator.

5. Only if you and your husband have been invited to the host and hostess first, or if they're entertained you to any extent on a personal basis.

6. It's correct to say hello in passing, but rude to sit down and stay for any length of time.

7. Yes. It's permissible to speak to someone standing near-by and make your own introduction.

8. Yes, but it's better not to drag out a conversation if the other passenger obviously would rather nap or read a book.

9. Yes. You'd be rather standoffish to do otherwise.

10. No. The hostess has her party planned, and an extra guest would gum up her seating arrangements. Besides, it's impolite to suggest joining any group unless you have advance indication your presence would be welcomed.

Hubby Complains About Meals

DORIS CLARKE

DEAR DORIS:—What can you say or do with a husband who is always complaining about the meals you cook? I am 21 and have been married almost a year, but so far my husband has found something wrong with almost every meal I have prepared.

If I were to make the things he likes every day, we would have pretty boring meals and lack vitamins besides. Is he spoiled by the seven years of restaurant meals that he had before we got married?

Whenever we have guests for dinner, they like my cooking. I enjoy cooking but hubby's complaining takes the fun out of it.—COOK IN DISTRESS.

DEAR COOK IN DISTRESS—Blondie would say it's part of the marriage ceremony for a husband to enjoy wifey's cooking.

If your Dagwood doesn't like what you cook, ask him to finance a course for you in home cookery. You can find this at your technical school or university, to be taken evenings. A girl friend might go with you.

No reflection on your cooking, mind you. But such special knowledge will help not only him, but you, to enjoy your cooking.

And while you're taking the course, get him to take you out to restaurants for a while, telling him you would like him to enjoy his food. That'll get him!

DEAR DORIS:—I am very confused and would really appreciate your opinion.

This year I am attending my first year of high school and I am 15. I am taking a commercial course and I hope to be a secretary or a bookkeeper.

For the past few weeks I have been working on the weekends as a volunteer worker at the hospital and I like the work very much. My mother has always wanted me to be a nurse but she told me that I could make my own decision and she would trust that I would make the right one.

The trouble is that I am taking a commercial course and I can't become a nurse unless I switch over to an academic course which I know I would be unsuccessful in.

I have thought of taking a nurse's aide course, but if I am going to make a profession of becoming a nurse, I want to be an R.N.—CONFUSED.

DEAR CONFUSED—There are counsellors in our schools for the very purpose of sorting out dilemmas like yours.

We now have ways of telling whether a girl's native talents lean to bookkeeping or nursing—or anything else, for that matter. What school subjects you enjoy, what you do when school's out, the way you make friends—these all point the way to the right career for you.

You like what you do at the hospital. This makes me think you'll make a good nurse. Don't be too sure you couldn't make the grade at school. With a high ambition we often accomplish what seemed impossible.

Pay attention to your counsellor. I have leaflets on being a nurse and on being an office worker which I will send you if you write again, enclosing a large, stamped envelope.

DEAR DORIS:—Regarding my daughter's trousseau: tea, how many sevices are needed. We plan to hold the tea from 3.30 to 5.00 p.m. and from 7.30 to 9.00 p.m.—MOTHER-OF-THE-BRIDE.

DEAR MOTHER—How many are coming? You need helpers to make tea and coffee, keep pots and cream pitchers filled. To pass the refreshments.

Perhaps a half-dozen of your daughter's friends would do it. These people double as receptionists as well, because they circulate, help to show guests around and visit with them.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO RITA:—You are already hypothetized. What you need to know is that life is real. You have plenty of ability, but laziness can defeat you if you let it. Develope the self-discipline to buckle down and tackle what is set before you with a will. For a private reply I will need a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Women's Institute

WELLINGTON W.I.

WELLINGTON — At the May meeting of Wellington Women's Institute was held Tuesday evening in the town hall with 25 members present. Mrs. Tripp, the president, opened the meeting in the usual manner and the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. A. Ogilvy.

Mrs. Springer and her girls' club gave the visitors. It was decided to make hats for the short course this year. Here are the notes were received from the Collier Family, Penny Leavens, E. Fralick, Mrs. Young, Rev. Truax, and Mrs. Spencer. A box trip was planned for the latter part of June to go to Upper Canada Village.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. N. Foster and Mrs. K. Wood, hostesses for the evening, who presented the following program: current events, Mrs. R. Wilson; poem of the month, Mrs. A. Lowrie.

The girls' club from Gilead Road displayed their "Separates for Summer," one of their projects for this year. Each girl had made shorts, skirt and blouse and had them all on display. They also described the ways of stay stitching, darts, facings, curved seams, inserting zippers and other arts in sewing, which they had learned.

The girls have just finished their project, "Meats in the Menu" and all enjoyed a potluck supper recently.

Six of these girls have won county honors and enjoyed the bus trip to Ottawa. Mrs. Springer was assisted by Mrs. Vader. Mrs. Tripp told of her trip to the convention in Guelph.

The meeting closed and refreshments were served by the hostesses and their group and a social time was enjoyed.

Achievement Day Held by 4-H Club

Under the supervision of the acting Home Economist, Mrs. Donald Campbell, home economist for North Simcoe, and Miss Flora Dardis, home economist for Grey County, the 4-H Homemaking Club Achievement Day for the project "Featuring Fruit," was held last Monday in the Madoc High School auditorium.

In the morning over 80 4-H Homemaking Club girls answered quizzes and prepared menus "Featuring Fruit," as well as viewing the film, "Hors d'oeuvre Plenty."

In the afternoon the girls were pleased to give several demonstrations and comment on their exhibits, to the leaders and visitors.

AWARDS

All of the girls, who completed their project, were presented with the club project spoon, and those who had completed six projects received their county honor pins, the recipients being Judy Jeffery, Tweed, and Betty Holland, Eldorado.

Provincial honor pins were presented to those girls who completed 12 4-H Homemaking Club projects. They were Sharon Hunt, Tweed; Mrs. Isabelle Martin, Tweed; Carol Blackburn, Eldorado; Shirley Franks, Eldorado; and Heather Chapman, Coe Hill.

The summer project, which will commence in late August, will be "Separates for Summer."

Religion and Morals

TWEED

By ROY L. SMITH

There is a widespread demand today that "the Church and State shall be separated, and that the preacher shall to the gospel" and "keep out of politics."

If we are careful to define our terms, it is probable that there would be widespread acceptance of these two principles. Certainly the separation of the Church and State does not mean that the State is to be immune from criticism at the hands of the Church. If we mean that the preachers are not to use their pulpits to advance the cause of partisan politics, there would probably be little debate. But politics, like any other activity of mankind, must expect to be judged by the consensus of an honest and alert church. The Church hesitates about criticizing foul politics, then it has abdicated its responsibility and cancelled its right to exist.

RELIGION AND MORALS

It is more than a little interesting to discover that the first man to call attention to the prophet Amos—became a prophet as a result of what he believed to be a call from God to protest against the injustices and immoralities of his own times. As a result of his scathing sermons at the shrine at Bethel he was bluntly told and driven from the city. Not the least significant feature of the whole story was the fact that it was the religious leader of the community who took the initiative in the affair.

Amos' offence lay in the fact that he was trying to link religion and justice. And this, likewise, was the charge that was brought against some of the early prophets. When Isaiah died, a martyr, he left behind him a society of followers known as the "school of the prophets" who were dedicated to the task of keeping his ideals. And immediately after the old giant's death the pendulum swung back to the slaughter of his followers. Again the politicians was revolting against the idea of wedding religion and morals.

The International Uniform Sunday School lesson for May 27: "Faith and Life." Matthew 6:14; Luke 15:11-32; 1 John 1:1 through 2:17.

In Jesus' day the Jerusalem Temple represented a system of religious worship. Its sacrifices and services were under the control of the priests, and the people had never hesitated to exploit the poor, and Jesus interfered with their methods when he cleansed the Temple, and drove out the grafters (referred to in the New Testament as "the money changers"). When the Galilean preacher and prophet began his ministry he was bidding defiance to the 3,000 priests of men who not only were in control of its economic destiny. And when he began to denounce the priests for their personal advantages, he ran afoul of the machine.

It is not to be wondered at that so when the forces of religion have been strictly true to their moral code, their religion is never so dangerous as when it is proved to be corrupt, and ceases to be a force that strikes across the lines of community morals.

WORLD FAITHS

The most severe test to which our morality is ever put occurs when we strike out against those who are jeopardizing our own economic welfare.

There was the preacher in a western state who protested that the people should be termed unpatriotic because they refused to buy the products of the factory which employed them. A preacher in Detroit was severely criticized because he refused to preach a sermon eulogizing the automobile industry. Another preacher was severely criticized because he refused to preach a sermon eulogizing the automobile industry. Another preacher was severely criticized because he refused to preach a sermon eulogizing the automobile industry.

Liberal Leader Hits Govt. Anew Over Jobless

By JAMES NELSON

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) Lester Pearson says the Liberal party's goal is never to have more than two per cent of the workforce out of work.

Touching again upon unemployment in his drive for votes in the May 25 federal election, the Liberal leader said here Thursday night that at present 500,000 Canadians, about seven per cent of the labor force, are seeking work.

Mr. Pearson spoke of the need for what he termed democratic planning to provide jobs before a audience of about 100 in the 875-seat theatre in this Northern Ontario gold-mining community.

He said half of Canada's unemployed have been out of work more than four months. "The present government says it is all right to call that a normal and tolerable situation."

Thursday night that at present 500,000 Canadians, about seven per cent of the labor force, are seeking work.

Mr. Pearson spoke of the need for what he termed democratic planning to provide jobs before a audience of about 100 in the 875-seat theatre in this Northern Ontario gold-mining community.

He said half of Canada's unemployed have been out of work more than four months. "The present government says it is all right to call that a normal and tolerable situation."

'STANDARDS LOW'

Mr. Pearson said the government pulls its faith in economic recovery, but the government's standards are not high enough.

"What it means for Canadian families is tragedy. A quarter of a million of the people without work are married men with families."

"The hopelessness and misery of widespread unemployment is a social evil we must prevent. We need not have predisposed unemployment, and need not have areas of chronic unemployment."

Mr. Pearson said planning is needed, but not the kind of regimentation which he claimed would result from socialism.

"I don't mean by planning that the government has to order people about, that it tries to substitute regulations for the ordinary operations at our business enterprises."

Ontario Liberal Leader John Robarts shared the platform for the meeting in support of the Liberal candidate in Timiskaming, Mrs. Ann Shipley, former member of Parliament for Haileybury reeve of Teck Township.

He said the people in the Timiskaming area particularly concerned about aid to education.

Mr. Pearson said that under a Liberal government, a federal-provincial plan might be worked out with the ultimate aim of providing free university education to everyone with the ability to absorb it.

MENTIONS SCHOLARSHIPS

He said the Liberal party's proposal for 10,000 federal scholarships would have an annual cost of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. "This is the cost of a destroyer which may be of no use if it is hunting for atomic submarines."

Mr. Pearson, in what some called a slip, following his campaign from the outset described as the best speech yet, also criticized Finance Minister Fleming's handling of the dollar dispute.

He criticized the finance minister for what he termed inconsistency in his policies governing the discount on the dollar.

A few weeks before pegging the exchange rate at 92.5 cents to the United States dollar, Mr. Fleming had told the Commons it could not be done, the Liberal leader said.

SAID AND

In Timmins, Mr. Pearson promised that a new Liberal government would provide a special incentive for new industries in such one-industry towns as that gold mining community.

He said it was necessary for cities depending largely on one type of employer to "broaden the base" for employment and make it easier for new industries to move in.

It was not possible for governments to order new industries to establish in any particular area—"that's not the form of government in which I believe" —but governments can make it possible for industries to establish themselves in particular areas or localities.

Mr. Pearson spoke to a crowd of about 150 in an Italian-Canadian club room here late in the afternoon after three hours of mainstreeting through Timmins and Kirkland Lake and schoolhouse in a five-and-a-half-hour tour, visiting communities where he voted in a high school popularity contest and visited the site of the Hollinger gold mine where he shook hands "with about 50 incredulous miners coming off shift.

There's Future In Farming Now Declares PM

By DAVE McINTOSH

REGINA (CP) — For the first time in 30 years, Prairie farmers see a future in farming, says Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

"The government has found the farm markets. Now it could kill the farmer; perhaps expand.

Mr. Diefenbaker made three major points Thursday in discussing agricultural policy at open-air meeting before about 1,000 persons at Saskatoon and an evening speech before more than 2,800 persons in the Regina armouries.

They were:

1. An indication that profit average payments will be placed on a permanent rather than emergency basis. The payments, made in three of the five years of Conservative rule, averaging about $43,000,000 each time.

2. Processing of new and distinctive Canadian farm products by export under the auspices of a Food Resources Research Institute.

3. Conservation of bilateral food disposal programs with Commonwealth countries, particularly in the West Indies.

OPPOSES NDP CHIEF

Mr. Diefenbaker was speaking here in the riding where C. C. Douglas, CCF-New Democratic Party leader, is trying to win a Commons seat from Conservative Ben Plum.

Mr. More said his campaign against Mr. Douglas is a "piece of cake" but that he is not discouraged and welcomes the challenge.

Mr. Diefenbaker criticized the Douglas administration in Saskatchewan, and the present CCF government in the province, but referred to them as relatively mild. It was pragmatically the kind of thing against the prime minister had been ordered to the New Democratic Party in the house.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he didn't want to see Saskatchewan fully of his own province but Saskatchewan under a socialist government had not advanced as the other provinces had under responsible private enterprise.

LACKS EXPERIENCE

"There had been too much experiment without experience. They have gone into business and then out of it.

Saskatchewan had been hurt by the 18-year rule of socialist government. It hadn't been the Liberal party that established co-operatives in Saskatchewan—for which Mr. Douglas had given no thanks—but the Conservatives. The present CCF administration could have done more.

Acceleration of sales of wheat and other farm products; longer term loans to more types of cooperatives; extension of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act; improvement of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act; a new feed grain and storage program with fair prices for Prairie producers and eastern and British Columbia consumers; enlargement of the Canada Grains Council.

Mr. Diefenbaker did not go into detail on any of these points.

The Maritimes Long Victims Of Promises - - Thompson

By DAVE PIRIE

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP)—Robert Thompson says that a revaluation of Canada's trade policies would be one of the greatest boons to the Atlantic provinces.

The Social Credit party leader claimed here Thursday night that the Atlantic provinces have long been the victims of promises by the old-line parties. He spoke to about 60 persons in the 150-seat Legion Hall.

Mr. Thompson warned that Canada will "lose its friendly markets unless trade barriers are lowered and said the devalued Canadian dollar will "drive us out of the markets of the world altogether."

"The Atlantic provinces don't have government policies that will permit you to grow," he said. Under a Social Credit government "the region could become one of the "emerging areas" of Canada.

OUTLINES PROPOSALS

Suggesting that the region not be "forever neglected but often "blatantly forgotten" by the federal government, Mr. Thompson outlined three proposals which would help the region.

A Social Credit government would set up a two-price system for farmers, fishermen and those in other basic industries, a municipal development bank and lowering of trade barriers with the United States.

The two-price system would be operated through a parity pool. The development bank would be operated as a branch of the Bank of Canada with public projects being financed through low paying, low interest rates.

Mr. Thompson urged construction of the proposed Chignecto Canal, "the easiest, and if not economically feasible, necessary to facilitate expansion of the Maritimes, he said.

NEEDS EXPANSION

"It wasn't a matter of building roads, harbors, bridges or causeways to be a public work to facilitate economic expansion.

"It's a strange thing that here in Nova Scotia you shut down the mines and then import coal from the United States to meet your needs."

Alberta on the other hand had perfected other uses for coal which had made provinces self-use economical.

Referring to government aid to western farmers, Mr. Thompson said "our governments have been very generous in the Maritimes and Quebec."

Devaluation of the Canadian dollar has resulted in a sense of insecurity among the Canadian people.

In the last six months it had cost more than $100,000,000 more for our dollar down.

He said the planned economy advocated by the CCF-New Democratic Party leader, means "nothing more or less than a controlled people?" Social Credit sought "a balanced economy.

Douglas Says Pegged Dollar Makes No Jobs

OSHAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, says the devalued dollar has cost Canada 100,000 jobs but has increased profits for companies producing raw materials.

The hope that devaluation would increase production and employment "has gone by the boards has turned out to be "just a Diefenbaker pipe dream," Mr. Douglas said a public meeting here Thursday night.

A ball that seats 900 was almost filled as he spoke in support of Allen Hall, NDP candidate for Ontario riding.

"What has actually happened is that the devaluation of the dollar has encouraged Canadian companies producing raw materials to jack up their prices," Mr. Douglas said.

"The result had been higher prices in the Canadian consumer.

Neither of the old line parties had been able to solve the unemployment problem, which was "the greatest evil.

Mr. Douglas said the problem can be solved by democratic planning.

"The New Democratic Party will put every able-bodied person who is willing to work on the job within 12 months."

He said the time has come for Canada to be governed by those who produce the country's wealth, not by those who own it.

Ask Conference To Condemn War Appeals

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United States and Soviet Union today asked the 17-power disarmament conference to condemn appeals for war and the settlement of disputes between states by the use of force.

The two big-powers presented a joint draft "declaration" against war propaganda" which they drew up as co-chairmen of the two-month-old conference.

The declaration also called for condemnation of statements to the effect that war is necessary or inevitable — statements which have sometimes been attributed to Chinese Communist leaders.

It said the "younger generation of today should be brought up in the spirit of peace, mutual respect and understanding among peoples."

The declaration was submitted by U.S. delegate Arthur Dean and Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin to the conference's "committee of the whole," which deals with preliminary disarmament measures aimed at reducing international tension and creating confidence.

Giving Students Balanced Education in Sciences and Humanities Real Problem

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

BOSTON (CP)—The necessity of giving students a balanced education in the sciences and humanities is one of the most difficult problems in the world today, says Dr. John Bartlet Macdonald, who becomes president of the University of British Columbia in July.

Wisdom will not come from education that is limited to one area or the other, says the 44-year-old director of the Forsyth Dental Infirmary and professor of microbiology in the Harvard School of Dental Medicine.

"Scientists need a background in humanities and those working in humanities need a background in science."

The Toronto - born scientist, speaking with quiet earnestness, told a reporter that man already has the scientific knowledge to solve many of the most acute problems, but still isn't able to solve them. Answers might be found in history, philosophy, the arts.

"In short, the greatest problem, I think, is man himself and while a good deal is to be learned about man by scientific methods, some of the most important attributes of man are to be learned from the humanities."

SUCCEEDS MACKENZIE

Appointed last November to succeed Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, who is retiring when heading UBC for 19 years, Macdonald has held his present position at Forsyth, famed postdoctoral institution in dentistry and Harvard since 1956.

A researcher whose work and writings are renowned in scientific circles, he showed in answer to questions that his educational interests range far beyond the field of dentistry.

Of the "population boom" in students, Macdonald said that not only is the number of Canadian students eligible for college increasing at a "great rate," but a larger percentage each year is seeking admission.

"The change is not only absolute but relative as well," he declared.

"Colleges should accept all those who can profit from higher education. One of the greatest problems is to select those who can profit and to direct those who cannot profit into other channels.

"Today, in elementary and secondary schools, we are able to identify the gifted students and the retarded. But we don't sort out the middle group as well."

'EXPERTS' WRONG

Macdonald spoke of vast changes in education during the last 100 years and the growth of universal primary education.

A development that "so - called" experts of the past predicted would result in the "educational, economic and political downfall of the country."

"I don't think we know what the potential of our people is."

Colleges must not be put in the position of seeking handouts for their needs, but governments, communities, industrial firms, alumni and the public must understand the key role that higher education plays.

The bespectacled scientist, who before coming to Boston was chairman of the division of dental research and professor of bacteriology in the faculty of dentistry, University of Toronto, seemed mildly amused when it was suggested he will be a young university president.

"How old am I?" he asked himself. "Forty-four. Oh well, throughout our whole society there's a trend toward appointing younger men to positions of responsibility."

His black hair turning to distinguished grey at the temples, Macdonald presides over affairs at the marble Forsyth Building with an academic calm that marks a skilled administrator.

I play the piano for relaxation—you might call it music for the concert—he said the non-smoking Unitarian.

THREE CHILDREN

Macdonald pointed with pride to a painting over his desk, a work by his son Scott, 9, in a room otherwise adorned in the jacks of Bostonian elegance.

"I like it—no idea what Scott will be," he smiled, after confiding that his daughter, Jean, 11, is talent for languages and will attend the "northwest" university — not UBC—next term. His other son, Grant, 14, is "definitely artistic." His wife, the former Beatrice Darroch, born in Carnduff, Sask., was raised in Toronto.

Much travelled in Europe, Macdonald turned down — because of the Vancouver climate, he thinks — the Commission appointment that would have taken him to South America. He plans to arrive at UBC July 22 after addressing the Royal College of Surgeons in London July 20, following lectures in Germany.

Among Macdonald's some 60 writings is a volume published by UBC in 1956. The work, which received world-wide circulation and has gone through three printings, outlines principles for disease prevention through thorough, equality education in the biological sciences, with great emphasis on that field than in technology associated with dentistry.

Macdonald said his most important contributions to science, like Hermes are in microbiology, relating to micro-organisms indigenous to man.

BEMUSED?

He devoted much of the interview to a discussion of the humanities and science after disavowing a statement recently attributed to him that although a scientist — he regarded arts as "the heart" of such university.

"I do feel the humanities are vitally very great importance," he said, and referred to the controversial writings of Sir Charles Percy Snow, British scientist-novelist.

C. P. Snow's views on "two cultures" had brought to the "fore again in a somewhat new form the urgent concern over whole problem of humanities versus the sciences.

"There is some misinterpretation of Snow's views. To suggest that he is promoting the sciences at the expense of the humanities—I don't think that is his argument at all.

"His argument—and I agree with it—is that they both are needed but that there is also a great urgency for each group to be comfortable in the fields covered by the opposite group, the so-called opposing culture.

"We need in higher education today to give students a broad background, and as we do this we must give them a special ized knowledge of their vocations. It's difficult, probably one of the most difficult problems that modern man is faced.

CAN'T LEARN IT ALL

"A scientist cannot be familiar with the world of 'science' —he can only know pieces of it. Yet he must be educated in such a way that he has a familiarity with the real major areas." And humanities must also be learned.

"I think the problem as between humanities and science is to make wise judgments in distinguishing between what is essential and what is peripheral. The principal reason why I feel that both are so important is that they contribute such different facets to a person's knowledge. Either one of these facets is going to result in an individual who is not going to be in a position to make wise judgments about the really acute problems facing modern man.

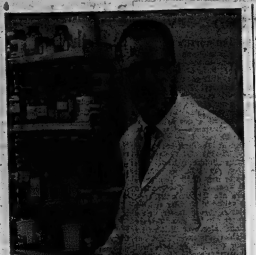
"To know something about the frontiers of science is simply not enough. We have the scientific knowledge to solve many current problems, but we're not solving them in spite of this.

"The other side of the coin is what is to be learned from the humanities—history, philosophy, religion, the arts. It's in these areas, I think, that we can learn from man's struggle, his aspirations, his insights—man both individually and collectively—as he has tried to move toward greater maturity."

Macdonald said his own education was first almost entirely in the humanities and later in the health sciences and —"like most of us"—he feels deficient in both.

SHOWS INADEQUACY

"The whole process of education is to make us aware of the inadequacy of the individual where knowledge is concerned."



An honor graduate in dental surgery from the University of Toronto in 1942, Macdonald received his master of science degree from the University of Illinois in 1948 and PHD in bacteriology from Columbia University in New York in 1952. He received an honorary degree from Harvard in 1956.

Among numerous services, he was a captain with the Canadian Dental corps in 1944-46 in Halifax, Debert and Aldershot, N.S., barred from overseas duty by defective eyesight.

His leadership in dental research was responsible in 1952 for the organization of a division in that field at the University of Toronto. He has served as chairman of the Canadian Dental Research Council's committee on dentistry and in 1957 was chairman of the joint committee of the Canadian Medical Association and the Canadian Dental Association with regard to fluoridation.

As one of the world's leading dentists—he last practised in Toronto in 1943-44—does he ever pull teeth?

"I'm not even licensed now and I don't feel qualified," Macdonald said with a smile. "There have been so many technical developments."

Canadians Need Stiff Dose of Common Truth

WINNIPEG (CP) — What Canadians need most now is a "stiff dose of common honesty," Dr. Arthur Lower said Thursday.

Dr. Lower, emeritus professor of history at Queen's University and president of the Royal Society of Canada, said at the convocation of the University of Manitoba, there never was a greater need for virtue. "One can hardly pick up a paper without finding some allegation of public dishonesty, large or small. Elected persons, so the reports go, take advantage of their positions to make advantageous little deals.

"Municipal officials are found to be lax and dishonest. Police officers are accused of connivance with criminals and some are found to be guilty."

Dr. Lower, who received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, told graduates "perhaps the largest accomplishment for many of you in your lifetime will be your ability to say: 'Well, at least I didn't steal anything.'"

Roses Are Widely Used in Landscaping

The rose is perhaps the most loved of all flowers. Its history dates back to biblical times and the name itself is almost identical in the languages of civilization. Since the days of Babylon the rose has been the inspiration for painting, literature, perfume and even the politics of the world. It commands the respect of most people in all hemispheres, and very few would not recognize it. Today rose plants are grown by millions of home gardeners, and the rose has been duplicated throughout the home, on china, wallpaper, and in linens and other fabrics. The newer roses are the best the world has ever seen, with more and better flowers, better foliage, everbearing qualities and stronger plants.

In the United States alone there are about 5700 different species and varieties, each one available with a name. About 1400 roses have been identified to honour famous women, and the wives and daughters of rose growers, and approximately 400 roses were named for men which include presidents, war heroes, and even rose growers.

Increasing amounts of roses are being used in the American landscape, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, which reports that the trend is due both to the long-time popularity of the rose as a flower plus new types of rose plants that fulfill more landscaping requirements. The classes of roses dominantly found in American gardens are the hybrid teas, the grandifloras, floribunda, climbing roses, polyanta, the tree rose and miniatures.

The grandiflora is a comparatively new rose plant, and the name is indicative of its vigorous growth and wealth of blooms. It is a large plant, having wide petals. It grows fairly tall and is widely used in landscaping.

The hybrid tea rose probably offers the most perfectly formed flowers. Delicate coloring and a phenomenal individual blooms of high quality for indoor gardens are its chief merits. It is the most widely grown rose in formal rose gardens.

Floribunda roses offer many flowers on each plant, sometimes a hundred or more and they bloom recurrently as they grow. With a few exceptions, they generally grow under two feet in height.

Climbing roses grow vigorously against any support, such as a fence, a trellis, a wall or similar surface.

Polyantha roses are also known as baby ramblers. They originated from the crossing of the tea rose with baby climbing roses. The resulting plants were dwarf in habit, bearing large clusters of small flowers, blooming profusively. They are especially valuable for massing in beds and borders and for edging of larger roses.

Tree roses are budded near the top of a tall understock, instead of the bud being inserted close to the ground. The plant that develops from the bud is therefore on a "trunk," branching out at a height of about four to five feet. When in bloom this plant has the effect of a bouquet of roses; tree roses are more popular in warmer areas of the country, though their use is spreading rapidly to other areas. They are grown in a variety of colors.

Miniature roses are the smallest forms of roses and are hybrids between other plants and varieties. These plants are seldom more than six to nine inches tall. They are widely used as low garden or patio borders.

Housing Hints

Q. Why do many people choose to build a home rather than buy a ready-built one?

A. There are several reasons why a prospective homeowner might choose to build. He might, for example, have difficulty in finding a ready-built house that fits his needs and tastes. Perhaps there are some special features he would like to have incorporated in his new home and by building he can have the house tailored exactly to his needs. In addition, the location of available houses for sale might not be satisfactory for his family or he may already own a choice lot in a desirable neighborhood. All of these are valid reasons for building rather than buying a house.

A. Yes. The prospective home owner knows what he wants and in most cases won't get a lot for anything less. The man buying a home today is more discriminating and one of the reasons, of course, is that people are becoming better informed on their subject and consequently are more home conscious. Today's large subdivisions are another factor. A potential homeowner has a chance to compare housing in a way that was not possible a few years ago.

A. No. Your down payment may be a combination of cash, land and labour. For example, if the prospective homeowner already owns a lot on which the house is to be built, the value of the lot can represent part of the necessary equity. The borrower will also be given credit for any work he plans to do on the house. In this case, the value of his labour is determined by CMHC and would depend on the amount of work he intends doing and his skill in the various housebuilding trades.

Q. Is it possible to make additional payments against the principal of an NHA mortgage?

A. Yes it is. The mortgage covering the NHA loan gives the borrower the right to pay the full balance owing on the loan or any part of it after regular monthly payments have been made for three years. In addition, payments equal to 10% of the original loan amount can be made against the principal on the 12th and 24th instalment dates. The lender may request a three month interest bonus on all such amounts paid against principal. However, he can waive this payment of bonus and accept additional pre-payments above those provided for in the mortgage, if he wishes.

BUILD YOUR OWN SOIL

Just because the soil around your house is heavy clay or just the opposite is no excuse for not having a garden. No matter how hard or loose it may be, with a bit of handling any soil can be made to produce flowers or vegetables and in time it will build up like the finest market garden land. The "remedy" is fairly stiff clay and loose sand is much the same. The main thing is to get lots of humus worked in.

Humus is an old gardener's term for vegetable matter. Stuff like grass clippings, manure, leaves, straw, chaff, waste garbage or anything that will decompose when worked with soil. Dug into clay this will separate the fine particles, open up the soil and, in time, let crumbly rather than bake, let in air and moisture. To hasten the job it is an excellent idea to sow part of the garden with oats; fall rye, peas, buckwheat or any quick growing crop and when this is a foot or so high, dig or have it plowed under. For loose, sandy soil the remedy is the same. By digging in vegetable material we build up the humus, and make the soil more retentive of moisture and air. In extreme cases and where the plot is small one can dig sand into heavy clay and peat moss into either clay or sand. Deep soil cultivation alone will help loosen up poor soil and make it more workable and suitable for plants. After a few years of cultivation and care, it is amazing how it will be improved.

FRAGRANCE

Near the house, and especially around porches, living rooms and bedroom windows is the ideal place for a few of those flowers which are especially noted for their beautiful fragrance. In such positions we can enjoy them even in the dark. In many seed catalogues such flowers are specially listed. Stocks are in this category and so are verbena, Sweet William, nicotine, most of the lilies, peonies and a score or more of others. Some of them may not be especially beautiful as flowers but they are well worth growing for their scent alone.

Put Laundry In Bathroom

Hey, look! Somebody got around to being logical about the placement of utilities.

Most are be hampered by tradition? Bedroom linens, bathroom linens, and the clothes that are changed in that area of the house make up the great bulk of the laundry, with the kitchen contributing a small large, much less. So why not have the facilities in a hall near the bedrooms, or in the bathroom itself?

Never again will you walk that long, long trail from the bedroom through the hall through the kitchen and down the stairs to the washing machine, toting the while an increasing accumulation of dowdy duds.

All you do is pop out of the bedroom door, slide back the bamboo, and push a button. A finger-fetching figure of fluttery-less femininity, that's you.

If you have one of those cavernous old bathrooms, why not cut its size and modernize it at the same time with that handsome plumbed vanity with the fold-back doors? Use a cheerful color in easy-to-clean enamel.

The exact size and shape of a cabinet for your home is the sort of thing you can find on a standard plan, so visit your local lumber dealer and he'll work it out for you in jig time.

When the job is done, it will be a treat to have the machines safely tucked out of sight. To make a clean — out of sight, out of mind — and that's where that job should be as often as possible. Because, it follows as the night the day that after the washing comes the ironing. Follow?

Proper Lighting Extends Hours of Outdoor Living

Outdoor lighting not only provides safety along paths, walks and steps and adds dramatic beauty to the home exterior at night, but also extends the living area of be home beyond the walls by making outdoor recreation and patio living possible after dark.

1. Safety lighting should be extended wherever there are walks, paths or steps throughout the property. This can be done with shielded floodlights or mushroom-type reflectors.

2. For lighting the home exterior, spotlights or floodlights may be mounted under the eaves or beneath a low-hanging roof.

3. Wall bracket fixtures used for entrance lighting are appropriate for lighting patios or terraces.

4. For lighting game, barbecue or picnic areas, use two or more flood-lamps aimed from different directions. The trick is to achieve the desired lighting effect without making the lamps or reflectors or shielding you constantly trip over.

5. Coloured lamps disguised as lily pads or cattails are still popular for ornamental pools.

6. Mushroom-type reflectors mounted on poles or available on spikes for portability are excellent for highlighting flower beds.

Wide Variety of Flooring Materials Now Available

The home-owner who is considering the new flooring tiles for one or more rooms in his house, will find a bewildering variety of types of material available.

Each type has its own special properties, and, each was designed to meet specific needs. In order to pick the best type for a specific place and purpose, it is well to know of the different kinds and their principal features.

Vinyl (tile or sheet) is tough and non-porous, and highly resistant to wear. It comes in clear colors and special effects. The more vinyl content, the higher the price.

Vinyl asbestos makes a good all-around, low-cost floor. It is available in a wide variety of colors and designs. It resists stains and wears well.

Linoleum (tile or sheet) subdivides as follows: (1) Inlaid linoleum, which is durable, long-wearing and easy to clean and (2) embossed linoleum, which has texture interest, often resembling masonry.

Cork tile makes an unusually quiet flooring and affords a cushiony comfort under foot. While natural cork will not take the abuse of kitchen traffic, water damage, etc., cork with vinyl or urethane surfacing is highly resistant to wear, stains and staining.

Asphalt tile is found in most of the tile group and is especially popular for use in finished basements and recreation rooms. It is, however, susceptible to dents and stains. Some types, though, are grease-resistant, and polymer-resin asphalt is also longer-wearing than other asphalts.

Rubber tile makes a cushiony, comfortable flooring and is exceptionally quiet. It comes in clear colors. A point to consider is that it requires occasional wax care to maintain appearance.

Printed floor coverings are available in a wide variety of patterns and colors. They are probably the most inexpensive of all floor coverings and need no installation, as they are simply rolled like a rug. The vinyl-surfaced types will give the best wear.

Terrazzo, Flagstone, Marble, Ceramic are good looking masonry materials and make hard, durable floors. "Sealing" makes terrazzo and flagstone easier to clean. The new marble and ceramic tiles need no special protection.

Most of the resilient floor tiles are made in more than one gauge (thickness). Naturally, the thinner gauges cost less and are usually adequate for most home installations. However, if there are slight irregularities in the old floor surface, these may show through. Also if exceptionally heavy traffic is expected, the heavier gauge material should be used.

All-Out Health Service Program Under Full Govt. Control Requested by CLC

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress called today for an all-out health service program in Canada under full government control.

It told the royal commission on health services that a "fundamental revision" is needed in the country's system of health care and merely "tinkering with the status quo" is not good enough.

Voluntary prepayment plans, the 1,000,000-member trade union organization declared flatly, are incapable of making insurance coverage available to all satisfactorily.

Together with their families, workers represented by the labor organization constitute about one-quarter of the Canadian Labor Congress called to worded brief declared that Canadians adequately protected in terms of their health needs.

"Many people do not get and health care at all. Others do not get enough. In some instances health care cannot be obtained because of the inability to pay for it. In others, it is unavailable because of the lack of resources, both of personnel and facilities.

"Where health care is available it is often fragmented and uncoordinated. There is a growing disparity between the volume of knowledge that is available and the ability of the practitioners . . . to make effective use of it."

The proposed medicare is no substitute for a well-organized program of high-quality health care, said the CLC.

This apparently was in reply to medical profession and business leaders who have told the commission that the way to tackle the health care problem is for government to subsidize existing voluntary plans so low-income groups can be covered.

The CLC readily concedes that prepayment plans based on a pooling of the risk have made a significant contribution toward making health care more readily available but they have obviously failed to make it universally available and they are not . . . capable of doing so satisfactorily."

Health care should be regarded as a public service, said the CLC. "It is the health of the people that is of paramount concern and which attention must be focused, Unless and until this is done . . . Canadians will continue to receive less health care than they need."

Salan Escape From Death Another Slap at de Gaulle

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Raoul Salan's escape from the firing squad is yet another slap at President de Gaulle on the eve of the fourth anniversary of his return to power in France.

In some ways, the action of a nine-member tribunal in sentencing ex-Gen. Salan to life imprisonment—rather than death, as had been expected—may be more hurtful to de Gaulle's policies than previous setbacks.

It was on June 1, 1958, that de Gaulle resumed the leadership of a country on the verge of civil war as a result of the Algerian fighting and a succession of weak governments in Paris.

"I am a man who belongs to nobody and who belongs to everybody," said the man who had led Frenchmen in the Second World War.

De Gaulle's thoughts and strategy, it soon became clear, belonged to de Gaulle alone and the process by which Algeria won peace terms on the basis of eventual independence became known only as it unfolded.

"I believe it would be completely useless to petrify in advance in words something which, on the contrary, will evolve," said de Gaulle in October 1958.

On May 23, 1962, Salan's defence scored with the argument that the former commander-in-chief of French forces in Algeria received five votes in the oath to keep Algeria French and it was government policy—not Salan—that changed.

The defence read a letter written by de Gaulle to Salan while the latter was still commander in Algeria. In it, de Gaulle expressed the intention that Algeria would remain French.

Salan, the defence—declared, had helped bring de Gaulle back to power on a platform of continued French rule in Algeria. Then he was betrayed by the commander even while serving him that a reversal of policy was unchanged.

The Paris tribunal's verdict against Salan received a chilly reception for what many in the Western world regarded as lesser crimes than the one for which he received a death sentence.

Salan had been condemned by acclamation to the firing squad for his part in the abortive military coup in Algiers April 22, 1961, but under French law he had to be tried again after surrender. In the new trial he faced additional charges as leader of the Secret Army Organization and blamed for numerous atrocities against Moslems.

Observers asserted the Secret Army would take courage for further action from the tribunal's verdict and that this, in turn, would influence Moslem leaders who have already threatened massive retaliation against European civilians in Algeria.

These considerations faced de Gaulle—rifts in the internal and national fields he was in the midst of controversy over European integration, Franco-German weapons and the British bid.

His policy for a veto - free, loose confederation of European states—and for a transatlantic partnership sacrificing some sovereignty—received five rebuffs in letters of the minority Mouvement Republicain Populaire in the week just ended. Four independent party ministers later turned down a request by party deputies that they resign.

Launch Court Action to Evict PC Candidate

OTTAWA (CP)—The justice department has launched court action to evict Leo Rock, Conservative candidate in Russell constituency, from land owned by the National Capital Commission.

Documents filed in the Exchequer Court of Canada say that with agreement of the federal agency, Mr. Rock moved onto the land to develop a 100-lot cottage-lake subdivision but the lease question left to subsequent negotiation.

However, no lease agreement could be reached and the commission wants Mr. Rock evicted and off the land. But Mr. Kelly, having spent about $20,000 to date, is now the owner and build a clubhouse, refused.

Mr. Kelly, 35, is in partnership with his father in a hotel in Eastview, on the other side of Rideau River. The NCC land is in the same general area, adjacent to the Queensway.

REPORT EXPLOSION

BERLIN (Reuters) — West Berlin police today reported an explosion and rising smoke-possibly from a bomb—inside East Berlin close to the West Berlin border Thursday night.

Derek Lawday, a Belleville man normally employed by Canadian Pittsburgh Industries Ltd., has been loaned to Russ Leppard Studios, London, Ont., to their work on St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church. Mr. Lawday worked with stained glass in England before coming to Canada five years ago. He's shown cutting protective glass for part of the rosette window, working at the top of the scaffolding in front of the church.

Skilled Workers Repairing St. Michael's Stained Glass

St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church here is having its stained glass windows rebuilt. Causes of the damage is uncertain, but most of them are badly broken. Of 48 pieces in the large rosette in the front, for instance, only one is intact.

Some people suggest the damage was done by an earthquake in 1937. Others say the damage results from the steeple being struck by lightning within the past two years. Either way, there has been no proper stained glass replacements since the windows were first installed more than 80 years ago. The repairmen even found one square patch on a round hole.

Russ Leppard Studios of London, Ontario, are doing the job. They have Fred Beacon, a stained glass man of 35 years experience, cutting and fitting with several men assembling and installing.

LOCAL MAN HELPS

One of the men installing the finished work is Derek Lawday, of R.R. 4, Belleville. He's a supervisor for Canadian Pittsburg Industries Ltd., in Belleville, loaned to Russ Leppard Studios to make up their short age of manpower. Mr Lawday worked with stained glass for about 11 years in England before coming to Canada 5 years ago.

The team started work on St. Michael's May 14 and expect the whole job to take about a month. When the men are finished here, they have another job in Odessa, and they're expecting to be called back to Belleville for work on two other churches later.

The work is interesting, precise and slow. In the rosette windows, for instance, there are two piece pieces identical, even though the pattern appears symmetrical. Part of this is due to setting of the building, and discretion, possibly during the earthquake. Another important factor, though, is the difficulty of precise work in the stone frame of the windows.

USE OLD GLASS AGAIN

But even though the windows are a whole lyre badly broken, little of the stained glass itself will be replaced. It's too hard to match the pattern and colour. The original glass was stained and cut in Munich, Germany, where the glass itself is broken. Mr. Beacon finds he can repair it with lead without spoiling the pattern.

All the outside protective glass is being replaced though, whether it is broken or not. The original ribbed glass which catches the light from any angle, and brings a bright glow to the church, was moved from the inside. It's nearly impossible to keep clean though, and dirty, it blots out the pattern completely. The replacement is a clear glass.

Stained glass work is a dying art in the western world, Mr. Beacon estimates there are only about 40 qualified workers in the art in Canada. He says there's work for at least twice this many, but the five-year apprenticeship required for even mediocre workers scares away prospective workers. Mr. Beacon himself began his apprenticeship nearly forty years ago in Montreal. And he says he's still learning.

Soviet Embassy Admits Russia Short of Houses

OTTAWA (CP) — The Soviet embassy here issued a statistical document Thursday to support claims that the Russian economy is developing ahead of schedule.

A housing shortage that will take 10 years to overcome is the only "sour note sounded in a 4,300 - word document, described as a review of a statistical booklet being turned out in Moscow.

It says that the U.S.S.R. now is first in production of tractors, diesel and electric locomotives, coal, iron ore, coke, sawn timber, prefabricated house, woollen fabrics and butter as well as wheat.

Russian annual output last year is listed at 70,700,000 tons with a 1962 target of 77,000,000. This is compared with higher U.S. production of 90,500,000 tons—but with a note that American output has been dropping 1,500,000 tons a year since 1952.

The review says that by 1970 Russia will be ahead of the United States not only in steel production but also in electric power, oil, mineral fertilizers, crayon and synthetic fibre, textiles and footwear.

Nine Buried In Tons of Clay and Sand

BAIE COMEAU, Que. (CP)—Nine Gaspe woodsmen engaged in the spring logging drive north of the St. Lawrence were entrapped and killed Wednesday in a massive avalanche along the Toulnoustouc River.

Rescue workers were driving logs 32 miles north of the Quebec North Shore Paper Company mill here when a section of the bank 100 feet long and 40 feet high slid into the river.

The river bed and nine of the men were buried in tons of clay and sand. Only one body has been found.

The other eight men somehow were thrown on top of the moving earth, escaping injury. Instead, here still in a state of shock.

Company spokesman said the tragedy might have been a result of dynamite explosions. The men were moving logs on a pulpwood stacked along the bank into the river.

LOOSEN LOGS

Sometimes a stick or two of dynamite is used to loosen frozen logs.

That's the only thing I could think of that might have started it," a woods divisions spokesman said.

He added that such slides are common in this area, 225 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The slide started about 1,000 feet back from the river bank.

"It moved quickly," said information officer Yves Giroux of the Quebec North Shore Company. "The men found themselves buried in the mud. It happened suddenly."

Dead are Joseph Gallant, 43, of Matapedia; Joseph Blanchet, 60, Lavville; Marius Levesque, 30, Ernest Levesque, 30, and Conrad Levesque, 32, all of St. Donat; Jean-Paul Vachon, 32, and Adhemar Vachon, 43, both of Bernimic; Alcide Lavoie, 52, of Dosti; and Arcadius Lavoie, 52, of Hauterive, the foreman. The Lavoies were brothers.

Six Tabernacle Troop Boy Scouts Win 'Religion and Life' Awards

The 6th Belleville Tabernacle Boy Scout Troop has become the first group of a record in the number of its members having earned the Religion and Life award.

Six of the Troop members, five from Tabernacle Church, and one from Christ Church, have earned the award presented recently by Tabernacle Church Minister Rev. Morgan McFarlane.

The Religion and Life Scouting award is unusual in that each church sets its own standard. The six members of the Tabernacle Troop had been working for their award since last September. Among the requirements were learning the Beatitudes, 75 per cent church attendance and the practice of prayer in daily life. The award must be won three years for permanent possession.

Board Told Charities Should Reveal Financial Affairs

TORONTO (CP) — The royal commission on health services was told Thursday that all national charities should submit financial statements to the federal government to guard against "fly-by-night" organizations.

The Canadian Council of Crippled Children and Adults, representing 14 provincial charities, proposed that an annual financial report should detail to the secretary of state, gross returns, budget allocations and cost of raising the funds.

Dr. K. S. Armstrong of Toronto, national executive director of the council said the reports would be made public and would provide "the confidence that the donor wants."

If all national organizations concerned with health and welfare have financial statements, he said, they would "prevent a lot of fly-by-night organizations unfaithfully turning to the public for support."

Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall, commission chairman, commented that the multiplicity of funds-raising appeals by voluntary agencies was a major source of problems.

The growth of new fund-raising drives was "mending" he said, and steps should be taken to prevent "further fragmentation."

PROTEST SHORTAGE

Another brief presented to the commission Thursday complained about an "almost disastrous shortage" of rehabilitation specialists.

The Canadian Association of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation said there are fewer than 50 qualified specialists in the field.

Nearly 1,250,000 Canadians are permanently handicapped, the brief said, and only four specialist training courses completed their exams last year.

The Canadian Conference on Physiotherapy joined in the plea for more hands in rehabilitation of disabled persons. The Conference said that half of the sick and injured in Canada who need physiotherapy are unable to obtain it.

Hearts Caught In Throats Across U.S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. Hearts were caught in throats in the United States for about 35 agonizing minutes Thursday. Then the word came that Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter was safe.

The lag in the short history of U.S.-space ventures has surpassed those 35 minutes when the 37 - year - old navy officer was missing at sea, those minutes when millions wondered whether he had come back from space dead or alive.

Until 1:30 p.m. EDT, Carpenter's three-orbit flight along the path blazed by John Glenn last Feb. 20 was largely routine.

Then the retro-rockets were fired to bring him out of orbit.

As the searing heat of re-entry built up around his craft, all radio communication with Mercury Control ceased here at Cape Canaveral. There was lost. We expected this, it is no cause for worry.

But five minutes later, Lt.-Col. John Glenn, the Mercury spokesman, said Aurora 7 had reported the area where it was supposed to land—by more than 250 miles it turned out. Dead reckoning navigation had no word from Carpenter's capsule since the moment of re-entry.

Had Carpenter survived?

Then long minutes, all Mercury Control had was an estimated location where Aurora 7 had splashed into the ocean — perhaps 150 miles northeast of Puerto Rico — and that ships and planes were hurrying toward the scene.

Then came a blot of hope. A P-2V Neptune bomber had picked up a radio beacon from a homing device. Aurora 7 had a homing device.

The moments lengthened.

"A Navy P-2V Neptune has reported sighting the spacecraft floating in the landing area. Alongside it was a life raft, and sitting in it was a gentleman named Carpenter."

People breathed again.

Mother of Five Convicted on Five Charges

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—The mother of five children who were burned to death in a fire Jan. 8 was found guilty Thursday of five charges in connection with their deaths.

Mrs. Virginia Mary Bowie was remanded until May 31 for sentencing after being convicted on each of five counts of unlawfully exposing a child under 10 years of age whereby his life was endangered.

Mrs. Bowie uses the name of Sheila Bowie, with whom she was living. They were visiting friends when flames exploded through the one-storey frame structure at the Bella commercial area of Barriere, 46 miles north of here.

Dead were Robert, 5, Gilbert, 4, John, 3, Stanley, 18 months, and Harvey, five months.

Mrs. Bowie was originally charged with assaulting the children but the Crown changed the charges.

At the time of the blaze, neighbors said they saw the flames, but made no recue attempt because they didn't think anyone was inside the home.

Barriere, a community of 500 persons, has no firefighting equipment.

Mrs. Bowie is expecting another child.

To Join American Show

Don Jackson Turns Pro

LONDON (AP)—World champion figure skater Donald Jackson of Oshawa told reporters at London Airport Thursday he will soon turn professional.

"I will make some for an American show," he said.

Jackson, 22, had appeared on TV with Canada's other world champions, brother and sister Otto and Marie Jelinek of Bronte, Ont., who flew back with him.

Jackson, Canadian and North American champion and a three time bronze in world competition the last few years, reached the top at Prague last March when he became the first Canadian to win the men's world title.

In the first flush of victory he dodged questions concerning his amateur skating future, but several professional ice shows had expressed interest in the young Canadian, "I'd like to stay on until the next Olympics in 1964," Jackson said shortly after his Prague victory.

PERFORMED A FIRST

Always weak in the compulsory figures but ranked with the world's best in free skating, he became No. 1 in the world with an unprecedented series of triple jumps, the first in the history of competitive skating.

One veteran skating official said "there has never been anyone like it."

A few weeks ago the Jelineks announced that their competitive skating was finished.

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Bill Harvey, leading driver at Western Fair Raceway's spring meet, won three races Thursday night to increase his number of wins to 12.

The 12-year-old racer from Norwich won with Josedale on Review in the third, Sister Harmony C in the sixth and Helen K. Lee in the seventh, the featured C-1 Trot. He almost won with May Trust in the eighth but was nosed out by Strawlins Lee.

In the seventh, Harvey, kept Helen K. Lee, a six-year-old mare owned by Andrew Bell of Norwich, in second place shortly after the start. He dropped back into third position as Island Song took the lead away from Amber Lad.

MOSCOW (AP) — Gerhard Hetz of West Germany bettered the world swimming record in the 400-metre individual medley Thursday with a time of 4 minutes 35.3 seconds. The latest record—4:55.6—was held by Ted Stickler of San Mateo, Calif.

Catholic Bowling Results

KINGSTON — A total of 492 bowlers, making up 32 entries, competed in the Eighth Annual Kingston Archdiocesan Catholic Bowling Tournament, which came to an end last Thursday evening, May 17th, at the Plaza Bowling Lanes, after four nights of bowling. Owing to the large entry (an increase of 76 bowlers over the 16 teams of last year), the tournament, which was scheduled to end on Wednesday, May 16th, had to be extended to Thursday, May 17th.

Marcyville, Pilkthur, Bath and Westport entered teams in the tournament for the first time. Other parishes represented were Stirnvers, Tweed, Belleville, Brockville, Sprucevilla, Allenford Road, Gananoque, Smiths Falls, Cross Acres and Kingston Mills. Kingston City was represented by St. Joseph's, St. John's, CYO, Christ the King and the Knights of Columbus.

Top pinage of the tournament went to the Vikings of St. Joseph's with 4751, and they received the Bishop Macdonald Trophy, with individual trophies donated and presented by H. R. Mahoney, Q.C., and J. Walsh. They received the second cash prize. This team comprised Mark Wilard, Robert Hines (captain), Marty May, Paul Vittorio, Ila Patry and Bill Gerrow.

Out-of-town teams took the next three places, Trenton with St. Francis No. 5, Brockville finishing third with 4637. They received the Bishop Macdonald Trophy and third cash award. Members of this team were Mary Mc Cann, Gus Casella (captain), Gail Petrimoucx, John Petrimoucx, Terry Garvey and Colleen Doyle.

Next on the prize list was the Belleville CYO, fourth place with 4607, taking fourth place money. The team consisted of Ron Lamb, Fred Deveau, Helen Whalen, Burt Whalen, James Whalen and Miss Whalen.

Schilberg was back in his old home town for a rare visit to another with Jerry Wald on the Ebony Webbe. He talked a bit about the movies and about the changes that time has wrought here.

"Nothing is the same," he reflected. "I lived here in the era before the big studio was all-powerful. Now the studios have lost their power, and the big independents seem to run the town.

"He's rather sad for me to see the changes. We had the second best golf club in all Malibu! I remember fishing off the rickety pier. Now there are houses all over it. And the road is a hillside, and the pier is huge, with a cafe on the end of it."

But Schulberg loses no time lamenting over the past. He is too concerned with the script for The Enemy Within, based on Robert F. Kennedy's best-seller about labor - management corruption.

"I am into my second year on this project," he said. "It is the most exhaustive work I have ever undertaken. I have made four trips to Washington to talk to Kennedy and other government officials. I have read 20,000 pages of FBI reports and read millions of words of testimony. And the end is not in view."

Schulberg said he wrote more than 600 pages for the screen treatment — "just short of a novel." His script runs almost double what a script is supposed to run. And as best as he can, additions are suggested.

Budd Schulberg Notices Many Changes in Town

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I feel sort of like Rip Van Winkle," said Budd Schulberg. "It certainly isn't the same Hollywood that I knew."

Schulberg knew Hollywood intimately. He came here in 1939 and lived through the golden days when his father, D. P. Schulberg, was one of the town's big powers. Budd left the town in 1950 with memories.

His disillusion with Hollywood resulted in What Makes Sammy Run, still the best and most successful novel about the movie business.

Schulberg was back in his old home town for a rare visit to another with Jerry Wald on the Ebony Webbe. He talked a bit about the movies and about the changes that time has wrought here.

"Nothing is the same," he reflected. "I lived here in the era before the big studio was all-powerful. Now the studios have lost their power, and the big independents seem to run the town.

Network TV and Radio Did Excellent Job on Flight

By CYNTHIA LOWE Y

NEW YORK (AP)—At the point Thursday afternoon when astronaut Malcolm (Scott Carpenter had disappeared somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean, NBC radio reporter Merrill Mueller paused, drew a long breath, and remarked with incredible emotion:

"I don't know about you, but what can we say now? We're just waiting—for any kind of word."

Of course we were all just waiting for word on the fate of the astronaut. It finally came after those harrowing 41 minutes.

Once again, network television and radio did a magnificent job in keeping viewers informed on the astronaut's progress around the world, high and cool of the ocean.

When there was worry about Carpenter's fuel supply, the situation was expertly explained. When first word came about the electronic beacon being noted by a rescue aircraft, Mueller quickly reassured the audience:

Receipt of the signal indicated the capsule was floating and intact, he said.

It was a good example of the thorough preparation NBC reporters had made for their jobs.

The flight, which built up to an almost unbearable climax, certainly started out on a calm, almost routine note. The launching of the rocket with its human cargo went off almost on schedule, smoothly and without that excitement and tension one felt when John Glenn was shot into space.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Sam Type scored his fifth consecutive victory of the season when he won the featured Golden Purse at Old Woodbine Thursday.

Ridden by Jerry Harrison, Small Type galloped through the mud to a ridiculously easy 11-length triumph over I Recall. Absent Son finished third.

Jockey Dick Armstrong of Winnipeg, who misjudged the finish while riding Mosaic Jr. in Wednesday's sixth race, became a double loser Thursday after stewards studied the film patrol pictures of that race. Not only did Armstrong lose a photo finish on Mosaic, but the stewards suspended him for 10 days for careless riding.

Armstrong, whose suspension begins Saturday, won two races Thursday—the fourth on Vale of Avoca and the eighth on Consul des Arts.

The daily double paid $110.60 when Q Girl and Mahuina won the first two races. The quinella of Craft Lace and Five Queen in the fifth paid $30.40.

New Rodgers Show to Be Seen at Toronto

TORONTO — The new Rodgers-Allen Jay Lerner untitled musical which is being written now, will be one of the O'Keefe Centre - American Theatre Society subscription attractions next season.

Prior to its Broadway debut, the Rodgers-Lerner show will play O'Keefe Centre for two weeks, probably in mid-February. The only performers signed is the leading lady, Barbara Harris, who is now appearing in New York in the Phoenix Theatre production of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad", and was seen earlier in the season on Broadway in "From the Second City". She will also appear with Sid Ceasar next fall in a TV comedy special which has already been taped.

The Rodgers-Lerner musical begins the wedding of two of the theatre's greats. Allen Jay Lerner, author of the book and lyrics of "My Fair Lady", "Camelot", "Paint Your Wagon", and "Brigadoon", and the movie "Gigi", will be working for the first time with composer Richard Rodgers who wrote the music for "South Pacific", "Oklahoma", "The King and I", "Carousel", "The Sound of Music", "Flower Drum Song" "State Fair" and Rodgers' first solo effort, "No Strings", played O'Keefe Centre three months ago and went on to be one of Broadway's biggest successes of the season.

Last week, Mayor Phillip Lee, Toronto's "Salute To Rodgers and Hammerstein", at O'Keefe Centre, and Rodgers conducted the title song from "Oklahoma", at the program's conclusion.

Previous attractions already announced for next season's subscription series include "Oliver", "Beyond the Fringe", "Hey, Mary", "Milk and Honey", "A Shot in the Dark", "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying", and the Canadian Opera Company.

Used Belt Buckle Is Charge

Pitcher 'Cut' Baseballs!

BALTIMORE (AP) — Detroit Tigers belted three home runs in a 5-4 American League victory over Baltimore Orioles Thursday night, but the Orioles claim a belt buckle did almost as much.

Baltimore manager Billy Hitchcock accused Tiger pitcher Jim Bunning, who hurled the first no-hitter of the 12-inning battle, with doctoring baseballs by cutting them on his belt buckle.

Hitchy, as normal protest is planned, president Lee MacPhail of the Orioles said league president Joe Cronin will be advised of the complaint and presented with several baseballs as evidence.

Four balls with gash marks up to 1½ inches long and a sixteenth of an inch deep, were turned over to senior umpire Charlie Berry. Hitchcock said the balls had been thrown out of play by plate umpire Harry Schwerta.

CHANGED BELT

Hitchcock said the Orioles tried to get Schwerta and Berry to check Bunning's belt in the eighth inning, but by the time they did in the ninth - Bunning had changed into another belt.

"Hitchcock's way out of line," said Tiger manager Bob Scheffing. "It's a case of detestation of character."

WENT FRANCHISE

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Montreal officials met in New York Thursday with baseball commissioner Ford Frick to determine this city's prospects of obtaining a major league franchise at some future date. The Canadian would tie in with the city's plan for a sports stadium in the east-end. The two officials were Irwin Baldauf, chairman of the city executive committee, and vice-chairman Gerry Snyder.

May Alter Draft System

MONTREAL (CP) — Proposals aimed at drafting junior amateur players will be discussed at the National Hockey League's three - day annual meeting here June 4-6.

This strikingly new operation by the big pro circuit has been taking concrete form since the NHL executive met a year ago. At that time they discussed methods of eliminating bid and ... increasing bonuses that have been dangled before young-sters to get their names on some form of contract.

"Fundamentally the proposal is to bring recruiting practices under control," said NHL president Clarence Campbell Thursday.

Campbell said he hopes the proposals can be discussed with representatives of the three big minor leagues—the American, Western and Eastern Professional.

WOULD DECIDE RIGHTS

Actually the draft would be for rights to junior players and could be exercised for a specific player only once.

Under the proposal a claim could be made on a player at a stage "where he will be 17 either old the following year."

The draft is not a move to take a player up immediately but rather to determine his ultimate location, should he wish to play pro hockey after his junior graduation at the age of 20.

"The pros now own or control so many, so many young-sters," said Campbell. "The figure is around 95 per cent.

It is felt the player would benefit because the plan would eliminate the necessity of his moving — as sometimes now happens—from his junior home club.

Yosael Dagges, secretary of the association, said Thursday. He said that as Mendzel had failed to cancel plans to join Toronto City of the Eastern Canada Professional League.

Rangers May Train in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League plan to switch their 1952 training camp to Western Canada, possibly Vancouver, general manager Muzz Patrick said Thursday.

They intend to work out with Vancouver Canucks of the Western League, a club which the Rangers and Vancouver businessman Fred Hume are purchasing.

The Rangers training camp has been held in Eastern Canada in the past. They operated last year with Springfield Indians of the American League, Los Angeles Blades of the WHL and Kitchener of the Eastern Professional League as their primary minor league affiliates.

Patrick said the working agreement with Springfield has expired and said "we are not contemplating renewal." He said Los Angeles still will have seven players and a rookie if one is available from the Rangers but said it won't hurt the Vancouver interest.

Quakers Picked for Czech Tour

SASKATOON (CP) — Bill Patrick, president of Saskatoon Quakers of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League, said Thursday night the players have been selected to tour Czechoslovakia next December and January.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association granted the overseas trip to the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey Association. Patrick said the SAHA named the Quakers to make the tour.

The Quakers won their league title last season and were eliminated by Trail Smoke Eaters in the Western Canada final series leading to the Allan Cup championship playoff.

The Smoke Eaters, who won the Allan Cup, have been invited to represent Canada in the world championships next year.

Leafs Edge Bisons in 10 Innings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The bullpens in the International Baseball League were busy Thursday night.

Of eight starting pitchers in the four games played, only Leroy Gregory of Atlanta went the route. He played a big role in the Crackers' 10-5 victory over Richmond Virginians.

A total of 20 pitchers saw action. Toronto Maple Leafs used three as they edged Buffalo Bisons 6-4 in 10 innings. The Bisons used two.

At Syracuse, Rochester Red Wings bombed the Chiefs 15-4 with starter Nat Martinez wasn't around at the end. He was relieved by Sam Baker in the fifth inning and Baker was credited with the win. The Chiefs blasted 18 hits off four Syracuse pitchers, including John Gabler, the second Chief hurler, who took the loss.

Jacksonville Suns extended their league lead to five full games with a 6-5 victory over Columbus Jets. Ken Raffensberger, second Suns pitcher, buried five innings of scoreless ball to pick up the triumph. Three Columbus pitchers failed to stop the Suns.

HELPS OWN WIN

Gregory gave up nine Richmond hits but he kept them well scattered at Atlanta. Don Lock got him for a three-run homer in the fifth but he steadied down after that. The winning pitcher also helped his own cause by belting a two-run homer in the sixth inning. Al Downing, first of three Richmond pitchers, was charged with the loss.

At Buffalo, the Leafs went ahead 1-0 in the first inning and made it 3-0 in the fifth. But the Bisons bounced back with three runs in the sixth and took a 4-3 lead in the seventh.

First baseman Rocky Nelson's homer, however, tied the score in the eighth and a two-run blast by pinch-hitter Lou Jackson won the game in the 10th.

All Buffalo runs came off Toronto hurlers Ken Raynes but one with one on in the sixth and Bob Morgan added a solo drive in the same inning. Dan Cater's homer in the eighth gave the Bisons their temporary 4-3 lead.

W.F.C Clubs To Settle Miles Deal

CALGARY (CP)—George McMahon, president of the Western Football Conference, said Thursday presidents of the five WFC clubs will settle the draft controversy involving Fullback Miles of Edmonton Eskimos.

McMahon said Sydney Hallet, commissioner of the Canadian Football League, has told him that the problem must be settled by the presidents. McMahon said he hopes a meeting will be held within 10 days.

Joe Ryan, general manager of the Eskimos, said the dispute revolves around minutes of the WFC's annual meeting in Vancouver last February.

The player equalization draft plan provides that a team finishing 10 points ahead of any other club could have two unprotected Canadians drafted by the lower-placed club. Ryan said the secretary at the meeting, in explaining the plan in the minutes, failed to include the mandatory 10-point spread or the limit of two unprotected players a club would lose.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Bobby Hull's outspoken views in matters pertaining to the Chicago Black Hawks and the National Hockey League, has drawn varied comment from the NHL centres sports editors.

Hull "got off to a slow start last season and he explained it later in a television interview.

"I was sick of hockey when the season started," he said. "I couldn't wait to take my uniform off after a game. Who could blame me? They worked us to death in training camp. We played 17 exhibition games and had two tough practices a day."

"My feet were so sore that after a while I had no desire to play. There is no question in my mind that I would have had more goals this year if they had been easier on us." Hull was quoted as saying.

The blonde star brought the matter up again last Saturday in a television appearance in Ottawa. He estimated the Hawks played 100 games last season, including exhibitions, regular scheduled games and the playoffs.

"And that's simply too much hockey," he declared.

He said the schedule should be cut to 50 games—without cutting the salaries of players—and that the owners can afford a shorter season.

Hull said, "I'll bet Chicago made $1,000,000 last year. We were very tired against the Toronto Maple Leafs in the finals after the long semi-final series against Montreal Canadiens. I guess we didn't have enough left."

The Chicago Black Hawks may have admonished Hull after the first statement. If they did it was done privately because public statements was not made.

It is perhaps a bit too early for the Hawks' brass to pass judgment on Hull's statement of a shorter season. Perhaps the National Hockey League will take up the punitive cudgels.

There may not be a clause in a National League player's contract forbidding him to speak in public or to the press—but there is something that says they can be fined for anything they say or do which is considered "prejudicial to hockey."

Remember how Andy Bathgate was admonished after he let loose a scathing piece in which he criticized hockey players for sparring.

And if memory is correct the great "Rocket" was asked to quit writing a sports column in a Quebec newspaper.

Whether suggesting the National Hockey League's schedule be cut to fifty games is "prejudicial to hockey" or not remains in the hands of the league brass.

Right or wrong, Hull is a refreshing departure from the run-of-mine hockey "ambassadors" who tour the country from coast to coast delivering stereotyped addresses, kissing babies and telling youngsters how the game should be played.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll wrote: "The press will welcome Bobby Hull's forthrightness as they have long since discounted hockey players as a source of copy. Maybe Bobby will lead a movement which will make the players vocal—but we doubt it."

But Jack (Windsor Star) Dulmage has a different viewpoint. He says "Hull is not going to get any sympathy from his club, from most hockey fans and certainly not from me."

"Hull scored 13 goals when he loafed through the first half of the 1951-52 schedule, then rammed in 37 to tie the 50-goal mark held by Richard and Geoffrion. He is a great hockey player but if you please we must wait for the second half of a schedule to have him prove it."

I talked with Bobby Hull early in the season before he hit his stride—and he told me what he announced publicly later. I do not think he was "loafing." There was no denial from the Hawks' management about the tough pre-season grind and exhibition schedule.

Brook Rook Solid Joe For Yankees

Sparks Last Three Wins

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was just getting to be a point where American League pitchers weren't quite so fearful about facing the might New York Yankees.

Yogi Berra hasn't had a hit for a week. John Blanchard is batting only .235 and Bill Skowron .197. Elston Howard is 100 points under last season's average. Mickey Mantle is out with injuries and the other half of the M and M combo, Roger Maris, can be handled by walking him.

Then along came Joe Ferguson and the pitchers aren't so relaxed any more.

The 21-year-old rookie from Brooklyn, a section first baseman and more recently an outfield substitute for first Maris and now Mantle, is on a hitting binge that has produced a single, a double, two triples and three home runs in the last games. The Yanks have won them all and Ferguson, a lanky left-hand hitter, has had a key part in each, boosting his average from .221 to .306.

In the first of the trio he slashed a double and single and scored the winning run. Then came two home runs and four runs batted in. And Thursday he drove in three runs on a triple and double as New York stopped Kansas City Athletics 9-4 and took a full game lead over the idle Cleveland Indians.

Minnesota Twins fell two games off the pace when the lowly Boston Red Sox beat them 7-6. Detroit Tigers edged Baltimore Orioles 5-4 in 11 innings and Los Angeles Angels beat Washington Senators 7-4 in night games. Cleveland and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

TRIPLE IS HIGHLIGHT

Pepitone's two-run triple was the key blow in the five-run New York third inning that wrapped it up against the Athletics. He hit his fifth home of the season two innings later and Blanchard hit another in the sixth to provide Bud Daley with his second victory against four loss.

Carl Yastrzemski, Ed Bressoud and Carroll Hardy each drove in two runs for Boston as the Red Sox managed their second victory in 10 starts. Mike Fornieles (2-2) won it in relief, though yielding a homer to Vic Power.

One of Hoyt Wilhelm's fluttering knuckleballs got past Orioles catcher Charlie Lau in the 11th inning and Detroit's Dick McAuliffe raced home with the winning run on the passed ball. Singles by McAuliffe and Dick Brown set it up. Home runs by Al Kaline, his 13th, Rocky Colavito and Bill Bruton accounted for all the earlier Detroit runs.

A hassle developed in the sixth when the Orioles charged that Tiger pitcher Jim Bunning was roughing up the ball by using his belt buckle. He left with a blister on his finger after finishing the sixth.

The Angeles broke a 4-4 tie with three runs in the ninth and the help of some unusual Washington play afield. It included playing Leon Wagner's high fly into a triple—which eventually developed into the winning run after hovering for the wrong base and a dropped ball at the plate. Bob Johnson hit his fourth homer for Washington in the sixth, Ryne Duren (2-3) won it for the fourth Los Angeles pitcher.

NHL May Glamorize Penalty Shot

MONTREAL (CP) — When the National Hockey League's annual meeting has been put month they will try to do something to glamorize the penalty shot.

Under the current rule the puck is placed on the blue line and the player takes it goalie and the player taking the shot carries the puck straight in and lets fly when he wishes.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Thursday that when the rules committee meets June 4 it will consider a proposal under which the puck probably would be placed at the centre - ice spot. The player taking the shot would be allowed to skate around in a great wind-up performance before going behind his own net if he wishes—and come whizzing along the risk length.

But now he crosses the opposing team's defending blue line there would be no back-tracking.

Much Ado Meant Nothing

World Hockey Is Same Old Story

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP) — Any Canadian hockey players who take money in compensation for salary losses while on the Olympics breaking the Olympic oath.

Jack Romburgh, who stepped down Thursday as president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, says they are. He said the oath forbids players from taking any money, and therefore should be broadened to allow athletes to receive allowances.

"Otherwise, if Canada and all the countries taking part in the Olympics went to be honest, they just can't send their teams," he told delegates to the closing session of the CAHA's annual meeting.

First-president Bob LaBel of Montreal and secretary - manager Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., said the Canadians are perfectly justified in taking the oath.

LaBel, also president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said the International Olympic Committee has empowered the IHF to decide what countries can enter hockey teams in the Olympics.

PERMITS PAYMENTS

He said IIHF permits payment of allowances to make up for loss of income.

Romburgh's motion to have Canadian hockey teams stay away from Olympic Winter Games until the oath is changed was defeated by a vote of 7 to 2.

Delegates from Thunder Bay, Ont., Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Ottawa districts marked ballots against the motion, Quebec and Ontario approved it while the Maritimes and Manitoba abstained.

That hurdle over, delegates asked CAHA officers to pick the team when they meet in late August. While several suggestions were made the matter of selecting the club, the officers are expected to pick the strongest senior club available and strengthen it with replacements.

CHOOSE OFFICERS

Art Potter of Edmonton was named new president, Lionel Fleury of Quebec City is the first vice-president and Fred Page of Port William is the sec. treas. of the association.

Delegates asked the presidents of the eastern branches to form a committee to lay plans for the association's 50th annual meeting in Ottawa in 1954.

No Flyers, Cats Win By Forfeit

Belleville Bobcats picked up their second R. and D. softball league victory last night, by a 9-0 forfeit score, when the RCAF Flyers failed to show up for the game at the fairgrounds.

Umpires "Skeet" Ethier and Herb Parkes awarded the game to the Bobcats when the Flyers had not put in an appearance 20 minutes after the scheduled starting time, 6.15. The "Cats went ahead with a team practice.

"No explanation was available for the RCAF squad's action. Bobcat manager Bill Old said that the Flyers had called him at 2.00 p.m., inquiring about whether the game was to be played or not.

"I told them that the field was in good shape and that the game would go on as scheduled unless they were notified otherwise before game time," Old said.

League Commissioner Cliff Belch contacted at his home said he had also received a call from the Flyers earlier in the day and had told them the same thing.

The Flyers have not yet seen league action, this forcing a postponement of their home game against Joyce Real Estate on Wednesday night.

The next league game is scheduled for Monday night when RCAF is scheduled to play here against Bolkus Construction Juniors; game time is 6.15.

J. Parr of Weston, Ont., announced Thursday. Gomez, currently is riding in great form at Washington Park near Chicago.

Dodgers Maintain Pace

Redlegs Roll, Giants Break Slump

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A weak-hitting second baseman finishing a big stick, a pay-time shortstop, and a guy no-hitter, bringing record to 6-4 as Cincinnati swamped Colts' three-game winning streak.

Batting — Willie Mays, Giants, cools off bench, hit 12th and 13th homers for three runs batted in, his last shot driving in go-ahead run in 7-4 triumph over Philadelphia that snapped San Francisco's three - game losing string.

Singles by Dick Stuart and Don Hoak in the 8th off Lindy McDaniel and Don Leppert's double - play grounder gave the Pirates two runs in the fourth and enough for a 3-1 tie against the Cardinals. Elsewhere, Milwaukee routed Al McGehee (3-4), who ran into fifth-inning trouble and needed relief help from Nicomedes Oliva and Elroy Face. Reg Sanders (3-3) belt in.

Bob Buhl (3-3) beat his former teammates when Andre Rodgers tripled and pinch hitter Jim McKnight stroked a single for the winning run in the ninth after a homer by Ed Mathews had tied it for the Braves in the eighth. Buhl allowed only six hits, with Barney Schultz coming on to get the last three outs. Bob Hendley (3-4) also went the distance, losing on eight-hitter.

Canadian Horse in Epson Derby

LONDON (CP) — Prince d'Amour, a longshop hope from France, will carry Canadian colors in the June 6 English Derby at Epsom.

The colt, formerly owned by Mrs. Suzy Volterra, passed a veterinary test Wednesday and automatically became the property of Alberta Ranches, owned by Calgary sportsmen Max Bell and Frank McMahon.

Prince d'Amour's derby odds dipped from 25 to 1 to 20 to 1 at Wednesday night's cailover of prices. The current favorite is Major Lionel Holliday's Hethersett at 11 to 1.

One published report estimated that Alberta Ranches money here paid up to $30,000 for Prince d'Amour, a son of the distance-loving Tantieme out of Princess d'Amour. The "Canadian" colt is thus a half-brother to Vamoos, winner of a French St. Leger.

Prince d'Amour will be ridden by the great Australian jockey, 45-year-old Scobie Breasley, and will be trained by Gordon Richards, former champion jockey.

HORSE SCRATCHED

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Four-and-Twenty Thursday was pulled out of Saturday's $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park.

Trainer Vance Longden, Johnny Longden's son, said he was pulling Four-and-Twenty out of the race because of an ailing leg muscle. Four-and-Twenty suffered the injury in the Los Angeles Handicap last week.

Thought They Were Nuts
Kingsize

MONTREAL (CP) — The mystery of the disappearing golf balls on the fourth hole of the Senneville Golf Club has been solved.

A squirrel's cache was discovered in a hollow stump just off the fairway. It yielded at least 20 balls, some of them obviously a carry-over from last season.

BAREFOOT TRIBES

New Interest Shown

NHL Eyes Western Loop

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sharpened interest of National Hockey League clubs in the prospects of the Western Hockey League was evident Thursday on the eve of the western loop's annual meeting.

Toronto Maple Leafs are reporting a Victoria group's bid for a new Western League franchise.

New York Rangers are backing Fred Hume, former Vancouver mayor, in a purchase of the Vancouver franchise.

A Long Beach, Calif., group also is seeking a franchise but informed sources said there is little prospect that the league will expand to 10 teams.

The new franchise applications will be first order of business in business sessions starting today, said Al Leader, WHL president.

RULES OUT COMEBACK

FULSOUTH, England (AP) — Herb Elliott said Thursday night he is not planning a comeback. Australia's former world record-holder for the mile announced his retirement last month, but some reports have hinted he is considering a return to big-time athletics.

Canadians May Star At Meet

Harry Jerome of Vancouver, world record holder in the 100-yard dash world record holder in the 100-yard dash and last week beat Frank Sadd of Modesto.

Jerome was the West Coast Relays title two weeks ago but Sadd bounced back in tougher competition this time.

Then Bruce Kidd of Toronto, 18-year-old distance ace, challenges a pair of America's best in Max Truex, formerly of the University of California, and Dale Story of Oregon State in the two-mile run.

Story, the collegian who runs barefooted, showed a new collegiate record for 5,000 metres two weeks ago at Fresno with a time of 14 minutes, 3.2 seconds. That beat the Truex mark of 14:04.3 set in 1947.

Sig Ohlemann of Vancouver, a teammate of Jerome at the University of Oregon, will team up with Ted Abrams, Archie Harrison and Ron Delany in the two-mile relay.

Brig-General Stewart Says Boer War 'Last Gentleman's War This World to Know'

By JOHN MATTERS

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—John Smith Stewart, soldier-educator and politician, says the Boer War was the "last gentleman's war this world will know."

The 91-year-old brigadier-general, one of two Canadians now of that rank who served in the South African fighting, was interviewed before going to Ottawa for ceremonies to commemorate the end of the Boer War 60 years ago, on May 31, 1902. The other is Brig.-Gen. Victor Odlum of Vancouver.

"To a man, I feel it was the opinion of all that we had been opposed by a gallant and worthy foe," Gen. Stewart said of the conflict between the British and Boer Dutch settlers.

"They fought courageously and had not used any unfair practice of barbarism to earn respect for the methods of the Boer nation. For my part, I am concerned it was the last gentleman's war this world will know."

FOUGHT ON HORSEBACK

Now 85, he recalls that as a private with the Lord Strathcona's Horse he saw "the romance of horses in wartime."

"To see the artillery galloping into action is a sight I will always remember. Wars will never be the same."

The regiment once ran into a dust storm and a cloud of locusts but the horses went through them as though they were on a cavalry charge, he said.

"You could see the excitement and fervor on many of the colonel right down to the last man and beast."

Gen. Stewart — most of the residents of this city whose health he pulled and filled for more than 50 years call him Dr. Stewart—now lives a retirement, tending a large garden and making frequent trips by foot downtown.

"Dr. Stewart to this day personifies Lethbridge," said Mayor E. C. Lonsdale. "There has been no setup to his busy, productive life."

Decorated with the Distinguished Service Order, Croix de Guerre, made a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George and conferred with a honorary doctor of laws degree by the University of Alberta, Gen. Stewart is a man of mild disposition that belies the personality of a military leader.

PRACTISES CHARITY

"Through the religious, fraternal and civic agencies of his community, he practises the greatest of all virtues, charity, in all its phases, and in a quiet and eminent manner," said the citation read at the university convocation in 1957.

Born in Brampton, Ont., he moved to Edmonton in 1896, took a teacher-training course and taught school for a time. He joined the army as a private in 1900 and saw service in South Africa in 1900-01.

He graduated in dentistry from the University of Toronto in 1903. He attended the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., in 1907 and was gazetted major the following year.

He joined the Canadian Expeditionary Force at the outbreak of the First World War and went overseas in 1915 as lieutenant - colonel commanding the 7th Artillery Brigade.

He was promoted brigadier-general in 1917 and made commander of the 2nd Division, Canadian Artillery, which he led through the Battle of Vimy Ridge.

ELECTED TO PARLIAMENT

He first tried his hand at politics in 1911 and in four successive elections was returned as conservative member of the Alberta legislature for Lethbridge.

He retired in 1926 to contest a federal election the following year but was defeated. He tried again in 1930, this time with success, and sat in the Commons until he was defeated in 1935.

Despite his political career, he regards his work as a dentist as his best service to the Lethbridge area. He recalls the early days when he often travelled miles without sleep to cover towns in the district.

"Between cowboys getting their teeth pulled—I pulled 111 in three days—and the livelyones of the towns, we didn't get much sleep."

The city has recognized his service, naming a school, a street and the Lethbridge branch of the Royal Canadian Legion after him.

Sukarno Wins First Phase Of Campaign

Thinks W. New Guinea Can Be Taken Easily

DJAK, New Guinea (AP) — President Sukarno has won the first phase of his campaign to take West New Guinea from the Dutch.

Indonesian troops have shown they could easily penetrate the Dutch defence screen along the Merauke front, the most vulnerable part of this strife - torn island.

Dutch military men believe there are at least 400 paratroopers operating deep in the jungles along a 500 - mile front, but they have concentrated their main forces on the south to near Sorong on the west.

The Dutch have done little to stop these aerial penetrations. The area is too large, the Dutch forces are too few.

Only one C-47 troop carrier has been seen over — by a Dutch Neptune patrol bomber— since the Indonesians began their parachute drops April 27.

Another part of the first phase of the Indonesian campaign also has proved successful. The air force command has managed to evade Dutch marines by hiking in the deep bush to the southern coast.

WORK ON PAPUANS

This way the Indonesians reportedly have gained the support of the Papuan villagers and prevented the Dutch marines from inciting them to overthrow the Dutch authorities.

In the second phase of the campaign, the Indonesians are finding it harder going.

In the beginning of the "military action" against the Dutch, Sukarno's forces tried the sea. Their first attempt ended in failure when a small force of Indonesian motor torpedo boats was turned back last January. One boat was sunk. There was a casualties, and prisoners were taken.

Small boats loaded with rubber trakors were partly successful and landed a few paratroops, it is laughed. And at this time of year the waters along the south and west coasts of New Guinea become treacherous for small craft.

Indonesia then took to the air. She has landed at least three separate groups of paratroops near Fak Fak, two near Kaimana, one near the British Possession, and Sorong.

"If they would only stand and fight, we could handle them," said a Dutch marine officer. "But they disappear into the jungle — and you know how hard it is to find them there."

Budget Deficit Of $2,600,000 In April Shown

OTTAWA (CP)— A federal budgetary deficit of $2,600,000 for April, first month of the current fiscal year, was announced Friday night by Finance Minister Fleming's office.

In April last year there was a $4,200,000 deficit in the separate month ago security plan which pays benefits of 95 monthly are payable to everyone at age 65.

Budgetary revenues were $540,000,000 in April this year and expenditure of $547,800,000. The $56,500,000 in taxes summarized Friday night reduction of the work week, with the same takehome pay, would have a tremendous impact.

Meany first endorsed the 35-hour week for another country in action here last week. He is at odds with the Kennedy administration and Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, who feel that the present 40-hour week is best for the economy.

NEW CATHEDRAL AT COVENTRY IS CONSECRATED

Queen, Princess In Congregation

COVENTRY, England (CP)— Coventry Cathedral, destroyed by German bombing in 1940, opened its doors to a new generation of Britons Friday.

Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret were among a congregation of nearly 2,000 who sat in the massive new structure of pink sandstone as the formal ceremony of consecration.

The 2,000 were all that could be accommodated of 75,000 around the world who applied for tickets.

Choirs from six surrounding cathedrals joined in the great edifice with song as Coventry Bishop Cuthbert Bardsley conducted the consecration.

Trumped fanfares and drums rolled when the Queen, escorted by plumed gentlemen-at-arms, walked through the brilliant 100-foot-wide, 1,000 feet of stained glass windows to her place of honor.

ARCHBISHOP ARRIVE

Then leading a great assembly of clergy came the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Archbishops of Wales and Armagh, Dublin, Brisbane and seven bishops, all mitred and soped.

Among them was the Anglican Bishop of Toronto, Rt. Rev. E. W. Wilkinson.

Thousands milled around the cathedral—many of them too late to get in. Destroyed Nov. 14, 1940, when the city centre was devastated and the 13th century Cathedral of St. Michael laid in ruins.

During the city, churchbells rang out and 2,000 pigeons were released as a symbolic flight to all parts of the country.

The Bishop of Coventry was asked to "would consecrate this cathedral church." In English tradition, he agreed and then gave the command: "Open the doors." QUEEN'S SPEECH

During the service the lord major of Coventry collapsed and was attended by a doctor. He later recovered and drove to the air-port to say farewell to the Queen.

The new cathedral will undoubtedly be one of Britain's greatest tourist attractions and will also lead the Coventry area in a big boost to its cultural and liturgical invasion.

The building has been derided as a pile of concrete or glorified bus depot. But its architect, Sir Basil Spence, has ridden the storm with aplomb.

"I wanted to build something," he declared, "and tradition has always been to build in a contemporary idiom."

ENDOW FROM ABROAD

Few cathedrals have been so richly endowed from the start with gifts from abroad. They range from an icon from Stalingrad to a processional from Tanganyika. Canada provided the altar and Australia contributed generously to the rebuilding fund.

West Germany sent a group of craftsmen to build an international centre among the ruins. Their efforts created what they also gave library facilities ings and an altar tapestry. Coventry provided the font—of striking simplicity among all the furnishings, even abstract art in the cathedral—a rough, three-ton boulder from the hillside in Jerusalem which was probably there at the time of Christ.

Surprising What One Can Do Without Governments -- Philip

TORONTO (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh said Friday he was in the Second Commonwealth Study Conference "could be described as that of "a sort of immense family."

He was speaking to some 80 leaders of business from the Commonwealth countries who are touring part of western Canada in a program geared for less - eaters. The program, IQ, was broadcast on the national network at 10:30 a.m. EDT Today and will be repeated at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Three of the studies taken up by the group will be reported to the conference Prince Philip during the taping. After, a general discussion period developed and Prince Philip stayed at the studio 20 minutes beyond his scheduled.

When he was asked about his job as Queen consort, Philip was told the students: "I consider that we've quite sufficient."

Asked how the conference was organized he replied:

"By a system of blackmail. Sometimes by gentle affection. The treasurer," but added actual financing was done through private subscription.

When one student asked him whether governments might not handle such conferences more easily, Prince Philip said the governments had enough to keep them busy," and that it is "surprising how much one can do without them."

Political Big Guns Fire Pot Shots at Opposition

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The hustings echoed like a shooting gallery Friday night with the big guns of the political parties aiming at one another's policies.

Here's how the shots sounded:

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said, in a national TV address, that the Liberal party's "tax-and-tax-again" slogan is like the lines from Shakespeare's Macbeth — "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow.

Full of sound and fury signifying nothing."

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson said in Carlton Place, Ont., that the Conservatives have a "confused record of a year of mess who were better at talk than at action . . . let's bring this government out."

New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas, aiming at a double-barrelled salvo at the Liberals and Conservatives, said in Vancouver: "There's not between the two is like being offered "an opportunity of being boiled

The revised date will be advertised in the official call for tenders, to be published Monday. It is expected the contract for erecting the new tract will begin work as soon as possible.

Robert Temple Talks to Meet At Deseronto

DESERONTO—Liberal candidate Robert Temple took this community by storm Wednesday evening when, despite the worst torrential downpour experienced here in some years, he attracted a large audience.

It was the first meeting in the South Hastings' riding in which Mr. Temple has launched into a full-fledged political address. The audience responded enthusiastically, including the response of one heckler.

When queried as to what would be done about unemployment Mr. Temple replied that no big-time promise of "no one shall suffer" from unemployment would be offered by the Liberals, as had been in the last election by their opponents. Every effort would be made to cut down unemployment to the barest possible minimum through the creation of an expanding economy, Mr. Temple said.

He then charged the Conservatives with having allowed Canadian economy to have lagged far behind what it was unable to even keep pace with the natural expansion of the labor force.

He said that by the Conservative government's own admission Canadian was earning little more in 1961 than in 1956. Although the weekly average was up $60 in 1956 under a Liberal government, the dollar was worth almost $1.05, giving it a buying power of $71.40.

Today, in 1961 under a Conservative government, the weekly average was up $70, but due to the Canadian dollar being pegged at 92.5 cents, it has a buying power of only $72.36. This represents a net gain of but $1.40 in this area and buying power, thanks to the mismanagement of the Canadian economy by the Conservatives, Mr. Temple said.

Mr. Temple also acknowledged his Conservative opponent to meet in debate on the record of the government over the past five years. He said this although Mr. Diefenbaker had stated that his party was prepared to face the election on this issue his party members did not appear to support this idea.

Also speaking on the program were Mrs. Ruth Fulford, former M.P. for Hastings South who criticized the government's various lack of action and leadership during the past five years, and Mr. Ian Wahn, who headed the Liberals plan for economic and medical care for all Canadians up to 16 years of age or who were retired or unemployed. He also stated that the plan's decision to work and co-operate fully with the doctors involved gives most sensible and was conducive to the production of the highest possible quality of medical care obtainable.

ask Henry

Henry welcomes letters from readers, and awards each week a five-dollar book for the most interesting letter he receives.

Dear Henry—I'm 11 years old and have a 13-year-old brother. He is always picking on me and sometimes I think it is his favorite pastime. I hit him back but he punches me back harder. What shall I do? Please hurry in answering before I try something dangerous.—BRUISED BROTHER.

Dear Bruised—His favorite pastime is picking on you. Try something desperate that might make him desperate enough to leave you alone.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I know this is a vague proposition to frame any magic formula which will make my son good in school? But you could come up with an answer.—A WORRIED MOTHER.

Dear Worried Mother—You're right, there is a magic formula: It's called Work. You probably think: "well, that isn't magic," but it is. Just apply a simple application and every boy in the world would pass with flying colors. Apply it on your son.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I am in the sixth grade and I am going to skip a grade. It is hard to do so many things in a short time. I have to write very fast and I can't write fast without getting messy. My father says that I could slow down and write more neatly. He says that I could probably appreciate a neat paper that takes longer, than a messy paper. What do you think I should do?—SCRIBBLER.

Dear Scribbler—I think you should do the papers slowly and steadily. A jack rabbit will never skip a grade.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—My mommy gets mad at me but I do not know why. I do everything I know best.—NOT KNOW WHY.

Dear Not Know Why—As long as you are trying your best, you are doing all right. Tell your mommy that you are doing the best you can. Ask her to explain it to you so you make your best better.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I have a girl friend that I like very much. She just seems to ignore me though. How could I get her to like me as much as I like her? She has wouldn't call me a nut—ONE WHO READS YOUR COLUMN.

Dear One Who Reads—If she just ignores you and is about to call you a nut, I would say she isn't madly in love with you. Maybe she has been hearing rumours and is looking for any encouraging signs. She can't write fast signs as you.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—My name is Lynda and there is a boy in my class I like very much. We used to talk to each other and he used to smile at me in class and he always stuck up for me when I was in a fight.

Now there is this girl in my class who used to be my best girl friend who phoned him up and told his mother that it was me phoning up.

Now he won't even talk to me. He said he knew it wasn't me phoning him but he still won't talk to me.

Seeing you are a boy and have a boy's mind about girls could you please tell me if he still likes me or is he sticking close to her as girl-friends.—LYNDA.

Dear Lynda—I'm a boy and have a boy's mind about girls. I would say he has another girl friend and is just using the telephone wire as an excuse.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—How long should a child watch television? This problem has caused much trouble in our home and we would like your opinion. How long do you watch TV? Thank you.—VERA DOGA.

Dear Vera—Once you have nothing better to do, about one hour a day. How long do I watch TV? When I have nothing better to do, about one hour a day.—HENRY.

Children Must Learn to Solve Own Problems

TRENTON — If a child is forever being the center of social life problems solved for him by the mother or father, he may reach his teens weakened from lack of ability to solve any problem and may even become a delinquent.

Mrs. L. A. Beasley, Toronto, speaking this week to members of Bay View Presbyterian and District Retarded Children's Association, said that a child must learn early in life that when he has problems, he must learn to solve them himself.

The monthly association meeting was held in the school for the retarded, near Smithfield, last Thursday.

Treasurer Mrs. Lawton reported that this year's tag day had been more successful than the 1961 appeal and that $745.39 had been realized.

Mrs. Morgan Williamson's room had made ten aprons and sold them, and the money put into the general fund.

It was decided, by a general vote, that the Trenton branch of the school should be retired by $1,000. The Trenton children's room, as lead, will be enrolled next September. Ade will be taken in the school. She asked the parents of retarded children, or those suspected of being, in the district to contact school authorities, with a view to establishing a class for them.

Mrs. Win Christiani, education chairman, announced that Miss Jean Hamilton had graciously accepted the post of teacher in the school. She will work under the direction of the principal, Jay Wauters.

Mr. Wauters reported that he and the children had entertained members of the board of education at a luncheon, at the school recently. The children had signed up for swimming events with their good manners.

Speaker Urges Safety Belts In Motor Cars

TRENTON — "Half the injury-producing accidents occur at speeds of 40 miles an hour. Low speed can be just as fatal as high speeds".

Thursday night, Dr. W. A. L. McDonald, Trenton surgeon, addressed the Trenton Kiwanis Club briefly on the subject of "Safety Devices in Automobiles".

As Kiwanis safety chairman, Ted Seldon pointed out when he thanked the speaker, Dr. McDonald is a man who knows what he's talking about, from the very nature of his work.

Mr. Seldon urged the members to be "the first Kiwanis club to endorse the use of safety belts in cars, one hundred per cent".

Dr. McDonald had brought along two films to illustrate his remarks. The first showed wheels with a recessed hub; pushed instrument panels; safety door latches and recessed sun visors were a few of the things recommended for use in cars.

One film was comprised of a set of "counter-measures" for making use of "dummy" passengers, in illustrating, graphically, the wisdom of using safety equipment in cars, both for the driver and passengers.

President Howard Aziz told the members that last year's district lieutenant governor, Al Weaver was a patient in Kingston General Hospital, and stated that members drop in for a visit if at all possible.

Dieter Roll, reporting on the progress of the peanut sales, told the members of Past Lieutenant governor Al was getting peanuts from his sick bed and urged all Kiwanis members on to greater efforts.

GETS CITIZENSHIP

President Howard also announced that Sivanandan Ben Kroone had recently received his Canadian citizenship. Mr. Kroone native of Holland, is the manager at the Delft Gelatin plant.

Ted Snider reminded the members of this Saturday's bicycle rodeo in the community gardens and asked for volunteers to assist with the youthful participants' tests.

New members Bob Mills was introduced to the club by Carl Wesse. Mr. Wesse said that Bob, as a non-member had sold $19 worth of peanuts last week, and that he hesitated to say to what the score would be when a member of the club would go once he got underway.

Bob was inducted by past lieutenant governor Ted Parker and welcomed by the other members.

President Howard read a letter from O. W. Larry, secretary of the Trenton Board of Health thanking the Kiwanians for their active participation in the recent oral vaccine clinics. As president Howard put it, "a nice to get a letter like this".

Survey Report Forwarded to Town Officials

TRENTON — A while ago, town authorities at Lindsay, Ontario, wrote to Trenton authorities, asking that the schedule of charges for plumbing permits be forwarded, as the Lindsay officials were compiling a survey of such charges in municipalities throughout the province.

The survey was completed, one copy was forwarded to Trenton.

On Thursday night, the town fathers examined the schedules of charges in other municipalities and found that in almost every case, permits cost more than in Trenton.

This situation will be studied.

Meantime, the town will write to the Lindsay officials, thanking them for their "thoughtfulness" in sending the survey along.

Peterborough Invaded by June Bergs

The city of Peterborough was invaded last weekend as thousands of June bugs came to visit.

When the invasion ended store entrances, sidewalks and curbsides along the city's main thoroughfare were littered with dead and dying beetles.

Startled to find the city were amazed at the phenomena but it seems it was "ol hat" for the locals.

"It happens every two or three years," noted a Peterborough resident. "The lights in the downtown area seem to attract the beetles and it is a messy mess for two or three days they are around."

EXPERIENCE

CRIME PROBE

He had gone to Rose because he was counsel for the gambler's. Lawrence said, but he had not aimed particularly at clearing that pair. He wanted it on record in case he did not get a chance to speak, but he insisted that this meant he feared he might be harmed before he reached the stand; and he added a suggestion that it was wasted to give McDermott and Feeley an advance peek at his testimony.

At the same time, he said Lamorie disclosed that in 1951 they filed a more detailed 25-p. davit with another lawyer—Gordon Ecclestone—who also had an indirect McDermott-Feeley association.

WERE ACQUITTED

McDermott, Feeley and Robert J. Wright, allegedly in their pay while an OPP anti-gambling squad constable in 1960, were acquitted last year of conspiracy to bribe another officer. In a jury - tampering prosecution that followed, Ecclestone acted for the defence.

And before they went to that lawyer, the two ex - officers testified, also had consulted with still another lawyer, David Humphrey, who formerly was counsel and sometime associate of the gamblers and who has been a commission witness.

They sought advice from Humphrey when they were suspended in 1959 from the OPP just before they handed in affirmations of resignations.

Wright and the gambling pair were convicted this year of obtaining police information illegally on evidence of Const. George Boyce, who acted as a double agent on behalf of the force, and whose accusations in this were denied by Wright, Lamorie and Lawrence.

The three convicted men are out on bail during appeal. No charges have been lodged against Lawrence and Lamorie.

While denying any wrongful association with gamblers, Lawrence and Lamorie admitted Friday that since their resignations they have been in touch a number of times with Sammy Taylor, Toronto racketeer and alleged protection collector in that area on behalf of McDermott and Feeley.

Lawrence also testified to meeting Roy Peirechadon, a Thorold lawyer, at which Taylor Scott to have paid off the police suspects for raid tips.

DENY ALLEGATIONS

Both men denied suggestions that they have got together with the two minor gamblers also under commission suspicion — to concoct tailoring stories for the lawyer.

Lamorie, warned by Commissioner Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, to be careful of perjury, said neither he nor Balsam had fears that one would "squeal" on the other. He had seen him out of "curiosity."

Earlier this week, Wright entered a blanket denial of wrongdoing and also entered a point-by-point denial to a long list of indictments levelled by Scott after months of posing as a crooked officer.

He maintained steadfastly that, while dealing with Scott on one hand and McDermott on the other, he was conducting a personal "investigation" to track down leakings of OPP gambling raid information. He maintained he had passed on no police tips to the gamblers.

But OPP officers produced evidence purporting to trace a series of deliberately planted tips from Scott in Toronto to Wright in Belleville to McDermott in Port Credit to a Mc-Dermott - Feeley clash in Niagara Falls, using long distance telephone records.

PRODUCES EVIDENCE

And Sgt. John Anderson of the anti - gambling squad produced evidence aimed at showing that a Wright tip in 1959, relayed from a gaming house here to Niagara Falls, N.Y., wrecked a long - planned New York-Ontario descent on gambling joints. Wright denied this.

The former officer was revealed during the week as having other than royal commission troubles. He testified that the federal income tax collector is after him about some $8,700 in apparent income understatement in his tax returns and that he has appealed.

Commissioner - gathered figures indicated also he spent almost as much as his ostensible income over several years, "talk-

Ten-Pinners Hold Banquet

The International Hardware ten-pin bowling league held its presentation banquet at the Quinte Country club this week with trophies presented to individual and team champions.

The "Catchers" captured the league title and won the Belleville Bowl and the Corbin Trophies. The team consisted of Ted Sager, F. Graham, Hayes, K. Cooney, H. Faul and P. Boyd. The presentations were made by H. W. Easton.

The "Padlocks" won the players' championship with the team comprised of T. Burley, F. Tracey, R. Wate, B. Mahaffy, Jack Bird, Bill Gay, Ron Guthrie and B. Stee. J. Gill made the presentations.

The "Push Plates" took second place honors in league play. Members of the team were: C. Moore, C. McPherson, D. Gwell, L. Lacelle, J. Forestell, H. Wall, and A. Waite.

League secretary P. Tracey was given a special presentation by the league bowlers for his excellent work during the year.

The league also paid special tribute to a number of firms and organizations for donations received for the banquet.

Those before providing for the necessities of life.

Wright himself, denying a Scott claim that he boasted of cleaning up $50,000 from the gamblers, said he is broke and only gets a couple of part-time jobs in the last two years and his wife works.

Lawrence, too, said he has no money and "can't make a dollar" since his personal finances had not been scrutinized by the weekend, he said, he makes $1.45 an hour with a catering outfit near his home in Crystal Beach, a suburb of Fort Erie.

CAUTIONS TWO

As the commission recessed, Roach had cautioned the two ex - policemen to speak to their lawyers, including their own or lawyers, about the commission proceedings, and he expressed hope that the whole story would be told.

"I can only do, there will be difficulties in your way," he promised.

The commission went to pains Friday to keep the two isolated from each other and from the other's story. Lamorie was on the stand when the commission was due to hear Mr. and Mrs. Scott and the commissioner, deciding that the questioning going called an afternoon session and heard an OPP inspector accompany Lamorie witness lunch.

He repeatedly admonished counsel for failing to ask vague testimony, and at one point warned him of the penalty for perjury. He told this witness, too, that his evidence did not fit with that of a previous witness whose story on the stand had been temporarily put aside in the morning to hear Lamorie for comparison purposes.

Lawrence, included that in publicity, they agreed on the story they would neither had accepted money from any gamblers or communicated with them, except on official duty.

DISAGREE ON TIME

They disagreed on when they had made their affidavit before their lawyer. Lawrence said, correctly, that it was about a year ago, but Lamorie held that it was about a month after the resignations of the pair in 1960.

Lawrence testified that in going to Balsam after he had resigned, he got the number from the telephone operator. Lamorie said everyone on the anti-gambling squad knew the number. Liberal counsel R. J. MacKinnon said it was a well-publicized number which could not be obtained from an operator.

In describing his post - resignation discussions with Balsam, Lawrence said he told him he hoped he had been telling "the stories" about him, and Balsam said he had not.

Besides Burlington and Toronto meetings, Lamorie told of meeting Balsam alone in St. Catharines and talking of the Liberal party bought up parking meters with a flat fee, covering them, with paper bags printed with slogans offering free parking space.

Apparently at least one staunch Conservative would have nothing to do with the gimmick. He tore the bag off the meter when he parked, and deposited his usual five cents.

Art Display Used to 'Sell' NDP Program

TORONTO (CP) — A New Democratic Party publication in the June 18 federal election is calling on the talents of contemporary artists to help put his message across to the public.

David P. Gauthier, candidate in Toronto Eglinton, has issued a call for volunteer artists to aid the party in "a truly democratic society," he says. "the artists, politicians and scientists must work together. What better way to build it than for each to come up with the times that he's contemporary art exhibition?"

For instance, there's a splashy piece in vibrant hues by Joyce Wieland, a young Toronto painter, called for 50c admission. A good way to illustrate the disarm armed policies of Mr. Diefnbker and national leader T. C. Douglas, says Edmonton Martin, candidate's publicity messenger.

NDP supporters are out of one mind about the cultural ploy, however.

Norman Phillips, NDP candidate in neighboring York-Scarborough who dropped in for a visit announced:

"They bring something to the committee room, but I'm not sure what."

Floral Display Is Feature of City Market

The city market was a bustling place this morning as many residents of the district took advantage of the unusual supply of transplanting flowers.

The great array of flowers being offered added greatly to the colorful scene on the market square.

As it is the time of season when young flowers and vegetables are beginning to grow and are ready for transplanting, the variety on display was much more little from last week.

Prices have remained at a steady level now for the past month, with a change in the prices of eggs usually every other week.

Strawberry plants were still selling at 50c per box or a bunch, $2 per hundred and $20 a thousand. (There are 24 plants in a bunch for 50c.) Raspberry plants were offered at 10c a plant or $1.50 a dozen.

Transplanting flowers, pansies, petunias, asters, snapdragons, marigolds, ground cherries, perennial phlox and lobelias, remain the same in price and quantity as last week, selling at 75c a six quart basket, 35c per box and 3 boxes for $1.

Tomato, head lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and onion plants also sold at the above prices.

Rhubarb, asparagus and green onions were offered at 10c a bunch or three bunches for 25c.

Eggs rose a few cents in price again this week, 40, 45 and 50c a dozen for small, medium and large.

Apples, still a good supply, sold for $2 a bushel and 70c a six-quart basket.

Tory Refused Grit Offer of Free Parking

CARLETON PLACE, Ont. (CP)—Twice Friday motorists had a brief respite from the demands of parking dimeters—courtesy of the Liberal party.

During the hours of Liberal Leader Pearson's visit, the Liberal party bought up parking meters with a flat fee, covering them, with paper bags printed with slogans offering free parking space.

Apparently at least one staunch Conservative would have nothing to do with the gimmick. He tore the bag off the meter when he parked, and deposited his usual five cents.

Revised Ameliasburgh Twp. Plan Ready for Scrutiny And Discussion at Meeting

Ameliasburgh's township plan, already altered once due to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing, will be discussed on Monday May 30, in a meeting in the Ameliasburgh township hall at 7:30 p.m. Drafts of the plan are available to the public for study now, at various locations in the township, as listed in a municipal advertisement published in this paper.

The plan, prepared by Marshall, Macklin, Monaghan Ltd. of Toronto, is intended to look ahead to 1980. By then, the population of the township is expected to exceed 4,500 people, and a new plan will be needed. Basic assumptions in the plan are that the township will remain as it is now, mostly rural, with some industrial development within the township and most of the residential development along the Bayshore area.

AGRICULTURE KING

Because the township is to remain rural, agriculture is king in the plan. While no other land use is encouraged in an area designated agricultural, limited, low density, rural estate use for land in any area, industrial and summer cottage areas are open to some commercial ventures other than specifically designations, but "public open space" may contain no buildings other than park-type structures, such as bathing houses, and "parks" are considered to the area's use as a park.

Public open space, theoretically, may mean a park. Some areas with this designation may be privately owned and open to the public. Where the township does not willing to buy them, it provides for "reservation" of parks; they may be rezoned to other use by the township. Adjustments provided for in the plan.

The urban areas are designated in and near Carrying Place, Consecon, Rednersville, Consecon The Ameliasburg. Commercial development is generally encouraged only in areas, and will be restricted to specific sections of the urban areas, and to four acres of each. Carrying Place, Consecon until 1980. Ry are not to be encouraged as the prime urban development areas.

Industrial is restricted to areas in the west end of the township, and in Consecon. Rednersville, Consecon The Ameliasburg. Commercial development is encouraged only in areas, and will be restricted to specific sections of the urban areas, and to four acres of each. Carrying Place, Consecon until 1980. Ry are not to be encouraged as the prime urban development areas.

GOOD ACCESS TO BAY

A park is proposed near Consecon Lake, to be a joint project between the township and Hillier townships, and another may be built in the Bloomfield area of the township. "Parkettes" to be about one and a half acres in size, are to have a minimum of 300 feet of water frontage, are proposed for some of the shore areas where public unused road allowances leading to the Bay of Quinte.

The rest of the township is considered agricultural. Private homes may be built along the Bayshore, outside the urban areas, but they must be built on long larger than two thirds of an acre, and must have at least 125 feet of road frontage. Through the rest of the township except the urban areas, private homes must be on lots of at least one acre.

All boundaries are to be considered approximate, with the exact definition in borderline areas left to the planning board, and by-laws will not be passed to conform to the plan. Regarding the sale of subdivision must be filed before a sale of more than two parcels of land can be approved.

The whole plan is to be subject to continuous review by the council, and a committee of adjustment will be appointed. The committee will have the power to approve minor continued use of land contrary to the plan, where the land was used to that purpose before the approval of the plan. No excavation or building operation in an area where it is contrary to the plan will be permitted, however, and the committee cannot authorize any establishment contrary to the plan to originate after the plan is approved.

AMEND SCHOOL AREAS

It is the intention of the planners that they amend the school districts in the township will be amended gradually, in order to avoid coincidence with the seven planning districts. At this time, the three union school sections may, also be amended. The plan sees no justification for a high school in the township with 500 students or less available, but at this time a high school may be built near the Bayshore area.

That's the plan, summarized, to date. Anyone interested should, of course, study the drafts of the plan available for public viewing, and attend the plan should be made at the meeting on May 30. If the general tone of the meeting is approval for the plan, it will be submitted for final approval by the Ontario Municipal Board, and the township council, to become the legal basis for zoning bylaws.

Brief Claims Drug Costs Not High

TORONTO (CP) — The royal commission on health services has a brief Friday from a full program of drug services for Canada and cost between $300,000,000 and $360,070,000 the first year. If used by the entire population, it would increase in following years.

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, making this cost estimate in a brief to the commission, recommended that federal and provincial governments share the cost of providing health care services to persons unable to afford them.

It also proposed that drugs be exempt from the federal sales tax.

The brief said that drug costs are "neither exorbitant nor high" for the vast majority of Canadians. The average prescription price in Canada was $3.06 in 1960, 13 cents lower than in the United States.

"High priced directories are the exception rather than the rule," said the association.

The association and the Canadian Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties suggested to the commission that the federal government should somehow be split in two, one part dealing with food and the other, looking after drugs.

The two organizations also urged that all inspection of drug retail and drug manufacturing establishments be licensed pharmacists.

The association, whose 9,000 members include all retail druggists in Canada, contended: all passed medicines should be sold in containers with labels showing all the active ingredients.

POLITICAL BIG

would try to keep the jobless level at not more than two per cent of the working force, instead of seven per cent.

The Liberal leader, touring the predominantly conservative Upper Ottawa Valley area, was escorted into Carleton Place by a Red Indian chief, a local symbol, he said, of a Liberal tide that will sweep the Liberal government out of this country" on Election Day.

In a TV address carried nationally by the CBC, Mr. Pearson said the government has called for five wasted years with record unemployment, indecision, confusion, dullness in public finance and panic over forced devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Another version of the "real issue" of the federal election was advanced by Social Credit's Robert Thompson in a nationwide CBC radio address: "individual and national security."

Social Credit policies, he said, would solve this issue, putting the country into a position similar to that of a married couple with their house paid for and all other debts paid.

ANOTHER SCALE ARGUE

Mr. Thompson continued this marital theme in his speech at Saint John when he said the fantastic promises are being treated by the Diefenbaker government "like a honeymooner's ex-in-law.

"Problems like the northern slump — don't disappear unless you do something about them."

Other party political shots fired Friday:

Mme. Therese Casgrain, NDP candidate in Montreal Outremont-St. Jean, said Canada's attitude toward the arts case has been "primitive and barbaric." Only Saskatchewan's CCF government has taken steps to tackle the issue, she said in St. Boniface, Man.

Gerard Cherbet, a former Liberal cabinet minister, said in Montreal that if the Liberal government would associate Canada with the European Common Market through an Atlantic community of free nations, there would be no more tariffs with the United States and Western Europe would be in a position to bargain.

Walter Gordon, Liberal candidate in Toronto Davenport said a Liberal government would introduce a national labor code to establish a minimum wage, maximum work week and other standards for non-fiction departments. The federal government under federal jurisdiction and contract.

William Sefton, the NDP candidate in Davenport, said Mr. Gordon is a millionaire brought his fortune by the sweat working people. "Great big stuff," he called the package hired by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways to keep wages down."

Industrial Affairs Minister Green, speaking in Saint John, said the Liberal party is dominated by "big business" — the last Liberal cabinet and by "five senior civil servants of those days" — "I don't think Canadians are unwise enough to let this gang in."

There's Gold in Library Cellar If Classic Fiction Is Your Meat

There are about 2,000 "hidden" books in the Corby Public Library, Mrs. Marion Delaney's estimate.

And Miss Delaney's estimate should be about right, she's the chief librarian. The 1,000 books are in the basement stacks, where books are stored if they don't circulate enough to justify space upstairs. Most of them are read less often than once every three years. The average book upstairs circulates about once a month.

The books in the basement stacks include many little-read but well known authors. Turgenev, Dostoievsky, Tolstoy and Jane Austen, for instance, are all there. Usually, though, one book by each author is left upstairs, and most people asking for these others were introduced to the author by this one last out. For instance Hale's novel represented by 30 books, with only one on the shelves upstairs.

Actually, according to Miss Delaney, only a small percentage of the budget in any modern library goes on fiction. In Belleville, it is a matter of location of the library, there are only three shelves of stacks of fiction; mostly light, modern works, kept readily available. Historical novels are the most popular single fiction classification.

MANY CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Nearly one-third of the total budget is spent on children's books, of various kinds. They're available in the children's room, the library department is spread through eight public schools in the city. Miss Delaney feels the children's books are important, because they're the first step in habit of reading as children, or as adults. Right now, she thinks that "Belleville has an exceptionally good reading public."

Recently, public school children have been making unusually intensive use of the library, in keeping with the latest educational trend of encouraging them to do their own research for projects.

High school students, mostly the ones getting top marks, are also heavy users of the library, especially the reference and non-fiction departments. The reference room contains every major new science to medieval history.

The library serves many donations of books: about 200 copies so far this year. Some of them won't be suitable for the library, and will be handed over to the Friends of the Library in the county jail.

And some of them will probably be put in the basement stacks with the others. Old books that everyone talks about but few people read.

MARMORA (Special) — A Marmora resident, Roger Snider, father of two children, is in Belleville General Hospital in Peterborough today suffering from a broken leg and other bruises as the result of a fall, while working on a hydro line in the village of Marmora.

Mr. Snider is employed by the Ontario Hydro Commission at Marmora and was working atop a hydro pole when it broke, throwing him to the ground.

The accident occurred around 4 p.m. Thursday afternoon. Mr. Snider resides on Linn Street in the village of Marmora.

Crash Kills Uxbridge Man

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP)—Donald Orland Nolan, 23, of nearby Uxbridge was killed Friday when a car skidded in gravelside a curve on Highway 7 near this town 20 miles northwest of Toronto. Police said a mechanical fault probably caused the accident.

The Safest Way to Travel

Statistically speaking, the safest method of travel is by jet rocket—some 500,000 miles having been logged without a casualty.

This, of course, is based on the assumption that the Russians have not kept concealed any space mishaps.

The success of the U.S. in duplicating its original three-orbit circumnavigation of the earth suggests that the Russians, too, may have done the same thing without a mishap. Indeed, though there have been rumors of a Russian being burned up in space, it is noteworthy that none of the various detection devices in the western world reported any incident which could be tied with this rumored tragedy.

So, for the record, the first four men to attempt to orbit the earth have returned safely to it.

Major Ghermann Titov of the USSR added 435,000 miles in 17 orbits.

Col. John Glenn of the U.S.A. flew 81,000 miles in three orbits.

Now Lt.-Cmdr. Scott Carpenter has circled the world three times, adding another 81,250 miles to the total.

In addition there are the sub-orbital rocket flights by U.S. astronauts and perhaps similar test flights, unreported, by Russian cosmonauts.

Sometime, though, this string of success will be broken. Space travel will have its first martyr.

Whether he dies virtually before the eyes of millions, in one of the lavishly publicized U.S. experiments, or whether he perishes unknown to the world, behind the cloak of communist secrecy, his death will arouse questionings. Thousands, if he is an American, or a score or so if he is Russian, will ask themselves whether his death was necessary.

That is a question which can only be answered by finding the answer to another. What is necessary? Of all man's exploits, how many have been essential to his survival? And, if none of them were essential is expected of man, where can any line be drawn?

The Russian and American successes prove beyond any reasonable doubt that by most standards the risk in man's first halting steps into space is not out of proportion to the significance of the achievement.

But we must adjust our thinking to a new scale, or statistics will delude us.

Those 650,000 miles of safe rocket flight are, compared with the immensities of space which man may some day traverse, no more than a baby's first four tentative steps compared with the distance he will walk in his lifetime.

Car Serves Many Purposes

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has made a survey of the expenditures of what it considers the average Canadian family and its report shows that this average family spends more in a year on the upkeep of its car than it spends on clothing for all members of the family.

The Canadian Press stressed this point in its story of the survey. The reporter evidently feels that there is something out of proportion in the share of the family income allotted to the automobile. He will have company.

People who take this attitude fail to consider the function of things. The car plays many roles. By its means, many families reduce expenditures on housing, obtaining better accommodation at lower cost in rural areas. Without the family car to get the wage earner to and from work, this would be impossible.

The average family, we are told, spends $518 on the automobile and $160 on recreation. But much of the expenditure on the car is really a spending on recreation. It is used to transport members of the family to and from various recreational activities, as well as providing, in itself, a form of recreation.

What is true of the automobile is also true, in lesser degrees, of expenditures on other items, such as food, housing, furnishings and even clothing. With the average family, at least a part of such expenditures should be included under the general heading of recreation—food for entertaining, provision of play space in the home or garden for young people or adults, clothing worn primarily during leisure hours.

Re-arranged in this manner, the surprising thing will not be the amount of money spent on the family car, but rather the amount spent on recreational activities. But really we should not be amazed at this. We ought long ago to have recognized that our standard of living is well above the subsistence level.

If the spirit of nationalism gets into literature, it stops being literature.—William Faulkner.

Tory and Grit Platforms Have Many Similar Planks

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Notes from the Campaign Trail . . .

Could?

Can't tell a Grit from a Tory?

Not surprising!

For if you've been trying to keep politics out of the picture and forget all the two parties have to offer, you're not alone.

In preparing their election manifestoes, the Liberals could almost have been writing for the Conservatives' shoulders . . . or it may have been the other way around. Certainly there are many similarities with words pointing at the Liberals.

Anyway, it seems the political words are full of corporate.

Conservative or Liberal—and that actually makes the popularity contest is going to be won by either of the two—the Tories are many, if, indeed, not all of the basic planks of their platform are pinched.

But maybe this only goes to show that neither of the two big and responsible — parties holds a patent on good, live election talk.

This doesn't, of course, apply to the two splinter groups, the New Democratic Party and Social Credit, without even a wild outside chance of getting in, let alone to promise anything anybody's little heart desires.

And neither it they do.

SOLID STUFF

The main planks of both the Liberal and Conservative platforms have been well and truly seasoned.

Many a Grit and Tory silke, in elections long gone have stood on them, and don't be surprised to discover in campaigns still to come that they are still in use.

The basics of the Conservative platform, for instance, were laid out six years ago when John Diefenbaker took over from Georges Drew and the Old Tory party, after years in the wilderness, found a leader, President Hill and political fame and fortune.

The "New Deal" first drafted the program, there were loud echoes of Mackenzie King from the Liberals that he was stealing their stuff.

Since then, at the last national Liberal convention — when, policy was sandwiched in — he hashed over — the complaints came in reverse, with the Tories accusing the Grits of political plagiarism.

Both sides can argue a pretty convincing case, for they both have been using extremely well-oured phrases and words to cementer their platforms.

Since both parties like any fraternal organization — must be almost all things to all men, in the campaigning for votes, they have played it safe as they reasonably could be. A "yea" to motion and approving virtue", as the saying has it.

ME TOO

Roughly, in a word, this is where they stand on the basis:

Taxation: Cut it.

Social Security: Up it.

Farmers: Stouter, higher price supports.

Credit: More at easier terms.

Trade: Increase it.

Housing: More and less.

Defence Spending: More defence, less spending.

Public Works: More, period.

And so it goes.

Last one probably makes up its mind on a thorny issue. . . such as national weapons . . . and the other "can't make up its mind."

So they both subscribe to the tried and true threefold aim of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King: Prudent spending if necessary, but not necessarily so; clear weapons.

And so they go, on down the line, with the two party platform so closely parallel in the difficult to tell a (political) player even with a program.

TIGHTLY, NOW!

Now, the campaign caravans have been rolling for a week, better be on your best behavior if your going to any of those elections rallies . . . for your could be fined as much as $500 or

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY
DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS
LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

Why is there such a universal fear of death? Surely the fear that circumstance which has come to every person that ever lived on this earth. If they have gone through it, why can't we? Is there anything so very terrible about death after all?

Of course, we think of this judgement. But the judgement will probably be a great surprise to us for although we will be rebuked for things for which at present we do not rebuke ourselves, we shall also be praised for virtues we do not now suspect we have. There is mystery about where we go from here. But why should that mystery alarm us? Certainly we go somewhere. God did not create us to exist a few years and when our lives are half completed to destroy us and wipe us out of existence. No sane human being would adopt such a policy, and God is the perfection of all wisdom.

Why cannot we trust His love? He has promised us that while we lived on this planet — can we not trust Him to the end, whatever that may be? Pain? Yes, we do not understand that. Sorrow? Yes, but we can interpret that to us on some later date or in some future sphere.

We know that God Himself suffered in a stream of human history in the form of His Son and supported death. He buried death for all of us. We can drain the cup with Him, and when we do we will find that the cup is not one of bitterness.

"God is love" (I John 4:8).

The club proposes to conduct weekly events of track and field sports at the Recreation Park and already a progress has been outlined and will be presented to a general meeting of all those interested in such competitions, at an open meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening.

Many People Enjoy Work

Brantford Expositor

"For every person who likes to work, there are a dozen who don't. The whole trouble becomes they have to. . . Most people are allergic to work: they have an aversion to it; they all want six months holiday twice a year, with pay."

So said a speaker, described as a production expert, in an address at the annual banquet staged by the Greater Winnipeg Personnel Association in Manitoba's capital city.

Mr. David Turnbull, Montreal, was exaggerating somewhat, of course, but it is certainly true that in a great variety of reasons, not everyone is happy in his job.

Even the great Dr. Samuel Johnson (of dictionary fame), conceded that "no man loves labor for labor's sake." And Mark Twain went further, "I don't like work even when I see others doing it."

Charles Beaudelaire, an influential French poet (1821-1867), wrote: "One must work. Right before the opportunity to get out of despair—since it proves, on close examination, that work is less horrible than amusing oneself."

Even if there was the fellow who reluctantly decided to go to work until he could find something better to do.

The school guidance people and, later on, the personnel officers and industrial psychologists, are busy on this doing . . . something to remedy this state of affairs. But they have made little progress to date.

Meanwhile, it the cynic suggests that labor unions seem to be striving for less and less work for more and more pay, until a 30-hour, three- or even two-day week—and, he asks, what then?—it is to be hoped that some of the more forward-looking union leaders have already begun to ponder the problem of "leisure" — a wise move in any case, if only on the score of despair—since it does not logically reach and fumble for a button that is not there.

Capitalists Show Heart

St. Thomas Times-Journal

The Canadian Pyramid Company has just done something that would probably befit Ghiles Montcher and wouldn't be believed at all by Karl Marx.

For the pat 35 years there has been a shoestring "pop" flower and it is Montcher who has faithfully cared for the welfare of the Canadian Pyramid executives in New York City. He was recompensed to the tune of $1,000 a week by the 50-55 persons whose work he shepherded.

Nevertheless, when the corporation moved its offices several months ago, Montcher was followed right along, taking care of his customers.

Now, however, Amaleen Pyramid is going to remove to Wayne, N.J., and the 56-year-old "boy" regretfully decided he couldn't attend the daily long trip there from his home.

So what did this capitalistic, monopolistic corporation do?

Despite the fact he had never been on the corporation payroll for a single day, its board of directors voted him a pension, commencing May 1, which will keep him in comfort for the rest of his life.

This is one of the nicest things we've ever known a corporation to do. And because it was strictly a by-product of the action, the Amaleen Pyramid has run up a shining banner for the free enterprise system. Any future critiques of capitalism will have to contend with the fact that it fits into their preconceived picture of the downtrodden workers.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A good twenty years ago, I lived in a house with a bathroom to serve a large family. And it was the custom for each of us to keep our towels in our rooms, carrying them to and from the bathroom. To this day, I find myself every Saturday night looking for a towel out of the bathroom.

Nevertheless, memory is an interesting thing. Two houses and fifteen years ago, the ball right button was on the right hand side as you entered the front door. Hardly a day passes that I do not automatically reach and fumble for a button that is not there.

It is forty-five years since the first great war. Several wars have come and gone since then, and we've gotten the description of wool we soldiers of 1917 had to wound spirally up our legs, has been abandoned long, long since. But not a month goes by that one or other miserable morning, when I grumble out of bed, I don't find myself, when I hitch on my trousers, fold over the cuff in two deft motions and then put on the unconscious memory, hold the bottom end and glance about for my puttees for one shocked instant while I recollect where and who I am.

Protests Proposal On Hospital Fees

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer

I read an article on page two, column one of your May 18th issue in which the Chamber of Commerce of Belleville has the nerve to suggest that we, the citizens of Belleville in addition to the already extremely high charges paid by Ontario Hospital Commission, a daily charge out of our pockets in addition to those staying longer than necessary in hospital.

Allow me to remind the members of the Chamber, with whom we are not familiar, that no one enters the hospital without the doctor's permission and direction and no one leaves the hospital until the doctor so directs and not just because he feels medically. I cannot imagine a doctor prescribing hospital care for a person if that person did not need it.

The Chamber of Commerce is trying to have progressive legislation passed against us in this case and regressive legislation is certainly not wanted by the people.

A Lift For Living

Law of Self-Preservation

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Firmly embedded in the mind of man is the maxim, "Self-preservation is nature's first law." Wherever we look we see life struggling to preserve itself. The birds build their nests, shelter their young, migrate with the seasons, moved by the instinct for self-preservation.

Look through the microscope at your own blood stream. If a blood-vessel is wounded, an army of white corpuscles is rushed to the defense, all as a part of this same principle of self-preservation. The cry of the wolf in the pack, the building of bomb piles, the struggle to expand our national economy, the conference of diplomats — do not all these stem from the main root of man's desire to save himself? And is not this desire the first law of Nature? Well, that is the belief on which we have been reared.

In the light of this law of self-preservation, how are we to explain the self-sacrifice which Jesus taught and supremely demonstrated when He deliberately laid down His life on the cross? Or to come nearer home, how do we account for the acts of heroic sacrifice which take place around us in our own time — the mother giving her life for her child, the fireman dying in order to rescue the occupant of a burning building? CRUEL WORLD

We recall what they said to Jesus. When they beheld Him hanging on the cross, some cried sarcastically: "He saved others; Himself He cannot save; let Him now come down from the cross and we will believe Him." However cruel those words were, they sounded prettyplausible. There on the cross was a man who had gone about professing to save people, He allowed men to call Him Lord. He assumed to speak in the name of God as master of life and death. Surely if He really possessed such power, He would use it on Himself.

Some years ago I watched a long-haired soap-box orator selling pamphlets which presumed to offer guarantees for prosperity and happiness. As I took at his frayed sleeves and threadbare clothes, I felt like saying: "Physician, heal thyself." No wonder then, that His critics cried to Jesus on the cross, saying sarcastically: "He saved others; Himself he cannot save."

But they missed two deeply paradoxical principles of self-preservation which Jesus taught. One is: If we are to save ourselves, we must spend ourselves. "Life is more than meat," said Jesus. Again He declared: "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things he possesseth." We cannot save life by hoarding it as we hoard ice for money in time of scarcity. When a person tries to be a miser with his health, he usually makes himself miserable. Those who are ever trying to conserve their strength, constantly watching for symptoms of illness and coddling their complaints become slaves to the thermometer and fugitives from germs living below par and often dying before their time.

DEVELOP BY SPENDING

We develop our physical and mental powers by spending them. Wherever lies to save his muscle or his memory by not using them is sure to weaken him. The power of love or sympathy is never exhausted by use. But these do shrivel by self-protection.

Another principle of self-preservation taught by Christ is this: If we would save ourselves, we must deny ourselves. Human lives, like trees, need pruning. Our instinctive desires branch out in all directions and the lower branches must be trimmed if the higher are to be developed.

Horace Mann, the pioneer educator, wrote: "In vain do they talk of happiness who never subdued an impulse in obedience to a principle. He who never sacrificed a present to a future good, or a personal to a general one, can speak of happiness only as the blind do of colors."

A mother once brought her baby to be blessed by Gen. Robert E. Lee. The gallant old soldier, who gave his post-war years to training young men in pursuits of peace, took the infant in his arms. As he handed him back he said to the mother: "Teach him to deny himself." Are we learning self-denial in our feverish struggle for self-preservation?

Wife of Liberal Party Leader Fine Hostess

OTTAWA — Mrs. Lester Pearson, wife of the Liberal Party leader, used to resent the demands politics made on her husband — but she's right there pitching hard this campaign.

There is little doubt that she likes electioneering and she is regarded as a strong asset to her husband.

Mr. Pearson's big addresses to band's speeches before delivery, and shapes a vital interest in election issues. She has the habit of sitting in the audience instead of on the platform for Mr. Pearson's big addresses in order to be goer over...

A chic, petite woman, native of Winnipeg before her marriage in 1935, Mrs. Pearson is a strictly behind-the-scenes political wife, but takes little active part in the campaign, but accompanies her husband on most of his tours around the country.

Known as an excellent hostess, Mrs. Pearson enjoys the special side of campaigning, although she has had to overcome a deep reserve to do so.

Preference is said by Mrs. Pearson is a gardener by hobby and a cook by choice. Their chief hate is driving in cars — she would much rather fly, Pearson once says, "a pilot is a trained operator — but some of the drivers on the road these days look in the back seat half the time."

The Pearsons have been quietly in the exclusive Rockcliffe Park area of Ottawa since they grown son and daughter. Their son Geoffrey followed his father's footsteps into the Department of External Affairs, and their daughter Mrs. Walter Hannah is the wife of a Toronto doctor.

The Pearsons have seven grandchildren, and are mogen-fully spending their eighth as a campaign present.

The passing of a motion to continue giving two $300.00 scholarships followed. The members of the club were then reminded of the Regional Conference to be held in Kingston on May 25th and 26th.

In the annual meeting copies of the annual reports were distributed to the members and the chairman of each committee moved the adoption of her report.

FIRE TWO BLASTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear test in the Pacific set an explosive record this morning ground were exploded Friday, the Atomic Energy Commission announced. Both were of the high yield, having the blast equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Mosaic Art Demonstrated At Chi Rho

The May 16th meeting of Chi Rho got off to a good start with the regular business period. Competition in games of target baseball, volleyball, Chinese checkers and crokinole were enjoyed by all.

The business portion came to order with points to discuss for the future entertainment evening at the County Home. This has been a project of the group in the past and is scheduled for May 30th this year.

TALENT VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Most important was President Allan Gardiner's appeal for volunteers in the line of talent. Members suggested either fruit or ice cream for refreshment to treat the Old Folks.

With these outstanding points cleared the business meeting was closed.

Allan Gardiner introduced Mrs. Phyllis Diamond to the group, who in turn gave an interesting talk and display on the "Art of Mosaics". Mrs. Diamond's work in Mosaics went back as far as 30,000 B.C., therefore it was obviously not a new discovery. She explained, however, that it is the current fad as a hobby for about the past eight years. To most it is a family new thing to do. Mrs. Diamond showed much enthusiasm for her subject and told how fellow members of the Arts and Crafts Club, to which she belongs, have also become interested.

The display consisted of different types, colors and cuts of tiles which were made into lovely products, such as trays, vases, bowls and ornaments.

Members found themselves quite absorbed and asked all the "ins" and "outs" of the art. Mrs. Diamond's talk and display for the evening were enjoyed and appreciated by the Chi Rho Fellowship.

Following the display, a tasty lunch of various kinds of sandwiches, squares and tea was served by Betty Gardiner, Marjorie Butler and Mary Dack. During this time a pictorial plate was presented by Allan Gardiner on behalf of the Chi Rho to Barney and Leslie Beirnes. The occasion was not an especially happy one as it would be the last meeting for the couple to attend. They are leaving Belleville and will be residing in Cold Lake, Alberta.

The Rev. Michael Caswell closed the evening with prayer.

LOOK FOR JOBS

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Medical Association is conducting a province-wide survey to find jobs for bachelor-wan doctors who won't work under their province's compulsory medical insurance scheme. The plan is to go into effect in Canada on July 1. At the same time, the MMA suggests that Manitoba doctors giving care to Saskatchewan residents should ask for their bills to be paid in cash.

Going Places:

Tallest, Most Expensive Hotel Challenges Hilton Supremacy

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

New York — A hotel in case you didn't know it, makes most of its money not from the rental of rooms but from what is called "sales." This includes the perverseness to feed, in detail in all its forms and the rental of public space for catering purposes.

In a city like New York, particularly this season, with a healthy proportion of the guest rooms also are rented in and group events. What it all adds up to is that more than two-thirds of a hotel's income and three-quarters of its profit may come from "sales."

For 30 years the unchallenged kingpin of New York's hotel entertaining business has been Conrad Hilton's fashionable Waldorf-Astoria. Now it is being challenged for the first time.

The challenger — currently just a set of steel girders dauntingly high — is the new Americana Hotel at Seventh Avenue and West Fifty-second Street. It will be 50 stories tall, making it the world's tallest hotel. It will have 2,000 rooms, making it the world's most magnificent of all, if it will be the first hotel ever designed so exclusively around the sales and catering function.

TEN BALLROOMS

Opening in September, the Americana will have ballrooms that have ballrooms — 10 in all, several of which can be subdivided into two or more rooms. The largest ballroom will be capable of seating more than 4,000 persons, at a time under the glittering chandeliers and pillars, one of the largest such rooms in the world. For the first time in a hotel, all the public rooms will be almost completely divorced from the main hotel function, and will even feature a private automobile entrance for the use of the President of the United States.

The Americana is already assured business from its own 1,000 rooms in the Hilton chain in America, Canada and Puerto Rico, as it is affiliated with Loew's Theatres.)

The Tisches' first major enterprise in the hotel business in Miami Beach, a gaudy but successful one, was perhaps the grandest and most successful of resort designers. Morris Lapidus. It also developed the Tisches' second effort, New Yorker, which opened in record 1 last year. Predictably, it came up a little gruffy for Lexington Avenue, but successful.

Needless to say, the Tisches commissioned Lapidus to do the new Americana. While one wing will look like a huge open book standing on edge, they seem to have succeeded in convincing him that Seventh Avenue isn't Collins Avenue.

To give you an idea of how one goes about earning back a $50,000,000 investment, the Tisches started by hiring one Claudius Charles Phillips, as the guiding light of the Americana. For many years Phillipps was director of sales at the Waldorf and was something of a legend in his own time. His efforts were considered personally responsible for a staggering proportion of the Waldorf's income.

Four months before the Americana was scheduled to open, Phillips had already booked $20,000,000 worth of business through 1966. This includes more than 125 major conventions, some of which were scheduled before ground was broken a year and a half ago.

The ambitious Tisches aren't through yet. They have two new motor hotels under construction. Their crown jewel, however, will be the Regency at Park Avenue and East Sixtieth Street. It will be so exclusive that it will be the envy of their brochures it is mysteriously identified as a sign Low's hotel." The publicity department coyly insists that its name cannot be used for public publicity for the hotel.

Together with Conrad Hilton, who is also building a large new hotel here, the Tisches may be changing the whole complexion. Tourism is the city's major industry, and for a variety of reasons it has been suffering of late.

One thousand of new rooms may stimulate business by bringing hotel rates down, while forcing older places to spruce up badly needed renovating. Rooms will be needed for the 1964 World's Fair also, and the many first-time visitors it may bring to New York may give business a much needed shot in the arm from the usually prosperous tourists and convention-goers.

GETS 5 YEARS

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—John Miller, 60, of Melville, Sask., Friday was given a five-year sentence when convicted on a reduced charge of manslaughter. Miller originally was charged with capital murder in the April 6 shooting of his wife, Katherine Miller, 62, at the farm home of their son.

Versions of Beauty

For Maytime and infinite beau.
I offer a tribute of rhyme,
When earth is expansive with green-ness,
All vibrant with joy unconfined;
With joy, as elusive as fragrance,
And love notes the oriole sings.
To his mate, as she sits in her hammock;
And covers their young with her wings.

But versions of joy and of beauty,
Resist puny measures of rhyme
Though quaver of bird and bee music,
Enthuses my trochaic mess.
So I savor the lushness of Maytime,
With each breath of the nectarine breeze,
And store in my heart a wide vision,
Of blossoms on countryside trees.

"LETTER FROM MILDRED DILLING: HARPIST"

"We have gained a peace . . ." — Rupert Brooke.

15 Cooper Road,
Hong Kong,
November 4, 1961.

Greetings Glorious: From my cushions on board a luxurious junk, upholstered junk, the creation of my hosts, Walter and Barbara Mallory-Browne, we have been lunching and tasting as we sail, with a swim in between, in a remote bay on a beach of finest sand, and a meander in our bathing suits over a hill, through the fields to the village, and back past rice paddies and through tropical greenery.

We are heading into Repulse Bay at dusk but there is nothing "repulsive" about this bay: junks and sampans, blue sky and water. On November 7th I shall have been six months fascinating and strenuous — in the Far East, but the best from this boat is the climax.

There is also the luxury of being lazy for a few days after the first time and the joy of being with longtime friends. Confucius says "Old friends in remote country — gold."

Mallorys heads the Asia Foundation here and we live on it, on a hill with a breath-taking view of Hong Kong and its harbor. (A picture ship from the Middle Ages with an elaborate high stern just tore down from its mast to pass by with its one ruby light.) How we are passing! hundreds of junks and small boats, the picturesque homes of teeming thousands, many of them refugees from Communist China.

The women folk do all of the sculling, smiling as they take their loads and masters on their errands. I have been told that the card for husband is Chinese is "lord" and "master". The husbands return the compliment by referring to their "my no-good wife" and of his offspring as "my tai-o-ma".

His home, which may be a palace, is referred to as "my humble hut". In Chinese it is not seemly to speak highly of one's own family or possessions. This place is called Aberdeen, but it's as different from the Aberdeen I recall in Scotland as the never-to-meet East and West can be.

If you want a new and strange experience, come to these waters around Hong Kong island at night (with expeienced rowers) under a glowing sky as the lights come on, outlining the smells and grandeur of these Oriental boats. Be sure to come in October and November for the finest weather imaginable; brilliant sunshine, never too hot, but no cools needed.

I flew here a week ago today from Tokyo and have been given most considerately a thirty days week with only three short radio interviews and a recital from my record. (I talked them out of a live radio recital.) Yesterday, I gave a lecture-recital in the reposing Chinese home, a sort of palace on a hill with a view of the huge harbor. Next week there will be five recitals in a row, with two free days before and after. Then I shall whisk about getting a Hong Kong wardrobe so that when I get home for Christmas I shall have some Oriental finery to dazzle all of you.

The German Consul General and his wife took me for a day into the New Territories for a peek at Red China. The hill I saw from the British police look-out was a placid pastoral scene, exactly matching my free side of the river. But with about 300 refugees a month continuously escaping into Hong Kong, there is a difference, over there, they have gaunt want, and here, there is peace and prosperity. No one goes hungry in Hong Kong, and the British Government has a free food and milk distribution program for the needy.

They are doing a remarkable job of feeding, housing and educating this flood of refugees. The Asia Foundation is also aiding in this good work supported by American contributions.

Bellevingette: Miss Dilling, world renowned harpist, is a personal friend of Mrs. John Deacon, 221 John St., who as a recipient of Miss Dilling's letter, has kindly allowed readers of this column access to its contents. For this we are indeed indebted to Mrs. Deacon and with best wishes and sincere thanks.

QUESTION:

Would you please give me some suggestions for late evening meals with cold? I usually have 4 or 6 people for an evening twice a week. I like something less sweet. I often serve asparagus tips wrapped in cheese and then wrapped in a slice of bread held by a toothpick and toasted. Also bacon and cheese on bread, sprinkled with chopped olives and toasted. Do you think it proper to serve lobster newburg on fresh biscuits at midnight? We are about 200 miles up in the north. We have neighbors but foods available except rye bread. Please give me some new ideas that will wow them! — O. S.

I have mailed to you two recipes for late snacks and one giving Bran Bouchees. Sure, you can serve Lobster Newburg at midnight. I would like nothing better! Also try

CHICKEN PIE SAVORY (repeated from November 26/60):

Filling: Raw white meat from 3 chicken breasts or 1 lb. raw chicken meat from other parts of chicken; or veal, ½ cup each chopped onion and celery, ¼ slice whole wheat or white bread, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup skim milk, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 chicken bouillon cube, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon tarragon (optional). Put raw chicken breast meat through medium knife of grinder. Follow it through with the onion and celery and follow them with the ½ slice of bread to clean the machine. Sauté in the butter, stirring until meat is seared, immediately add boiling water and cook gently 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add milk, bouillon cube, salt and pepper and cook another 15 minutes longer covered. Add parsley and tarragon, if used, and remove from heat. While this is cooking 15 minutes prepare;

For a clear color when dyeing, first bleach out all the old, even if it's very faded and light.

Top and Bottom. Three egg yolks, 1 cup commercial sour cream (where sour cream is unavailable buttermilk may be used, but don't substitute unless you have 6- 7-3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 egg whites, 1-3 cup finely shredded old Cheddar cheese. Beat together egg yolks, sour cream, flour and salt until batter is smooth. Beat whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Divide a little more than half of this batter into a well-buttered deep 9 or 10" pie plate. Sprinkle half of the cheese over it and bake 10 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr. Remove from oven and spread chicken mixture over evenly. Carefully pour remaining batter over and sprinkle that with remaining cheese. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer, or until golden and firmish. (If desired heat may be reduced to 350 deg. Fahr. for final baking.)

CRABMEAT OR LOBSTER HOT CANAPES:

Flake fresh meat or lobster, moisten with a little bottled mayonnaise and lemon juice and pile high on small round split tea biscuits. Sprinkle tops with grated Parmesan or freshly grated Cheddar cheese and broil for about 5 or 6 minutes just before serving. Tops may be garnished with sliced stuffed olives, which I recommend.

Also, she's a brute. I haven't the heart to walk out.

Mrs. G.G. — She's a nervous wreck and has a blood condition, too, the should leave him.

Mrs. B.Z. — I don't want to break up my 35-year marriage if anything can be saved of it. I was 19 when I married Boyd and trouble began five months later when I refused to adopt a baby born to a girl Boyd's best friend had gotten in trouble. He's been hateful to me ever since.

After five years we adopted a daughter who's now 30 and married. We also have our own children, a girl 17 and a boy 13. All those years I've been getting up at 6:30 to wait on Boyd. The house is clean, the clothes are always ready, his meals are on time. But he not only fails to appreciate anything and take me out once in a while, but he also enjoys rubbing my sensitiveness. I try to give myself, if I stay up to watch TV, so that I'm not losing sleep. If I invite my friends over, he insults them. If I go out with them and they come home to find the kids in bed, he's raving. How long should I endure this?

Mrs. G.G. — I'm the friend Mrs. Z invites over. I've been her confidante she'll break. I'm the only friend who still calls on the Z.'s. Even my husband can't tell Boyd's faults to his face any more. Boyd has alienated every one who'd like to be friendly.

Mrs. Z. has taken more than any human being should be expected to suffer. For the past seven years she's been the doctor's care. I've seen her when she can hardly move, her arms or fingers so sore they swell up so from a heart and blood condition. She's a nervous wreck from the turmoil Boyd creates with her and the children over bedtime, going out entertaining and other everyday matters.

I feel as close to her as a sister and I know she doesn't have to put up with his kind of lifely. Her mother lives alone in a big house and she could take the children and move in there. But she still thinks Boyd will turn human.

The Council: From a hasty glance, specific evidence is presented by Mrs. Z., and verified by her friend, we have isolated one of the unbearable frictions between husband and wife. This example indicates the futility of hoping that time will dissolve deep personality defects. Mrs. Z. has given the statement in about 35 years of time. Yet she and Boyd must continue to live should have done — cleared the air! — during those early quarrels when she was 19, Boyd 21, a thick wall of smog between them, with Boyd retreating to sleep, hermitism and spite, and his wife to illness, self-pity and surrender.

One of the signs of good mental health is self-assertion, plus a respect for the self-assertion of others. In that way, much needless rag results from marital spats. In fact, one psychologist claims that one conflict in marriage is normal and that it's the avoidance of conflict that piles up disaster. In avoiding the "having-it-out" sessions demanded by Mrs. Z's highhandedness, Mrs. Z. has merely postponed the inevitable through painful, wasted years.

Perhaps that first quarrel, the one about lying to the illegitimate baby into their home as a favor, ought to have been taken to a wise mediator — a pastor, a social worker — rather than be angrily ended by Mrs. Z.'s boiler-than-thou refusal and Boyd's permanent sulk.

At any rate, much genuine love can grow out of brave, "creative" quarrelling — the sort which isn't dead-end — that is, always bogging down in name-calling, weeping, rehashing of irrelevancies, Mrs. Z.'s salvation will come from being able both to speak up and to listen to Boyd. For then she will need the concurrence of a marriage counselor to help her, Science, as well as specific procedures.

It looks very much as though her bodily ills are proclaiming the presence of bottled-up tensions which aren't relieved through talk and action. Resentment must come out somewhere. If Mrs. Z. starts expressing hers, in a kind though assertive way, her physical symptoms may ease.

Fashionable Flannel

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Fine French flannel in such hues as banana yellow, pale, dusty green or oyster white is the happy choice for a pleasing daytime dress. Although one piece, it has a two-piece look.

The simple bodice has dropped shoulder seams and the clustered box-pleated skirt is stitched underneath to hold its stiffened shape. The belt has a tailored bow and it doesn't cling or do a shape-defining job.

A WORD TO THE WEEK-END HOSTESS

If you live in the country — or a reasonable facsimile thereof — you're one of the lucky ones. The annual migration of weekenders is about to start.

Even if you live just a stone's skip and jump from city limits, cement-weary cousins will be grabbing at the slightest invitation to put down some roots in the green of city fatigue.

Naturally, you'll want every sight visitor to feel at home. The sense of "belonging," instead of being an honeyed line, is transmitted in the invitation itself. By being thoughtful about her guests' needs, the gracious hostess can bolster the feeling as the visit progresses.

Let's start with the invitation.

Guest wants to feel that he "fits in" with the hostess' plans. And to do that, he wants to dress correctly. If you have something special in mind, like going to a Saturday night dance or breaking a cocktail party, let your guests know, so they'll have the right clothes. Blue suede shoes don't go expected to cover all country needs, and you'll want to be forewarned if packing a wardrobe that's different from your own.

When guests arrive, see that they're comfortably settled. Even if accommodations are a bit of just a cot in the den, make sure that closet space is available and that a few empty drawers are handy, so a weekender doesn't have to live out of his suitcase for the duration. Especially if a guest is visiting for the first time, give him

WINS AWARD

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir has won the French government's Emile Girardin Trophy, awarded annually to French-language daily newspapers for excellence in leadership, it was learned here Thursday. The trophy is awarded by l'Office du Vocabulaire de France, a branch of the French cultural affairs department.

They seem to have decided down Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, that if retired folks are people.

Mecklenburg is where Charlotte is located, and they've organized there a "Committee on Retirement Problems" because of a public agency called Housing Service of Charlotte and Mecklenburg. Heart Services are headed up by a vivacious young lady with the Dickensian name of Marbelle Scoggin.

Mrs. Scoggin's group has published a booklet called "The Outlook for Oldsters in Mecklenburg." In it are these segments:

An age map — showing where people over 65 live in the county, you can pick your own neighborhood.

Need a Job? — a survey of opportunities for older people which explains that good jobs aren't growing on trees, but that small companies and temporary assignments offer opportunities for people in the upper age limit on qualified workers. Also, the sometimes frustrating jobs, that 9 per cent of companies answering a questionnaire said they would hire new employees who were oldsters.

Volunteer Jobs — "For those who can telephone, type, sew, drive, entertain, speak, paint, build shelves or babysit."

Fun — Remember (unpaid) jobs are waiting."

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Money Matters — a listing of the agencies in the county that can give advice and opportunities for aid.

Friends and fun — a listing of clubs, groups, campgrounds, oldsters, including such names as The Best Years Club, The Golden Age Club, The Hilltop Grove Golden Years Club, The Golden Age Club and The Queen City Singers.

A Place to Live — rapidly expanding list of public housing projects in Charlotte where apartments for one-bedroom units is given to persons over 65 . . . and of public, private and religious homes for older people.

Why Keep on Learning — a survey of educational institutions where older people can take everything from arithmetic to auto mechanics.

Transportation — "Every city has a community in which so many clubs . . . civic, fraternal patriotic, social and religious . . . many projects to help their fellow men . . . many of these in services to the over-65 group." Then it lists projects and the groups which older people can take part.

KEY SEGMENT

The school of the Mecklenburg community toward retired people is one of the key segments of the booklet, and is expressed by George F. Vereen, Jr., in a booklet which

"Chronological age has little to do with a human being's capacity to contribute, though it is handy piece of information for those who want to do long-range planning birthday parties, voting for the first time or applying for a driver's license. It does not except for its value as a vital statistic. Personnel age is relatively meaningless."

Mr. Vereen goes on to the statement of a healthy maturity in the later years, with emphasis on worthwhile satisfying performance. Our aim should be to increase the function and efficiency of our senior citizens, rather than just add to the number, he says, of useless old people.

"Few who reach retirement have lived useless lives . . ."

The Mecklenburg booklet can be had as a public service for 25 cents from the Communities on Aging, 224 Charlottetown Mall, Charlotte, N.C.)

reflects a dedication to older people that is seldom found elsewhere except in a few of the retirement communities in California and Florida.

Clutch Slip Can Cause Overheating

By EUGENE B. NELSON

If you own a stick shift car and, with the arrival of warm weather, find that you've begun to have overheating problems, don't pass up the clutch when you're searching for the cause. Start with the cooling system, of course, in most cases, the trouble is found there. But, if this isn't your answer, consider the possibility of a slipping clutch, a cause of many "boil-overs."

Even a slight clutch slip makes the engine overwork by not operating for the purpose of soaring, quickly.

What makes the clutch slip? It may be that lazy left foot you have a habit of resting on the pedal. Perhaps you didn't realize that the clutch pedal free play is going and so

Socred Policies Will Work in The Maritimes

Thompson

By DAL WARRINGTON

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Social Credit policies could work in the Maritimes as well as prosperous as Alberta and British Columbia, Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said Friday night.

"They haven't anything out there you don't have down here," he said. "Oh, you may say they have some oil. But you have all the resources you need down here.

"All we did out west was introduce sound bankers principles."

Mr. Thompson, winding up a two-day Maritime visit, spoke at a nominating meeting for Saint John-Albert constituency. Sixty people heard him in the local Y.M.C.A. hall, which has room for about 80.

The audience included the five Social Credit candidates nominated as far as New Brunswick which has a total of 10 Commons seats. The meeting nominated the fifth, Rev. Harvey Leland, who was in Toronto attending a Baptist Sunday School convention.

Mr. Thompson, a former Conservative and one-time provincial secretary for Premier John Albert Campbell of New Brunswick, said the Social Credit party was formed in 1935 and has been successful in every province it has entered.

"Why, in Alberta, we elected 56 members out of 63 in the first election we fought there," he said. "Oh, you may say they have some oil. But you have all the resources you need down here.

"All we did out west was introduce sound bankers principles."

Ewan Morton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. C. Morton, had been successful in the final year in Arts at Queen's University. The convocation was held on Saturday.

OUTLINES PRINCIPLES

Among the "sound business principles" Mr. Thompson advocated are liquidation of the national debt, lower taxes, lowinterest loans for farmers and small businessmen, loans at additional cost for provincial and municipal public works.

He characterized Social Credit as the only private-enterprise party in Canada today. The Conservatives, Liberals and New Democrats were all leading the country toward socialism in varying degrees of speed.

The federal government had got so large it was stunting the country's progress instead of helping it.

As for national health insurance, Canada could not afford a government plan on top of their present taxes.

The most expensive way to get anything is to get the government to provide it. That's not to say we should not have health services for everyone but only through Ottawa. Let's figure out some other way."

MAKES QUIET APPEAL

Mr. Thompson repeated his appeal for Social Credit votes in the quiet, assured manner of an experienced man selling an exclusive policy.

He described the Liberal-Labor Conservatives as the "Pearson-baker compaby" trying to make it "the same old stuff" and the NDP, "it isn't selling at all."

Of Social Credit prospects he said: "Perhaps we can't say we're going to win very much in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, but I would say that when the votes are counted June 18 the odd-like parties are going to be surprised."

Mr. Thompson almost didn't get to the meeting. He spent most of Friday at Halifax airport waiting for the fog to lift so his plane could take off for Saint John.

He finally reached here at 5 p.m., five hours late, missing an afternoon seminar of party candidates and workers he was scheduled to attend.

Today he flies westward to continue his campaign in Quebec.

Blunt Language Used by Pearson In PC Riding

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal leader Pearson, Friday night tossed aside his qualifying phrases he has been sprinkling through his speeches and said: "Let's throw this government out."

It was his eighth speech of the day, and the hardest - hitting one of his week in Ontario —and it was delivered after a rousing reception in a strongly-Tory constituency, Carleton Place, Ont.

The quiet town of pastoral parks and comfortable old homes of retired farmers came alive with an eye-catching spectacle of short-skirted majorettes, the sash-enlivened band of the Orange Young Britons' band, and open white convertibles carrying girls in pastel frocks throwing confetti and streamers.

They led Mr. Pearson and the party's 25-year-old hopeful-to-be candidate, Vincent Kelly—a Roman Catholic running in a traditionally pro-Protestant, Protestant district—to the steps of Zion United Church, where dinner was arranged for 350 party workers. A Liberal orchestrinet said that in 1927 and 1953 the party had difficulty getting more than 35 workers to a dinner in the riding.

SPEAKS FROM STEPS

Mr. Pearson spoke from the church steps to a crowd of 500 adults and uncounted children, who overflowed the sidewalks, expressing confidence that whoever is elected prime minister will not be able to lead the party in the country to its great decision.

Then after the dinner catered by the church ladies' organization, Mr. Pearson spoke in the bluntest language he used all day.

The tide, he said, is swinging to the Liberals, and it will continue to do so "if the government out of this country" on June 10.

"This is not the only Tory riding which is going to be Liberal. I think of two others which have never been Liberal since Confederation."

"We have lost confidence and faith in this government," he declared.

"Let's throw this government out and see that I fails.

HAS 'CAUGHT FIRE

The Pearson travelling party, which arrives back in Ottawa Friday night for the weekend two hours later than planned because of a late meeting in Carleton Place, was overjoyed with the way the campaign had "caught fire."

Bruce Powe, chief Liberal organizer in Ontario, said, "I never thought I'd see the like of it in my life."

During the day Friday, Mr. Pearson travelled by motorcade through the four Ottawa Valley from Chalk River—where he had a friendly enemy plane-spotter—to Ottawa.

Along the way, at Pembroke, Renfrew, Eganville and, finally, Carleton Place, the new Liberal government would promise to give assistance to municipal projects promised by the present government, and would promise if possible to help with the economy moving forward again. It would be feasible to build a deep water canal system along the Ottawa River from Montreal to Georgian Bay.

PRINCE IS HURT

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Italy's former Crown Prince Umberto Romanuel, 25, was seriously injured early today when a sports car he was driving crashed into a tree.

Track-Laying On Railway Starts Aug 1

Diefenbaker

By DAVE McINTOSH

EDMONTON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker expects that the first sod-turning will be turned on August 1 to open the Edmonton campaign Friday.

The "up" was a warm-hearted reception at Vegreville, Alta., 80 miles east of here, which brought out the majority of the town's 2,000 residents and many from neighboring communities.

The "down" was the many empty seats in the Edmonton Gardens at an evening public meeting. Some 1,400 persons attended but there were about 3,800 certified seats in that portion of the arena set aside for the gathering. Conservative party officials said there was competition from sports and other events.

At Vegreville, Mr. Diefenbaker said no experience in the campaign was more appealing than the meeting about him of some of the 1,100 children from the school yard of the Queen Elizabeth School.

A hand microphone was held by Mr. Diefenbaker while he told the children their greatest gift was the kind of welcome which touches one's heart most deeply.

DIEFENBAKER'S POLICY

Mr. Diefenbaker went on to the Vegreville Arena where he spoke briefly before 3,000 persons were filled and many stood on the arena floor in front of the platform.

Discussing devaluation of the Canadian dollar, the Conservative section is already resulting in prices five or six cents higher per pound on wheat.

The government had also obtained a "tremendous" price which Canada never before had enjoyed. Production could thus be increased.

"Go ahead and produce," he told farmers, "the Conservative government out of this country" on June 10.

Edmonton, Mr. Diefenbaker said work would begin about Aug. 1 on the Great Slave Lake Railway between Peace River, Alta., and Hay River, N.W.T.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the first 70 miles of the 430-mile line to Pine Point on the south shore of Great Slave Lake will be completed this year.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

The prime minister said his government has given Canada "a national oil policy."

Alberta's gas exports in 1952 will be increased by 30,000,000,000 cubic feet from 170,000,000,000 cubic feet in 1961. Exports will double by 1965 after this increase.

At the same time, he said, "we are not going to hand away or sell our resources unless we have adequate for ourselves."

The government had asked for oil production of 640,000 barrels a day in 1961 and had got 400,000 barrels.

The prime minister moves his campaign into British Columbia today, visiting Cranbrook and Castlegar and addressing a rally at Nelson tonight at 8 p.m. He is scheduled to fly to Prince George, B.C., Sunday.

ASSASSINATION FAILS

CHATTAHOOCHEE, Fla. (AP) — Electrical wires were found Friday leading from the railroad track where President de Gaulle's special speaking-car train is recently passed to a field about 500 yards away. Local officials linked the discovery to the arrest of seven members of the European Secret Army who have admitted plotting to assassinate de Gaulle.

Social Credit Party Making Strenuous Effort to Break Old-Parties' Hold on Que.

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP) — The Social Credit party is saying simply that "you have nothing to lose by giving us a chance," in making its strenuous efforts to break the stranglehold of the old parties on Quebec's voting public province.

The party has nominated candidates for the June 16 federal election in each of Quebec's 75 constituencies. Real Caouette, 47, deputy national leader of the party and the only Social Credit member ever to be elected in Quebec province, says his party will win 30 of the 75 seats. In the last Parliament the Conservatives held 50 Quebec seats and the Liberals 25.

Mr. Caouette, a real pepper-pot on the hustings, is personally seeking election in Villeneuve constituency, in mineral-rich northwestern Quebec. In 1946 he won a federal by-election in Pontiac-Temiscamingue. It became the first Social Credit Member of Parliament in Canada. But he was defeated in 1949.

The energetic auto dealer from Rouyn, Que., Mr. Caouette has been personally credited with the party's success in the province. Through regular 15-minute radio broadcasts over CKRN he has been selling Social Credit for two years over a network of 13 stations in eastern and northern Quebec.

HIT TV HARD

Social Credit has poured more than $100,000 into television in hopes of establishing a solid base of support.

The party has used various means to raise campaign funds. Social Credit in Quebec province claims it has 14,000 members who paid an initiation fee of $1 and monthly dues of $1. Collections are taken up at campaign meetings and some funds also come from door-to-door canvassing.

The money all goes into the television broadcasts or the campaign posters and membership cards. The party does little newspaper advertising, paying the cost of campaign meetings verbally or using loudspeaker-equipped cars.

Reporters on the election campaign trail in Quebec report that in almost every area reached by the Caouette TV broadcast, Mr. Caouette has drawn large, packed houses.

One rally night in Arnaud, a road's end farm community 35 miles southeast of here, more than 900 people filled the 500 seat recreation centre to see Mr. Caouette speak. Hundreds more sat in cars outside, listening to loudspeakers.

In the rugged north and logging towns across the north, Mr. Caouette's biggest crowds have been turning out.

But in the Montreal area, where 60 per cent of Quebec's population lives, the party has had little success.

FOLLOW UP CAMPAIGN

Social Credit leaders have followed up their television campaign with door-to-door canvass of constituencies.

"In Bonaventure, 80 per cent of the voters have signed cards saying they will support us," says Dr. Raj Mercure, Quebec City physician and candidate in Quebec Montmorency. "In Quebec East, 75 per cent have signed to support us.

"But will they vote for us when they go to the polls?"

To allay moral qualms about the party, Social Credit offers literature at every meeting a pem, titled entitled "Catholicism and Social Credit." It was written by nine Roman Catholic theologians in 1936 in Quebec.

Party leader Robert Thompson officially opened the party's campaign here May 8, addressing a rally in Montreal then outlining the party platform in English.

He and Quebec members described the party as an alternative to socialism, one that would keep private enterprise competitive and balance the economy.

A main point is a promise to use the Bank of Canada to provide interest-free loans to governments. Another is one farm policy for the nation.

STILL IN PLAN

Dr. Marcoux says a monthly dividend for citizens is still part of the Social Credit program, but adds that old age pensions and family allowances tend to supplant such dividends. The party would bring these payments into relation with the cost-of-living.

Almost Quebec is a province to be respect both of Canada's cultures.

Mrs. Thompson returns to Quebec Sunday to speak in the Lake St. John region. In the week-end she will join Mr. Marcoux Monday in Quebec Montmorency riding.

Donald Drouin, seeking re-election as a Progressive Conservative in Dorchester southeast of Quebec City, has attacked Mr. Caouette personally, comparing him to Adolf Hitler. Mr. Drouin also rapped the Social Credit party on religious grounds.

Mr. Drouin told Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve had warned Roman Catholics against Social Credit and Mr. Caouette had been an annoyance to a northern Quebec bishop.

REPLIES TO CRITIC

Replied Mr. Caouette, a Roman Catholic like most of the other Social Credit Quebec candidates: "I am a Catholic, and like Drouin would have been killed long ago."

In the St. John region, Social Credit supporters have been working in the heckle-conservative speakers.

Prime Minister Fyon, who engaged in a fast debate with her hecklers the other night at Sherbrooke, was dogged Social Credit will get one seat and maximize their campaign turnout.

"One Social Creditor will attend the House of Commons," she says. "They'll meet like snow in June."

Mr. Fyon said that every Social Credit candidate except Gerard Gauthier, Portneuf, is 1953. The party ran 14 candidates in Quebec that year.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Fast president Jack Roxburgh failed in his attempt to have Canada refuse to send a hockey team to the Olympics because of Canadian failure to live up to the Olympic code. He was voted down 5-1.

Roxburgh's move was defeated—and rightly so. The Olympics, "amateur" code is one of the greatest farces ever foisted on athletics, in this or any other country.

Roxy is one of the finest fellows in sport with the "special" on hockey. He has been around a long while, having served on the CAHA and the OHA before going to the CAHA as a member and eventually its president.

He argued that because Canada pays an allowance to its players to compensate for salary losses, it violates the Olympic oath. He said the oath forbids players from taking any money.

He said Canada is there winking its eye at the oath and setting a bad example to the country's youth.

Come, come, Roxy m'lad, where have you been all these years.

We have been winking our national eye so much at the oath that when Olympics or world hockey selection times roll around we're almost blind.

Roxburgh said the oath should be broadened so that athletes who do not make their livelihood from sport are eligible for the games.

That means, of course, the elimination of the setting to world hockey teams of pros reinstated for the purpose.

In my book the "broken down old pros" as one eastern Olympics official once dubbed them, have been the backbone of world-winning Canadian teams since the time the European "students" started giving hockey lessons to their Canadian teachers.

European clubs have made a mockery of the "oath" since the clubs and players have received money through the channel of state and government subsidies.

The CAHA at its closing session discussed four methods of selecting the club to represent Canada at the Olympics. They wasted a lot of time in discussion for they merely went back to the old idea of picking the strongest senior club available and strengthening it with replacements.

It was reported the other day that the Trail Smoke Eaters had been selected as the world hockey representatives. The Smokies said they were interested, but being wise in world hockey antics attached a string to two. They would require, they said, more financial assistance from the CAHA and a shorter tour.

Like Belleville, Whitby, Kitchener and Galt, the Smokies get the greater part of their financial backing in 1950 from local supporters.

This column has said it before, and it says it again, that the idea of the community-supported national hockey club should be tossed in the garbage can.

I have the greatest respect for Allan Cup winners. They are the best senior representatives in the country. But "senior" hockey in the true sense of the word has deteriorated badly in the past two or three years. Migration to United States leagues is part of the answer.

Last year's Galt Terriers with their pro and semi-pro reinforcements, were not, I believe, in the same class or anywhere near it with the former Whitby Dunlops and the Belleville McFarlands of ista lamented memory.

I have stated before, and I do so again, that the Canadian hockey "teachers" can take a lesson from their European "students" as far as organization is concerned.

Russia, Czechoslovakia and other hockey-minded nations select the best individual players from the many leagues in operation. They are grouped, trained and play as a club for a period of months before world tournament time. Necessary changes are made periodically until the best talent is obtained.

Perhaps that army idea that the CAHA turned down, was not so bad after all.

FAVORITES BEATEN

LINGFIELD PARK, England (AP)—Pindaric, a 30-to-1 longshot for the Epsom Derby, upset two of his highly regarded rivals Friday and won the Derby Trial Stakes. He finished a neck ahead of Mirsige, who is the 8-to-1 second choice for the Derby. London Gazette, a non-Derby entry, was third, another 1½ lengths behind Rosmus, highly touted for the Derby at 9 to 1, finished far back.

Tribe Wins, Shares Lead

By RUS GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two of the big reasons it's such a cozy group at the top of the American League standings are a crafty old left and a late-blooming veteran who's finally found a major league home at 30.

The shrewd southpaw was Detroit's Dan Mossi, who got tough when it counted, beat New York's defending world champions 5-4 Friday night and became the first left-hander to score over the Yankees this season.

The late bloomer was Chuck Essegian of Cleveland, whose 12th homer of the season brought the Indians a 3-1 decision over Washington Senators and pushed Cleveland into a share of the top spot.

With Los Angeles Angels edging Kansas City Athletics 5-4, Baltimore Orioles taking Boston Red Sox 9-3 and Chicago White Sox beating Cleveland, Twins 5-4, it left only four games separating the leaders and the second-place Yankees.

Essegian, whose career reads like a travelogue, may have found himself steady employment for the first time in a big league career and is sparkplug of the Indians.

TIES BATTING LEADER

The previous trade-bait outfielder looms as one of the key factors in Cleveland's hopes of upsetting the might New Yorkers. His two hits last night pushed his batting average to .333, which put him in a tie with Kansas City's Mickey Jimenez for the league lead.

His first was a double that set up Cleveland's first run and his homer made it 3-0, enough to offset Jimmy O'Connell's homer for the Senators and provide Pedro Ramos with his first victory of the year.

Mossi spread 11 hits about as well as possible and survived four Tiger errors in going the distance against the Yanks. He was in and out of trouble all evening but spiked the Yankee glee in the clutch, leaving 10 runners stranded.

The Tigers managed only five hits, but they included a three-run homer by Dick McAuliffe and a solo job by Chico Fernandez.

Leon Wagner bounced a single into centre in the eighth and drove in Albie Pearson for the Angels' winning run against Kansas City, giving Jack Spring his third victory without a loss. Jimenez drove in two Kansas City runs on a double and his ninth homer.

Baltimore's victory over Boston was featured by Jim Gentile's two-run, 500-foot home run deep into the centre field stands. It was Gentile's 12th, and tied him for the league lead with Detroit's Al Kaline.

A pair of triples by Al Smith and another by Neille Fox accounted for three runs and were the big blows in Chicago's victory over Minnesota.

Says 272 Will Win Open Golf

MONTREAL (CP) — Early forecast in behalf of aspirants to the 1952 Canadian open golf championship:

Jules Huot, veteran pro at the beautiful Laval - sur - le - Lac course on the northern outskirts of Montreal, says a score of 272 might be good enough to win.

"This will mark the first time that the Laval club, founded in 1917 on a piece of farm land, has been host to the Canadian Open. The 53rd annual tournament, the total history of $50,000, is scheduled for July 26-29.

"If conditions are favorable, it looks to me as if 272—that's under par for the 72 holes—probably will be good enough," said Huot Friday. "But if we have a hot week, then the low score may be 275 or 276."

Injury Jinx Claims Banks

Giants, Dodgers Maintain Pace

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's Friday jinx has struck again. The latest victim—Ernie Banks.

Banks, Chicago's homer baseman, was the third top star to be injured on successive Friday nights when he was retired and suffered a concussion during the Cubs' 3-1 loss to Cincinnati Reds.

The 31-year-old infielder was knocked unconscious in the ninth inning when a pitch from Moe Drabowsky hit him just below his protective helmet. He collapsed at the plate, was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to hospital.

A spokesman at the hospital said examination showed the no-hitter National League's most valuable player did not have a skull fracture. Banks was reported in fair condition and scheduled for further tests today.

There was no indication how long Banks, 17th on the all-time homer list with 309, would be lost to the Cubs. The right-handed swinger has been playing first base this year after nine seasons during which he became the No. 1 homer-hitting shortstop in baseball history.

GIANTS, DODGERS WIN

Meanwhile, the first - place San Francisco Giants thumped Philadelphia Phillies 10-7 as Billy Pierce won his seventh without a loss and remained 1½ games ahead of Los Angeles Dodgers, who clobbered New York Mets 17-4. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with two homers and a double as Milwaukee Braves' 11-8 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Houston Colts 4-3 in 13 innings.

Drabowsky (1-3), who allowed only five hits, was removed after he plunked Banks with the pitch and Bill Henry came on to get the final two outs. The Reds got only two hits off Cal Koonce (2-6) but Frank Robinson's two-run double in the fourth, after Johnny Temple had singled, did all the damage. The Cubs' run came on a homer by George Altman, his 10th.

Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each hit home run No. 14 to lead the Giants although four unanswered runs in the ninth contributed sevilly to the Phillies' loss. Mays drove in four runs with the homer and a single while Cepeda picked up three with the same output. Pierce allowed 11 hits and needed only inning relief by Stu Miller when John Callison tagged his fourth hit, a three-run homer. Jack Hamilton (3-4) lost it.

DODGERS RUN WILD

The Dodgers won their game with an 18-hit outlaugh that included four two six-run innings. Maury Wills, who stole three bases and scored three times, and Tommy Davis each had four hits while Larry Sherry, right and Warren Sherry batted in four runs apiece. Frank Thomas hit three with three hits—one his 13th homer. Joe Moeller (3-4) won it over Al Jackson (3-5).

Tommy Aaron, Hank's younger brother, gave the Aaron family cream of the Braves' 18 hits, adding three doubles and a single to Hank's output. Joe McMillion and Joe Adcock also contributed homers in the slugfest that gave reliever Lew Burdette victory No. 1 after four losses. Len Boyer and Carl Sawatski homered for the Cards. Ray Washburn (3-1) lost it.

Bob Skinner's second triple and a pinch single by Johnny Logan off Bob Tiefsenaur (1-4) sealed the 13-inning battle at Houston. The Pirates had tied it in the eighth on a walk and singles by Dick Schofield, Bill Great and Dick Stuart. ElRoy Face (3-0) gained the victory with four innings of shutout relief in the 10-round bout.

Directors Not Too Happy

NHL Invades West Loop

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The question of how much influence National Hockey League clubs should have within the Western League is being pondered by WHL directors.

The directors were expected to decide today whether to approve a bid to sell the Vancouver Canuck franchise to a group which includes New York Rangers of the NHL.

The bid to sell—six of the eight WHL clubs must approve sale of a franchise—was rejected in initial balloting Friday when only four clubs voted in the affirmative. Los Angeles Blades and Portland Buckeroos were reported to have cast negative ballots.

Coley Hall, owner of San Francisco Seals who sold the Canucks to Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition, and Roy McMurdie, general manager of Spokane Comets, did not vote.

It was reported that some directors do not want any more NHL affiliates in the league. Detroit Red Wings now own Edmonton Flyers and other clubs have working agreements with the NHL.

The directors also rejected applications for new franchises from Long Beach and Victoria, the latter backed by John Bassett Jr. of Toronto and Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL.

NAME OPPONENT

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—Jimmy Simpson, a one - time sparring partner of Floyd Patterson, Friday night was named Bob Cleroux' opponent for a bout next month in this community 30 miles north of Montreal. Cleroux' Canadian heavyweight title will not be at stake in the 10-round bout.

Rexburgh said the oath should be broadened so that those who do not make their livelihood from sport should be eligible for the games.

That means, of course, the elimination of the farce in world hockey teams of pros reinstated for the purpose.

In my book the "broken down old pros" as one prominent Olympics official once dubbed them, have been the backbone of world-winning Canadian teams since the time the European "students" started giving lessons in their Canadian backyard.

European clubs have made a mockery of the "oath" but the clubs and players have received money through a channel of state and government subsidies.

The CAHA at its closing session discussed four methods of selecting the club to represent Canada at the Olympics. They wasted a lot of time in discussion for they merely went back to the old idea of picking the strongest senior club available and strengthening it with replacements.

It was reported the other day that the Trail Smoke Eaters had been selected as the world hockey representatives. The Smokies held they were interested, but being wise in world hockey antics attached a string or two. They would require, they said, more financial assistance from the CAHA and a shorter tour.

Like Belleville, Whitby, Kitchener and Galt, the Smokies get the greater part of their financial backing in 1958 from local supporters.

This column has said it before, and it says it again, that the idea of the community-supported national hockey club should be tossed in the garbage can.

I have the greatest respect for Allan Cup winners. They are the best senior representatives in the country. But "senior" hockey in the true sense of the word has deteriorated badly in the past two or three years. Migration to United States leagues is part of the answer.

Last year's Galt Terriers with their pro and semi-pro reinforcements, were not, I believe, in the same class anywhere near it with the former Whitby Dunlops and the Belleville McFarlands of late lamented memory.

I have stated before, and I do so again, that the Canadian hockey "teacher" can take a lesson from their European "students" as far as organization is concerned.

Russia, Czechoslovakia and other hockey-minded nations select the best individual players from the many leagues in operation. They are grouped, trained and play as a club for a period of months before world tournament time. Necessary changes are made periodically until the best talent is obtained.

Perhaps that army idea that the CAHA turned down, was not so bad after all.

LINGFIELD PARK, England (AP)—Pindaric, a 50-1 longshot for the Epsom Derby, upset two of his highly regarded rivals Friday and won the Derby Trial Stakes. He finished a neck ahead of Miralgo, who is the 8-10-1 second choice for the Derby. London Gazette, a non-Derby entry, was third, another 1½ lengths behind Polamus, highly touted for the Derby at 9 to 1, finished far back.

Mossi First Lefty To Beat Yankees

Tribe Wins, Shares Lead

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two of the big reasons it's such a cozy group at the top of the American League standings are a crafty old left and a late-blooming veteran who's finally found a major league home at 30.

The shrewd southpaw was Detroit's Don Mossi, who got tough when it counted, beat New York's defending world champions 3-1 Friday night and became the first left-hander to score over the Yankees this season.

The late bloomer was Chuck Essegian of Cleveland, whose 12th homer of the season brought the Indians a 9-3 decision over Washington Senators and pushed Cleveland into a share of the top spot.

With Los Angeles Angels edging Kansas City Athletics 5-4, Baltimore Orioles taking Boston Red Sox 8-5 and Chicago White Sox beating Minnesota Twins 7-4, it left only four games separating the leaders and the seventh-place Tigers.

Essegian, whose career reads like a travelogue, has now found himself steady employment for the first time in a 10-year career at the swinging of the Indians.

TIES BATTING LEADER

The previous trade-bait outfielder scores as one of the key factors in Cleveland's hopes of upsetting the mighty New Yorkers. His two hits last night pushed his batting average to .383, which put him in a tie with Kansas City's Manny Jimenez for the league lead.

His first was a double that set up Cleveland's run and his homer made it 2-0, enough to offset Danny O'Connell's homer for the Senators and provide Pedro Ramos with his first victory of the year.

Mossie spread 11 hits about as well as possible and survived four Tiger errors in going the distance against the Yanks. He was in and out of trouble all evening but aided the Yankee goes in the clutch, leaving 10 runners stranded.

The Tigers managed only five hits, but they included a three-run homer by Dick McAuliffe and a solo job by Chico Fernandez.

Leon Wagner bounced a single into centre in the eighth and drove in Albie Pearson for the Angels' winning run against Kansas City, giving Jack Spring his third victory without a loss. Jimenez drove in two Kansas City runs on a double and his ninth homer.

Baltimore's victory over Boston was featured by Jim Gentile's two-run, 500-foot home run deep into the centre - field standing. It was Gentile's 13th and tied him for the league lead with Detroit's Al Kaline.

A pair of triples by Al Smith and another by Nellie Fox accounted for three runs and were the big blows in Chicago's victory over Minnesota.

Says 272 Will Win Open Golf

MONTREAL (CP) — Early forecast in behalf of aspirants in the 1962 Canadian open golf championship:

Jules Huot, veteran pro at the beautiful Laval - sur - le - Lac course on the northern outskirts of Montreal, says a score of 272 might be good enough to win.

This will mark the first time that the Laval club, founded in 1912 on a piece of farm land, has been host to the Canadian Open. The 53rd annual tournament, now with total money of $30,000, is scheduled for July 26-29.

"If conditions are favorable, it looks to me as if 272—that's 16 under par for the 72 holes—probably will be good enough," said Huot Friday. "But if the weather is rainy, then the low score may be 275 or 276."

Injury Jinx Claims Banks

Giants, Dodgers Maintain Pace

By MIKE RATHBY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's Friday jinx has struck again. The latest victim—Ernie Banks.

Banks, Chicago's homer baron-emeer, was the third top star to be injured on successive Friday nights when he was belted and suffered a concussion during the Cubs' 9-1 loss to Cincinnati Reds.

The 31-year-old infielder was knocked unconscious in the ninth inning when a pitch from Jim Brabowsky hit him just below his protective helmet. He collapsed at the plate, was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to hospital.

A spokesman at the hospital said examination showed the two-time National League most valuable player did not have a skull fracture. Banks was reported in fair condition and scheduled for further tests today.

There was no indication how long Banks, 1710 on the all-time homer list with 359, would be lost to the Cubs. The right-handed swinger has been playing first base this year after nine seasons during which he became the No. 1 homer-hitting shortstop in baseball history.

GIANTS, DODGERS WIN

Meanwhile, the first - place San Francisco Giants thumped Philadelphia Phillies 10-1 as Billy Pierce won his seventh without a loss and remained 1½ games ahead of Los Angeles Dodgers, who clobbered New York Mets 17-4. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with two homers and a double in Milwaukee Braves' 11-4 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Houston Colts 4-3 in 13 innings.

Drabowsky (1-3), who allowed only five hits, was removed after he plunked Banks with the pitch and Bill Henry came on to get the final two outs. The Reds got only two hits off Cal Koonce (3-4) but Frank Robinson's two-run double in the fourth, after Johnny Edwards singled, did all the damage. The Cubs' run came on a homer by George Altman, his 10th.

Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each hit home run No. 14 to lead the Giants although four unanswered runs in the sixth contributed early to the Phils' loss. Mays drove in four runs with the homer and a single while Cepeda picked up three with the same output. Pierce allowed 11 hits and needed ninth inning relief by Stu Miller when John Callison tagged his fourth hit, a three-run homer. Jack Hamilton (3-4) lost it.

DODGERS RUN WILD

The Dodgers won their game with an 18-hit onslaught that included four of two six-run innings. Maury Wills, who stole three bases and scored three times, and Tommy Davis each had four hits while Larry Burright and Norm Sherry batted in four runs apiece. Frank Thomas and Felix Mantilla had six hits—one his 13th homer. Joe Moeller (3-4) won it over Al Jackson (3-5).

Tommy Aaron, Hank's younger brother, gave the Aaron family seven of the Braves' 18 hits, adding three doubles and a single to the output. Roy McMillan and Joe Adcock also contributed homers in the attack that gave reliever Lew Burdette victory No. 1 after two losses to start the year. Sawatski homered for the Cards. Ray Washburn (3-1) lost it.

Bob Skinner's second triple and a pinch single by Johnny Logan off Bob Tiefsenzer (1-4) ended the 13-inning battle at Houston. The Pirates had tied it in the eighth on a walk and singles by Dick Schofield, Bill Groat and Dick Stuart. Ellroy Face (3-0) gained the victory with four innings of shutout relief.

Directors Not Too Happy

NHL Invades West Loop

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The question of how much influence National Hockey League clubs should have within the Western League is being pondered by WHL directors.

The directors were expected to decide today whether to approve a bid to sell the Vancouver Canuck franchise to a group which includes New York Rangers of the NHL.

The bid to sell—six of the eight WHL clubs must approve sale of a franchise—was rejected in initial balloting Friday when only four clubs voted in the affirmative. Los Angeles Blades and Portland Buckaroos were reported to have cast negative ballots.

Coley Hall, owner of San Francisco Seals who sold the Canucks to Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition, and Roy McGirrie, general manager of Spokane Comets, did not vote.

It was reported that some directors do not want say more NHL affiliation in the league. Detroit Red Wings now own Edmonton Flyers and other clubs have working agreements with the NHL.

The directors also rejected applications for new franchises from Long Beach, Calif., Victoria, the latter backed by John Bassett Jr. of Toronto and Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL.

NAME OPPONENT

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—Jimmy Simpson, a one - time sparring partner of Floyd Patterson, Friday night was named Bob Cleroux' opponent for a June 7 match in this community 30 miles north of Montreal. Cleroux' Canadian heavyweight title will not be at stake in the 10-round bout.

Olympics 'No', IIHF 'Yes'

Question-'To Pay Or Not To Pay'

MONTREAL (CP) — The International Olympic Committee and the International Ice Hockey Federation appear at variance over eligibility for the Olympic Hockey tournament, particularly regarding payment of players for time lost at work.

Rene Roy, secretary of the Canadian Olympic Association, says time-off pay is not regulations.

Bob Lebel, president of the IIHF, says it is allowed by the federation, that the IIHF is directed by the IOC to conduct the Olympic hockey series and that "we put our rules into force."

An amateur is one who participates and always has participated in sport solely for pleasure and for physical, mental or social benefit to be derived therefrom, and to whom participation in sport is nothing more than recreation without material gain of any kind, direct or indirect. In addition, he must comply with the rules of the international federation concerned."

CAHA RAISES QUESTION

The question of time-off pay came up at the annual meeting in Ottawa of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The CAHA branches voted 5 to 2 to continue Canada's participation in the Olympics despite retiring president Jack Rosburgh's contention that the Olympic ice is being broken by players taking time-off pay and that Canada should refrain from further participation until the oath is changed.

"Pay for time lost is not allowed," said Farmer Friday, "it is up to the country concerned to discipline and supervise its own athletes under IOC regulations.

"The COA as told the CAHA in no uncertain terms that players must be eligible. The CAHA, as the governing body of amateur hockey in Canada, certifies these eligible and the responsibility lies in their hands with the CAHA."

Farmer Friday is chairman of the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport and he said it has been suggested that the council set up a committee "to look into the whole Olympic matter."

Asked whether IIHF regulations requiring time - off pay weren't counter to Olympic rules, Friday said the IOC "has the privilege of refusing any team."

Charge Doping

Brighton Driver Suspended

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A 60-day suspension has been levied against Roy J. Mitchell of Brighton as a result of investigation into the doping of a horse at Western Fair Raceway May 11.

Bradcliff, driven by Mitchell, won the seventh race that night. It paid $7.20 for a $2 mutuel. Samples of urine and saliva sent to a Toronto analyst showed a drug paid under the name Atravet had been used on the horse.

Mitchell said he did not know a drug had been administered.

Bradcliff is owned by Clifford Bradley, of Oakville, absent on the night of the race.

The suspension was given by Clair Quance, presiding judge at the raceway, who represents the Canadian Trotting Association; Charles Lamb, representative of the Ontario Racing Commission; William Gardner, raceway representative.

TWINS SIGN CANADIAN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Minnesota Twins of the American League Friday signed outfielder Don Cowan, 18, of Vancouver to a contract for "a substantial bonus." He will start working out with Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League and report to Wytheville of the Class D Appalachian League next month. With Richmond of the suburban Dewdney League Cowan was batting .375.

'Sweet Daddy' Nearly Stole Show

'Bulldog' Sinks Steamboat

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Arena manager Jack Dickens leathed a new wrinkle in ring moving last night.

Take one ball-cot-in a circus wrestler. Place him outside the ring. Take one all-star wrestler, wrap his arms around the first wrestler's neck and use his head as a battering ram to smash in the ring structure.

It didn't work as far as moving the ring is concerned, but it gave Dick "Bulldog" Brower the ball and cot of the opponent Gentleman Jim Hady a prolonged headache.

The "Bulldog" hasn't changed since his last appearance here; he merely takes him longer to commit the necessary mayhem.

He huffed and he puffed and he howled and he growled. He went the ball-cot in search of the "Gentleman" in the first fall, which he found after a few moments and had the "Bulldog" looking for the gravy train and a hangout.

Brower took the first fall after some 10 minutes and was well on his way to the second and the match when it happened. One of a blue sky Hady suddenly turned, wrapped the "Bulldog" into a package with a strange hold and had him out like at last year's romance.

And he nearly repeated in the third fall. But the canny Bulldog was too wise. He held Hady out of the ring, followed him through it, began the process of trying to push the ring around the arena with the Hady headpiece.

He strutted around the ring several times before posing for Referee Jerry Pye's part of a physical development advertisement, that is when things were going his way.

Sikl, a platinum blonde from Jamaica with a dark-hued skin and a mountainous ego, is one of the best showmen to parade his wares here since Gorgeous George toured his first bobby pins.

He follows the "Bulldog" pattern of attack, beating his opponent unmercifully with his tremendous size and at times had the body beautiful bouncing off the ring ropes outside the ring.

Sikl finally claimed the match with the "Beatnik Hangman" hold. It was the best action entanglement here in some time.

"Mr. Kleen" already popular here, took ten minutes to dispose of Tommy O'Toole, a rough Irish fighter.

Rally Nets Trudeaus 5-4 Win

Trudeau Motors, held off the score and hit short for five innings and trailing 4-0, exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth frame last night to grab a 5-4 Commercial softball league win over Lightfoot Construction.

Lightfoot had taken a 3-0 lead in the first two frames, when they collected their only three hits, and made it 4-0 on an unearned run in the fifth.

Percy Long, on the Lightfoot hill, had allowed only one base runner going into the sixth frame, a leadoff walk to Beker in the first. Then the roof fell in.

Trudeau catcher Paul Morse spoiled Long's no-hitter by leading off the sixth with a bunt single. Winning pitcher Gerry Cecconetto popped a single to right field and a walk filled the bases. Bob Wennemaker drove in two runs with a double to make it 4-3. Jack Whitney's single, two outfield errors and Ed Plett's double carried home the final trio of runs for the 5-4 win.

Long struck out eight and issued but two walks. Cecconetto fanned seven and gave up eight.

Chuck Rossbottom's single, a base-on-balls and two outfield errors gave Lightfoots their first two runs. Don Dolan doubled and rode home on Rusty Gardner's single in the second. Two walks and an error made it 4-0.

'Set Em Up' Says Bowling Grandmother

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Pearl Wright, 78, bowled her score, grandmother of four and great-grandmother of three, is learning to bowl.

"I'm just crazy about it," she remarked at a bowling alley here where she is taking instructions.

"No, my doctor didn't advise me to take up bowling," she said. "I've seen only a few doctors. I have three weeks at the most and I never seen me in bed."

Mrs. Wright, a widow, said: "I've bowled a little bit with my children, but never in a league. Now I'd like to bowl in a league if I can get somebody to bowl with me."

Mrs. Wright bowled a 78 Thursday — somewhat off her personal high of 104.

Yankees Tell Maris

'Quit Singles, Try Homers'

NEW YORK (AP) — Has Roger Maris been advised by New York baseball big shots trying to build up his American League batting average and go back to swinging for the fences?

The principals are mum on the matter, but a report persists the club's brass, a key Yankee general manager had a chat with baseball's home run king and told him to quit going for singles.

The Yankees aren't overjoyed with Maris' slugging figures — seven homers and seven doubles in 135 official times at bat. Rookie Joe Pepitone, in only 54 times at bat, has hit five homers, three doubles and two triples.

Maris' total of runs batted in is not overly impressive, either. He has driven in 22 runs and trails Elston Howard and Rookie Pepitone.

Tommy Tyrah, in that category.

Mickey Mantle, the other half of New York's homer tandem is on the sidelines with a torn thigh muscle and the spotlight is on Maris' sharper than ever. Harney is convinced that homers bring in the customers — and he's dead sure of them from Maris, who batted a record 61 last season.

New Betting System

Driving Club Plans Meets

The Quinte Driving and Riding Club's inaugural meet for 1963 is Saturday night, June 2 at 8 p.m. at the Belleville Fairgrounds.

This year the club's race meets will feature pari-mutuel betting rather than the book-making style of the past. This type of betting is operated at the request of the federal government and under the supervision of the Canada Dept. of Agriculture and the R.C.M.P.

For a start fans will be able to bet a dollar or more to place with show betting to be added in the near future. The punters become accustomed to this type of betting, Mutuel or pool betting is of great advantage to the patrons as about 85% of the handle is returned to the bettors whereas under the old bookmaking style only 70 to 75% was returned.

The remaining dates in Belleville are June 9, 16, and 30 and July 14 and 28, making a total of 6 nights of racing.

Membership cards are still available from the club directors and entitle the members to a reduced admission price at the race meets.

A general club meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 30, in the Moira St. Firehall at 8 p.m. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Pair Breaks Festival Golf Mark

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A pair of 33-year-olds, Dave Campbell and Dave Ragan, shattered the meet's 36-hole record Friday in leading the halfway lead with 11-under-par 131 in the 500 Festival golf tournament.

Ragan shot a six-under-par 65 Friday and Campbell a 66.

Two strokes off the pace were Billy Casper and George Bayer, both scoring 66s for 133.

Al Balding of Toronto fired a 65 for a 136 total. Jerry Magee of Toronto was one stroke back at 140 with a 67 Friday. Al Johnston of Montreal shot an 80 for a 141-total.

Pacer Sets WorldMark

HAZEL PARK, Mich. (AP) — Henry T. Adios, owned by the Derico Stable of Pelham Manor, N.Y., paced to a 1:58 1-5 world record to take top honors of the touring Harness Tracks of America Pace here's Friday night.

It was a new mark for a mile pace on a five - eighths - mile track, smashing the 1:58 2-5 record set by Rye Rye Byrd at Chicago's Sportsman's Park in 1959.

Henry T. Adios bettered the Hazel Park Harness Raceway mark of 1:58 4-5 set by Stanley Dancer.

Sports Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

The other day Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials said that Memorial Cup playoffs for the Canadian junior hockey championship were becoming too one-sided. The West, the CAHA said, can't compete on an even footing with the East because of the East's larger club population.

Heard this story before? Sure we have. This was the theme of many Eastern years ago when Western football teams regularly took beatings from the East in the Grey Cup final. Sad to those days — before the West dominated Canadian pro football — every red - blooded Westerner hooted right back and dared Easterners to put up or shut up.

But not this time. The silence from the West was almost deafening.

The CAHA, with President Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe, Ont., the spokesman, said attempts to strengthen Western teams by allowing them to pick up six players from other clubs are not working out. Other ways must be found to make the fixtures more evenly matched and one cure might be to allow only limited number of teams — those sponsored by National Hockey League clubs — to compete for the Cup. Others could play for another trophy.

FAULTY ARGUMENT

The CAHA says that the East has the better or superior because of its larger population is nonsense.

In the Grey Cup final, for instance, the West kept building up its teams and no one can say now that the Westerners aren't the power in the pro game.

The records prove that. Since 1954, the East has been able to win the Cup only two occasions. Hamilton Tiger-Cats beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1957 and Ottawa Rough Riders defeated Edmonton Eskimos in 1960 and none — particularly the Bombers — the Western clubs were loaded with injuries to key men.

The trend has been reversed in Memorial Cup play. In the years of competition the scoreboard reads: East champions skipe 35, West 18. But 14 of these Eastern triumphs came since 1945 when Western players, on clubs sponsored by NHL teams, started the march eastward.

The big leaguers wanted to keep an eye on their valuable players from the West.

It's a matter of record that before the Second World War players from Western Canada practically filled the rosters of NHL and other pro league clubs. And since the war the big march has continued and still there are scores of Westerners in pro competition.

WESTERN COMMENT

Here's what a few Western writers have to say about the CAHA talk at its annual meeting in Ottawa:

Bill Addison, manager of Winnipeg Braves:

"I don't think the situation is as bad as they claim. The West has won the Cup twice in the last six years (1957 and 1959).

"I don't think the situation should be weighed to try to even it up. What we should do is get together to promote hockey in the West — for instance, promote a junior league in Alberta.

"There's not enough ice in the West — Winnipeg has only one sheet. When we get more ice it eventually will even off . . . there's plenty of money around the East being too strong, but they don't do anything about the East raiding the West."

Buster Brayshaw, coach of Edmonton Oil Kings, said in five games to Hamilton Red Wings in 1958:

"I don't think the East is that much more powerful — it's the way we played. They've been playing. The East has a chance to, watch professional hockey and follow the same style . . . I do believe the West is going to have to adapt to the style of check, check, check and play from there. Then it would be a different story."

Brayshaw said the 1961 final was a true indication of play. "We could have won three games each with any breaks and we had a young team."

DIFFERENT STYLES

Lou Lecuyer, manager of the Oil Kings, said Edmonton is the only Western club serious about winning the Cup because others play a "pesty-waltz" brand of hockey designed more for boys 12 and 13 years of age. "The other teams in the West are simply looking for a place in the sand and refusing to sweep the facts of life."

Percy Segal, general manager of St. Boniface Canadiens of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League:

"What they should do is divide the juniors into cities with more than one team and those with only one team. Then cities with more than one could play for the Memorial Cup and the others could play for a different trophy. That's about the only way to get around the problem."

NAMED TO TEAM

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Starkie, who would rather play tennis than teach school, was named to the British Wightman Cup team Friday. Miss Starkie, a 5 - year - old school teacher who gave up that career to concentrate on tennis, was named to the team which meets the U.S. at Wimbledon June 15-16. Angela Mortimer, Wimbledon champion, Christine Truman, runner - up, Ann Haydon and Deidre Catt were selected again.

Leafs Bow To Bisons, Suns Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Left-hander Bill Smith, a reject from St. Louis Cardinals, is on a streak that is helping Buffalo Bisons stay within shouting distance of Rochester Red Wings in the International League race, a runaway.

Smith won his fourth straight decision Friday night, firing a seven - hitter as the Bisons whipped Toronto Maple Leafs 9-1. Saturday night the Bisons' cool-stave Bisons five-games behind the Rochester Suns, who drew 13,178 paid customers—the top baseball crowd in Jacksonville's history—as they pounded Columbus Jets 6-1.

In two other games, Rochester Red Wings topped Syracuse Chiefs in their sixth straight decision, 7-4, and moved past the Leafs into third place and Richmond Virginians edged Atlanta Crackers 3-2 despite a triple play by the losers.

Smith, who had trials with the Cardinals in 1958 and 1959, had a 9-7 record with Buffalo last season and lost his first game this year before he found the range. Manager Joe Schaffernoth said he beat Atlanta 6-3 for No. 1, then defeated only Leafs twice in runs and has fanned 32 batters. All four of his victories have been complete games.

Pancho Herrera's fifth home run paced the Buffalo attack spayed by Yoskie Nelaski and Smith limited Leafs to six singles. Bill Collenan and Smith had a shutout until Rocky Nelson homered in the sixth.

Joe Schaffernoth (4-3) also had a complete game for Jacksonville, which won its fourth in a row and 15th in 18 games. Coot Veal's double with the bases loaded spoiled Schaffernoth's bid for a shutout, just as Sammy Drake's homer in the sixth was the only Syracuse run off Bus Hoelscher, Rochester. Norrum, a rookie right-hander, has won four games without a loss.

Windsor Out of Int. Loop

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner Frank Gallagher of the International Hockey League said Friday that Detroit and Windsor, Ont., will not have teams in the league in the 1962-63 season.

Gallagher said the league board of governors, meeting in Chicago, had not decided whether Denver or Kansas City, Mo., will be admitted for next season.

Golfer Fined $100 for Bad Temper

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jim Ferree, pro golfer from Crystal River, Fla., was fined $100 by, Professional Golfers Association tournament supervisor Joe Black Friday for "conduct unbecoming a best talented player" in the $50,000 500 Festival open golf tournament.

Ferree was enraged when he was required to play a shot from behind some TV towers near the 18th hole. A tree between the towers made an almost impossible shot. Ferree contended, but officials ruled he had an opening to the hole.

Ferree hit through the opening but the ball went over the green and he took a bogey for a four-over-par 72. It matched his first round score Thursday. After the shot, Ferree slashed a tree with his club and then banged the ground with a mallet, splattering nearby spectators.

Chicken Pox Almost Put The Untouchables Off Air

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fans of The Untouchables will be interested to learn that a case of chicken pox almost put the television series off the air.

That's the way the story is told by Bill Shallen, hurrying agent for head untouchable Robert Stack. Shiffrin tells the story like this, he's let him:

"We had reached the point in negotiations where Bob was about to sign for the fourth year. Let's face it: Bob doesn't need the money, but he's dead crazy about the show. He felt it had really reached its potential, and there was a new production team that looked great.

"ABC told us they had to have an answer by 3 o'clock the next day. But Bob was home sick with the chicken pox; he had caught it from his kid, you know. Well, we talked it over on the phone that night before we were due and everything was just about set. He'd let me know his final answer the next day . . .

SPONSORS WAITING

"The next day Bob was having his worst siege; chicken pox can be rough, you know. . . .

"What was I to do? Desilu was screaming at me, ABC and the sponsors were waiting in New York at an agency.

"Now it was 11:30, and I decided that the only thing was to see Bob and somehow wake him up.

"I got the network and the sponsors on a conference call and told them the whole situation. They decided I was sincere and I was given until the following morning to get an answer.

"I tried to reach Bob all evening, but he was in a twilight zone. Finally I got him on the phone and he says 'yes.'

It was a happy ending.

The Untouchables will be back on the air next season. Bob Stack recovered from the chicken pox.

K's Send Archer to Portland

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jim Archer, one of Kansas City Athletics' most dependable pitchers last year, was sent to Portland of the Pacific Coast League Friday on 24-hour recall option.

The Athletics recalled right-hander Bill Kunkel from Portland.

Archer, a left-handed curve ball specialist, injured his arm in spring training and has appeared in only six games, leaving one and winning none while giving up 17 hits in 12 innings. Last year he had an earned run average of 3.20 and won nine games while losing five in the last place club.

Kunkel started the season with the Athletics and was optioned to Portland May 7. He pitched a shutout in his first start for Portland. Last season with the Athletics he compiled a 2-4 record and 5.16 earned run average.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Hugo Dittfach, Canada's champion jockey last season, rode two winners at Old Woodbine Friday and may have finally broken the riding slump which has plagued him all season.

A crowd of 7,803 saw Dittfach win the sixth race easily on Foxy Phil. His victory in the seventh aboard Show of Gold, however, was well earned.

Sent to the post at odds of close to seven-to-one, Foxy Phil defeated Champagne Velvet by 4½ lengths and paid $6.20 straight.

Building P.E.I. Causeway Herculean Project Without Precedent in Engineering

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Four years of study have outlined the technical problems involved in building the Prince Edward Island causeway, a hazardous project without precedent in world engineering.

Another two years of work are expected to produce a blueprint.

Independent consultants probably will be assigned to design the nine-mile highway and railway link across Northumberland Strait to join the island province of 104,000 with the mainland.

Federal spokesmen say that nowhere else in the world has a full-fledged cross strait been crossed in such a way. When initial studies began, some skeptics said the natural forces involved could never be conquered by man.

But on April 17 Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced in the Commons that engineers have decided the causeway is feasible both from an engineering and economic view.

He said the causeway will be built and estimated the cost at $105,000,000.

EIGHT-YEAR JOB

Spokesmen said the job could be done by 1970 at the earliest if no hitches occur, allowing two years for planning and six years for construction.

A works department statement indicates there is a chance of holdups. It says a number of design problems still remain to be studied, but does not specify them.

The project recalls the problems of the Canso causeway, opened in 1956 to connect Cape Breton Island with the Nova Scotia mainland. The $23,000,000 Canso is only four-fifths of a mile long but crosses a channel with depths down to 185 feet.

The projected site is from Tormentine, N.B., to Borden, P.E.I., a distance of 13 miles. Ice is present in the strait for seven months of the year.

GIGANTIC PROJECT

Preliminary design planning is expected to be underway soon on a nine-mile causeway to link Prince Edward Island with the mainland. It may be completed by about 1970 at a cost of $105,000,000. Map traces approximate route of the causeway slightly north of the present Cape Tormentine-Borden ferry link. — (CP Newsmap.)

Tourmain Island, which juts out of a marshy area on the New Brunswick ocean shore, to Borden Point on the island. This is the narrowest point of the strait.

It would put the causeway slightly north of the present ferry route between Cape Tormentine, about a mile south of Tourmain, and Port Borden.

BRIDGE RULED OUT

The CNR's icebreaking ferry service, with a long history of ice problems and high operating deficits, would be eliminated. The ship's crossing schedule is 30 minutes but it has taken up to nine hours in bad ice. Last year it lost more than $2,000,000.

Federal studies considered various proposals but centred on a solid causeway, a bridge or a combination of the two.

A bridge was practically ruled out by ice alone. During the spring breakup massive floes up to 15 feet thick and three miles wide sweep through the strait. In 1959 an iceberg with 40 feet showing above water level was reported.

Problems of a solid causeway were almost as prohibitive. Scientists estimated that tidal movements would push water 10 feet higher on one side than on the other. Storm surges could hold three feet to this, causing heavy flooding along the banks.

Land compensation and remedial works for tidal flooding alone were estimated at more than $15,000,000.

MAY BUILD LOCKS

The strait holds the most valuable lobster fishery in the Maritimes. Fisheries scientists were concerned about changes in water flow and temperatures which would stem from a solid obstacle cutting the strait into two gulfs. Movement of fishing boats was another concern.

The result is a leaning toward a causeway pierced by navigation locks and one or two bridges which would permit some tidal flow in the strait. There is no permanent current.

Reports of the fisheries, transport, works and mines departments also indicate a solid rock foundation on the bottom with a maximum water depth of 90 feet which occurs at the middle of the crossing.

One report suggests a bridge at this spot, leaving a maximum depth for the causeway of 60 feet.

Some difficulty is reported in locating adequate supplies of suitable rock which must form the heart of the causeway. Chunks weighing up to six tons will be needed to form the armor along the sides.

Test borings are continuing in a search for quarrying sites.

BUILD MINIATURES

The report that gave the go-ahead to the project was one from the National Research Council's hydraulic laboratory in Ottawa which was asked to decide whether a proposed causeway design could withstand the forces involved.

Scientists built a section of the causeway in miniature, using stones weighed in exact scale to those suggested for the job. It took long hours of careful measurement. The stones were piled in a special test tank with a newly built wave generator.

When all the resultant data was checked, NRC reported the plan was sound.

The causeway - look - bridge proposal also got a green light from the fisheries department whose oceanographers decided it would not have serious effects on the lobsters or other sea life.

Many of the construction theories involved, however, still are in the paper stage and further tests are needed.

Officials say a full model of the causeway may be built after engineers present the final design.

Not Confused, Just Too Busy Says Carpenter

Scientists Delighted By Knowledge Gained

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter says he did not become confused or tired during his third orbit of the earth—he was preoccupied with many tasks.

This personal account contradicted a report from an official at the Hawaii tracking station that Carpenter seemed tired, confused and confused.

Carpenter, who is to leave today for welcoming ceremonies at his hometown of Boulder, Colo., made these other points at a press conference Tuesday:

1. Frost peeling off his capsule apparently causes the "fireflies" after "sunset." he said called them—on the triple orbit of the Mercury last Thursday. He related how he created his own snowstorms by knocking on the inside of the capsule.

2. He made a mistake in using two more gallons of the Aurora 7 on simultaneously. This depleted his fuel supply.

3. He was not worried about the earth's atmosphere, he could see the Mercury Control Centre here. But he was unable to talk to the centre because the radio communication was out of order.

4. He called his triple orbit "easy as a bus ride" and said he is "ready to go for a two more orbits."

5. He said he did not know whether the failure to complete all of his planned area might have been the result of failure of his retrorockets to deliver the proper amount of braking thrust.

TREASURE CONSCIOUS

The navy lieutenant - commander's press conference lost scientists happy and delighted and demked. They treasured the knowledge he gained in his trouble-free flight.

He told about the hazy layer that set up, however, when he got into orbit, Marine Lt. - Col. John Glenn Jr., had noticed surrounding the horizon.

This is an well-defined, Carpenter said, "at 45 miles the earth is seen from the direction of the moon—to an observer on the moon. This would appear to be a bright blue ring in space."

About visibility in space: There is no change in depth perception, he said, "I was able at one time to look straight down the equator for a 2,000 nautical miles of clouds. This is quite a perception of a hundred miles.

About weightlessness: As Glenn also experienced, it is very welcome and very preferable to gravity. "I had no difficulty in accommodating to this state."

LISTEN TO ACCOUNT

The other astronauts, their wives and children, and military space officials and 500 newsmen and photographers listened in fascination to Carpenter's two-hour account.

Earlier, he had arrived at Patrick Air Force Base by military plane, upon conclusion of a three-hour medical de-briefing at Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas.

He was joyously greeted by

Less Than Third of Member Lands Join U That's 'Buy Bond Club'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—To date less than a third of the 104 member countries' of the United Nations have joined U that's Let's Buy a UN Bond club.

Thirty one member countries and three non - members have purchased—or have promised to buy—bonds in the total of the $200,000,000 bond issue. The figure does not include the United States, which has pledged to count for $100,000,000 worth. Payments of $175,000 to $180,000,000.

That can offer the 25-year, two-per-cent interest bonds to non-profit institutions such as private charitable foundations, but he has not yet made any more in that direction.

The bond issue is intended to poll the United Nations out of red ink arising from the UN's Congo operations and other peace-keeping efforts. That has said that if the bond issue fails to raise the money he will ask the UN Security Council for new contributions.

Only one Latin-American country, Venezuela, is on the list of purchasers. Brazil has indicated a pledge will be forthcoming.

West Germany, which has only observer - status at the United Nations, has pledged $10,000,000. The other non-members promising money are Switzerland and South Viet Nam.

No pledge has been received by Japan, but sources close to its delegation say they are hopeful.

Canada has pledged a $6,340,000 purchase.

START WALKOUT IN DEFIANCE OF UNION ORDERS

Labor Gets Black Eye for Action

TORONTO (CP) — A breakaway faction within Local 964 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.) Sunday started a wildcat strike in defiance of union orders.

Their action followed a meeting Saturday which some 300 men voted on a contract proposal recommended in a conciliation report.

Ken McDougall, president of the local said about 50 men urged that the union go on strike Sunday but the sign-up picket lines at trucking terminals.

Mr. McDougall said the strike would definitely be classed as a "wildcat" because the official strike deadline—if the Teamsters reject the contract—is mid-night Thursday.

"As far as the international, union and the local is concerned these people are not within their rights to go on strike at this time. I instructed members at the meeting that they are to continue to work."

SITUATION CONFUSED

Several hours after the picket lines were up, however the picture was still somewhat confused.

Union members reported for work at some trucking terminals and ignored the picketers, while they did not show up at other terminals.

William Murray, manager of the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, said the wildcat faction was giving labor a black eye for the action.

"A handful of goons are trying to take control of the Toronto local by disregarding the understanding of the negotiating committee that there would be no strike until Thursday midnight if one is authorized by the membership," he said.

ACROSS PROVINCE

Other young meetings were held in Oshawa, Peterborough, North Bay and Sudbury. Earlier they were held in Sault Ste. Marie and Midland. Ballots will be counted today in London, Ont.

The vote will affect some 14,000 teamsters in Southern Ontario. The proposed offers a three-year contract with a package increase of 25¢ an hour.

One of the key issues involved job protection for drivers displaced by piggyback operations. The conciliation report recommended that no layoffs be made because of piggyback or any employee with five or more years' seniority. It said, however, that the conciliators would be reluctant to raise other jobs if piggyback operations eliminated their highway run.

Marilyn Gives Lift to Sagging Box Office

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe, out to lift a sagging box office, is overdoing in the cause again.

In her current movie, Something's Got to Give, the onetime calendar girl decided to give up the usual flesh colored bathing suit for a swimming sprint.

Marilyn, 35, told reporters that she decided to do the scene in the nude for artistic reasons only.

But a high studio source at 20th Century - Fox gives a crass commercial reason for the nudity.

"Marilyn has bombed in her last two discovered. There was Love and The Misfits. Publicity, especially that nude swimming scene, is a star. She's smart enough to use it again in hope her career."

The scene was shot a few days ago with a crew watching. Also present were hand-picked photographers to record the scene for dubious posterity.

All were told, jokingly, to hold their hands over their eyes. They were told to speak a camera that way.

Secret Army Kills 8 More

ALGIERS (AP) — European terrorists blasted out with a new series of attacks on Moslems today, slaying eight and wounding three by mid-morning.

The bodies of two Europeans were found in Algiers. There was no immediate indication whether they were also victims of Secret Army terrorists or Moslems.

Hospital sources reported the discovery of a common grave containing the bodies of possibly 100 or more Moslems. They had been buried months or years ago, the sources said.

Election Campaign Heading Into the Final Three Weeks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Five naked women at a Trail, B.C., political meeting acclaimed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The incidents happened Saturday night as the June 18 election campaign headed into its final three weeks—with more candidates contesting the 265 seats in the Commons than ever before. The previous high was in 1958, when 864 candidates entered the lists for the then 265 seats.

After a relatively quiet Sunday, the political leaders step up their activities, drives today with Mrs. Diefenbaker in the leading his tour of interior British Columbia, Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson flying from Ottawa to Winnipeg; New Democratic Party Leader Hazen Douglas in his home constituency of Regina and at Leader Saskatchewan, and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson in the Quebec City area.

All were told, jokingly, to hold their hands over their eyes. They were told to speak a camera that way.

"That is no novelty to me," he said, as the women of the radical Doukhobor Sons of Freedom sect slipped out of their clothes.

"I was raised on a homestead in Saskatchewan and that's why I know what those things are."

Disrobing is a form of protest by the sect, which has been blamed for a series of incidents in the Kootenays, including the bombing of a power line across Kootenay Lake. The women were escorted from the meeting.

At the other end of the country, about "a dozen" persons broke up a rally which was to have been addressed by Solicitor - union Donald Gillies, a Progressive Conservative candidate in Ontario's Nickel Belt riding.

Mr. Gillis said the demonstrators were "very indignant" of being New Democratic Party supporters." NDP spokesman John Hugh Campbell issued a statement to deny "officials and categorically" that the NDP had anything to do with the disturbances.

Meanwhile in Ottawa, Liberal Leader Pearson leased a statement charging that Mr. Diefenbaker won't meet him in a televised TV debate because the "Without question or doubt the adjustment of the fluoride content of community water supply to approximately one part fluoride to each 1,000,000 parts of water is safe, is beneficial, and is not productive of any undesirable systemic effects," the association told the royal commission on health services.

"It is a public health procedure which has been accepted reasonably proven to reduce, by almost 60 per cent, the incidence of dental caries in children and those benefits extend into adult life."

The association's brief was co-sponsored by the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario.

According to an interim progress report issued today by Lieutenant Colonel John Donaldson, Army Comps, the Red Shield Appeal is being met with fine acceptance by the people of Belleville and district.

Although a great number of the canvassers have still to complete their calls, and a great number have not turned in their completed kits, a fairly good percentage of the quota has already been reached.

Mr. Frank Dunnston, the campaign chairman, is making an urgent appeal to all workers to complete their calls with the utmost of despatch and make their returns to their captains. This will enable the campaign workers to complete the appeal in the allotted time.

All the officials of the Red Shield Appeal are very appreciated and grateful for the splendid co-operation they are receiving from both the residential and the business areas of the district and are very hopeful that the objective will be reached before the end of the month.

With this done, it can be assured that the noble work of the Salvation Army will not be curtailed during the coming year, and all the necessary committees can carry on as they arise.

Please, then, if you are working on the appeal, complete your task and make your returns as quickly as possible.

Belleville Man Ordered Deported

Robert R. Mondeville, 29, of this city was arrested, charged, tried and sentenced for illegally entering the United States by a Memphis, Tennessee court late last May. Due to legal complications Mondeville was not deported until his sentence was multiplied by 72.

He was originally sentenced to one hour in the custody of a U.S. marshall under the conditions that he immediately deported from the country. Due to the fact that transportation had to be arranged and Mondeville must also face charges in Detroit having served the sentence was stretched out to 72 hours.

Today Mondeville was moved to Detroit for the immigration board hearing.

Boy Killed In Losing Race With Freight

TORONTO (CP) — A public inquiry into the death of a boy killed Sunday in a losing race with a freight train on a trestle in Prospect Park was to be completed when struck by the diesel locomotive at one end of the trestle high above Highland Creek near his home in suburban Scarborough.

Four other boys scrambled to safety seconds before.

A single jump to the left would have put them on the solid ground. The boy's car freight was eastbound.

On their way to an old boathouse on the other side of the creek, the boys stopped halfway across the trestle to check for trains.

"I just looked back to see where Frankie was and I saw the train," said his nine-year-old brother, Charles. "I didn't hear any whistle."

"He didn't know which track the train was on."

Engineer J. L. Meldrum, 45, of Belleville, told police he sounded the whistle twice before the boys jumped and after seeing the boys on the trestle.

East and West Berlin Police In Gun Duel

BERLIN (AP) — East and West Berlin police fought a gunbattle on the Soviet sector of Spandau Canal in midtown Berlin Sunday over a refugee trying to escape to the West. The refugee was fatally wounded.

Gunfire broke out as Berlin police sallied the refugee before he could get through the barbed wire on the east bank of the canal and he was carried away by comrades who swam across the canal.

The East Germas interior ministry announced later he died in a hospital.

It was the second gun duel in five days. A West Berlin border guard was killed and another wounded Wednesday in an exchange of fire with West Berlin police who were protecting a 15-year-old boy swimming to freedom. The boy, badly wounded, made it to the West safely.

The Communists warned Sunday that "most serious consequences" could follow what they said was Western bomb-throwing across the Berlin wall.

The threat appeared in a front-page editorial in East Germany's official East German Communist newspaper.

Frankford's New Fire Hall Fine Addition to Town

TRENTON — Frankford's new fire hall, for many years called "Greens," is now a reality.

On Saturday, a large crowd of citizens and area dignitaries were on hand to see the keys of the hall handed from the building contractor Jack Bush of Riverside Construction to Carman Mikel, chairman of the building committee with Frankford council, and then on to Fire Chief Mervin Dafoe.

The hall, six months in the building, was planned by the chief and the 30 volunteer firemen attached to the department. While no architect was called in, Chief Dafoe called upon various fire department heads in the area from time to time when the building was being planned. Total cost was around $17,000. A large percentage of the cost will be returned in federal and provincial grants under the winter works program.

Many of the special speakers, including Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South, Harold Varty, Hastings County warden, Doug-las McMaster, reeve of Murray township, Herleigh Hamilton, reeve of Sidney township and Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville, spoke of the pride that the hall would never have to be used. One point brought out by Ebner Sandercock MLA for Hastings West, was that the new hall itself is fireproof.

Speaking as the head of the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual aid Association, Chief Vance told Chief Dafoe and his men that should a fire in the Frankford area get beyond them, help, from mutual aid departments, was as "close as your telephone."

Chief Vance said that he hoped the time was not too far distant when the Frankford department would get an additional fire truck.

AREA FOAM BANK

Chief Vance said that plans for an area foam bank were a "pretty well" organized. By this plan, Frankford would be kept at a central location and each department would be free to "borrow" from it in the case of fires where this type of chemical is most useful. The foam would be returned to the department using it.

Lee Grills commented on the "feeling of security" engendered by membership in mutual aid. He spoke of the new building as "a showplace for visitors to the village."

Frank Rabel, Frankford's reeve, told the assembly that tribute should be paid to the "indefatigable fire-department." Mr. Rabel explained that all fire calls are taken by Mrs. Dafoe, the chief's wife, Mrs. Harry Hamilton and Mrs. Lyle Bannber. They are then relayed to the chief.

Chief Dafoe introduced out-of-town department representatives to the audience. Included were Fire Chief Cecil Ellis of Trenton, Fire Chief John Agnieo of Batawa, Chief Ralph Mercer of Wellington, Instructors H. Mallory and H. Schallhorn of the Ontario Fire Marshal's office at Belleville, and LAC Fraser from RCAF Station Trenton.

Other distinguished guests included Councillors Leo McAuley, Ron Webb and Norm Filadell, and deputy reeve Fred Bruyea of Murray Township; Councillors Jack Bush, Ernie Kells and Gordon Wilkinson and deputy reeve Gerald Irvine of Sidney Township; Robert Temple of Belleville, Art Duncan of Batawa, Karel Vytopil, managing director of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada; Ald. Jack Ireland of Belleville and the reeve of Stirling.

ELECTION

government's election appeal "is based on claims that simply not stand up for one minute if we disregard them face to face."

Mr. Pearson said the two "claims" involved the state of the economy, as reflected in unemployment, and the general standard of living of Canadians.

The government's fiscal record was also criticized by Social Credit Leader Thompson at Jonquiere, Que.

He held up an imitation dollar bill with 80½ cents printed on it and said:

"They used to call Social Credit funny money. Now they realize it was Diefenbaker's funny money."

DEFEPTED DEVALUATION

The devalued dollar — now worth 92½ cents in terms of the United States dollar—was defended by Marc Drouin, Speaker of the Senate, in a speech at Three Rivers, Que. He said the action will increase employment, provide greater incentives to exports and the tourist trade.

Mr. Drouin said the NDP took a different view. He said its figures that the cost of living will rise by at least 10 per cent because of the devalued dollar.

Predicting the jobless level eventually will be around 500,000 annually because of automation and industry's drive for profits, Mr. Douglas repeated his promise that he would be made available for all a year after an NDP government assumed power.

Liberal J. W. Pickersgill, also dealing with financial policies, said in Asbern, Man., that the conservative government added more to the national debt in the last five years than it did for the first World War.

A flock of other issues—including foreign policy, trade with Communist nations, grain marketing, transportation and defence—figured in election speeches across the country.

Highlights Sunday:

Raymond O'Barby, defence production minister, said in St. Gilles, Que., the aluminum will never be accepted in Canada except in the event of a grave threat of war.

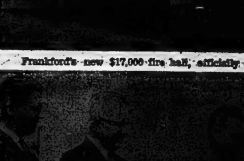
264 Children Take Part in Cycle Road-eo

TRENTON — Two hundred and fifty school children took part in this year's bicycle road-eo at the Trenton Community Gardens on Saturday. The Trenton Kiwanis Club sponsored the event at Trenton for the past several years. Co-ordinator was Ted Snider, Kiwanis safety chairman. Assisting with tests were Trenton's safety officer, Sgt. Gerard Steenburg, members of the Kiwanis Club, officers from the Brighton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, safety police from RCAF Station Trenton and No. 5 Repair Depot and interested town citizens.

The attendance is 25 per cent over that of last year. The children were conducted to the gardens in groups by members of the Trenton police force. Once there, they took part through safe driving tests around obstacle courses and required to write written tests, the results of which will not be known for at least a week. All examination papers must be marked.



CHILD INJURED

Saturday afternoon, seven-year-old Leslie Meyers of 120 Leopold Street, sustained abrasions to his right elbow, when he was knocked to the ground by a car driven by James Hollyworth of Prince-borough. The accident occurred around 1.30 p.m. on West St.

Police say that the child ran from behind a parked bread truck into the path of the on-coming car.

Man Rescued From Creek After His Car Jumps Ditch

TRENTON — Quick thinking on the part of a 20-year-old orderly, attached to the staff at Trenton Memorial Hospital, averted a tragedy near Dead Creek early Sunday morning, and kept the creek from living up to its name.

Russell Gibson, 26, of R.R. 4, Trenton, lost control of his late model car on Highway 33, at bend and shoulders in the creek, around 2 a.m. Sunday. The car jumped a ditch, and crashed into a hydro pole, shearing it off. Mr. Gibson was thrown from the car, and landed unconscious, in the water.

He was found moments later by Brian Firkin of Trenton. The injured man was submerged, head and shoulders in the water. Brian, who had been returning from North Bay, went up Connecon, in the company of four other youths, pulled Gibson to safety and dragged him clear of his companions to safety and dragged him clear of his companions to place for an ambulance.

Mr. Gibson was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital, where his condition is reported as satisfactory today. He suffered chest injuries.

The car, a 1950 model, was considered to be a complete write-off.

The Voices of the Prophets

We have now reached the stage in the federal election campaign at which the prophets are starting to produce their predictions as to the ultimate result.

Prophets may be divided into two classes—those who ask questions and merely report the statistical results, with the unspoken but understood implication that the final standing in the new Parliament will bear some close relationship to these statistics, and those who make some pretence of interpreting what others tell them. The latter class of prophets is divided into two sub-divisions—those who are frankly biased and those who maintain, frequently with sincerity, that they are completely neutral.

The surprising thing about the results is that all three classes of prophets come up with almost identical answers—the election is going to be very close.

The public opinion polls show the Liberals ahead, country-wise, but there is such a distinct difference in results from different parts of the country that it is evident these polls must be interpreted on a regional basis.

Regionally, there appears general agreement that the Liberals will hold their present wide edge in Newfoundland, that the Conservatives will enjoy a lead in the rest of the Maritimes, that the majority of Ontario seats will remain Conservative, that the Diefenbaker Government's farm policies will assure it of a wide edge on the Prairies and that British Columbia is going to see a dog-fight, with the Liberals and New Democratic Party probably emerging as the main winners.

The big question mark is Quebec. According to one newspaperman who toured it, if he believed what he heard in Montreal and Quebec City, Social Credit. But nobody believes this will happen, though some Socreds will probably be elected there, as well as in Alberta. Strangely enough, nobody seems to think much of the Socred chances in British Columbia, despite the fact that they are in power there provincially. The 1958 election, when the Socreds were completely wiped out, taught everybody not to judge the result of federal voting by provincial returns.

One theory about Quebec is that results there will depend on which party appears headed for victory as election day nears. According to this theory, whichever will elect a majority from that party which it expects to form the government. Even the Conservatives, though, expect to lose heavily—one reporter says that they place their maximum loss at not more than half their present 49 seats.

Peter Newman, writing in Maclean's, gives the predictions of Conservative and Liberal prophets in Ottawa. Generally speaking, they expect the New Democratic Party to win a maximum of 19 seats—but only two in Saskatchewan where the party forms the provincial government. The Socreds are given a maximum of eight seats. The Liberals and Conservatives each claim 138 seats for themselves. We did a little figuring from Newman's report, dealing with the figures from a different angle. Leaving the New Democratic Party out of it, and reasoning that the present figures are influenced by the predictions of NDP and Socred prophets), we found that the Conservatives grant the Liberals 94 seats, while the Liberals grant the Conservatives 88 seats. In both cases, tinge are the gloomiest results these prophets can see for their chosen party.

According to the Liberals, the House will consist of a minimum of 138 Liberals and a minimum of 88 Conservatives, with 39 other seats, of which the New Democratic may take a maximum of 19 and the Socreds may take a minimum of eight, leaving twelve seats to be fought over by the two major parties.

According to the Conservatives, the House will consist of a minimum of 138 Conservatives and a possible 94 Liberals, with 33 seats to be divided between the NDP, Socreds and doubtful categories.

Two Elections?

When Canada votes June 18, the federal election may be confined to nine provinces. There is an increasing danger that in Saskatchewan the main issue may become not federal government policies but compulsory health insurance. Opinions on this issue will not necessarily follow party lines. In effect, June 18 may produce two elections, on two wholly different issues.

It is highly desirable that the people of Saskatchewan should decide the issue between the New Democratic Government and the doctors—but it is most undesirable that the effects of this decision should influence the decision of Canadians as to who should form the federal government.

Little Girls Like to Change First Names

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Have you ever noticed that girls like to change their first names, while boys almost never do? Little girls as young as four or five often want to be called by some other name, which they think is prettier or more glamorous.

Barbie has been going through this phase lately. Each week she hits upon a new name, and will respond only to it. She has decided that "Barbara" is not for her, and has tried out a dozen others for size.

It would never occur to Michael to change his name. One name is as good as another to him, as long as it isn't outlandish or cumbersome. He doesn't want to be anyone else but himself.

It may sound far-out to you, but I'm convinced that girls do this largely because a part of them does not want to be a girl, but a boy. They are secretly envious of boys, and the casting around for a new name is part of a surreptitious way of trying to discard their femininity.

It is much harder to be a girl than a boy; more is expected of them. They are taught to be more passive, more quiescent, and, in fact, less lively, less rebellious, less physical, in a way. But their basic biologic needs are just as great, if not greater.

Because girls are generally more repressed, they develop a lot less resentment of boys, coupled with an unconscious desire to change places with them. Other wise, why would they be openly dissatisfied with the sex to which they have been given? A child knows nothing about the desirability of one sex over the other—there is no objective reason for such preferences.

GOD'S USE OF WEAKNESS AND FRAILTY

There is a famous picture entitled, "Flight into Egypt." It shows Joseph leading a little donkey upon which is seated the Virgin and the Babe. The scene is laid in the desert, with the sun and the pyramids constituting the background. Below the title of the picture are the two significant Latin words, "Anno Domini" — "In the Year of Our Lord."

Those two Latin words signify that one has reference on this canvas the beginning of a new era in human history. In the year that the flight into Egypt occurred, the world's attention was centered on the grandeur of imperial Rome, and people were eagerly discussing the world policies of the Roman Empire. But in God's sight, these things were as dead leaves falling from the trees in autumn. The significant thing was that a Babe had been born into the world, of a humble virgin, and that His birth would change history as it was then known.

In 1936 Hitler and Mussolini were talking about Napoleon and his policies, but the birth of Napoleon was before the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Charles Dickens, and Felix Mendelssohn—all of which leaves to the shepherds' simple song the supreme significance.

God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty."

Quacks Put up Good Front

Medical Researcher Warns

If the doctor is grumpy, looks untidy, and seems tired and uninterested when you go to see him, that may be evidence that you have gone to the right place, even if he does rattle your feelings a bit.

Dr. M. H. Crabb, secretary of the State Medical Society in the United States, says that irritable doctors sometimes are the best to go to quacks instead of to licensed physicians because quacks treat to put on a better front, and make themselves more agreeable to their customers.

"Quacks are well dressed, neat, healthy, kind, patient and sympathetic toward their patients," Crabb reported at length. "They give the patient sufficient time to tell his troubles. On the other hand, the qualified physician is usually overworked, worried and irritable about some really sick patient. He has a tendency to hurry you to get properly. So he rushes a patient in and doesn't have time to get the patient's story of his troubles. He is gruff, tired, and sometimes not even better being up all night. He doesn't look healthy, and he is usually not as agreeable to his patient what he is treating him for."

Nothing said by Dr. Crabb, we hope, will be taken by irate M.D.'s as justification for the argument for being deliberately grumpy. The doctor who puts time himself close to the edge of exhaustion, trying to do his job, is usually not only loved and respected by his patients, whatever his outward manner may be.

Slight Error By Airline

Ottawa Journal

The last word on airport muddle is that the parents of the English couple who landed at New York on a trip, took an airplane for Texas and found themselves flying back to England.

The Englishman, Mr. Charles Wood, had an interview at the London Airport, before returning to New York at the airline's expense. He said at first his wife had been airborne for an hour before the stewardesses were not headed for Texas but back across the Atlantic. It concluded that the girl at the airport desk in New York had looked at the wrong ticket for himself and his wife, which were dated for June 30, and put them on the first plane for London.

It's not a bit of a Charlie, but it hasn't any worth enjoyed the flight", said this pleased-to-be-home Englishman in the delicious way of airlines, will leave the impression that British airplanes and it was mighty while we're to fly him back to New York, so that they dominate passengers. Incidentally, we are told that they are being unreasonable when they expect airplanes to run on time. Considering themselves to making passengers will quickly for late airplanes and then be hustled through unmarked corridors on to the waiting airplane, which might equally well be going to Zanzibar or Prohibition Bay.

The chap who felt a bit of a Charlie felt foolish. And there are others who feel over the marvel of flight, never, never feel foolish.

Likes Sleep In Bathtub

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

The big trouble with beds, we've been told, is that one can't get sleep comfortably in them. This rather odd view has been held by Clark Gleason of Trenton, N.J., he says:

"No matter how soft beds are, or how you wriggle around in them, the pressure of muscles on what you lie are being rubbed and squeezed between your bones and mattress and the mattress and sheet from below.

The pressure, he contends, keeps sending little messages to the brain which wake you up. Thus, about half of the sleep you get isn't doing you any good.

Does Gleason have a better idea? Indeed he has, and here it is. He does in a bathtub filled with warm salt water.

The pressure, he says, is below and will float, which the average body, therefore, you won't drown, but only enough to relax muscles sufficiently to relieve pressure sending to your brain. Gleason says he has worst happens if you turn over in your sleep!

End Hysteria Doctors Told

Financial Post

The American Medical Association, which is hysterical about any news in the U.S. about socialized medicine, is drawing much comfort from the alleged failures of doctors in Britain.

In a recent editorial the Journal of the AMA quotes Lord Taylor, a physician-member of the House of Lords, as saying that "present state of medical affairs in Britain is a disgrace." He added that Britain is short of doctors because they are fleeing from the socialized National Health Service.

The inference is wrong. There is a shortage of doctors in Britain, but it is not because they are fleeing from socialized medicine. It is the result of some perfectly sensible policies laid by both government and the medical profession.

In 1957 a national government committee actually recommended that the number of students permitted to take medicine should be reduced by 25 per cent. The Willink Committee not only forgot to take into consideration the increase in population but misjudged the normal migration of British doctors and grossly underestimated the increasing needs for medical services which an efficient society would make it in the future.

What Lord Taylor really said in the House of Lords was that government should immediately rectify its previous mistake by establishing three new medical schools.

In no way does this straighten out the record; suggest that we advocate or approve of state medicine.

But if the Canadian Medical Association is to do its best for the profession and the Canadian public, it would be well advised to halt the rumour and hysteria among the medical men and get the arguments back to the issues that count.

Heart Attack Does Not Result From Single Cause

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to know why a good friend of mine has dropped dead of a heart attack. She used only powdered milk and no butter or no meat with fat. She was not overweight. She died at age 60.

Then there's my dad. He's 73. He eats his own home-grown eggs and the fat from the milk from the chops and bacon. He eats butter like it was going out of style, drinks about two quarts of milk a day, and I've even seen him put whipped cream on doughnuts.

Now as far as my friend's doctor was concerned, my dad should have had the heart attack and she should have lived past 75. My dad isn't fat, though about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He will be watching for an answer and so will my dad. Mrs. J.S.

Move over and make room for me, and we'll all wait for an answer, because the question you pose is one that is being intensively studied everywhere.

It is quite evident that heart attacks do not result from eating single items. However, it seems to be important in that it governs the kind of intake over a long period.

Atherosclerosis — the accumulation of fatty material in the arteries, thus narrowing the passageway for the blood flow — is generally believed to be narrower the coronary artery becomes, the more chance of a heart attack. Hence the cause of a heart attack.

What can we do to this atherosclerosis? We have strong suspicions that it is brought on by the amount of fatty materials in the blood, cholesterol being suspected of these. But it isn't only that. Some fats belong in the blood. So the real question is: What are the factors placed on the artery walls.

Overweight is a factor, but this people have heart attacks, too, although not as frequently.

Nearly every medical centre in the world is working on another of heart disease. So are the American Heart Association, the National Institutes of Health and researchers in hundreds of hospitals.

From logic and from evidence we already have, we know there are personality factors that so far haven't even been suspected.

Your dad, since he isn't fat, probably has been active enough to get rid of those hearty meals he eats. He must also have inherited healthy arteries.

Who knows? Your friend might have died sooner if she had been stretch. Or she might have lived longer if she had had a heart attack. Apparently, your father has.

I say "might have," because there is no one that we do not yet know, but can only suspect. What I say about your dad is the reason for supporting, in every way we can, the medical research that is going on.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes plugging of the nose? It affects me so much that I have to breathe through my mouth. — R.D.

Such plugging can be from:

1 — A crooked septum — the septum being the wall partition, made of cartilage, between the nostrils; it is easily bent from some injury sustained in childhood but not noticed until much later.

2 — Polyps, benign growths incited by chronic irritation, as infection, or, more often, allergy.

3 — Enlarged adenoids. This is more common, however, in children.

4 — Chronic sinus disease.

The first two are the more likely.

Being Crazy Just Normal

Financial Post

Bernard Shaw, fond of being extraordinary, was misled when an occulist told him he didn't have normal eyesight. He regained self-confidence on learning that perfectly normal sight is possessed by one person in many thousand.

Similarly, the idea that perfectly normal sight is possessed by one person in many thousand, or even hundred, is scientific nonsense. It is as rare as all the Shaws and all the occulists.

An eight-year psychiatric study of 1,000 inhabitants of New York state, a typical average community in this respect, found that only 18.5 per cent of them were free enough of emotional upsets to be called well. There were 81.1 per cent with "mild to moderate" symptoms of emotional instability, 23.4 per cent with "severe and incapacitating" symptoms.

Those figures are alarming: it shows that, as the experts long contended, in a competitive society, mental illness is a much more serious problem than we generally suppose. Yet the statistics as a whole are not without comfort: that the average man who belongs to that 18.5 per cent majority.

What they mean is that the man who is always in control of himself and the situation, never experiences anxiety or guilt, never feels either inferior or superior, has unduly elated is really not quite normal and is missing a lot.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

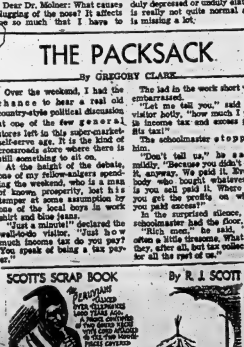
Over the weekend, I had the chance to hear a real old country-style political discussion at one of the few general store left in the rural market-and-serve age. It is the kind of crossroads store where there is still something to buy.

At the height of the debate, one of my fellow-citizens arrived on the weekend, who is a man of known prosperity, lost his temper at some aspect of the discussion and left.

"Just a minute!" declared the well-to-do visitor. "Just how much income do you get?"

Then he paused a tax pay-

The lad in the work short was embarrassed.



"Let me tell you," said the visitor hotly, "how much I pay in income tax and excess profits tax!"

The schoolmaster stopped him.

"Don't tell us," he said; mildly. "Because you didn't pay your income tax. Every body who bought whatever it is you sell paid it. Where did you get the profits on which you paid excess?"

In the surprised silence, the schoolmaster had the floor.

"Which, ever," he said, are often a little tiresome. What are they, after all, but tax collectors for all the rest of us?

Judge Anderson Dismisses Move to Unseat Alderman

Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson has dismissed the application of local land developer John Parrott, to have city Alderman Donald S. Whalen unseated from council, it was learned this afternoon.

Reasons for the dismissal in a 15-page judgment by Judge Anderson were not immediately entered.

In the application to unseat Alderman Whalen, Mr. Parrott claimed that Mr. Whalen, as city alderman, rendered through another party for the purchase of city owned parkland lots. This was submitted by Mr. Whalen at the hearing held before Judge Anderson several weeks ago. The lots, however, had not been actually sold to Mr. Whalen, as the Municipal Board had held up approval of the sale pending a valuation of the properties.

his grey blonde wife, Rose, and the two small children are two young sons—and by general consent friends and well-wishers.

Then Mr. Carpenter and James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, led a parade of convertibles the 12 miles past Cocoa Beach to Cape Canaveral. They were cheered all the way by thousands.

At the Cape, both Carpenter and Walter C. Williams, operations director for Project Mercury, received the Distinguished Service Medal of NASA.

Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the NASA manned spacecraft center, said that although Glenn had blazed the way into orbit, "in many respects it is tougher to fly a second mission than a first one of a series."

NOT AS DESCRIBED

Carpenter, asked about his $50 - mile overhead, said the braking sensation was not as Glenn had described it "a healthy kick in the back." Carpenter said the sectionpower, before separating, showed only a "G" — one half the force of gravity. "It is not as much as we expect," he continued.

Carpenter said all the fuel for his manual control system was expended during the retro-rocket firing. He had his sufficient fuel should but "I managed it impressively."

He said the excessively high fuel consumption "was not the result of the manual, but of a result of an impatient man."

Carpenter said he believed he obtained good measurements on the intensity of stars while in space. The biggest misplayer reported by Glenn. He said he also got good measurements on the width of the airplayer and its distance from the earth.

The layer extends all the way around the horizon, he said.

Glenn and Carpenter "not only braved the dangers of being burned up by meteors if something happened but also the dangers of drowning in the sea.

"But I am happy that he is safe, I am glad he survived."

ATTACKS RCMP

During his 50-minute speech Khrushchev attacked "forces" which are against developing trade and who form associations such as the European Common Market.

"At first sight the Common Market is a trade and economic organization," he said. "But it also has political motives which is a factor in making trade relations difficult."

"But we have shown for 40 years that strictly directed against us have failed. And the Common Market too has not shown results."

Khrushchev praised Italian businessmen for their "realism, wisdom and courage" and said he was "delighted" to hear that trade between Italy and the Soviet Union had increased 10 times last year.

A. Eichmann Brought to Hear Result of Appeal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann tonight awaited a hangman's noose to hear his Israeli judges uphold or reject his appeal against the death sentence.

The former Gestapo SS officer, condemned to death last December for his part in the Nazi extermination of European Jews, was escorted by a special police detachment armed with sub-machine-guns from his cell in Ramla prison near Tel Aviv.

The Supreme Court will give its decision Tuesday.

If the five Supreme Court justices uphold the death sentence, Eichmann can seek clemency from President Itzhak Ben-Zvi. It will be his last chance to escape the gallows.

Prime Minister Not Perturbed With Disrobing

By DAVE MORTON

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The late Prime Minister Mackenzie King was once asked in the House what he would do if he was confronted by disrobing Doukhobor women.

He said he would call for the leader of the opposition, then R. B. Bennett.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had no one, not even Liberal Leader Pearson, to call on for help Tuesday night when five Doukhobor women a stripped naked in the Trail, B.C. arena, while he was in the middle of a speech.

But it turned out, he didn't need any help to turn what could have been an awkward situation into his own favor.

That is no novelty to me," Mr. Diefenbaker said as the crude women stood in the several feet of the arena seats immediately to his left.

"I was raised on a homestead in Saskatchewan and that's why I know what those things are," he added.

CROWD CRIES 'SHAME'

The crowd of about 1,900, many of them local boys and girls strippers and cried "shame," rocked with laughter.

The Prime Minister now gleefully with him, Mr. Diefenbaker quickly turned some his advantage. He drew attention to reporters rushing across the arena floor in front of the platform to talk with the disrobers and said: "Some of the newspaper boys have never seen this before."

One reporter paused in front of the platform to jot down what the prime minister was saying about other newspapermen and Mr. Diefenbaker said, "Could better get into line. You're too far away."

Stripping is a popular form of protest used by Doukhobors. Sons, a radical offshoot of Orthodox Doukhobors who came to Canada at the turn of the century and finally settled mainly in the Kootenay of British Columbia.

Four years, the Freedomites or "spirit wrestlers" have disagreed governments and police with periodic outburst of violence.

BLOW UP TOWER

In the last several months, there has been a new outbreak of arson. A power transmission tower was blown by resulting in unemployment for some 1,000 men.

The five women disrobers were to appear in court today at Trail on disorderly charge, police said, will be creating a disturbance.

Some of the women said their husbands are in jail as a result of terrorist activities.

With tears streaming down her face, one of them said: "We want an end to discrimination. The Bill of Rights should apply to us, too. We are proud of our families and our children and we want to be Canadians like everybody else."

The incident occurred while Mr. Diefenbaker was speaking about the Bill of Rights.

Shopping Plaza Fire Damage Over 2 Million

QUEBEC (CP) — Four firemen were overcome by smoke Sunday in battling a blaze that swept a 30-store shopping centre in suburban Ste. Foye.

An official said damages may reach as high as $2,500,000.

For a time there was fear of an explosion. Paint and varnishes were stored in the basement of one of the establishments.

But firemen chopped holes through the roof of the building and played streams of water into the basement, eliminating the danger.

Marcel Ferland, chief of the Ste. Foye Fire Department, estimated damages suffered smoke poisoning. Three of his men and a fourth fireman, an other firemen needed treatment for a cut face.

Flames destroyed a supermarket and a hardware store. Damaged were a clothing and drug store, appliance shop, a branch of the Bank of Montreal, beauty parlor and clothing store.

The 42-shop centre was one of the largest in Quebec.

Provincial police, army personnel and members of neighboring police forces were sent to the centre to control traffic and prevent looting.

Gerard Renaud, St. Foye town manager, said the fire may have been started by children playing in vacant lots over from Saturday shopping.

Social Credit Will Be Miracle Of Election — Thompson

JONQUIERE, Que. (CP)—Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson Sunday reopened Prime Minister Diefenbaker's financial policies and said his party will be "the miracle" of the forthcoming federal election.

They need to call Social Credit funny money," he said, holding up an imitation bill with 20½ cents where the dollar sign should have been.

"They realize it was Diefenbaker's funny money."

Mr. Thompson's venture into the Saguenay region was apparently designed to begin the campaign of Gilles Gregoire, Social Credit candidate in Lapointe.

However, in his address to 2,000 people in the local high gymnasium he stressed that his audience should support all four Social Credit candidates in the area.

He spoke for about two minutes the French and then delivered the rest of his address in short English sentences which Mr. Gregoire translated to the crowd.

He discussed the "feeling of insecurity" he had found across Canada and the cry of "unemployment" he also found.

Mr. Diefenbaker now gleefully with him, Mr. Diefenbaker quickly turned some his advantage. He drew attention to reporters rushing across the arena floor in front of the platform to talk with the disrobers and said: "Some of the newspaper boys have never seen this before."

Pearson Heads West on Last Big Swing

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson flies west today on his last big swing of the Prairies, Far North, and west coast before the June 18 general election.

He is scheduled to speak at major rallies in Winnipeg today, and in Edmonton and Vancouver later in the week.

On his return to Ottawa next weekend he will go to Brockville for a meeting designed to bolster Liberal chances of retaining hard-bought Leeds constituency, which has a tradition as a Conservative riding but elected Liberal John Matheson in a byelection last year.

In the final two weeks of the campaign Mr. Pearson will concentrate on Ontario and southwestern Ontario.

The tour has weekend quietly after last week's intensive tour of Eastern and Northern Ontario, including a major address in his own riding of Algoma East at the half-processed uranium mining community of Elliot Lake.

GOOD REPORTS

Mr. Pearson received enthusiastic reports from his campaign organizers in Toronto and Oshawa.

The party arranged public opinion polls and private reports, and the Liberal leader claimed Friday he has received encouraging news of a swing to the Liberal party across the country.

His meeting Friday night in the traditionally - Conservative Toronto riding of Carleton Place added more enthusiasm to the already enthusiastic team of Pearson campaigners. In the community in which, they said, Mr. Liberals is more lucky to get a dozen people at a meeting in 1958, there were 400 at a church basement dinner to hear him, and several hundreds more on the streets to witness the big and banner-waving parade.

In Ottawa he also said he has been impressed by the keenness with which his audiences have supported the campaign issues.

During the Ontario swing, they applauded his criticism of the Conservative government, and listened attentively to his main message.

HITS KEY ISSUES

In each of his speeches he emphasized two key issues: Unemployment and the devaluation of the dollar.

He said there were nearly 500,000 Canadians out of work and Liberals can reduce the jobless level.

He also said the government was forced the devaluate the dollar because of growing lack of confidence in it abroad, and he traced this to lack of international confidence in the Conservative government's ability.

Lady Lawyer Named Head Of Bar Assoc.

MONTREAL (CP) — Claire Barrette always wanted to be a lawyer, but even the most tedious, dark - eyed 28-year-old bachelor girl didn't expect to achieve so much success so quickly in a field dominated by men.

The highlight of her career came when she was named the first woman president of the 57-year-old Montreal Junior Bar Association, an organization of 800 lawyers who have been practising law for 10 years or less.

The 1957 graduate of the University of Montreal is also secretary-treasurer of the Association of Women Lawyers in Quebec.

Miss Barrette is the daughter of Hon. Jean Barrette, a member of Quebec's legislative council, but she's the only lawyer in the family.

She was interested in law long before she decided to study it.

"I was interested in the law and in lawyers; I thought they had wonderful minds. Among my father's friends, I was the lawyers who appealed to me most."

Miss Barrette is becoming accustomed to the "first woman" tag. In 1960 she became the first woman lawyer in Montreal to win a case before a jury in the Court of Queen's Bench.

Next year she will, if precedent is followed, become the first woman to be named to the junior bar association's representative to the Council of the Bar of Montreal.

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Devoir says the International Exhibition Bureau in Paris has given Canada until Nov. 13 to decide to hold a world fair in Canada in 1967.

Perennial Attraction

By TRACY ADRIAN

A classic favorite, the shirtwaist dress, is shown in a supple soft fabric with a polyester and cotton fibres that is guaranteed to be wrinkle-resistant.

The frock, which was designed in Miami, features a fly front, a full skirt of unpressed pleats and cuffed sleeves. Red, white and blue stripes and an embroidered phone on the pocket provide colorful accents to the bodice.

Efforts of Woman Will Be Given National Recognition

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — "The education of better mothers to make better homes" is how Adelaide Hunter Hoodless summed up her purpose in life shortly before she died in 1928.

During her 19 years, amid strong social prejudice and much criticism and scorn, Mrs. Hoodless founded the Women's Institutes and helped to establish the YWCA of Canada, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the National Council of Women, and Macdonald Institute at Guelph, Ont.

Her efforts will be given national recognition June 2 with the unveiling of a bronze plaque erected at the Hunter Hoodless homestead eight miles north of Brantford by the National Historic Sites and Monuments Board.

Mrs. Hoodless has been described as a woman far in advance of her times, and her speeches still read much like those of today's psychologists at PTA meetings.

She preached the importance of a stable home to a stable society and became the rising tide of lawlessness, the empty churches and the disturbing increase in divorce statistics on the weakening of home ties.

Mrs. Hoodless's greatest battles were fought for the inclusion of home economics in school courses. She felt her efforts were justified because "the management of the home has more to do with the moulding of character than any other influence."

Even during her lifetime Mrs. Hoodless's work was internationally recognized. A few years before her death a British publication picked her as the most distinguished woman of the year. In 1939 the directors of Carnegie Technical Schools asked her to inspect their work in the United States and make recommendations.

In 1928 the Hunter Hoodless homestead became a provincial historical site with the erection of a bronze tablet by the Archeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario.

Hillcrest H-S Assoc. Lisfs 1962-3 Officers

The final meeting of the Hillcrest Home and School Association was held recently in the school auditorium. The president Mrs. D. Pruden welcomed the members and guests and Mrs. O. Williams presided at the piano.

The minutes of the March meeting were read and a short business session was conducted. The room count was taken and the banner was won by Mrs. William's class.

Mrs. Pruden introduced Mrs. B. Stinson, president of the Quinte District of the Home and School Associates, who in turn installed the following officers for 1962-63; president, Mrs. H. Wray; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. Hughes; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. J. Sweet; secretary, Mrs. D. Pruden; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. McMechan; treasurer, Mrs. B. Long; executive members — Mrs. M. Dryden, Mrs. T. Drake, Mrs. M. Belch, Mrs. M. Curran and Mrs. M. McPeak.

Mrs. Pruden introduced the speaker, Mr. Ken Bowman, officer of the Red Cross, who spoke on swimming and water safety. A film was shown on this subject which proved most interesting and greatly appreciated, with summer fast approaching. He dealt with several important factors, especially the importance taken for floating, buoyancy and the treading of water. Many people are inclined to take a sudden plunge into the water when surrounded by this, according to the safety rules, is not advised. One should get wet slowly to enable the body temperature to take on the sudden change. Mr. Workman also stated that drowning is the cause of 300 to 400 deaths a year in Ontario and 8,000 in Canada.

At the conclusion of his talk the speaker answered several questions which were of interest to all, concerning swimming and boating safety.

Mrs. Pruden expressed appreciation to the speaker, after which refreshments were served by the mothers of Mrs. Williams' class.

Fresh Rhubarb Pie Means Summer Is Coming

by Mary Moore

When the hothouse rhubarb came in in February, here's a recipe for a Short Bread Pudding and Short Steamed Rhubarb.

Now outdoor rhubarb has shown its little red sprouts and we have it in salad and in pies and puddings in our hearts' content. It is cheap and a great treat.

POUNDS:

1) Garny and Aunt Rachel call rhubarb pie plant. In that sense familiar to you? 2) Amateurs will be glad to know time can be saved by cutting up several clean stalks at a time, on the shopping board. 3) Because rhubarb is too bulky for most hydrators or crispers, try wrapping it in a damp Turkish towel and storing it in the fruit or one of the refrigerator shelves.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Pork Curry on Rice; Chopped Peanuts and Indian Chutney; Pork and Light Green Tossed Salad with Mayonnaise Dressing; Canned Pears with Cream Cake; Coffee.

OLD-FASHIONED RHUBARB PIE (9")

Make Filling first: Chop enough rhubarb (unpeeled) to fill 4 cups well-packed. Turn into bowl and stir in well 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons minute tapioca, and a good shake of salt. Let stand while you make the Pastry: 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour, 3/4 cup good quality shortening, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 6 tbsp. cold water.

Cut shortening into flour and salt until flakes are size of small peas. Drizzle ingredients mixing with a fork till all flour is moistened. Pat into a ball between palms, separate into halves. Roll out half on lightly colored board to fit 9" pie plate. Line pie plate. Pour in prepared rhubarb filling (above). Dot with 1 or 1 1/2 tablespoons butter. Roll out second half of pastry to fit top. Make slits in top to allow steam to escape. Moisten edge of bottom crust, seal on top. Brush surface with mixture of 1 tablespoon each white sugar and milk. Bake at 450 deg. F. for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. for 15 minutes. Reduce heat again to 300 deg. for 15 minutes. Pie requires 40 minutes in all.

Variation: Rhubarb - Pineapple Pie. Standing on my kitchen counter are 2 or 3 varieties of rhubarb pies. The one we like best has pineapple added to it. The reasons for making it are several. I have been in four kitchens in the past week where the cooks had a little chopped fresh pineapple (canned pineapple) and add it to the tangerine juice to the filling with the sugar and tapioca. Bake 5 minutes longer than old time rhubarb pie above remembering that it will take longer to bake if pineapple than raw rhubarb. A canned crushed pineapple is not sugar packed to reduced a little and baking time is same as old-fashioned rhubarb pie above.

Not Satisfied Training Schools Best Method

KINGSTON (CP) — Isabel Macneill, superintendent of the prison for women here, said Saturday training schools are not the best way to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Miss Macneill, former superintendent of the Galt Training School for Girls, was speaking at the eastern Ontario regional conference of the Canadian Confederation of University Women.

She suggested final child guidance centres not connected with the king's reform or training schools be established.

She said the present system is "a violation of a basic principle of the Juvenile Delinquents Act which states that children are to be treated not as offenders but as persons in need of help, guidance and proper supervision."

The conference decided that such schools be established in Ontario to determine which children grade a pupil moving from private to public schools or country should be placed. It also resolved that the CFUW provide a scholarship to enable an Ontario teacher to study and observe teaching methods in Canada.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council will publish one major, and minor, encountered by guidance counsellors and social workers

Lloyd, H. ..... Okay, should give the spare room to me.

Mrs. O.H. — We need it for so many other purposes.

• • •

Lloyd H. — I'm 13 years old and I'm trying to convince my parents that I should have the bedroom that's going to be empty next month when my grandmother moves out.

Right now I share a room with my kid brother. He's eight. My baby brother has a crib in Grandma's room. My idea is for the baby to move into my room with Bud, and for me to have a room alone.

Bud drives me nuts. He's I'm doing high school work now and he's up there with his friends — wrestling, throwing shoes around, making barnyard sounds or something equally heavy.

I can promise Mom she'll see a big difference in me and my marks. And I'll put my things away and keep the room clean and neat. But she's wriggling out. She says she has other plans. That's terrible!

• • •

Mrs. O.H. — Of course I sympathize with Lloyd, trying to do quiet studying with Bud barging around. I keep chasing Bud outdoors or shushing him, but as Lloyd said, he's a normal lively boy. There'd be no problem if we had five or six bedrooms to hand out.

But now that Mother's room will be vacant, we must decide the best thing to do with it. It may be able to get a college girl who'll sleep in with the baby and help me in return for room and board. Or, we'd move the baby in our room and turn that one into a den, TV room, playroom or maybe a sewing room for me. We need a guest room, too.

We have to give it lots of thought. Lloyd can't expect us to say yes unless it's best for all concerned, not just him.

• • •

The Council: It's no news, but here's added proof, that many of the world's woes boil down to the lack of lebensraum, and conversely we'd probably all be as happy as kings, if we had their multi-chambered castles to live in. (Come to think of it, there aren't many happy kings — but that's another topic!) Our homely housing allotments turn modern life into an education in the fine art of getting along with those who step on your toes, crowd your closet, occupy the space you'd like to stretch out in. Lloyd and his family are learning how.

But hard as the decision is, we'll take a deep breath and venture a vote for Lloyd. What with hide-a-beds and other trompe-l' oeil tricks, we'll bet Mrs. H. can work out makeshifts to cover some of her other needs. The situation will change. The family may move. As of now, however, we deem the most worthwhile use of the empty room would be as sanctuary for this a serious-minded adolescent boy.

First, it would inspire neatness and orderliness, and impart an air of tranquility — all pluses in a boy-sapper's turbulent life. Then, it would give Lloyd a quiet perch from which to figure out a few things for himself — where he fits in the world, what his personal talents and tastes are. Everyone needs a Think Room. People find it in a library, an office, a church or a temple. Lloyd will have it at a period when wrenchment and puzzlement assail the growing boy.

And of course he'll have good study conditions, a rare and important concomitant of the high school years. So rare indeed is this sort of aid that two Texas psychologists recommend that students post rude signs on their doors saying "Get Lost" or "Scram Please."

Comfort for Mrs. H. comes in the thought that Lloyd will move out of the room to go to college, and by that time baby Bud will be the teenager who needs a little privacy.

Kim Novak Gives Reasons For Remaining a Bachelor

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood's most eligible bachelor girl says her state of single blessedness has only one big problem.

"It's the people who keep asking me why I haven't married," said Kim Novak, the world's most lovely lavender blonde.

"The second challenge in a man but in the case of a woman look for some strange reason. "To my case it's quite simple. I haven't married—by choice.

"I've met a lot of men in my life, and I expect to meet a lot more, but I haven't met an overwhelming one."

Kim, who recently completed "The Notorious Landlady, at present isn't in the mood to be overwhelmed by anything or anybody — the wake of a meteoric rise to fame, she is still engaged in that struggle that comes to all who are new to renown—the struggle to retain one's own identity as a human being.

Just a few years ago she was an obscure model. Today she's a top star, has her own film company, two homes, and presumably enough in the bank to live her over a long lifetime of raisy days.

KIM'S INDIVIDUALITY

"Above all I prize being an individual," she remarked. "People are always trying to change you.

"Being single has certain advantages. Everything is simpler and less complicated.

"I've always been a loner. I adore privacy and being alone.

"I'm the happier than if I were married to the wrong person—or even a half-way wrong person. I don't want to get married just because of the thing to do."

Kim believes happiness in marriage is relatively rare because marital partners too often try to change each other.

"If people realized that true love consists in a real willingness to put up with each other's imperfections," she said, "only all that really should marry.

"A good marriage should relieve tension. But most marriages cause tensions. Men go to work to escape home tensions."

So Kim intends to remain single until that overwhelming man—with all his imperfections—comes along to bring her happiness.

Maternity Modes

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

The waiting game is made much easier these days for prospective mothers, so far as fashion is concerned. Maternity clothes grow more attractive each season, which is as it should be.

This one is a jumper and blouse, the jumper done in a navy or black silk and wool blend. The wide, self-covered contour belt starts higher in front, dipping to the normal waist in back. The skirt breaks away to a slight flare by means of inverted pleats front and back.

A silk georgette blouse comes in white for a navy jumper and in flesh pink to go with the black version.

GENEVA (Reuters)—The U.S. section, disarmament conference submits its first report to the United Nations this week after more than two months' work and it is expected to show per sisting East-West disagreement.

BODY SKIN dried by cold or hot weather can be uncomfortably dry. An occasional rub with a special bath oil in the water is good even for toddlers. Make this bath a leisurely one, to give the oil a chance to do its best work. Dryer sheets have many different kinds of bath oils, any or which will serve the purpose.

Delicious Soya Baked Chicken

Following is a Poultry Products Institute, Guelph-approved recipe* with a deliciously distinctive flavor. Men especially like this as it might be a treat to serve Dad on Father's Day. However, you really don't have to wait until then to get the family's O.K. on what may well turn out to be a favorite way to prepare those tender young broiler-fryer chickens at mealtime, now!

No fat is used in cooking soya baked chicken and it has a rich brown color, and moist texture that is good cold or hot. It is excellent picnic fare served with rolls or bread, pickles and a salad.

SOYA BAKED CHICKEN

2 broiler-fryer chickens, about 2½ to 3 lbs., 1-3 to ½ cup soya sauce, pepper, garlic powder.

Wipe chicken with clean damp cloth. Cut into serving portions. Cut-up chicken be purchased and used if preferred. For good-sized appetites allow a leg and thigh or half a breast per serving at least.

Place chicken in shallow pan or pans, without crowding. Pour one half cup soya sauce evenly over all pieces. Sprinkle lightly with pepper and garlic powder. Turn pieces to cover all sides with the soya sauce and finally arrange them skin side up in a single layer. Drizzle with additional soya sauce if it seems required to thoroughly moisten chicken. Cover pan with lid or piece of aluminum foil. Bake in moderate to moderately hot over 350 degrees F. to 375 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Remove lid baste chicken with drippings in pan and continue to bake uncovered, basting once or twice, about 20 minutes or until meat is fork tender. If skin is not as crisp as desired, place under broiler for two or three minutes. If chicken must be held for hour-or-so, cover pan and serve in warm oven. Re-crisp skin under broiler before serving if desired.

If taking Soya Baked Chicken on a picnic, be sure to chill chicken thoroughly and keep cool until served.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

FASHIONS IN SUBURBIA

If you're planning a trip to the country in the near future, maybe you'd like to know how the natives dress.

Well, strictly between you and me, they're very much the same as city dwellers, except that the men go without ties during the day and the women seem to favour slacks and Bermuda shorts.

But, at least in our part of suburbia, in the evening the fashion pictures dissolve into almost an exact replica of what's worn at parties and in restaurants in most large cities.

Believe it or not, when country couples entertain, or go to a party, or out to dinner, they dress for the occasion. For cocktail or dinner parties, the men usually wear a sack suit or blacks and the women dress with tie, of course. After five, a pretty afternoon or so-called cocktail dress in cotton or linen or some other cool, soft fabric is more or less routine for women during the summer.

So, when city visitors ever get the idea that country people dress like hayseeds is beyond me. Judging from the housewives I know — after digging all week in the garden, picking up after untidy youngsters and trying to keep dust from settling comfortably on the household furniture — they're only too happy to go in for a bit of fun from on the one night they go out in public or invite a few of the public in.

So if you have a country invitation clutched in your palm and wonder how to dress so you won't feel like you've been left off "clothes-trapdecks," here's a simple way to read the sartorial situation.

If the invitation specifies a cook-out or a barbecue, no problem. It's a backyard party and dress is most casual. Shorts, or slacks, and sports shirts for the men; shorts or slacks or a sun or patio dress for the women.

If the invitation is just for the day, but doesn't specify how the food is to be cooked, chances are that the same sort of relaxed wear is worn.

However, if the invitation is for the afternoon and suggests you stay for dinner, then it might be wise for the man to bring along a jacket and tie to wear with his slacks, just in case. If the women wear a sun-dress and a pair of sandals, a fresh dab of lipstick is about the only quick-change she'll have to make.

An invitation to cocktails and/or dinner immediately rules out lounge clothes, unless, of course, the hostess adds the enlightening phrase "we're not dressing" to her written or phoned invitation.

However, when in doubt about what to wear, always ask. It's quite proper, and takes all the guesswork out of this age-old social dilemma.

Wife Calls Husband Names

BORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—My husband and I had a little disagreement. I called him a vile name and he resented it.

So he took the car keys away from me to punish me. This is an awful bother to me as the car just sits there all day and I can't even do the errands I need to.

This is not the first time he has done this. I won't be given back the keys until I say I'm sorry. Don't you think he should be sorry too? After all, he said mean things too. But I'm always the one who has to give in.—SORRY NOW.

DEAR SORRY—You call him a bad name. He takes the car keys. Then you set off morning coffee. He holds back grocery money. You leave the shirts unironed. He cuts off the telephone.

What next? Do you poison the soup?

By such petty revenges are marriages ruined.

Love can grow—or die of malnutrition. Yours must be getting pretty thin. Don't think it will live forever without the nourishment of kind words and mutual yearning. Whichever of you is the more mature will capitulate first and start turning the tide.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—Do you think I am too old to skip, play jacks or ride a two-wheel bike? I am 12 years old and in grade seven—JUST TWELVE.

DEAR JUST TWELVE—Play jacks or skip if you like and have a pal to do it with. Skipping is good exercise. Jacks help eye and hand co-ordination.

You needn't stop bike riding for a long time. If you were in England or Bermuda you'd ride one all your life without comment.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—I am 33 but still very shy with girls. I like one girl I have been taking out but now one of her friends says she likes me. I am too good to her.

She always decides where we go and I could not be mean to her. We have been out several times and I have not asked her for a kiss. I would not want her to think me mean. But I think she likes me. I wouldn't want to lose her.—CASPER.

DEAR CASPER—There are times to be masterful. It's one thing to give a girl some say; another to never know your own mind.

Try sweeping her off her feet—have tickets for a good play and tell her she's going—kiss her goodnight for a surprise—let her see you know where you are going.

Milquetoast tactics are going to lose her for you otherwise.

TO SPEECHLESS SWAIN:—Square dancing classes at the YMCA are a start in the right direction. To your partner you talk about square dancing. If you read up on it you'll have even more to say. Learn about good manners in company.

U.C.W. Meetings

FRANKFORD U.C.W. UNIT 2

FRANKFORD — The May meeting of Frankford U.C.W. Unit 2 was held recently with 23 members and four visitors in attendance. The leader Mrs. Harrington opened the meeting, with a poem "A Prayer for Everyday".

Mrs. H. Heer gave a reading "Homemade". The business was conducted by Mrs. Harrington. The birthday tea on May 24 was discussed.

140 Veterans of Boer War To Mark 60th Anniversary Of Signing of The Peace

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—"Some of us may have to go by in wheel chairs but we'll make the parade," said 81-year-old William Hare.

Mr. Hare obviously won't need a wheel chair. He's been running a machinery business here since 1909 and still reports for work every day at 8:30 and goes home at 5:30.

The parade he referred to is one being held here Thursday, May 31, in connection with ceremonies marking the 60th anniversary of the signing of the Peace of Vereeniging which ended the South African War.

The ceremonies will also include dedication of the South African War Book of Remembrance — "we worked 25 years to get that," Mr. Hare said—and a service at the South African War Memorial on Elgin Street a few steps from Confederation Square.

The veterans affairs department will give a dinner for the veterans. About 140 are expected from across Canada.

264 CANADIAN DEAD

"I'm afraid some won't last out till the end of the month," Mr. Hare said, "We're pretty old boys and two or three have died since the ceremonies were announced."

Before the Peace of Vereeniging was signed at Pretoria May 31, 1902, a total of 7,368 Canadians had served in South Africa in Canadian units.

The South African War Book of Remembrance, recently completed, contains the names of 264 Canadians who died as a result of service in that war.

The historical branch of the Canadian Army says that although the part played by Canada in the war was not large, it was important. It was also the first Canadian force to serve overseas under their own officers—the beginning of an idea that was to, persist in Canadian politics. This was not only the preference for but insistence on placing Canadian troops under a unified Canadian command.

COST CANADA LITTLE

The immediate cause of the 1899-1902 war between the British and the Boers was the dispute over denial of political rights to foreign miners in the Transvaal. Because many of these gold-seekers were British, the United Kingdom government took up their cause.

Canada at first held aloof from the war but the government was pushed into action by the weight of public opinion in English-speaking Canada.

The war cost Canada only $3,000,000. Britain paid the official Canadian contingents after their arrival in South Africa. Canada making up the difference between British and Canadian rates of pay.

Ottawa orders were issued Oct. 14, 1899, for the enrolment of volunteers. The first contingent, the 2nd (Special Service) Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment, sailed from Quebec aboard the Sardinian Oct. 30. Militia regiments from every province in Canada had provided volunteers.

Mr. Hare enlisted Nov. 7, 1899 in Ottawa.

TOOK HORSES

"We were in the cattle sheds at the exhibition grounds and we drilled in the sawdust. I was the lead driver of No. 6 gun in D-battery. Each gun had six horses and three drivers.

"We paraded in Ottawa and paraded with the same 300 horses at Cape Town. We sailed on the Halifax is the Laurentian. We called her 'rolling Polly'. She was built for speed. She was narrow and how she rolled."

A year from the day Mr. Hare enlisted, the Canadians were in action, probably the sharpest engagement of the war—at Leliefontein, on a farm, on the Komati River in Transvaal, Mr. Hare said:

"We were in a convoy of about 3,500 men and ran into a spot. The Dutch gave us a proper shellacking. We were caught on three sides. We lost 34 men out of 90 but we saved all our guns."

A small party of the Royal Canadian Dragoons and two of D-Battery's guns covered the withdrawal.

"Our two 12 - pounders fired 386 shells that day," Mr. Hare said. "The rifling was gone and they had to be relored."

THE TRAGEDY

The Dragoons won three Victoria Crosses that day. The awards went to Lieut. H. E. C. Cockburn, Lieut. R. E. W. Turner and Sgt. F. C. C. Holland. Lieut Turner later commanded a division in the First World War and became Lt.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner. He died at his home in Quebec City last year.

The Canadians won a fourth Victoria Cross in South Africa. It went to Lt. H. H. Richardson of Lord Strathcona's Horse for rescuing a wounded comrade in a skirmish at Belfast, Dutchtown, Heidelberg, Greylingstad, Holgatedorp, Amersfoort, Machadodorp and Pursuit of De Wet.

Mr. Hare said it wasn't a war at all after the British learned not to fight by advancing shoulder to shoulder against the Boer snipers.

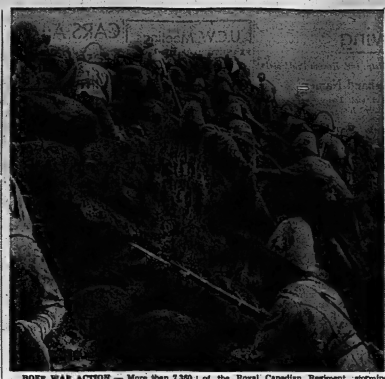
JOINED SCOUTS

"If the British hadn't stopped their mass attacks, the war would be going on yet."

After his hitch in the artillery, he joined the mounted Canadian Scouts.

"We used to have Boer drives, as we called them. We'd be strung out for 50 miles and ride the Boers down. We'd have to smoke them out of some villages but we'd help carry out their furniture.

"We outplayed the Boers at their own game. We had lots of horses and ammunition and food and they didn't have any supply lines. We just rounded them up."



What did he plan to do after the ceremonies May 31?

"Oh, I think I'll go to the world's fair in Seattle," Mr. Hare said.

"Most of the boys are on the shelf but I'm still going strong, foolishly or not."

Progressive Conservative Rally in Sydney Forced to Change Place of Meeting

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Accusation and counter-accusation followed a demonstration here one Saturday night that forced a Progressive Conservative rally to change its plans of meeting.

A few people got by a dozen or more demonstrators in front of a union hall where the meeting was scheduled. More turned away apparently to avoid a disturbance. The rally was subsequently held in Conservative party headquarters here.

Donald Gillis of Sudbury, Ont., a former Cape Breton and PC candidate for the Ontario riding of Nickel Belt, was to speak to the meeting on behalf of Donald MacInnis, Conservative candidate in Cape Breton south.

Mr. Gillis said one of the demonstrators grabbed him by the arm to keep him from entering. But he showed his way past. He said about a dozen of them, who gave every indication of being Conservative Party supporters," tried to keep him and Mr. MacInnis out.

"I would say the majority were working NDP stickers or buttons," he said in an interview. He saw some of the group getting out of a car with NDP stickers on it.

The NDP Sunday night officially denied that it had anything to do with the disturbance but charged that "no doubt the Conservatives were aware of the fact that such a disturbance was likely when they planned Canadian Labor Congress.

The political meeting for the Steelworkers' union hall and we have no assurance that they wanted this disturbance to come for their own political reasons."

The Cape Breton South NDP Association said in a statement that many of the unemployed are NDP supporters "and this explains why some of the cars would be bearing Tory Conservatic Party stickers."

Saturday night a spokesman for the NDP provincial committee commented in Halifax: "For the Conservative party to bring their candidate . . . who is a Gillis from Cape Breton and a labor man is nothing less than provocative to the unemployed of Sydney."

"That a few New Democratic Party supporters might be involved to the point of obstructing his entry to the Steelworkers hall is not surprising. The party does not favor such methods."

Mr. Gillis said he was called Communist. "That was their main argument."

Mr. Gillis is president of Sudbury Local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind). The national Mine-Mill leadership has been accused of being Communist-dominated and Mr. Gillis, boasting what he called a record of being anti-Communist, was elected local president in 1958. He is seeking to unseat Local 598's incumbent slate of 17,500, back into the Canadian Labor Congress.

Quinte Marksmen Club Enjoying Good Shooting

Bi' goose driving south out of Tuckersville on a fine Wednesday evening or Sunday afternoon hears the crack of thunder in the distance there should also be a need to roll up one's windows and scout the horizon for rain clouds. The noise will be sweet thunder from and for the headgamers of the Quinte Marksmen Club on their outdoor range.

Using anything from the always popular .22 cal. target pistol or revolver up to the mighty Smith and Wesson .44 Magnum handgun a series of cracks and booms are apt to disturb the otherwise peaceful countryside as the marksmen bolt tyros and experts, try their eyes on the 25, 50 or 100-yard ranges.

Anywhere up to 30 members may be expected at a club session. They will be there for serious shooting rather than just to plink away. An active interclub program of competitive shooting amongst Quinte district clubs sparks interest in practice on a prescribed course of targets.

This course, which is standard for outdoor handgun competition, consists of a twelve target fired at 50 yards, a timed-fire target (with the shooter allowed 30 seconds for every five shots) and a rapid fire ten target (with the shooter allowed 10 seconds for every five shots) which are shot at 25 yards' distance.

A GROWING INTEREST

A growing interest in this more formal type of competitive shooting has been experienced recently according to club members and the development of a series of regular competitions are more interested in the size of the shooters' income, despite its adequacy, and from where it is received, rather than assuring health care for all our people at a price within their means."

He said a number of NDP members are doctors and dentists and "refuse to be coerced into silence."

BAND OF FRIENDSHIP

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Several weeks ago residents of Allentown went to Ocean City, N.J., to help clean up the effects of a March storm. Ocean City thanked Allentown Sunday by sending a high-school band 140 miles to March in Allentown's bicentennial celebration parade carrying a banner saying "We Came to Say Thanks."

by phoning past president Doug MacDonald at the Oz Bow Gun Shop.

NDP Leader In Ontario Endorses Plan

Roy Ruggles, recently retired here after 15 years as a Toronto district union official, was chosen NDP candidate for Simcoe east in the June 18 federal election.

Mr. MacDonald said that "those who dominate the Medical Association in Canada are far more interested in the size of the doctors' income, despite its adequacy, and from where it is received, rather than assuring health care for all our people at a price within their means."

He said a number of NDP members are doctors and dentists and "refuse to be coerced into silence."

RIBBON CUTTING — Mayor A. M. Haig of Belleville, cuts ribbon to open new Bank of Montreal on Saturday, as R. D. Mulholland, vice-president and general manager of the bank, looks on. Local bank manager Norman Keith looks over Mr. Mulholland's shoulder.

Bank of Montreal Building Officially Opened Saturday

At about 3.15 p.m. Saturday, Mayor A. M. Haig cut the ribbon to open officially the Bank of Montreal office at the corner of Bridge and Front streets. Warden Harold Vary, R. D. Hastings County, R. D. Mulholland, vice president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, and Norman B. Keith, manager of the local branch of the bank, were in the official party. About 200 spectators attended the ceremony.

The new building is the fifth occupied by the bank in Belleville. The first office was opened here in 1843, and the present site was first occupied by the bank in 1922. The first office was one of the finest bank branches opened anywhere in Upper Canada, at a time when Belleville had only 3,000 inhabitants.

Mayor Haig, speaking after the ribbon-cutting ceremony, commented that the Bank of Montreal has handled the municipal account for generations, and has always been popular in the city. He added that all the chartered banks are good for the country, and for the municipalities they serve. He applauded the civic responsibility of bank personnel, who serve voluntarily on countless boards, commissions and committees across the country.

CITY HAPPY

"I thank you for the privilege of being here", he said. "The city thanks you for the new building — and for the assessment.

Warden Harold Vary, speaking later, commented that he has been also during the afternoon "to the opening of Frankford's new fire hall. But I didn't spare the horses to come down here", he said, "I owe the bank too much money to miss that". He commented on the confidence the chartered banks had earned during the years, and told of one man, in Tweed, who had no family and tried to leave his money to the Royal Bank.

In a more serious vein, Mr. Vary added some advice to people who owe more money than they can pay. "If a loan comes due when you have no money," he advised, "come in and tell the bank about it. They'll know you're no good anyway, but this way they'll also know you're man enough to say so."

R. D. Mulholland, general manager of the bank, thanked the contractor and architect for their co-operation during construction. He commented, "In this new building I believe we have a fitting home for one of our most important institutions."

Perhaps the tone of the ceremony was best expressed by William Watson, architect of the building, as he handed the keys over to Mr. Mulholland.

Wants Pensions For Disabled In Hospitals

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—An appeal to the federal and provincial governments to provide pensions for mentally handicapped persons was decided on Sunday at the annual convention of the United Handicapped Groups of Ontario.

The proposal was that those confined to hospitals for the chronically ill receive the same Canadian allowance that is at present paid to persons over 70 residing in nursing homes.

One of the main projects of the UHG was the establishment of homes for the physically handicapped between the ages of 30 and 40 who are now forced to live in homes for the aged.

land. "It's a pleasure to work for a customer so obviously solvent," he commented.

Spectators were given guided tours of the whole building by the bank staff, and refreshments were served in the employees' lounge, on the third floor.

Largest Field of Candidates Since Confederation Will Seek Election on June 18

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian voters will have more candidates to choose from June 18 than on any Dominion election since Confederation.

A compilation by The Canadian Press one week before the June 4 close of nominations shows 891 candidates in the field. This tops the 864 record set in 1945 when 262 seats were contested and is far ahead of 1958's 836 when, as this year, 265 seats were at stake.

The total is not expected to rise substantially this week since Progressive Conservatives and Liberals have completed their slates and the other major parties, Social Credit and New Democratic Party, are well on the way to their goals of from 220 to 260 candidates each.

The figure: Progressive Conservatives 265, Liberal 264, Social Credit 212, New Democratic Party 194, Communist, 14, Independent 32.

The Liberals had planned to place an entry in every seat but withdrew John Turner, in British Columbia, did not qualify because he failed to comply with one of the regulations of the Canada Elections Act.

Elsewhere was one of 31 constituencies where nominations closed May 3, two weeks earlier than in the remaining 282 ridings, two of which elect two members apiece. Withdrawals of nominating constituencies are those where polls are widespread and isolated and extra time is needed to deliver election notices.

Unless there are last-minute withdrawals—and this is unlikely—there will be no acclamations since at least two persons have been nominated for every riding. The last acclamation in a federal election was in 1957 when Liberal Chesley Carter was unopposed in Newfoundland's Burin-Burgeo.

Mr. Carter, re-elected in 1958, is a candidate again this election and will be opposed by Alex Stacey, a PC candidate in Waterloo, with 25 seats, tops the list of candidates with 314 compared with 301 in 1958. Other provincial figures, with 1958 total bracket:

Newfoundland 20 (18), P.E.I. 18 (9), N.S. 35 (38), N.B. 30 (26), Quebec 238 (256), Manitoba 37 (40), Saskatchewan 25 (35), Alberta 30 (30), B.C. 90 (93), Yukon and N.W.T. 5 (5).

The big increase in the overall total is the surge of Social Credit candidates. Only 56 were nominated in 1958, when none was elected, and of these only 15 were in Quebec where the party is making a major effort to support 212 election.

Twenty-six women have been nominated so far, compared with 21 in 1958. The record of 54 was set in 1953.

Following is lineup of candidates to date across the country:

Comparison of Flights By Carpenter, Glenn

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—"Everything you see is so awe-inspiring," was Malcolm Scott Carpenter, "I think the most arresting sight I saw during the flight was the . . . sunrise. It's a beauty beyond description."

"It was quite a day," says John Glenn Jr., "I don't know what you can say about a day when you see four beautiful sunsets in one day. It is pretty interesting. The sea in orbit and one of the surface."

Here, based on their press conferences — three months apart — is a comparison of astronauts' observations and reactions of the first two U.S. astronauts to orbit the earth.

Eating During Flight

Glenn: "Eating was real relaxing," but he recommended something solid, "something you can hold onto."

Carpenter: "The cookies crumbled and the candy melted."

Sensation of Weightlessness

Glenn: "It was very pleasant . . . and I had no tendency to overreach on switches or have any trouble with the controls . . . it is a wonderful feeling."

Carpenter: "No bad effects. . . . The weightless environment . . . is very welcome and very peaceful, and there is just no difficulty at all getting used to this state."

Problems Encountered

Glenn: "The automatic stabilization and control system was causing some difficulty . . . It didn't appear to be correcting up the way it should. I was able to use the manual control during that period, and this didn't cause much concern at all."

Carpenter: The automatic control system that electronically senses and repositions the spacecraft for firing rockets from the first orbit on, but "I did not analyze it through hectare of the press of the other items we expected to accomplish on the flight." Also, the fuel state was a problem but "the fuel supply was and the fault of the capsule, only the fault of an impatient man" anxious to do all the experiments.

Sensation of Speed

Glenn: "We thought that over a period of time we might feel some ill effects from it in the way of nausea or disorientation, but there were none of the effects whatsoever."

We all adapt very, very rapidly to these new situations."

Carpenter: "In many respects it was as easy as a bus ride."

Re-entry Into Atmosphere

Glenn: "Boy, that was a real fireball."

Carpenter: "There was no noticeable heat, and after I was in the water the heat in the capsule read 105."

Parting in Space

Glenn: He had no idea what they were, but described them as "bright yellow green, like a star on a very bright," the "size of a pinhead or about two-eighths of an inch."

Carpenter: He was able to "create" the fireflies by knocking on the inside of the spacecraft. He does not think they glow that bright "in space. They look like snow — small snowflakes . . . more brilliant than any star."

Parachuting to Earth

Glenn: "Parachute functioned in completely normal manner, and that's probably the prettiest little flight you ever saw in your life—to look out that window and coast parachute."

Carpenter: "The restraint for operating the droque (stabilizing) chute manually was because I was feeling oscillations of the capsule, I punched the button at 26,000 feet. It normally comes out automatically at 21,000. The main chute normally goes at 10,000. I waited 500 feet, and when it didn't open I punched it manually at 9,500."

Lack of Time

Glenn: The other observations that we planned to make we had to go by the boards while I tried to work out the control system problems and I spent most of the last two orbits working on this."

Carpenter: "There's so much to do . . . I was preoccupied. On the third orbit, south of Hawaii, there were a few things going on at one time."

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven men, women and children were rushed out to a rock in Eastchester Bay and were stranded for four hours. Four hours Sunday night when the incoming tide closed off the path back. Police harbor boat rescued the group from the rock, about 200 feet off the shore.

Franco Lays Part of Blame On Roman Catholic Priests

MADRID (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco Sunday laid part of the blame on Roman Catholic priests for strikes and political unrest in northern Spain.

But he charged that the Soviet Union is the real culprit with a spending campaign of "hundreds of millions" for propaganda, intrigue and agents in Spain.

"We are the country in which, and only through our own effort, communism was defeated," Franco told 12,000 Spanish Civil War veterans. "And thus, if we don't want to lose such glory, we must resign ourselves to remain being the target of its attacks."

As for the priests, Franco said, they seem to ignore that in Spain the church and state march together. They are well aware of their obligations and duties, he said.

Enemies of Spain profited from the labor troubles, Franco said, "because of the excesses of some Basque separatist priests or clerical mistakes of some hot-headed priests."

He did not explain what he meant by separatist priests or clerical mistakes.

He said, however, the attitude of such priests did not alter the fundamental harmony between the church and state.

There was a possibility Franco had in mind priests who had expressed opposition to his regime and supported the northern Basque region's claims to independence.

Franco's attack on the priests came after he is reported to have summoned Enrique Cardinal Pla y Deniel, Primate of Spain, to his palace last Friday and told him some priests were speaking on political matters.

Meanwhile, labor sources reported that priests in the northern strike areas refrained from any mention of the walkouts in Sunday's sermons. They supported the strikers in previous sermons.

Russians Launch Another Routine Earth Satellite

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia has launched another Sputnik, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Tass said that the Sputnik, named Cosmos V, was circling the earth every 102.75 minutes.

It said the satellite's maximum distance from the earth is 1,000 miles and its minimum 126 miles.

Tass said it was a "routine artificial earth satellite" and that it was functioning "normally."

It is the fifth satellite in the Cosmos series which the Russians began March 16.

Tass said:

"A routine artificial earth satellite, Cosmos V, has been launched in the Soviet Union. According to provisional data, the flight of the satellite is taking place on an orbit close to that planned."

The fourth in the Cosmos series was launched April 28 and was brought down safely on orders from the ground three days later, the Russians announced.

Adults, Pre-School Age Children Staying Away in Droves From Polio Clinics

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario's adults have generally adopted a couldn't-care-less attitude toward the offer of free Salk anti-polio syrup.

Communities which have held mass clinics generally report that while 90 per cent of the school children have been getting the vaccine, adults and pre-school-age children have been staying away in droves.

A survey by the Canadian Press shows many local health departments have not yet taken advantage of the supply of free vaccine.

The new vaccine has been available since March then it was only approved by the federal government. The Ontario government shares the cost with the federal government and distributes the vaccine free to local health boards.

The vaccine was in limited supply at first, but now is freely available.

However, some local units, including Simcoe county and Hamilton, have no plans to introduce the vaccine at the present time. Other centres such as Ottawa, London, and Guelph plan intensive campaigns for the fall.

IS COMPLEMENTARY

An Ontario health department spokesman said Friday the Sabin vaccine is complementary to the Salk vaccine, which was introduced in 1955.

"One does not replace the other," he said.

The spokesman said that about 90-95 per cent of school children, more than 175 per cent of pre - school children and about 40 per cent of adults in the province have had "shots" of the Salk vaccine.

Comparative figures for Sabin vaccine would not be available until at least the end of next month, when many of the larger centres will have completed their immunization programs.

Dr. Jay Peterborough has reported the most successful campaign, with 80 per cent of the population taking the vaccine. Dr. James Anderson, medical officer of health, said 90 per cent of school children were covered — as was expected. But he said it was an "encouraging surprise" to find that 75 per cent of adults and pre-school children had also responded to his "blitz".

Lambton County health officials reported better than 50 per cent success in their immunization drive.

In Toronto, about a third of the population has been covered, including 90 per cent of school children, 50 per cent of pre-school children and only about 15 per cent of the adults.

HOLD A DRIVE

The united counties of Northumberland and Durham held a three-day drive in which more than 60 per cent of eligible persons took the vaccine. The campaign covered 91 per cent of the school children, 75 per cent of pre - school children and 42 per cent of the adults.

In Kingston — where there hasn't been a polio case since 1955—about 18,000 of the 33,000 population took the Sabin vaccine. The same was true of 10,000 school children, 4,000 adults and 1,000 pre-school children.

The Kitchener campaign covered 30,500 — 18,000 of them students—of the total population of about 74,000.

Many centres that have already held drives are planning follow-up campaigns to start either next month or in the fall.

Increase Purses

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Officials of Western Fair Raceway announcid Sunday they have increased purses at the meet by up to $100, effective Wednesday.

The decision was made in a two - hour meeting Saturday night with representatives of the Canadian Trotting Association and the Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association.

Drivers have complained recently about the size of purses.

The new scale for class D races is $300, unchanged; class C-2, $400, an increase of $50; class C-1, $500, an increase of $100; class C, $600, an increase of $100; invitation, $800, unchanged.

Documentary on Tornado Too Long Says Writer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricanes, on NBC Monday night, was a 60-minute documentary of the storm Carla that roared in from the sea and tore at Galveston, Tex., for several days and nights last September.

The huge storm, trailed by tornado, resulted in death and vast destruction. And NBC had a good pictorial record of it.

Even so, it was not a particularly interesting show. It would have made a fine 30-minute show, because it needed sharp editing. But to fill that long hour, the camera was permitted to stay too long in too many places.

Horizons demonstrated another of television's problems: Programs must accommodate time spots when actually it should be the other way around.

The astronauts were not the only ones achieving breakthroughs during the space flights. CBS may have achieved a notable one on its coverage—being 4 grossed, theatrical TV cameras developed by a Japanese firm.

One of the problems of television has been lack of mobility, caused by the cumbersome, heavy equipment. As a consequence, the Mercury shots had sufficient advance notice of an event it could do a superb job, provided the event itself was fairly stationary.

It has already done well with parades on pre - determined routes, coronations, and sports events. But the best of these, when the story was unexpected or fast moving.

But now, with a camera a little heavier than a portable typewriter, television may soon be able to venture out into the big, broad world of fast-breaking news.

Most recent audience ratings indicate that NBC's Tonight show has had about 1,500,000 viewing homes in the U.S. since the departure of Jack Paar from the program. This doesn't seem too bad, considering there has been a change in turnover of hosts.

To date, in the judgment of this viewer, Jack Carter and Mery Griffin have been the brightest jobs; Bob Cummings and Art Linkletter, the dullest.

JAPANESE SPY SET UP PEARL HARBOR ATTACK

One of the most exciting scenes in Today's widescreen, technicolor war epic, "I Bombed Pearl Harbor," now showing at the Park Theatre, for its first showing, is the first wave of Japanese attack planes zooming their approach through Kole Kole pass. The ease in which the pilots negotiated the pass, with tricky air currents within its cleft, puzzled military experts.

Credit for this daring exploit, indeed for the complete Japanese success at Pearl Harbor belongs to a young Japanese spy, Tikeo Yoshikawa, the only Japanese spy operating in Hawaii. For Yoshikawa, it was a chance to redeem himself. Only five years before he had almost committed suicide because a stomach ailment forced him to resign his commission as a naval pilot.

With unexciting, almost ridiculously easy methods, he reportedly worked his way slowly now, pawn beaches, and once or twice a week rented a private plane to make steady reconnaissance runs over the harbor, later turning his photographs developed by an ordinary commercial laboratory. Direct communication to Tokyo was completed through diplomatic radio.

His last message to Japan opened the curtain on the raid: "Decoding 8 (local time), vessels moored in Harbor: Nine battleships, three Class-B cruisers, three seaplane tenders, nineteen destroyers. Entering Harbor from Ford Island entrance, three destroyers. All heavy cruisers and aircraft carriers Lexington and Enterprise have departed harbor. No indication of any change in U.S. fleet or anything else unusual.

The Arizona, burning for two days, attested to his keen eye-sighting job. It is ironical that upon Tokeo Yoshikawa's return to Japan he was neither decorated nor promoted because such awards in the Imperial Japanese Navy were reserved for combat officers only.

SECOND FEATURE

"Then There Were Three," a drama of a band of G.I. patrol in the added war drama at the Park Theatre, is a top performance filtrated by a Nazi spy during the Italian campaign. Alex Nicol and Tom Laughlin are co-stars.

One of the most intriguing spy stories of World War II, the true identity of the spy is never revealed until the last electrifying moment in "Then There Were Three." Suspicion is cast from man to man, defying the audience to guess who the spy really is.

It is because of this that the management of the Park Theatre sincerely urge you to come in at the action-packed beginning.

German Killed in Car Race

METTET, Belgium (Reuters) — German racing driver Heinz Harges died Sunday after a crash with another German driver during a sports car race here.

Starke, driving a Ford Anglia, died on the way to hospital. The other driver, Philippe Munb, driving a Cooper, suffered superficial injuries.

A witness said the two cars collided during the second lap while coming down a slope and then crashed against the wall of a farmhouse.

British drivers took the first four places in the race. Russell Forster, in a Cooper, came first with an average speed of 101.18 miles an hour.

Tiger Cats Dicker For Parker?

EDMONTON (CP)—The Journal says, "there is reason to believe" Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference have launched talks with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference for star import quarterback Jacky Parker.

The newspaper says despite denials from both clubs the general reason for a visit to Edmonton by Gaudaur, Ralph Sazio, president, was a trade for Parker, a nine - year veteran with Edmonton.

The newspaper says: "The Cats are in financial trouble and could stand an infusion of proven stars on the field. Parker is actually their greatest asset today, cash or otherwise. He would bring at least three if not five top Tiger-Cat stars in trade."

Gaudaur, general manager Joe Ryan and president Red McMahon of the Eskimos met for seven hours Friday. Gaudaur left for home at the end of the conference.

Edmonton last year lost $74,000 and The Journal says another heavy loss would put the club out of business.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Why do you ask," asks a customer, "include players' quotes in the sports stories you cover?"

The customer's always write... We oblige.

The Elizabetha (New Queen's) played the Metropolis (The City) for the Mail and Barley Trophy last night.

Broken-Finger McCork slid into second base after his first inning rap to right field. He sent dust out of his teeth. "What a pitcher," he gulped. "I was squinting down the bat when he from the ball and hit the club. Was I lucky?"

"First one I ever hit," gurgled Baby-Face Olinsky, after he batted a homer in the third. "Actually I was told to bunt. I stepped at the ball—but it looks like I'm quite a pusher, huh, heh."

In the fourth Catcher Gowanus O'Toovre called a conference with his pitcher, Lame-Arm Mahoney. "Where'd you work before you came here?" he asked. Mahoney told of the Bisons. "Due Mahoney," he said. "What makes," asked Gowanus, "iron or coal?"

Speedball O'Hearn hit a triple in the fifth, his first hit since he played with the Gananoque Yokes way back when. "Gosh, all," he said modestly, "considering the bat, "the diamond looks different." "It should," growled the coach, "Sculpor" Hill. "It's the first time you've seen it from here."

Loose-Lip Jones argued with the umpire in the top of the fifth. After two strikes were called on him the umps yelled "Ball One." Loose-Lip curled his best friend, "Yuh dumb chuk," he whispered, "that ball was the same as the last two." The umps heard at him, expectorated and said, "You're right. So it was. "You're out."

"Speedboat" McGee slid home safely under O'Feever's ball-filled hand. "Yer out and yuh know it," roared O'Feever. "Whomever, you lie, or sumpun," McGee smiled. "No, I'm not, but the lantern is. I took it off Old Number 5477."

"Xiem" Kelleher was a utility man for the City's. He was asked to run for "Bash" Herrington in the sixth. "Xiem" looked up and shook his head. "Can't do it coach," he said, "I just had my shoes shined."

When a Queens outfielder let a fly get away from him, "Slow-Motion" Cook ambled from first to second like an elephant with three broken legs. "Get a move on," screamed his coach. "What the hell do you think you are—in a canoe."

That figures.

After the game I asked Club-Foot Ehler why he didn't move off first base when Swede Yenem busted safely. "I couldn't," Club-Foot said, "the first baseman was standing on my shoe."

There's diversion, too, if you get around and ask questions at a ball game. Fr'instance, I quizzed Long John McFish why his daughter was watching the game on stilts. "I dunno," Long John growled, "unless it's because she's going steady with a basketball player."

There was the usual rimbarb around home plate on a close call and the Elizabeth bench started roasting the arbiter. He paid no attention to the jeers, slurs, ridicule and insults. Finally he stepped out of his diagnet. "Nuts," he said, "this guy's different. He's deaf, too."

"One-Toosli" Hoskins of the City's, "sked" into third, was signalled out, then thrown out. Interviewed by the press, "One-Toosli" explained that what I said was what the h-h-hell and he h-h-h-saved m-me. H-hoop did I know, h-h-he stuttered t-t-too."

"Bash" Herrington collided with "BabyFace" Olinsky at second base. It looked like a hassle but what actually happened was "Bash" looked at "Baby-Face" and said "Babys, kid, haven't seen you since graduation. What makes your complexion so yuggy-looking?" "Baby-Face" grinned, "Guess it's because I quit using that greasy kid stuff."

There you are, Mr. Customer. That's a ball-game reported through press interviews. Ah, yes, the score. It ended in a 29-all tie.

Casper Wins Festival

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Billy Casper, 1959 U.S. Open champion, fired a closing seven-under-par 64 Sunday to capture the $50,000 500 Festival golf open with a record - smashing total of 264. He made a four-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to finish a stroke ahead of Jerry Steelsmith and George Bayer, who almost staked a claim to the $9,000 first prize with closing eagles.

Casper, 30, the year's second-leading money winner, ran his earnings to $46,208, still behind the 1962 pace - setter Arnold Palmer, who skipped this tournament.

Casper's score shattered the meet record of 270, set in 1960 by Doug Ford.

Bayer fired the day's best round, a 63, while Steelsmith ached a closing 64 to share

Giants Whip Mets Twice, Alou Stars

Hot Dodgers Keep Pace

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Felipe Alou didn't throw any haymakers in that big brawl at San Francisco's Candlestick Park, but he did do some heavy punching where it counted—at the plate.

Alou combined with Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays, who were main owners in the wild-swinging fight, to produce a flurry of hitting that as the Giants romped New York's lastplace Mets 7-1 and 6-5 Sunday and pressed their National League lead over the sizzling Los Angeles Dodgers.

Felipe drove in three runs in each game, collected a total of five hits, scored three times and stole three bases. And he was the clutch man in the Giants' wicked four-run rally in the eighth inning of the second game. He drew a walk, as Mays and Cepeda, that came around with the clincher on a wild pitch, a triple off Billy Loes and double ball.

Cepeda had five hits, one RBI and scored four, when the dust settled, the Giants had their fifth successive victory and the pace they have set has lonesse had been extended to eight.

SUMS KEEP PACE

Meanwhile, in sedate Los Angeles, the Dodgers kept 1½ games back of the Giants and then their winning streak at eight with a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia. Phillies 5-3 and 9-1. Cincinnati Reds were in third place by winning their fourth in a row 10-0 over Chicago Cubs behind Jim Maxwell pitching 61 Bob Purkey. Milwaukee Braves picked up on Cardinals 4-3 and Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 in mid-8. Houston's scrambling Colts won 7-6.

In Sunday's games the Giants edged New York 7-6 in 10 innings, the Dodgers whipped the Phils 6-3, the Reds collared the Cubs 10-0, Milwaukee blasted Pittsburgh 9-0 and the Astros pounded the Braves 4-0.

Winner Jack Sanford and relief star Stu Miller checked the Mets on five hits in the opener at San Francisco and Jim Duffalo won the second game in relief. Roger Craig and Craig Anderson were the losers.

Tempers flared in the slimmer in the first inning of the first game when Craig threw a couple of brush-back pitches at Mays, but the explosion didn't come until the seventh. Craig plunked Cepeda high on the back, touching off a big fight between the Mets' right-hander and the Giants' burly first baseman.

DARK STEPS IN

Cepeda was restrained by umpires and players, but moments later, on a pickoff try at second base, Cepeda slid into New York shortstop Elio Chacon and the donnybrook was on.

Chacon slugged Willie, Willie slugged the Giant slugger, who slugged him to the ground, and Mets second-baseman Felix Mantilla joined in the wild, punch-throwing match. As Craig moved toward the scene he was intercepted by Cepeda, who got off a series of punches before he was hauled away.

The melee lasted some six minutes and involved most participants, many of them playing peacemaking roles. As with most football brawls, the telling blows landed and caused little damage. Chacon excepted.

Chacon, the only man ejected as a result of the ghastly, slambanged away the clothes worn around—a minor spike mark on his left hip.

First baseman Tim Harkness, of Hamilton, struck the winning blow for the Dodgers in their second game with a bases-loaded single after two were out in the bottom of the ninth. Spring right-hander Don Drysdale his 12th straight victory over the Phillies. Drysdale now 5-2, got an eight-hitter in a tight pitching showdown with Art Mahaffey. Philadelphia has lost five in a row and 13 of its last 18.

Adios Wins

MONTREAL (CP) — The $6,000 invitational ninth race at the Richelieu Raceway Saturday was won by Adios Adios, who defeated four other horses over the mile track in the time of 2:06 3/5.

Sir Winston Pick was second and paid $5.20. Royal Ronald was third and paid $2.40.

CHANGE RULE

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The International Federation of Football Associations (FIFA) adopted an English resolution Saturday that bars players from competing for one country other than the one of their birth or that of their fathers. The new rule will go into effect in four months. It does not apply to the present world championships.

Breaks Collar Bone

Kaline Out Two Months

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline has been given the dreaded word—he doesn't agree with their diagnosis that his broken collarbone will keep him out of action for at least two months.

"Of course, I have no idea how long I'll be out," said the star Detroit outfielder today. "But I'm sure it won't be that long."

"Boros (Tiger third - baseman Steve Boros) thinks I'll be back in three weeks ago and the break was much worse than mine," said Kaline. Nearly four weeks to bottom, and he was back in the lineup. Gehrig said this is what they call a simple fracture. It's sort of a hairline split, and it's an easy one to heal."

Kaline said his main concern is whether he'll be able to throw as well as ever after the collarbone heals.

ROBBED HOWARD

Kaline predicted the injury making a spectacular diving catch of Elston Howard's fly in the fourth inning of Detroit's 4-3 win over the Yankees. He said the Flower-old slugger, who is batting .333 with 10 homers (.333), home runs (13) and runs batted in (33), will recover from the errays in Detroit today before being sent home.

Kaline expressed regrets for the accident.

"I just didn't roll right when I made the catch," he said. "Normally, I hit the ground on the back of my shoulder. This time I hit it with the front of my shoulder . . . I knew right away something was wrong."

When Cash (.374 batting average) came running out, Kaline said, "Don't worry about me, Norm. Get some runs."

Although the injury came at a time when he was off to only a slow start in his career, Kaline took it philosophically.

"Oh, I wouldn't consider myself unlucky," he said. "In fact, I've been very lucky during my baseball career. I've dived after quite a few balls and I never got hurt before."

Quinte Soccer

Trenton defeated Parcos Brothers 3-0 in Bay of Quinte Soccer game on Sunday.

Brown with two and Campbell scored for the winners. The game was played at the Fair Grounds.

MOSS IMPROVING

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, famed racing driver figured seriously in a crash April 23 at Goodwood, a minor canal operation Saturday to make his breathing easier. His general condition was reported as improving.

Wins Decision Over Craig

Cepeda Star Of 6-Minute Brawl

By DICK BARNES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Maybe Orlando Cepeda should try boxing.

Few things are rarer than an actual solid punch in the usual baseball brawl. But the fiery Giants' first baseman threw away the script Sunday. A battle royal with New York Mets Sunday and landed a series blows on Roger Craig that scored Cepeda points on nearly every observer's card.

The first two zeroed at him; he never threw at me before," Cepeda explained after 39,331 fans saw the wild battle.

"I never try to hit any batter," continued Cepeda. "Those were brush back pitches."

Craig had floored Willie Mays twice in the first inning of the twin bill but real trouble didn't ignite until the second.

With Mays aboard on a single, Craig uncorked a pitch with a pitch in the back. "I don't care if he throws another pitch," Cepeda said later. "But he threw behind me, so I figured I'd get the record on his way to first, reached the bag, then made a move for the pitcher. Giants manager Alvin Dark showed his displeasure with baseball prowess with a sparkling tackle but the real trouble was temporarily avoided.

Craig then tried to pick Mays off second baseman Joe Christopher, spilled him in the lower back. Mays, limping promptly socked him in the face.

"He seemed to get somebody," Craig muttered later. "He gave me a spike so I hit him." Cepeda promptly scooped the 185-pound shortstop over his shoulder, sat on him and they wrestled to the edge of the mattress.

Umpires and benches emptied. When Cepeda saw Craig start toward the struggling pair, he charged the pitcher.

They reached Craig in no/hurry and pummeled him with a series of left's and rights.

Christopher threw any record of the punches. "But Craig got in a few," he said. Mets Manager Craig said he scored "Cepeda's neck and calculated the effect of the Baby Ruth's delaslaught.

Spectators finally showed the Giants' 200-pound Puerto Rican lefty right fielder Felix Mantilla of the Mets led a brawl which broke up the Monday night doubleheader and order was restored after six minutes (or two rounds).

Gentle 'Lousy But Lucky'

Tribe Back On Top Spot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's Jim Gentile is a lousy hitter. So says Jim Gentile.

American League pitchers have a different story and the figures seem to support the pitchers. To wit: A .299 batting average, 32 runs batted in (second in the league) and n'league-leading total of 15 home runs.

Gentile is unconvinced.

"I'm a lousy hitter," he said. "But I have to admit I'm a lucky one."

Lucky and or lucky, the results are impressive. Take his last six games: 11 hits in 25 times at bat, six home runs and 11 runs batted in. He had three hits Sunday, including an11th-inning homer, in the Orioles' 4-3 triumph over Boston Red Sox.

Cleveland Indians meanwhile, took over undisputed first place with a 5-3 triumph over Washington behind Jim Perry while York Yankees split a pair with Detroit Tigers winning the first game 4-3 and the Yankees taking the second 5-4.

Minnesota Twins pulled within a half-game of the top with a sweep over Chicago White Sox 5-4 and 5-0. Los Angeles and Chicago Cubs split a pair, each taking the first 3-2, the Angels the second 5-0.

In Saturday's games the Tigers edged the Yankees 3-1, Boston Red Sox nipped Baltimore Orioles 4-3 on Carl Yastrzemski's 12th inning homer, Cleveland whipped Washington 5-2 and Minnesota Twins pulled within a half-game of the top with a 5-4 and 8-6 win over Chicago White Sox. Suns Pull Away From Int. Pack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jacksonville Suns have run up 14 victories in 15 games and there is no secret to their success. They have merely been using raw power to clobber the opposition.

The Suns are making a runaway of it in the International League race. They led the second-place Buffalo Bisons by 6½ games today with the third-place Rochester Red Wings eight games off the pace.

The Suns, who struggled home sixth when they were in the City last year, have scored 109 runs in their last 15 games, an average of more than seven a game. Their pitchers have allowed 39 runs, not quite four a game.

So it's the hitters who are carrying the club, although Ed Donnelly and Arkie Kaye combined to pitch a neat three-hitter in Saturday night's 4-0 victory over Richmond Virginians 4-2.

Duke Carmel clouted two home runs for the Suns to boost his season total to seven.

TIGER CLAWS YEAFF

In other action, the Bisons took Red Wings split a doubleheader, Rochester winning the first 2-1 and Buffalo the nightcap 4-0. Allan Cackett pitched Columbus Jets in the first game 3-2, but dropped the second 16-0, and Toronto and Syracuse also split, the Maple Leafs picking up the first 4-3 and the Chiefs the second 8-0.

In Sunday's games Syracuse shaded Toronto 3-2, Jacksonville routed Columbus 9-0, Atlanta defeated Richmond 7-2 and Rochester edged Buffalo 5-4.

BEATS OLD RIVAL

LLANDUDNO, Wales (AP)—Harry Weetman, Britain's 41-year-old Ryder Cupper, finished one stroke ahead of Dai Rees of Brown, his old Scottish rival, to win a $11,200 pro golf tournament Sunday. It was the tenth time Weetman had won the event. Weetman, who had led from the start of the 72-hole tournament over the windswept 6,456 - yard Llandudno course, shot a 70 and ended with 280. Rees had a round of 69, giving him 283.

FOILED BY FOYTACK

The Yankees fell a half-game off the pace when Detroit's Paul Foytack (3-1) stopped them on six hits in the nightcap. Foytack struck out eight and stranded 11 Yankees. A three-run eighth inning, featuring Chris Fernandez' double, spoke out it out of reach.

The Yanks won the first on Bill Skowron's three-run homer in the ninth.

Rangers Out Of Western Puck Deal

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Western Hockey League directors reversed themselves Saturday night and permitted the sale of the Vancouver Canucks franchise—but attached an anti-Nelson Hockey League string.

The directors told Fred Hume, former owner of the defunct New Westminster Royals, that they would approve his purchase by the syndicate from Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition if New York Rangers were not interested in the franchise.

The PNE had accepted a $180,000 bid from Hume and the Rangers and the NHL team was to provide 10 per cent of the purchase and be a partner. The sale had to be approved by six of the eight clubs by noon next Friday only four clubs agreed and two abstained.

Some directors are reported to believe a check must be kept on the influence of NHL clubs in the WHL.

Said George Agar, Los Angeles coach: "I'm glad there's any hopes of going big league. Some people in the league don't allow the NHL too much foothold in our business."

Agar, directors also reluced to expand the league, rejecting Brandon and Edmonton in favor of Long Beach, Calif., and Victoria, the latter backed by Toronto Maple Leafs.

Murry Patrick, governor manager of Victoria Cougars, said after the meeting that he still would supply Vancouver with some players. But he reiterated the Rangers support would not be as strong under the new deal.

Biamonte Wins Bowl-Title

TORONTO (CP) — Dominic Biamonte of Montreal Falls, Ont., Saturday won the $2,000 top prize in the sixth annual Canadian open five-pin bowling championships.

Canadians Sparkle At Meet

Jerome Runs 100 In 9.3, Kidd Wins

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Canadian athletes enjoyed one of their most successful weekends in United Kingdom track and field events with outstanding performances in Saturday and Monday Saturday night, highlighted by Harry Jerome's startling victory in the 100-yard dash.

Jerome, 23-year-old native of Vancouver who runs for the University of Oregon, came up with his second surge in a final stride to edge previously unbeaten Bob Hayes of Florida. A Canadian record was clocked in 9.3 seconds, a tenth of a second off the world record set by Frank Budd of the U.S. last year and equalled by Hayes this year.

Bruce Kidd of Toronto captured the two-mile run with the second fastest time ever recorded in the U.S. He covered the distance in 8:48.4, a meet record. Murray Halberg of New Zealand was only slightly faster this time at Stanford University last year.

Other Canadians who gave good accounts of themselves included Dave Bruce of Vancouver, second to Kidd in the two-miler, Sig Ohlemann of Vancouver, B.C., third in the Decathlon, and Bill Crothers of Toronto and Bill Clifton of Belleville, Ont.

DISPUTE FINISH

In the 3-mile — Hayes does not believe he was beaten when he finished first. Some observers claimed Hayes leaned over at the wire, but the timers didn't see it that way. Hayes was third.

It was the second time in an international meet that Jerome

Lyle Bradshaw, Pat O'Connor in the seventh and Jersey Hill in the ninth shared the Cannifton pitching chore. They gave up 13 hits, fanned six and walked six.

Fine Show At Track Meet

Our Girls At Hamilton

Thirty-five Ontario Secondary Schools entered the Queen's Medalster University on Saturday, May 26th, to compete in track and field events for the "all-Ontario" invitational meet.

From Belleville seven girls took part. Moira Secondary School sent a senior, Miss D. Doran who brought home the only ribbon from the meet, and Miss A. Thompson, a junior. B.C.I.V.S. sent five junior girls: Sheryl Dryedale, Linda Hoover, Bonnie Long, Heather Mills, and Diane Murphy.

These girls had been outstanding at both the Bay of Quinte meet at C.O.S.S.D. on May 12th, and at he C.O.S.S.A. meet at Peterborough on May 19th. They broke their own records at the Hamilton meet.

Previous records were toppled right and left on Saturday. Coaches of Olympic teams were there recruiting from amongst the top competitors for their teams. None of the competitors are already in training for Olympics even though they are still secondary school students.

It was noted that he sprints were timed which meant that winners of heats were not necessarily in the finals. Miss Dryedale won her heat in each of the races. Her time for the heat she ran in the 50-yard dash turned out to be the same as the time the girl who became in third in the the finals; therefore, the placement in these events is quite misleading! The number of entries were 32 in the 440 and 100 events.

The results are as follows —

Senior — Miss D. Doran — Moira — 9th in shot put broad jump (winner is 34'); 8th in shot put, 5th in discus (winner threw 130 feet) in Olympic training now.

Junior — Miss A. Thompson — Moira — 7th in discus.

Miss Heather Mills — B.C.I.V.S. — 11th in discus.

Miss Linda Hoover — B.C.I. and V.S. — outjumped her Peterborough mark in the running broad jump but the winner of this event jumped 16' 4".

Miss Diane Murphy — B.C.I. and V.S. — jumped well over four feet in the high jump with the winner breaking the record to jump 4' 11".

Miss Bonnie Long — B.C.I. and V.S. — same as D. Murphy.

Miss Sheryl Drydale — B.C.I. and V.S. — 9th in standing broad jump, 7th in 100 yard dash — 6th in 50 yard dash.

440 Relay team of L. Hoose, B. Long, H. Mills and S. Drydale, came in 8th place with a time of 57 seconds. The winners' time was 55.3 seconds. There were 34 teams entered.

Powder That Is Extracted From Cow's Pancreas May Reduce Growth of Cancer

MONTREAL (CP)—A spoonful of white powder, reputed to be good for black eyes, may play a part in the search for cures for cancer.

The powder—extracted from the pancreas of cows—is an essential part of a research project under the guidance of the National Cancer Institute and a 32-year-old biochemist, Dr. Gaston in Lambrando, who has been using it to create proof of certain cancers in mice.

The powder is an enzyme and they ingredient in body cells which acts as an activator of certain chemicals produced by the cell.

Dr. Lambrando says he can't say that one of the differences between a normal and a cancerous cell is the presence of certain enzymes, Dr. de Lambrando has been trying to introduce them into cancer cells to see if they would reverse the growth—and in some cases, he has succeeded.

He found that mice which normally die after seven days from abdominal cancer lived instead for 12 or 13 days.

RETARDS GROWTH

"If we can't achieve world honors like that," he says, "I don't see why, in a number of years, we can't do the same in men and perhaps even more effectively."

About two years ago Dr. de Lambrando, then working in England, showed that a particular enzyme called xanthine oxidase could be reintroduced into a cancer cell and retard its growth.

Since then, he has been engaged in similar work in Montreal.

In future, he will extend his research into the effect on cancer when two or three more active enzymes are administered simultaneously in animal tissues.

"Unfortunately," says Dr. de Lambrando, "we have not yet gathered sufficient information about this process to use it on people."

"It's a fascinating field and I feel that enzyme therapy may perhaps play a role in the cure—we are greatly encouraged."

Ameliasburg Scene of Rally For Alkenbrack

PICTON — That Canada has made great progress under the Progressive Conservative government is provided many benefits for Canadians was the contention of speakers who addressed a Progressive Conservative rally in Ameliasburg Hall, Tuesday night.

The Progressive Conservative candidate for Prince Edward-Lennox Douglas Alkenbrack, reviewed the legislation enacted by the Diefenbaker government and charged that the Liberal program was one of promises incapable of fulfillment without excessive taxation.

Norris Whitney, M.P.P., stated many benefits resulting from the devaluation of the dollar, reminding that "A Canadian dollar is still worth 90 cents when spent in Canada". Public financing, he said represents an investment in many things which go to make Canada a more prosperous Canada.

Major James Bird of Picton declared that "even as the vision of St. John A. of a Canada from coast to coast by transcontinental railway was scorned by the Grit opposition, so the vision of John Diefenbaker of a Canada, today is being scorned by the Liberals".

FROM BIRDLAND BULLETINS

BROODING

Have you ever noticed the way a robin wriggles around on the nest before settling down to brood? These wriggling seeming actions serve a real purpose. Feathers are non-conductors, and the body heat cannot come through them to help hatch the eggs. Mother Nature is not given the incubating bird a bare spot on the abdomen which is not ordinarily observed because the nearby feathers spread over it. Many tiny blood vessels make this area a particularly suitable "brooding spot". When the parent comes to the nest there is often much twisting and turning as the feathers "oil" in the way so that the bare skin may come in direct contact with the eggs.

TURNS EGGS OVER

Sometimes you may see the bird perch on the rim of the nest and, with her bill, turn the eggs, one or more times, in positions before sitting on them to brood. Make sure that all parts of every one may receive the body heat. Birds that lay many eggs, such as most ducks, have quite a time arranging them. As you may imagine, the sora rail's job of turning "over more than a dozen eggs is quite a task. Some very long-billed birds seem to stir up their eggs.

After the eggs of songbirds hatch, the nestlings, being almost completely naked, must be kept warm until they are covered with protecting down. So the parents never leave home long enough for their darlings to become chilled or overheated. A hot sun is as bad for their little bodies as are cold night breezes.

GENERAL RULE

The general rule among songbirds is for the female to take on the duty of incubating the eggs and brooding the young. When we come to think of it, this is quite reasonable, because many males are not very conspicuous than their wives and it would never do for them to draw attention to their nests. Consequently, the black redstart with its orange-red underwings lets his spouse, dressed in dull grey with pale yellow patches, take complete charge. But, as you know, Mr. Robin shows no brilliant plumage to set rest, so he is quite willing to share responsibility.

Most male shore birds do their share of incubating because they are either exactly like their mates or very similar. The phalarope, being better camouflaged than the females, do all the incubating. This is another unusual procedure in Birdland. However, once the downy young are hatched, the mothers help for the short time before the babies leave home.

Lupines Offer Beautiful Color

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Lupines have a wide range of color and make a beautiful display during June and July. They have acquired the name of being hard to grow and many gardeners shy away from them. They do have special requirements but these are met the moment the seed is sown.

Lupines are legumes and like their relatives peas, beans and alfalfa, have nodules on their roots containing bacterial substances in the soil. These plants gather and give off nitrogen which is taken up by other plants if in nodules around the seed roots or mixed with the soil for plants that follow.

If your soil is lacking in this substance, your seedlings can not get it for you. Inoculation is carried out by placing some of the powder in a hole with the seeds and shaking them together. Inoculated soil for the legume seeds before planting too.

NORTH EXTRA EFFORT

These lovely plants are well worth the extra effort to get them started. Once grown you are not few years, a location may play a part in your success. Prefer, in some cases, to grow in the limit and you will do well to start some each year and have flower color in it for at least every second year. The lupine is a native of the north and at their best and other this they decline.

Given only a light sandy soil add plenty of humus such as peat, ground corn cobs, or compost. Manure seems to really best but few can obtain this. Lime soil must be lightened with humus.

Do not add large amounts of fertilizer. Lupines are light feeders and will soon eat themselves into a rapid decline.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Lupines have the top name. Before you have your order you must you can take cuttings and so keep these for your scheme. Seeing the seed from favorites is useless. They do not come true to color and seedlings will be around the mother plant will not have the clear color of their sire.

WARM, SUNNY SPOT

Prepare the seed bed in a warm sunny place. Dig two inches deep and sow a good spoon of bone meal to each 6 square yards. Rake and fork fine this. Draw drills one inch deep and plant seeds three inches apart. Cover with soil, plenty of room to grow. After they have made their first true leaves thin to six inches and one month later thin to one foot apart. The thinnings can be transplanted. Some of these will grow but they rarely flower. Any unwanted colors should be pulled and discarded.

Transplant between plants and transplant to permanent bed in the fall.

Surrounded by cottage is done in spring. Each root will send up several shoots which will not flower the first year. Eight shoots are enough for one root to have to flower well. If others may be taken to start new plants, cut off the root at the base of each shoot. Plant quickly. Do not allow the root section to dry out. Any new shoot will not take. Set out in prepared bed. Shade the cuttings with news, paper for two or three days. Water along until fall. Transplant to permanent bed.

Tuberculosis in Ontario

By MATTHEW B. DYMOND MD (Health Minister for Ontario)

Marked progress has been made in the control of tuberculosis in Ontario. Nevertheless this disease still continues to be a significant public health problem. Many misconceptions regarding the situation are all too prevalent and could result in a complacent attitude towards tuberculosis.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Ontario for two successive years — 1950 and 1951 — was the lowest in any of the provinces in Canada. Unofficial returns indicate that the rate for 1952 will be still lower — 3.5 per 100,000 population. While the number of people dying from this disease has been drastically reduced and there has been a definite decline in the incidence, far too many of our people develop tuberculosis for the first time, or their old disease becomes reactivated. In 1951, over 1,700 residents of Ontario were recorded as having tuberculosis in an active form.

Our children now are much less in danger of being infected with tuberculin benefit than ever before as a result of the extensive tuberculosis control programme being conducted in Ontario. Nevertheless it should be emphasized that one out of every 12 young persons at the age of 15 shows evidence of previous infection with tuberculosis. Once infection has taken place, the risk of developing tuberculous disease is higher in adolescents, especially girls; fortunately the number infected in this group is relatively small.

As more protection is given to our youth, tuberculosis will be coming proportionately of greater significance among older people. This means that these individuals were infected years ago and with their resistance lowered more vite than is the case today. The older the man, the more likely is his disease to occur.

There is good reason for optimism about the future, but the progress in eliminating tuberculosis as a serious problem depends upon how well disease control procedures are maintained and the public understands the need for continuing vigilance.

Second World War Fighter Plans Aerial Sports Car

CALGARY (CP) — Bob Warden, 35, has been bitten by a bug that is afflicting more Canadians each year — the ambition to scoot about the country in a Second World War fighter plane.

An instructor at the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology here, Mr. Warden has since 1948 been owner of a Curtiss P-40 Kitty Hawk, a 400-mile-an-hour single-engine fighter first used by the Flying Tigers.

Unlike others in the growing ranks of Canadians who find pleasure in owning an aerial sports car, Mr. Warden is not a former combat pilot. He only recently began taking flying lessons.

His final act before applying for a department of transport airworthiness certificate was to scrape clean and polish his plane's aluminum surface and paint a shark's mouth on the air scoop, mounted just under the propeller.

PAID $150

The plane was one of a lot of 15 sold by the RCAF as surplus. Mr. Warden paid $150 for an aircraft that originally cost $50,000.

The P-40 sat on a farm near Vulcan, Alta., 40 miles south and east of Calgary, until last year, while Mr. Warden kept poring off learning to fly it.

Then Ed Fleming, 25, a Calgary man whose specialty is restoring fighter planes for U.S. buyers, was calling to lawyer Milt Harradence, a former member of the RCAF Reserve who flits about the country in a 500-mph P-51 Mustang fighter.

Mr. Fleming said he was in the market for a plane and was told about the Kitty Hawk. Mr. Warden wouldn't sell but he arranged for Mr. Fleming to rebuild it.

He found that three of the Vancouver Island, B.C., Kitty Hawk, bought a wing tip from a farmer who owned another P-40 and had used it for parts from an Edmonton firm. At the beginning of April, Mr. Fleming flew the plane to Calgary under a ferrying permit and gave it a thorough overhaul. Then Mr. Warden angled for the airworthiness certificate.

Seek Advice At First Sign Of Arthritis

TORONTO — "People who ignore nature's first warnings of arthritis and fail to seek medical advice are jeopardizing their own health and future, and the happiness of their families" stated Dr. J. Stevenson, Medical Director of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

"If neglected, arthritis may result in severe crippling. In the inability to work so that the victim can become a burden on his family or society. Today nearly a million Canadians are affected by this disease, some 350,000 of whom are totally or partially disabled.

"Arthritis has plagued man since he first appeared on earth" continued Dr. Stevenson. "For centuries the pain and crippling of this disease was accepted as inevitable. It was felt that nothing could be done about it.

"This is no longer true. In recent years much progress has been made. Now, with early diagnosis and treatment, medical science can prevent severe crippling in about 80 per cent of cases. But treatment must be tailored to the requirements of the individual patient and sometimes requires special medical facilities.

"Treatment, of course, is not a cure. A cure for arthritis is still to be found. Here, too, progress has been made. The Rheumatoid Factor, which appears in the blood of some arthritis sufferers, but not in others, has, of late, been discovered. Scientists are trying also to find out what makes arthritis flip and flare. The are learning more about its chief target, the connective tissue, which holds the body together. But, arthritis is old, research is young. It is only the disease does not yield its mysteries easily.

"There are hundreds of thousands of Canadians waiting for a cure. Next year, there will be thousands more. While the wait for a cure to be found, they need medical attention to help hold in check the pain and crippling caused by the disease.

"This is what the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society exists for, and it asks for your support 'For cure today — and a cure tomorrow'."

Adolf Eichmann Appeal Rejected By Israeli Court

Only One Last Chance To Escape the Gallows

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli Supreme Court rejected today Adolf Eichmann's appeal against the death sentence given him for his part in the Nazi massacre of European Jews during the Second World War.

The Supreme Court verdict left the 56-year-old former chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section with only one last chance to escape the gallows: an appeal to Israeli President Izhak Ben-Zvi.

Eichmann, still wearing the dark suit and striped tie he wore throughout his 414-month trial last year, stared fixedly at the five judges as their judgment was delivered.

Associate Justice Simon Agranat read the high court's ruling, which opened with a brief review of the 15-count indictment charging Eichmann with crimes against the Jews and against humanity.

AGREE FULLY

The judgment then declared:

"We fully concur with the judgment of the lower district court in which the accused was sentenced the appellant and we see no reason to ourselves fully with the conclusions at which, rest on solid foundations."

A special three-judge tribunal convicted Eichmann of crimes of death last December. The former Gestapo colonel appealed that conviction and sentence in March.

Justice Agranat, reading from the High Court ruling, declared:

"Crimes, with which the appellant is charged are within the jurisdiction of the Israel court. It is clear that all acts of persecution, deportation and murder in which the accused took part constitute war crimes and within the meaning of the Nazi and Nazi collaborationist law under which he was tried here."

This was in response to an argument by Eichmann's defence lawyer, Dr. Robert Servatius, that the Israeli court had no authority to try the case.

MOUTH TWITCHES

Eichmann's face as the judgment was read Eichmann pressed his lips together and twitched his mouth a few times. Spectators and observers who sat through his trial did not react.

The reading of the full Supreme Court judgment was expected to take the whole day. The court chamber was packed with 500 spectators, many of whom could count among their relatives victims of the Nazi slaughter in Europe.

Only a handful of foreign correspondents had been invited, in contrast to the 400 who crowded the courtroom on the opening day of Eichmann's trial in April, 1961.

Servatius is reported to be prepared to submit a request for clemency immediately to President Ben-Zvi. Israeli ministry officials say a decision on the clemency appeal would not be likely before mid-June.

A certificate saying clemency is not granted would normally precede an execution order and Eichmann's problems for Ben-Gurion and Transport in London indicated a strike would soon force their layoff.

The rejected conciliation report, written by Judge J. E. Anderson of Belleville, offered a package increase of 23½ cents an hour but rejected union demands for curtailment of piggyback.

Judge Anderson said Piggyback is here to stay and will be

ONTARIO FACES LONG STRIKE BY TRUCKERS

Workers Reject Board Report

TORONTO (CP) —What one side has already predicted will become a "long and costly" trucking strike began to take hold across Ontario today with the railroads almost as deeply involved as the combatants themselves.

Rail "Piggyback," a bright point for the railroads in what otherwise has been a recent history of curtailment and losses, has emerged as a key issue in the dispute between the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.) and 65 Ontario transport firms.

Robert Wilson of Windsor, chairman of the Teamster negotiating committee, said Sokolyn release Monday night of results of a strike ballot favoring a walkout, that elimination of Piggyback — transport of truck trailers on rail flatcars — remains a Teamster aim.

At Stratford, strikers pitched a tent for overnight duty and posted signs to sum up the union stand: "Down with Piggyback. Let local drivers make a decent living."

NO TALKS SCHEDULED

Prediction that the strike will be long and costly came from Willard Murray, spokesman for the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, agent for the 65 trucking firms. He said no settlement talks have been scheduled.

"The losses to the industry and to the more than 8,000 employees of the companies involved will be enormous," he said. "And people and industries dependent on the services of motor transport will also suffer."

The strike deadline had been set for Thursday midnight, but Ken McDougall, president of Teamsters Local 938, said in Toronto that the local advanced the deadline to today in response to company lockouts.

Union officials in London, where the strike ballots were counted, said 70 to 75 per cent of the members cast ballots, 81 per cent of them voting to reject a conciliation board report agreed to by the companies.

MEET SEPARATELY

In announcing the result of the ballot Mr. Wilson said the 28-member Teamster locals involved would hold separate policy meetings to decide when to strike.

He said about 50 per cent of the workers interviewed by union favored their new, separate contract Bus Transport for Rail and Transport in London indicated a strike would soon force their layoff.

The rejected conciliation report, written by Judge J. E. Anderson of Belleville, offered a package increase of 23½ cents an hour but rejected union demands for curtailment of piggyback.

Police Kill Berserk Man On Chicago Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — A passenger aboard a Greyhound bus, who apparently went berserk and stabbed the driver and two other men, was shot and killed today by police.

Police said the knife-wielder, identified as Milo Seve Brekich, 37, of San Francisco, had threatened to kill the 40 passengers in the bus.

Brekich was shot in the head by policemen Arthur McCaskin and Rose Moran who said they fired at him when he refused to obey orders to drop his knife and lunged at them with it.

Wilfred Doss, 41, bus driver, said he had stopped to seek a police squad car after Brekich had attempted to start a fight with another passenger, Wiliam Kokko, 23, an army private.

Doss said that as he returned to the bus Brekich met him at the door and stabbed him in the side of the neck. Brekich leaped back into the bus, forced Kokko and two other passengers outside and attacked two of them with the knife.

Mrs. Eichmann Wants to Hold Husband in Arms Once More

Editor's Note: Trude R. Feldman of New York City sat through the trial of Adolf Eichmann. In Israel, Mrs. Eichmann learned that Miss Feldman was the daughter of a U.S. rabbi, and sought her help in giving the Eichmann children a message. Mrs. Eichmann agreed to tell of her pleas and Miss Feldman's report on her husband in prison.

Feldman's father is Rabbi Moses J. Feldman of Los Angeles. A brother, David is a rabbi in New York City.

MUNICH (AP) — Mrs. Adolf Eichmann has disclosed she pleaded with her husband's jailers to let her embrace him as he locked in his death cell with him so she could "hold him in my arms once more."

The wife of the former Gestapo colonel was permitted to visit her husband April 30 in Tel Aviv's Ramleh prison, a glass shield separated them.

The plea was refused and she returned to Munich to await the outcome of his appeal from the death sentence pronounced by an Israeli court for his role in the Nazi extermination of millions of Jews. A decision on the appeal is expected today.

In three taped interviews with this writer, Vera Eichmann reiterated she considered her husband innocent. She said she would appeal if necessary to Israeli President Izhak Benzvi for clemency and to the world court to set him free.

She had two meetings on that one day with her "Adolfe." She said one lasted an hour and 45 minutes, and the other requested because she had more to say to him was much shorter.

She described the end of the first interview:

"The guards rose from their chairs. It was their way of telling us the meeting was to end. I handed to the commander (the head jailer) and asked him if I could stay the night with my husband. I told him they could lock me in the cell with

Hecklers Enliven Election Meetings, Soon Answered

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Heckling had some fun with Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson Monday night.

They enlivened the election meetings, but didn't flustre the party leaders.

Mr. Diefenbaker squelched one heckler at Prince George, B.C. during a speech citing the achievements of his government.

"Why don't you bring up the 1930s?" asked an anonymous voice.

"How old are you?" replied Mr. Diefenbaker, "Your question indicates you weren't even born then."

At Vernon, B.C., the prime minister took on another heckler who shouted: "How about the sell-out of the Columbia?"

The only sellout, said Mr. Diefenbaker, was in the imagination of "that man in the darkness there."

He said he hopes ratification of the Canada-United States Columbia River treaty will be one of the first acts of the four Progressive Conservative MPs in the new parliament.

At Winnipeg, Mr. Pearson said he is sorry Mr. Diefenbaker won't debate the election issues on television.

"You're lucky," said a heckler.

"If I'm lucky, it's surprising by didn't take me up," retorted Mr. Pearson.

When Mr. Pearson promised that a Liberal government would eliminate chronic unemployment, another heckler shouted:

"How? Are you a socialist?"

"How?" replied Mr. Pearson. "By electing a Liberal government pledged to put into effect the Liberal program."

Hecklers have turned up at other meetings of the party leaders during the campaign, but have generally gone unnoticed or unheard.

Meanwhile, T. C. Douglas,

Think Russia May Have Put Man in Orbit

BONN, West Germany (Reuters)—Amateur radio reports here and in Denmark indicated today that the Soviet Union may have launched a major space flight.

The Bochum Observatory reported receiving signals on frequencies 19.995 and 19.997 megacycles, which the Soviet Union has used for spaceships in the past.

The observatory said voices also could be heard, but it was not certain whether they were connected with the apparent space shot.

In Copenhagen, the Geophysical Observatory picked up Russian radio conversations and a spokesman said it may indicate a Soviet space attempt is underway.

The conversations were on the same frequency monitored by Bochum Observatory, which picked up only jargon from the Russian Sputnik Cosmos 9.

Divorce Action Is Withdrawn By Duchess

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters) — The Duchess of Argyll has withdrawn a divorce action against the Duke of Argyll in which she alleged that he had committed adultery with her stepmother.

The divorce reaction, launched almost two years ago, ended in five minutes today in Edinburgh's court of session after the duchess' lawyer lodged a "minute of abandonment."

COURT DECLINES TO PROVIDE 15 WITNESSES

Defence Request Is Turned Down

OTTAWA (CP) — Two more defence manoeuvres were rejected Monday in the court-martial of Maj. William Allan Platt, 46, on charges he organized and participated in indochina gold smuggling.

The court declined to provide 15 defence witnesses on the all-or-nothing terms of defence counsel R. K. Laidsley of Ottawa.

It also declined to put in the record the material on which the defence had based a claim for a commission of evidence in Indochina, which was also rejected.

The defence then called no witnesses at all when that step was done, and the court adjourned for the day with the judge advocate—or adviser to the five-man court martial—preparing to sum up the evidence for no.

The trial could end today, Mr. Laishley hinted strongly Monday that a summing up can be expected if necessary. It could go all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada.

SEEKS WITNESSES

The 15 witnesses sought by the defence included an Indian diplomat, several Canadian external affairs officials, officials of several industrial companies, and a number of servicemen, most still on active duty with Canada's contingent on the international control and supervisory truce commission in Laos and South Viet Nam.

Mr. Laishley said he was in a unique position in defending the major, from Oshawa and Picton, Ont. He said he had questioned most of the 15 witnesses and his proposed trip to put all of the witnesses under oath, though he might not ask them any questions himself.

But he wanted all—or none at all.

After a lengthy adjournment, the court reported that all the witnesses were not available. Therefore, defence application was denied.

Four Workmen Plunge to Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Four window-washers were killed today when the moving platform on which they were working plunged down the side of the 45-story Time-Life Building in midtown Manhattan to the sidewalk.

The men were working somewhere below the 22nd floor, of the building, when the platform across the street and a block south of the Radio City Music Hall.

A maintenance man at the building said the two men, a part of the remote-controlled engine of the platform, apparently gave way. The engine is located atop the structure.

Women Ask For Colored Margarine

TORONTO (CP)—A score of women consumers descended on Agriculture Minister Hamilton Monday to present a perennial request for colored margarine to Ontario.

Mr. Stewart, who has said on several occasions in the past that he favors the present system, told the delegation from the Ontario Margarine Committee he would take their submission to the cabinet "for further discussion."

They asked specifically for repeal of a ban on coloring of margarine at the point of manufacture which has been in effect since 1948.

The delegation said it has 40,000 signatures on a petition for colored margarine and the support of 200 municipal councils. It argued that consumers in British Columbia and Newfoundland indicates the sale of colored margarine does not seriously affect butter producers.

Wall St. Suffers Heaviest Blow Since '29 Crash

Sell-Off Continuing Today, Market Panicky

NEW YORK (AP) — The heavy sell-off in the stock market surged off today, driving prices down.

The market remained locked in the grip of panicky selling which Monday sent it plunging to its worst loss since the crash year of 1929.

With selling orders piled up, trading in some major stocks did not get under way in the first hour.

The high - speed ticker tape, which Monday was 69 minutes behind trading at the 3:30 p.m. EDT close, lagged from the start.

The market averages quickly showed that the price erosion was continuing without letup.

Trading in the first hour soared by 700,000 shares compared with 1,060,000 in the like period Monday. The tape tailed by 32 minutes.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues at 11 a.m. was off 11.09 to 565.84.

Trading in American Telephone & Telegraph, the blue chip bardhi's blue chips — opened an hour late, off $2.12 to $66.50 on a whopping block of 90,000 shares.

Other losses included Polaroid $4.25 to $117.25, Westinghouse Electric $2.50 to $63.50, Tobacco $3.75 to $45.25, General Motors $2.75 to $46.12, and Eastman Kodak $2.50 to $92.50.

The first few trades provided an early clue to the big question in investors' minds: Has the market hit bottom after losing battered Monday? Its biggest loss since the crash year of 1929.

The market's long, sharp decline resulted in a bizarre procedure Monday as trading rocketed to the highest level since Oct. 28, 1929, the day before the climax of the crash of '29.

The huge volume set an estimated $19,500,000,000 from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall of the Associated Press 60-stock average. This cut the total value of $300,000,000 from $380,000,000,000 at the end of 1961.

BIGGEST SINCE '29

The AP average fell 13.40 to 211.20. The Dow Jones average dropped 34.95 to 576.93. These were the biggest losses in dollars by these averages since Oct. 28, 1929.

Volume of 9,350,000 shares swamped the high-speed ticker tape.

The tape was 69 minutes late at the 3:30 p.m. close, the longest delay since the present system was installed in 1930. It finished reporting the last trade action at 6 p.m.

In New York, the massive selling gnawed deeply into the prices of blue chip issues—the solid, high-priced stocks consid-

Giant Meteor With Flaming Tail Halts Vancouver Baseball Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant meteor with a flaming tail lighted an eerie glow in the sky over British Columbia and Alberta, Washington state and Idaho Monday.

The spectacle caused momentary people among fans at a baseball game in Vancouver. Sightings were also reported at Victoria, Calgary, Fort Assiniboine, Alta., Spokane, Wash., and Lewiston, Idaho.

Witnesses gave many descriptions as there were people who watched the huge fireball streak across the sky in a northerly direction.

Residents of Vancouver residents jammed switchboards at the airport, weather office and RCAF headquarters with reports of a flaming skeliner, an off-course rocket or a satellite.

But authoritative observers said it was a meteor.

Research scientist Frank Hughes of nearby North Surrey, B.C., said: "Hughes who also did meteor observation work for the British Astronomical As-

"It was glowing with a white brightness like a magnesium flare," he said.

Other descriptions were less scientific but more picturesque.

"It was as big as an aircraft hangar," said a control tower employee at Vancouver International Airport. "It was the most amazing sight I've ever seen."

He said the meteor was visible for 12 seconds.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, head of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, said the descriptions applied to meteors but that it must have been a big one.

"A meteor is usually seen for just a second or two. But for one would have to be huge to have been visible for that length of time. It would have burned itself out more quickly."

Fan in the third-base bleachers at Vancouver's Capilano Stadium were first to spot the multi-colored meteor when it appeared during the 12th inning.

They cried out in panic and Vancouver and Portland Pacific Coast League players looked up from the diamond, then ran for the dugout along with the umpires.

A sportswriter at the game said the players thought the fireball was a parachute flare at first.

Then it flashed out of sight.

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian stock markets took another battering today as waves of selling pressure continued to knock down prices.

At Toronto, the industrial index—compiled from 30 leading stocks—dived by 13.33 points by 11 a.m., to 544.63, its lowest point since February, 1961.

Trading was heavy—a total of 911,000 shares at 11 a.m. compared with 634,000 at the same time Monday—and the ticker tape was running 16 minutes late.

At Montreal, selling pressure struck the Montreal and Canadian exchanges hard and prices were struck down almost immediately at the opening trading.

Brokers here are looking for "bargain hunters" to begin stepping into the market soon to lend it some buoyancy and temporarily stop the wave selling to give the market a breather.

SELLING UNWARRANTED

They said that the turbulent selling is unwarranted because there has been little unfavorable economic news this year and that a lot of the selling is being done by investors who panicked of taking a loss on his investment.

The massive selling gnawed deeply into the prices of blue chip issues. Many high priced issues considered to be the foundation of the market.

Bell Telephone dropped $1.25 to a new 1962 low of $48.75. Royal bank was down $3 to $71.50, International Nickel $1.50 Falconbridge $3 and Walker-Gooderham and Worts lower by five prices for the year.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce dropped two points to 39, Interprovincial Pipe Line 1¼ to 14¾, and Alcan 87½ to close a new 1962 low of $48.75. Royal bank was down $3 to $71.50, International Nickel $1.50 Falconbridge $3 and Walker-Gooderham and Worts lower by five prices for the year.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce dropped two points to 39, Interprovincial Pipe Line 1¼ to 14¾, and Alcan 87½ to close a new 1962 low of $48.75. Base metals saw International Nickel and Falconbridge both touched by Canada Packers B, Calgary Power, Walger-Gooderham and Worts and other low prices this year, each taking one point losses. Dominion Oil ½ and Hudson Bay Mining ¾.

The market took a severe beating in Montreal as the stock exchange dropped prices sharply.

LONDON (CP)—A storm of selling hit the stock exchanges of Europe and Japan today in what brokers here called panic on Wall St.

Hundreds of millions of pounds were wiped off the value of shares in London. Prices fell wildly on European exchanges of Switzerland and West Germany.

The Financial Times index of British industrial common shares dropped 4.5 points in two hours to 285.9, compared with the record high of 303.7 May 15, 1961.

The Zurich Stock Exchange had its biggest decline since the 1929 crash but there was a substantial recovery in midday. Union Bank of Switzerland dropped to 2,900 francs ($672) a share from 3,100 francs ($721), but recovered to 3,500 ($811), a share from 3,100 francs ($721), but recovered to 3,500 ($811), a share from 3,100 francs ($721), but recovered to 3,500 ($811),

Treatment Centre in Area Is Discussed

Local Rotarians were given a few of the pros and cons of establishing a treatment centre for crippled children in this district by Dr. Ian W. Davidson, medical director of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, yesterday afternoon at their weekly dinner meeting in the Hotel Quinte.

The speaker described treatment centres as places where crippled children could get the personalized medical care which the individual families and cities also be rehabilitated to a normal life and school curriculum as quickly as possible.

Dr. Davidson noted that the facilities offered by a treatment centre can vary widely, as can the cost of operating it, and can be organized in a number of different ways.

He discussed a number of the factors to be ascertained before establishing a centre. These factors included the need, the services and the type of service to be offered; the location of the centre, whether it would be attached to a local hospital or an independent unit; the type of centre it would be as some centres are eligible for government grants whilst others were not.

The speaker also suggested that the local Medical Society be consulted so that the facilities to be offered by the centre could be planned so that it would be of advantage.

Dr. Davidson also emphasized the need to realize the long-range costs of such a centre so that it would be properly maintained and staffed following its establishment. He recommended that this area give very careful consideration to the establishment of a treatment centre.

The speaker also announced that the best figures available on the 1962 Easter Seal Campaign, which provides for much of the money for the Crippled Children's centres and treatment, had exceeded last year's campaign by a considerable amount throughout Ontario and that $770,000 has been received as compared with almost $700,000 by this time last year. In Toronto the amounts were $144,000 and $127,000 respectively.

Guest student for the meeting was Bill James president of the students' council at Albey College. He was introduced by Rotarian Ham Leggett.

Council Approves Bylaws To Build Sanitary Sewers Along 11 Westside Streets

Professed by the dedication of the mayor's new robes of office, yesterday's regular meeting of city council was a quiet session with little more than routine business being conducted.

During the meeting first and second readings were given to by-laws officially authorizing the construction of sanitary sewers along 11 streets in West Bellevill.

Council heard a delegation of one objecting to the construction of sewers, sidewalks along the north side of Dundas Street between the O.E.D. and Albert College, and also considered two communications for the purchase of property on the north side of Zwicks Island already filled with sanitary land fill and the other for the purchase of property on Dundas Street, West now owned by the O.P.S.

Council authorized the negotiations be entered into with the OPS for the purchase of the Dundas Street property which, if the city decides to improve intersection conditions at the corner of Dundas Street and Dufferin Street.

OBJECTS TO WALKS

Mrs. George Zemmole, Dundas Street West, appeared before council to object to the construction of sidewalks along the north side of Dundas Street between the O.E.D. and Albert College, and also considered two communications for the purchase of property on the north side of Zwicks Island already filled with sanitary land fill and the other for the purchase of property on Dundas Street, West now owned by the O.P.S.

Council authorized the negotiations be entered into with the OPS for the purchase of the Dundas Street property which, if the city decides to improve intersection conditions at the corner of Dundas Street and Dufferin Street.

OBJECTS TO WALKS

Mrs. George Zemmole, Dundas Street West, appeared before council to object to the construction of sidewalks along the north side of Dundas Street between the O.E.D. and Albert College.

She said the sidewalk was not needed for another ten years and that the construction would kill stately old elm trees along the thoroughfare.

Mrs. Zemmole now trees be planted now to replace the trees, which would be destroyed by the sidewalk construction.

Purchase of the three properties along the north side of Zwicks Island and lying on the south side of the O.P.S. property was approved at a price of $4,175 subject to the approval of the city solicitor.

Several conditions questioned by council on purchase of the property suggesting it not a good idea to purchase property without permission and had already filled it with sewage and fill.

The action to purchase the property at the advice of the solicitor being recommended to "get the city off the hook", he said.

CHARLES LEGITY

Flasher lights will be installed on the Hamilton Ave crossing over the C.N.R. Prince Ward, instead of the automatic gates, which had been recommended by a coroner's jury following a fatal accident at the crossing some months ago.

The report from the police department was to the effect that taking into consideration the location of the crossing, the traffic densely on the street, automatic signals were not necessary at the crossing.

In view of the police report City Manager R. Reynolds recommended to council that the Board of Transport be advised of council's intention to install the flasher lights and bell instead of the automatic equipment.

A number of bus stops were approved by council and the Transit Commission was authorized to paint the curbs designating the stops.

A grant of $500 was authorized for the Bellevill Sports Association, the amount being forward to the club budget.

CAR ALLOWANCES UPPED

A car allowances of $25 per month was approved for the city assistant to the recreational director, but a request for cooling device for the recreation centre at a cost not exceeding $350 was held up pending a survey of similar requirements for other city offices.

Ald. Ron Bailey said approval of the recreation department request was held up by numerous similar requests from other city offices.

Ald. William Allen, however noted that due to the construction of the building, temperatures in the upstairs offices at the centre frequently

Bridge Club Closes Season, Awards Prizes

The members of the Belleville Bridge Club brought another successful season to a close on Monday evening at the Columbian Hall, Front Street where the wives were entertained at a social evening and the awards for the year were handed out. After the games were all concluded, a social hour was spent before the assembly enjoyed a buffet supper, supplied by Mrs. McEvoy and his very efficient staff. The dinner was a delight with turkey and ham being the main courses and all the other trimmings thrown in and everyone did ample justice to the good things provided.

This matter will be discussed by the executive and a report made at the fall meeting.

Hospital Consultants Will Report Within 3 Weeks

A report from hospital consultants in Washington, D.C., is expected by the Belleville General Hospital board of governors within three weeks on the advisability of proceeding with capital expansion on the present site.

This was noted at city council yesterday by Mayor A. M. Haig as he answered an inquiry from Alderman Jack Ellis as to whether there were any recent developments with respect to increasing hospital accommodation.

He noted that if ground was broken for a new addition to-day, it would still be 18 months before any additional hospital accommodation would be ready for use.

Mayor Haig noted that when the report of the hospital consultants is received, the board would then be able to go to their architect and say "this is what we need."

He said it was generally believed that an addition on the present site would be more economical and quicker than the required additional accommodation could be provided faster.

Mayor Haig said the joint city-county sub-committee on hospital expansion had recommended that some kind of a joint ownership between the city and county of hospital facilities should be worked out.

He noted that if the city-owned hospital was taking care of city patients only there would be no addition required.

Playful Nature and Love of Fish Ends Wandering Sea Lion's Trip

CINCINNATI (AP) — George, the wandering sea lion, is back in captivity today, caught through his own playful nature and a fondness for canned salmon.

George, fugitive from a Honolulan, W.Va., amusement park was en route down the Ohio River Monday when he spotted the Cincinnati - based towboat Claire E. Beatty.

"I saw him swimming from the bank," said pilot Fred Walker. "I could get my hand on him."

"Then he flopped in the water. I thought he was a turtle, but he was really flying. He can easily out-swim this boat."

George playfully jumped aboard the towboat, and shed let a few downfall.

ATE SALMON

The crew enticed him to a cabin with a can of salmon and another for later. Then they consumed three cans of salmon and four quarts of milk.

After the crew received the captaire late Monday near Ripley, Jim Lee, Cincinnati zoo sent an animal-keeper and an assistant with a cage to pick up the wandering sea lion.

George went off to the Cincinnati zoo in the back of a station wagon, an ignominious trip for the animal that playfully exercised 200 miles of the Ohio river since Friday.

The zoo has made his way through a half dozen locks and dams.

George had left the amusement park Friday by jumping a four-foot barrier and following a creek into the Ohio.

Let the Cincinnati zoo, officials said George would go into isolation because of possible contamination from eating Ohio River fish.

Officials at Camden Park in Huntington said early today George had left there for Cincinnati to bring their wandering sea lion back to his pond and his mate, Peanie.

Bay of Quinte Conference Of United Church Is Opened

KINGSTON (CP) — Fellowship must be attained and superficiality dispelled in the church, a panel of the United Church of Canada's annual Bay of Quinte conference said Monday.

More than 400 delegates from Eastern Ontario attended discussions on the first day of the five-day gathering.

The panel, moderated by Rev. R. E. Mahood of Lindsay, agreed fellowship in the United Church should be encouraged through small groups formed in congregations for meetings in private homes.

"Christians must be willing to teach together and learn together in order to dispel superficiality and create fellowship," said Rev. Duncan Wells of Petersborough.

Rev. Norman McHardy, editor of Adult Publications in the United Church, said "Christians must be ready and for themselves how to express their beliefs."

Six candidates for the ministry were presented after the panel discussion. They are Messrs. Brecking R. D. Barnum, Campbellcroft; R. G. Clark and D. M. Dewar, Kingston; Ian Glenn, Northfield and D. T. Raffan, Lindsay.

The following were honored on their retirement from the ministry: Rev. R. G. Greenfield; Rev. Harold H. Neal, Millcroft and Rev. Hamish Stainton, Courtice.

Dr. James Alexander Corry, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Queen's Alumni Association, Belleville Branch, at the home of Mrs. Breckin R. D. Barnum, Campbellcroft R. G. Clark and D. M. Dewar, Kingston; Ian Glenn, Northfield and D. T. Raffan, Lindsay.

Dr. James Alexander Corry, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Queen's Alumni Association, Belleville Branch, at the home of Mrs. A. Mackintosh as Principal of Queen's University on Sept. 1, 1961. He was formally installed as principal at the university's autumn convocation on October 30, 1961.

Dr. Corry, together with Principal W. A. Mackintosh, played a leading part in the re-establishment of the Faculty of Law at Queen's in 1957. He represented Queen's and other universities concerned on the committee studying law teaching in Ontario.

SELL-OFF

Tokyo's stock exchange closed cities after an early selling rush. The Nikkei-Dow Jones average of 225 selected stocks fell 17.76 yen (4.9) cents) from Monday to 1,975.99 yen ($5.48).

In the London exchange brokers let out a cheer when there was a big buying order for Shell Petroleum after the scare of the crash.

The British Press Association said losses in London reached millions of pounds. The Distillers Company alone lost a share, knocking 22,500,000 pfi its market value.

The selback clipped £9,000,000 off the total value of Courtaulds, the artificial fibre company. Imperial Chemical Industries dropped £30,000,000.

Prices were marked down literally by jobbers as a precision and subsequent drop of relaxes showed substantial losses in most sections.

Dollar stocks were down by up to seven points.

The international issues dropped and leading domestic issues were also lower. Mining shares fell. British Africa golds were sharply lower and copper and diamonds were down.

ZURICH (AP) — The Zurich Stock Exchange followed Wall Street's lead today, suffering its biggest single drop since the 1929 crash.

Swiss government officials and financiers said they were not alarmed over today's drop of the "overvalued market." They said it had been expected for months.

The opening selling rush on the exchange, one of the most important markets in Europe, silently took experts by surprise.

Within a few minutes, Union Bank of Switzerland dropped from 4,000 francs ($925.10) a share to 3,900 francs ($872), but later today it had recovered to 3,950 francs ($911).

May Be Space Flight Obstacle

Latest reports indicate that man's space travel plans may have struck a reef.

When 24-Cmdr. Scott Carpenter overshot the planned landing area by 250 miles, it was the result of a human failure, according to latest reports. Carpenter seemed confused on his last orbit and was tardy in firing the braking rockets on his craft. Carpenter has denied he was confused but he may not be the best judge of his own condition.

Alone, this would mean little. But when we recall that Major Gherman Titov experienced sickness when he orbited the earth 17 times, it suggests that there may be a limit to man's ability to withstand weightlessness without some compensating devices being designed.

It would be much too pessimistic to suggest that man's ingenuity is not equal to the task of discovering some method of preventing this "space sickness," if this is what it is. But unless there are definite indications that neither Carpenter's nor Titov's confusion or discomfort arose primarily from weightlessness, but that they were due to some other factor, such as possible lack of sufficient oxygen, a great deal of further experimentation should be undertaken before man even attempts to break loose from the earth's gravitational field and make a real space flight.

It would almost appear as if the fastest way to reach some definite conclusion would be to have Major Yuri Gagarin or Col. John Glenn, or both, make a flight of several days without experienced any discomfort in their trips. Gagarin went round the earth only once and while Glenn circled it three times, minor physical differences could account for him escaping confusion, while Carpenter, perhaps, suffered it. If both Gagarin and Glenn made several revolutions on a flight of a dozen orbits or so, we would know there was a difficult human problem to be faced. On the other hand, if both were unaffected, it would be obvious that, if there is such a thing as space sickness, not all people are affected by it.

Some may suggest that it would be callous to ask either Gagarin or Glenn to risk their lives a second time—but we feel certain that both these dedicated men would not merely be willing, but eager, to take the risk for the sake of advancing man's knowledge.

This Is No New Problem

The "funnies," which have habitually nestled amongst the want ads, have become the subject of front page headlines.

It is fitting that the cartoonist who should have achieved this feat is Walt Kelly, the creator of "Pogo," a "comic" strip which has always frankly been a satire on the foibles and follies of modern man.

Kelly did the trick by forgetting the Georgia opposum, whose antics with his swamplan friends have been used to portray the weaknesses and contradictions of contemporary life in the U.S." In Pogo's place he introduced a pig and goat, bearing unmistakable likenesses to Messrs. Khrushchev and Castro, and started an analysis of the communist world.

Several papers, including the Toronto Globe and Mail and the Peterborough Examiner, discontinued the strip. Explanations differ. Some argue that it is unseemly to depict the heads of state as animals. Others contend that Kelly is expressing opinions and that the proper and only place in a newspaper for opinions is on the editorial page. Neither argument is flawless. Those who reject "Pogo" but permit Orphan Annie, Terry Lee, Steve Canyon, Buz Sawyer, Johnny Hasard and company to continue to dwell among the want ads are choking at a gnat and swallowing a camel.

Kelly's aim is that he is subtle and yet frank. Other comic strips present the U.S. viewpoint on world affairs in a manner which is clumsy and yet can escape the attention of the uninformed or juvenile reader. Kelly tries to inform or intrigue, the other strips to indoctrinate. Kelly is frankly interested only in international politics when he draws his pig and goat; the other strips drig in the propaganda as a sidedish to the main fare, usually the theme of adventure.

Comic strips pose a problem for newspaper editors but for those in the U.S. it is not a really serious one. They reflect the outlook of a large number, perhaps the majority of U.S. citizens.

In Canada the problem is slightly different—it is not so much a question of whether cartoonists should be allowed to preach on matters political, but whether Canadian papers are justified in accepting, without a label, propaganda exported from a foreign country.

The difficulty is that there are not enough Canadian comic strips to meet the demand of newspaper readers, if those from the U.S. are rejected.

Liberals More Flexible In Staging Leader's Visit

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Notes from the Campaign Trail . . .

The Liberals haven't got anything quitesalike the Conservative "Campaign Memo No. 9" . . . (as spelled out in a recent Ottawa Letter), but they're working on it.

Where the Conservatives carefully put it in writing, detail by detail, as to precisely what is to be done, how, when, where and by whom—from Prime Minister Diefenbaker calls in at a constituency . . . the Liberals are having to depend on a much smaller and less exact operation largely directed by phone, when Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson pays a visit.

"Get out and meet our leader".

And this is the stuff of which the "get out and go" campaign is fabricated.

Drive.

Big and warmly enthusiastic.

But the Liberals have an extra added refinement for this campaign "phone blitz" as it is known.

When they find an enthusiastic party worker, they say, "Hey you, and'd love to come along —they ask her to phone her friends and bring them, too.

Sort of a chain letter operation this, producing "big warm crowds", they say.

Like the song says: "There's Nothing like a Dame . . . especially when you equip her with a phone and a cause.

In their own words, "Diefi" or "Miller" pay you a call, and you wonder about all the whoop-de-do, remember the example of groups of professional whoop-dedoers down at the park . . . and feel they had better have done their work well . . . or else.

Adenauer Is Rebuked

Ottawa Journal

Chancellor Adenauer does not have any hope that a basis for negotiations with Russia on the future of Berlin can be found and he is critical of the U.S. plan for an international authority to supervise access to Berlin.

His attitude brings a brisk comment from the Manchester Guardian:

"Dr. Adenauer must know that the freedom of West Berlin depends, in the last resort, on American willingness to defend it. If the people of West Berlin — and indeed of Western Europe — live in freedom today, it is largely because of American courage. If the Berlin crisis were to lead to war, the American people would bear the brunt of it. Dr. Adenauer should also know that an attempt to influence American foreign policy against the declared policy of the American Administration might easily boomerang."

Well said.

The Americans' responsibility to "bear the brunt of it" extends from Berlin to Laos, where they are supporting the Boun Oum regime.

American politics may not be perfect but they provide machinery for the settlement of disputes by negotiation are admirable. As they must pay the piper most of his fee, they are entitled to expect that others will keep their tiindly and at least refrain from publicly admonishing hops too soon.

Man-Powered Plane

Ottawa Journal

A man-powered airplane which has flown in England, with the pedal-pushing pilot, has been fitted with a 3 horsepower motor which will enable the machine to take off under its own power.

Now the proposal of Jesus Christ is that into this "lump" of our lives we inject a heavenly leaven. This leaven is the kingdom of God, or the rule of God. In it is hope in God, trust in God, belief in His teachings. It is commitment to His will.

When the kingdom of God comes in and takes over in our lives it is as though the leaven in the baking leavens has done its work. "The kingdom of God is like leaven."

It Works

Brockville Recorder and Times

It does work — two separate cultures and languages living side by side in a remarkable degree of harmony, and in one country. That has been Canada's great achievement. Of course there are differences — and these the Quebec separatists are trying to widen — but side the fact that Canada is one they are really insignificant by nation.

"I realize it will be a blow to you, but I thought I'd let you know my firm is resigning me."

Nineteen young ladies, members of the 1942 class of Belleville General Hospital Training School for Nurses, received medals, awards and diplomas Thursday evening at the annual Graduation Exercises held in the Capitol Theatre. Lieutenant-Col. Miss Marion Fraser of Hoslin, Ont., was gold medallist of the class this year while Miss Elizabeth Running of Clarksburg, Ont., winner of the silver medal was valedictorian. Starting in the third year Belleville had the honor of having a Training School for Nurses established at the Hospital, and tribute was paid to the Ontario Government by the Minister of Health and to Dr. Harold Welsh, M.P.P., for making possible this latest acquisition to the hospital services.

Presentations were made by Mrs. Albert Johnstone of this city, an executive member of the Belleville Hospital with the War Victims Fund of the Toronto Telegram the sum of $475. Held in the Oddfellows Hall, the function was attended by a large crowd of relatives and dancers with prizes being offered for the former. The dance was the second annual affair sponsored by Mrs. Johnstone in aid of the War Victims Fund.

Our World Is Really Very Small

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We speak glibly of the "shrinking" world of today — but do we actually realize how much the world has shrunk since our fathers were children?

When the original 13 colonies revolted to federate, they were much "larger" than the whole world is today. In 1776, the fastest coastal sailing ship took 14 days to take a copy of the Declaration of Independence from Philadelphia to South Carolina.

This was about 575 hours' travel time. However, as the bird flies, as the crow flies: an average rate of about 40 miles an hour. A commercial jet today can easily do 610 miles on one hour, or 1,200 times as fast.

Since the world is about 24,000 miles around, if we divided it by 1,000 (the number of times greater than our speed of travel is now) we would discover that only 24 miles in circumference compared to the world of 1776.

Consider a world that is only 24 miles around — about the distance from the north end of Chicago to the south end. And, of course, if we could compress the same way for wire or telephone communication, the whole world would shrink to the size of a pea.

But this is the world we live in. Vietnam is no further than Paris is from Berlin, in time or grounds. Paris is a brief spin to a drive-in movie. Moscow is less than half a working day from Ottawa. Why, a globe only 24 inches in circumference prepared in 1776, what validity is there in Washington's words warning us to stay out of entangling alliances.".

We are already relieved right up to our eyeballs, like it or not. The world has become one city, in time and space, and we can no more avoid being entangled with our neighbors than we can avoid the concept of distance has been so radically changed that a global war can be done by remote control — by missile and rocket. We are not prepared for such proximity; we are not prepared to be neighbors across the street, and now we are asked to cope with those on the other side of the world.

It is almost too much to bear in this short time. Technology has plunged us into a tiny globe in a brief lifetime, and we are all swimming around furiously, wondering what happened to the spacious world we used to live in. It is the most severe test of adjustment our race has ever had to undergo. It may be more out of frustration than out of hostility.

Bronchial Trouble Can Mean Many Different Things

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for bronchial trouble? I am 54, the doctor told me there isn't anything to do for it. — Mrs. E.S., N.Y.

That's both right and wrong. There isn't anything to do for bronchial trouble until you find out what is wrong. Bronchial trouble is a loose term that can mean many different things.

I presume you mean that you have an annoying cough.

The first step in finding the cause is a chest X-ray to rule out the possibility of tuberculosis, lung cancer, or any congestion at the base of the lungs.

After that, search for other causes:

If you smoke, stop. Smoking just adds insult to injury by further irritation of the bronchial tubes.

The trouble may be higher up, in the throat or nasal passages, or even, at times, infected gums.

Bronchiectasis is a common cause. It usually is accompanied with foul-smelling sputum, often bloody.

If you work in a place that is dugly or contaminated by irritating fumes, this can produce an annoying cough.

Enlarged thyroid, disorders of the heart, and even impacted wax in the ears have been the causes.

Something can be done about all of the aforementioned troubles, but one must first find out which one to treat.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can worry cause deafness? What causes a sometimes buzz in my ears for hours a day? — M.C.

Loud noise, Laboratory would impair hearing; however a severe emotional shock can diminish it, especially in someone whose hearing already is impaired.

As to the "buzzing," I suggest you write for my leaflet "Ear Noise. Their Causes and Cures." To obtain a copy, write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15c in coin and a long, unstamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read that a report says that trichomonas may produce a secondary gonococcus infection that can be discovered under the microscope, for researches, is it possible? — D.C.

No, trichomonas will not produce a gonococcus infection. Any more than a dog can have rabies. The two diseases can, however, be present at the same time. The gonococcus germ has to be stained to become visible under a microscope; the trichomonas always is visible without staining. There should be no mistake, therefore, in distinguishing.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband loves raw lemons with a little salt: he eats from 6 to 12 a week. People have told him he will get stomach trouble from the acid. Is this true?

THE PACKSACK

A car with a U.S. license pulled up while I was watering the lawn, and the driver put his head out.

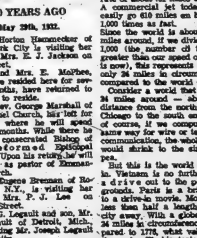
"Is there a park anywhere around here?" he asked.

"Why, yes," I replied, "there's a very pretty little park just two blocks north of here. The only difficulty is, there is no place to put your car."

The man looked at me with astonishment.

"I mean," he said, "a car park!"

I sent him three blocks down and eight blocks north.



Only three weeks ago, I sat at a table next to four lowly Londoners who were discussing the proposed location of a new park in the metropolitan area, and were most enthusiastic until one of their number brought out the astonishing fact that it was a real park, not a car park, and was considerably annoyed to hear disgusted group of gentlemen you could hardly picture.

It is interesting to watch the slow decay of the meaning of the word park. We associate the military, first of all. For it was they who long years ago gave the name to the place where guns and wagons were to be marshalled.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THAT MYSTERIOUS ELEMENT

Leaven is one of the most mysterious elements in the world. A little leaven put in a lump of dough changes the whole consistency of the lump.

Jesus declared that the kingdom of God is like leaven which a woman places in a lump of meal, until the whole be leavened. The kingdom of heaven is a mysterious ferment which starts making changes in one's life as soon as one comes in contact with it. We live in the kingdom of the world. Our very existence requires us to do this. The world is not evil in itself but it easily becomes evil. Without realizing it we are soon give ourselves to those things which will pass away with the using. We can rather easy our time. We can indulge our appetites. We can narrow our lives down into a little circle whereby all we do is worry, or gossip, or turn over in our minds the bitter resentment we harbor against people.

Now the proposal of Jesus Christ is that into this "lump" of our lives we inject a heavenly leaven. This leaven is the kingdom of God, or the rule of God. In it is hope in God, trust in God, belief in His teachings. It is commitment to His will.

When the kingdom of God comes in and takes over in our lives it is as though the leaven in the baking leavens has done its work. "The kingdom of God is like leaven."

May Be Space Flight Obstacle

Latest reports indicate that man's space travel plans may have struck a reef.

When Lt.-Cmdr. Scott Carpenter overshot the planned landing area by 250 miles, it was the result of a human failure, according to latest reports. Carpenter seemed confused on his last orbit and was tardy in firing the braking rockets on his craft. Carpenter has denied he was confused but he may not be the best judge of his own condition.

Alone, this would mean little. But when we recall that Major Gherman Titov experienced sickness when he orbited the earth 17 times, it suggests that there may be a limit to man's ability to withstand weightlessness without some compensating devices being designed.

It would be much too pessimistic to suggest that man's ingenuity is not equal to the task of discovering some method of preventing this "space sickness," if this is what it is. But unless there are definite indications that neither Carpenter nor Titov's condition or discomfort arose primarily from weightlessness, but that they were due to some other factor, such as possible lack of sufficient oxygen, a great deal of further experimentation should be undertaken before there is even attempts to break loose from the earth's gravitational field and make a real space flight.

It would almost appear as if the fastest way to reach some definite conclusion would be to have Major Yuri Gagarin or Col. John Glenn, or both, make a flight of several days. Neither experienced any discomfort in their trips. Gagarin went round the earth only once and while Glenn circled it three times, minor physical differences could account for him escaping confusion, while Carpenter, perhaps, suffered it. If both Gagarin and Glenn could make more rotations on a flight of a dozen orbits or so, we would know there was a difficult human problem to be faced. On the other hand, if both were unaffected, it would be obvious that, if there is such a thing as space sickness, not all people are affected by it.

Some may suggest that it would be callous to ask either Gagarin or Glenn to risk their lives a second time—but we feel certain that both these dedicated men would not merely be willing, but eager, to take the risk for the sake of advancing man's knowledge.

This Is No New Problem

The "funnies," which have habitually nestled amongst staid ads, have become the subject of front page headlines.

It is fitting that the cartoonist who should have achieved this feat is Walt Kelly, the creator of "Pogo," a "comic" strip which has always frankly been a satire on the foibles and follies of modern man.

Kelly did the trick by forgetting the Georgia opposum, whose antics with his swampland friends have been used to portray the weaknesses and contradictions of contemporary life in the U.S. In Pogo's place he introduced a pig and a goat, both unmistakable likenesses of Messrs. Khrushchev and Castro, and started an analysis of the communist world.

Several papers, including the Toronto Globe and Mail and the Peterborough Examiner, discontinued the strip. Explanations differ. Some argue that it is unseemly to depict the heads of state as animals. Others contend that Kelly is expressing opinions and that the proper and only place in a newspaper for opinions is on the editorial page. Neither argument is flawless. Those who reject "Pogo" but permit Orphan Annie, Dick Tracy, Steve Canyon, Buz Sawyer, Johnny Hazard and company to continue to dwell among the want ads are choking at a gnat and swallowing a camel.

Kelly's sin is that he is subtle and yet frank. Other comic strips present the U.S. wrongly on world affairs in a manner which is clumsy and yet can escape the attention of the uninformed or juvenile reader. Kelly tries to inform or intrigue, the other strips to indoctrinate. Kelly is frankly interested only in international politics when he draws his pig and goat; the other strips drag in the propaganda as a sidedish to the main fare, usually the theme of adventure.

Comic strips pose a problem for newspaper editors but for those in the U.S. it is not a really serious one. They reflect the outlook of a large number, perhaps the majority of U.S. citizens. In Canada the problem is slightly different—it is not so much a question of whether cartoonists should be allowed to preach on matters political, but whether Canadian papers are justified in accepting, without a label, propaganda exported from a foreign country.

The difficulty is that there are not enough Canadian comic strips to meet the demand of newspaper readers, if those from the U.S. are rejected.

Liberals More Flexible In Staging Leader's Visit

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Canadian Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Nose from the Campaign Trail . . .

The Liberals haven't got anything quitpalike the Conservative "Campaign Memo No. 9" . . . (as spelled out in a recent Ottawa) . . . best they're making their plans.

Where the Conservatives carefully put it in writing, detail by detail, as to precisely what is to be done, how, when, where and by whom with Prime Minister Diefenbaker calling the shots, the Liberals are having to depend on a much smaller and less exact operation largely directed by phone, when Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson pays a visit.

Any candidate, campaign grand and meet our leader".

Liberal candidates and campaign managers have been given only a broad general idea of the Pearson visit, with details being left to phone her instructions to come by long-distance phone — when Party Leader Pearson stamps the confirmation.

They candidly confess that they could use a "Memo No. 9" of their own, except that now it is far too late in the day to plan, write and direct such an operation in that kind of astoundingly meticulous detail.

A BALLSY NIGHTS

But they do have something of a distant relation of "Memo No. 9" in what Director Keith Davey has prepared under the heading of "Campaign Memorandum Number Four".

In the memorandum to the "House and Senate" style in which the Conservative "Memo No. 9" was written, the Liberal brass have done theirs in a soft low key.

"Memorandum Four" grew dead-pan drill on the availability of Pearson posters, banners, pamphlets and a big campaign.

Best touch is this: "The campaign is supplied with a document on strategy, all the current publicity material, Walter Gordon's book, 'Troubling Canada', Mr. Pickersgill's book 'Seeing Canada Whole' and liberal reprints of all the speeches by Messrs. PC and MP4 MPs for the particular riding back to 1958. (Please note the only exception is for subdivisional meetings against Cabinet Ministers).

Instead of finely detailed instructions on how to greet Mr. Pearson, Liberal campaigners have been decided final arrangements by long distance.

An advance man precedes the Pearson campaign party by one day, checking with local constituency officials.

This has it advantages, Director Davey has said in the past, it is "good for west he calls "flexibility".

And flexibility allows for:

1: Spontaneity in the Pearson welcome and program.

2: More publicity money for local organizations.

3: Less bureaucratic department, Liberal tactics duplicate Conservative.

NOTHING LIKE A DAME

And this is in the vital business of organizing what both campaign camps call "a good old-fashioned rally".

When either the Prime Minister or Mr. Pearson is due in a meeting into a certain constituency, both party organizations roll out their workers and put them to work on phones.

The object of the drill is known in the campaign trade as "the women personally invited to attend" (a) and bear, "to

An odd quirk of taste, but the stomach is naturally acid, and it has been proved that citrus fruits do not increase the acidity. The chemical structure is changed, and the result of eating a lemon is, believe it or not, alkaline.

I see no harm in his taste for lemons. They are an excellent source of Vitamin C.

As to the salt, a little of it is an essential part of our food. Excessive amounts may be harmful to people with heart, blood pressure, liver or kidney problems, but won't hurt a healthy person.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Tribune-Syndicate, P.O. Boats Crash, Moira School Pupil Trapped

PICTON — A 13-year-old youth was rescued from little North Bay Sunday afternoon when there was a collision of two motor boats about 200 feet from shore.

Carl Theodore Hall, of Moira View Road, a student at Moira Secondary School, Belleville, was trapped beneath his 13-foot runabout when it overturned following the collision.

He was pulled from the water by George Vrooman who saw the accident happen from shore. Wodzak went to the scene in an other boat operated by an unidentified man.

The other boat in the collision, which witnesses said turned back to shore after the accident, was operated by two RCAF airmen from Trenton. They were identified as Kenneth Neal, 27, and Max Gould, 21.

Little North Bay is a small bay on the easterly shore of the 13-foot craft with a 45 horsepower motor was found close to shore at an angle. Both boats turned the same way just before the accident occurred, Wodzak said.

He said he could see the accident coming. "I knew they would hit and I hollered, but they couldn't hear," he said. "He must have been trapped underneath for half a minute."

Wodzak said Thompson went down and came up away from the overturned boat.

"When he came up he was within 15 feet of us. He came up spitting water and said, 'George, help me.' If we didn't have the boat there he would have been lost."

Wodzak said a boat in the lake was banned people and that he said he was out with five children and that's how being a man after just missed them and sprayed them with water.

"I warned them and they just laughed," Wodzak said.

Council Votes to Collect $200 Sewer Fee for Those Not Under Any Agreement

TRENTON — Trenton council continued last Thursday night's meeting last night.

Council was out in full force for this meeting. (Last Thursday night's meeting at 701 Todd was in the hospital undergoing minor surgery.)

Last week, no by-laws or resolutions were passed, and while a great deal of discussion went on, no positive action on any of the issues brought up, was taken.

Last night was a different story. Resolutions, some of them earthshaking, were made. Bylaws were passed, but not without considerable discussion.

For one thing, all out-of-town residents using the sewer area which may be expected to come within the corporation once annexation takes place, will be billed for last year's use of the town's sewer facilities.

Residents may expect to pay $200. Only those persons living in the area that is to go as West mount Park, and those who have a previous agreement with the town, will not be charged, it was accepted.

The town has an agreement with Wasil Sidor, developer of Westmount Park, whereby the residents will pay $25 per year, plus a per-by- private owner, who has a sewer system only that of the dairy, will be billed for $100.

Voting to collect the back fees, and to charge out-of-town residents $200 a year until (if) annexation takes place, were Councillor Lloyd Worrall, Graham and Duncan.

Against were Councillors Todd and Duncan McDonald.

Against were Councillors Burtt, Todd and McDonald.

Mayor James MacDonald broke the tie by casting the vote, qualifying his decision by stating that Councillor Worrall and two appointed committee members bring in a report on the cost of a new hall. Annexation to be expected from parking meters on the hall site, costs of land for a new site, etc.

Councillor Burtt, asked by Councillor Worrall to sit on this committee, declined. Councillor Worrall then asked Councillors Todd and McDonald to assist him with the report requested by the mayor. They accepted.

ELMER BONTER HIRED

All councillors agreed to have prepared, within a five-months' trial basis, as a public relations "security" service for the town. Mr. Bonter has served in public relations capacity with the Canadian Industrial and Economic Development Committee (formerly Canadian Junior Lloyd Worrall) for the past year and a half. Recently, Mr. Bonter was employed by Trenton advertising the Trenton area with the "security" paradise," and the publication has been praised highly by the Hon. Earl Rowe, Liberal, Ontario minister of travel and publicity. It will be placed in service centres across the province.

Mr. Bonter's new duties will include the publicizing the Trenton area for tourism; contacting industry; "authorities with a view of getting things done for the town; publicizing Trenton in the journals and other widely-read publications and "generally attempting to attract industry to Trenton."

A study of site assessment for the town will be made, but this method of assessment, it was decided will be placed on land use, rather than on building. Councillor Worrall, who introduced the survey, said that it would have the end result of a fairer assessment throughout the town. This method would "help the little fellow", and penalize land speculators. Buildings could be repaired or added to without the fear of higher assessment, and consequently, higher taxation. Vacant land, whether owned by private owners, industry or large corporations, would be made to pay its fair share of the tax load.

NO COST ATTACHED

The Trenton and Suburban Planning Board will be asked to conduct provincial government authorities, with a view to undertaking a sociological survey of the town and the area. A view of re-development of certain areas in the town. Investigating the feasibility of such a survey will cost the town nothing. The survey itself would be largely subsidized by the provincial government. Re-development is subsidized by both the federal and provincial governments.

Councillor Worrall will contact Councillors Worrall, Graham and Duncan.

Canadian National Railway authorities about having the railway tracks which run parallel to Division Street between King and Dundas street, moved to the west (slightly), to permit Division Street to be widened at the junction with Dundas St.

At the first of the year, council authorized the mayor and clerk to borrow $400,000 to run the town until the first instalment of taxes was collected. To date $320,000 has been borrowed. Last night a by-law was passed authorizing the borrowing of an additional $200,000 on the best interest rates available, to run the corporation until the second instalment of taxes is due and payable.

The mayor and clerk-comptroller, O. W. Larry, were to sign an assessment agreement with the Ontario Water Resources Commission and the Trenton Company of Belleville to permit installation of a section of the Sidney Street trunk sewer across College Street school grounds.

Council agreed to pay the town's share of the cost of maintaining the area sewer system, when annexation takes place. Such costs are borne 75 per cent by the federal government; 15 per cent by the provincial government and 10 per cent by the town, which is comprised of the towns of Trenton and Picton, the city of Belleville, and the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward.

Council also voted to raise $35,000 by debenture, or other instalment methods, to widen, reconstruct and resurface parts of Wilkins, Byron, Bay, Sidney, King, Baptista, Campbell, Herman and Pine Sts., Dixon Drive and Lorne Ave. This repair and reconstruction program will coincide with curb installation.

Town engineer Eric Aldersey was authorized to spend an additional 1,000 or 300 feet of rigid curbing forme to expedite the installation of the curbs.

The public works committee of council will investigate the possibility of building some sort of a sidewalk on the west side of Dufferin Ave. between the Quaker Oats Co. plant and Bain Ave. Council to purchase the right to run the Trenton Street sewer across the back of the Toronto-Dominion bank property at the corner of Dundas St. W. and Front St. The $1 also covers the use of part of the land for parking.

Sea Cadet Board On Parade For First Time

TRENTON — On Sunday, the Trenton Sea Cadet Band made its first public appearance at the head of the Trenton Cadet church parade.

Spectators lining the streets were heard to comment very favourably on the appearance and performance of the band.

Attention-getting too, was the head-off unit of the marching lodge. Twenty eight Cadets marched behind the band and in front of the OddFellows. Cadets are an elevation of the I.O.O.F. lodge, wearing military uniforms and are the only fraternal organization authorized to wear uniforms by the reigning monarch.

Trenton Oddfellows will take part in a church parade in Brighton next Sunday.

Workmen are presently engaged in digging an excavation on Albert Street, east of the Odeon theatre, for a sewer, a storm sewer and new water lines and it is said while the area is exposed.

Original purpose of the work was to provide additional sewer facilities for the Cold Storage plant, but the work is being finished, but, as one town authority puts it, "it seems like a good idea to get it done while the street's dug up."

New Democratic Leader, urged voters to declare themselves in favor of a nation-wide comprehensive health care plan by sending 150 NDP members to Parliament in the June 18 election.

INTENTIONS 'NOT SERIOUS'

Speaking on the CBC national TV network, Mr. Douglas said neither the Conservatives nor the Liberals have "any serious intention" of setting up a comprehensive health insurance plan if elected.

Honor a FF NDP President, M. J. Coldwell said the Liberals and the Conservatives have shown nothing but callous indifference to senior citizens, then offering niggling charity in old age pensions at election time. He spoke in Victoria.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson recited the Liberals of trying to divide his party with religious propaganda. Even playing Roman Catholic Quebec against Protestants on the Prairies.

"This is the kind of poppycock . . . slander they're throwing at us, trying to divide us when the last provincial byelection in Alberta was won by a man born in Quebec," said Mr. Thompson in Ste. Foye, a suburb of Quebec City.

Today all their party leaders will be on the campaign trail in the West. Mr. Diefenbaker tours Kelowna, Abbotsford and Clearbrook in mainland British Columbia; then flies to Victoria, Mr. Pearson flies from Winnipeg to North, Battleford, Sask., then on to Edmonton.

IN HOME PROVINCE

Mr. Douglas, stumping his home province, flies from Leader to Melfort, Sask. while Mr. Thompson flies to Calgary for a night meeting at Carnduff, Alta.

Joe Prince George, Mr. Diefenbaker urged Canadians to write him at any time on any subject.

"Your government is thinking of you," he said.

Mr. Pearson had taken up the prime minister's invitation to write him—even before it was issued.

The Liberal chief said in Winnipeg that he had mailed 10 detailed questions to Conservative headquarters in Ottawa—questions he would have asked Mr. Diefenbaker if they had met in a television confrontation.

The questions sought details of the government's new five-year plan for the future.

42 Graduates of Nursing School Receive Diplomas in BCI Ceremony, Hear Dr. E. McDowell, London, Ont.

By GLADYS WARD

Looking crisp and efficient in their starched uniforms, the members of the biggest graduating class in the history of the Belleville General Hospital School of Nursing, walked down the aisles of the Collegiate auditorium on Monday night to the strains of "Land of Hope and Glory," played by organist Alec Gordon. Each graduate nurse carried a sheaf of red roses to make a charming picture, and many camera flash pictures and movies were taken to record the event. The auditorium was crowded with relatives and well-wishers, including the student nurses to see the forty-two graduates of the class of '62 receive their diplomas.

Presiding at the exercises was chairman of the Hospital Board, J. N. Yanoven. The Rev. R. D. MacLean gave the invocation.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Yanover extended congratulations from the Board, voicing the hope that the graduates would go on in their career to render the service and care which their noble profession demanded.

Two choral numbers were given by the nurses' choir under the direction of Mrs. D. Reilly.

Mayor A. M. Haig brought greetings from the city of Belleville, stating that he was delighted to do so, as he had a close affinity to this particular class who were just starting on their training when he was a patient in the hospital. "The mayor paid a personal tribute for the care and treatment he had received. Nursing was one of God's noblest professions, and he hoped the class members would be spared a long time to devote their time, energies and talents to their vocation.

EXCITING ADVENTURE

Dr. F. R. Ross, president of the Medical Staff Association, told the graduates that after three years of hard and patient work, and many hours of study, they were now entering a new and exciting adventure in their lives. It might be frustrating at times but they had the satisfaction of knowing that it was the most honored and dedicated of professions. Dr. Ross advised the nurses to think of the basic problems and what they could do about them, to give active support to their own organizations to improve conditions, and to be the best nurses they possibly could.

Speaking for the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, president Mrs. M. F. L. Jones said that the Auxiliary was proud to be associated with the school of nursing. The future of Canada rested on dedicated lives, people who would lend a helping hand and a thoughtful ear. Mrs. Jones wished the graduates happy, useful and rewarding lives.

Miss D. H. Smith, director of nursing, spoke of the enjoyment of working with the class throughout its program, an association which had enriched all their lives. Nursing was a demanding profession, requiring the use of heart, hands, head and spirit. "We must see the vision beyond," Miss Smith told the class. "We must build the future in the spirit of building forever. I urge you to do your best to create and preserve the atmosphere of freedom, and you will need determination and strong courage."

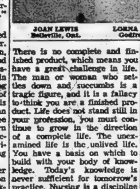
INTRODUCES SPEAKER

Warden E. Varty introduced the speaker for the evening, Dr. Edith M. McDowell, of London, Ont., who came from Ireland to Canada, earning an impressive list of honors here and in the United States, including Master of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. In May of this year Dr. McDowell received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Western Ontario in London, Ont., in recognition of her valuable contribution to the School of Nursing there.

Dr. McDowell expressed her delight in sharing this occasion of happiness and joy. The speaker had attended many graduations and noted that there was something special about graduates which "age cannot wither nor custom stale." Dr. McDowell wondered about graduation addresses and how much the listeners would recall. She had been startled to hear that the loss could be as high as 90 percent. But sometimes the speaker strikes the answering chord and the response may remain a long time.

"Our young graduates must be conscious of reaching this stage of their fulfillment in life. It wasn't easy, but you were never told it would be. You have had a rewarding experience. You have discovered what it means to be a member of a health team, you have made friendships, and established relations with patients. You are now striking a balance sheet of life. Your parents stood by you as you struggled in your growth.

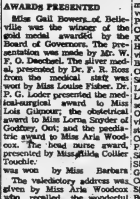
NOT FINISHED PRODUCT



"I would remind you that you are still incomplete as a human cell and as a professional cell. There is no complete and finished product, which means you have a great challenge in life. The man or woman who settles down and succumbs is a tragic figure, and it is a fallacy to think you are a finished product. Life does not stand still in your profession, you must continue to grow in the direction of a complete life. The unexamined life is the unlived life. You have a basis on which to build with your body of knowledge. Today's knowledge is never sufficient for tomorrow's practice. Nursing is a discipline and requires continual self-study.

"I would like to see examinations made compulsory every five years. The years go into wasted time when there is failure to contribute growth. The problem is one of motivation. When you entered training you said you wanted to help people. There are many ways of serving one's fellowmen. Your life is your outward expression of your inner conception of service to humanity, when you bring your tenderness and skills to needy people. This evening is your springboard into life.

"Technical competence and knowledge are not enough. Science was intended to serve, not dominate. Patients sometimes say they received better care from the student nurse than from the graduate. It is possible the student nurse has the sympathy and empathy to reach out to the patient? Even the most courageous patient has a sense of alienation when he enters the hospital and has need of the human touch. This is an integral and important part of nursing, reaching out beyond the technical skills.



"The cost of nursing education should not be a taxable item under a hospital plan. The money helping hands and understanding hearts along the way. The graduates became a part of all they had met in their experiences.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. T.I. — It looks as though I'll be keeping house for them forever.

Donald I. — Where else should unmarried children live than at home?

* * *

Mrs. T.I. — When is a parent's job over? My husband and I are close to 70 and I'm still keeping house for our three unmarried children, two sons and a daughter.

It looks as though this arrangement will go on indefinitely. Maybe it's because we give them such an easy, cushy home that they don't try to establish their own homes. After our two other children married, 10 years ago, my husband and I figured the others would go off in short order and we could sell the big place and move into a small apartment for ourselves. But nothing happened. And they won't hear of our selling the house.

How can we get a break? We'd like some freedom from responsibility, a chance to travel, an easier life. But our children won't budge.

* * *

Donald I. — What's wrong with an arrangement which keeps a family together under one roof? We're all living better than any of us could live alone, and there are no financial problems. My brother, sister and I have good jobs and we chip in when we can for food and laundry.

My parents wouldn't be happy in a small apartment. They enjoy the two porches here, the garden and the spaciousness of the rooms.

What's the alternative? For us each to take separate apartments? Why? We all get along fine together. We'd have to keep in touch with visits and phone calls. This way, Mother and Dad have no worries about us. They're up on all the news every day, and it's easy to keep track of each other.

Since it's unlikely that we'll marry, our best bet is to stay put. Surely Mother wouldn't turn us out, would she?

* * *

The Council: All the world's a stage, Donald, and we're all role-players. Shakespeare counsel never pays for us, at least.

And all your mother seems to be asking is the chance to move on from scene of the middle zone, where you and the others have her pinioned, to the later roles which are her due, in other words, she's up for retirement! How she spends this period should be optional, not compulsory.

We hear a great deal about possessive parents who won't let go of their grown children. Here for a change is an example of grown children who don't want to let go. Perhaps that's the point where parents should be clung to for room, board and incidental extras.

Skirting the issue of whether the brothers and sisters will ever marry and if not, why, we can discuss the merits of Mrs. T.I.'s role. She's a blessing of her housekeeping and homemaking duties. It seemed unethical enough for Mamma to keep on, all these years, with Business as Usual. That meant having a hot meal ready every evening, taking phone messages, having suits pressed, nursing colds and upset stomachs and the rest of the routine that spells Mamma from infancy on. But actually, Mamma's responsibility for active care of her young ended when they were 18 or maybe 21. Anything subsequent was "gravy."

Now let's establish the fact that Mrs. I. and her husband are entitled to open a new chapter in their lives. If they elect to stay on in the big house with their children, then a living arrangement should be worked out which relieves them of the mechanics of keeping house, which frees them from primary responsibility. This means that Donald and the others will have to plan their own menus, pick up their own shoes, possibly chip in for housekeeper, Mother and Dad are to be cared for and pampered by the kids, not vice versa any longer!

If Mrs. I.'s rut isn't erased in this way, then her alternative is to sell the house and move. How about selling it to the children since they like it so much?

Woman's Pipes Become Hot Item in B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — Pipes for women have become a hot item in Victoria. Dealers report sellouts of lightweight briars available for the ladies.

The proprietor of a tobacco shop offered an explanation:

"We've sold an enormous number of pipes for women recently and I guess it must have been the cancer scare. There was a fad for women's pipes a few years ago, too, but it faded out after a while."

Manufacturers made them with a fancy paint and rhinestones on them. When the craze died out we were left with a lot of them on our hands."

A spokesman for one of the city's largest tobacco shops said it has sold out one line of lightweight pipes. Some prefer the regular pipes.

"A lady came in the other day and bought a big briar, then wanted some tobacco for it. 'What kind does he smoke?' she asked her. 'This is for me,' she said. 'I smoke it around the house when I'm sewing.'"

Cookie Bakeoff In The Moore Kitchen

by Mary Moore

The outcome of a conference of our summer program turned out to be a cookie bakeoff, which grew into a cookie "jubilee" convention.

The refrigerator was full of assorted cookies, ready for dough! The three cookie sheets were waiting to go into the oven. The cookies in the oven were being watched like a cat watches a mouse hole — and hovering over the baked cookies was wee Davy. He was surprised because he was allowed to taste so many cookies. He didn't ask any questions — he just ate while permission lasted.

Running him a close second was my sister who enjoyed them while she judged.

To date I have made six kinds of cookies to give you here — one per week — but as I make more I will add them to this series.

This all started because so many brides' showers and parties are afoot. But there are plenty of duty cookies for mothers who have school children coming in around 4:00 p.m. For instance, I have taken Roddy's Favorite Cookies (an old favorite on this page) and changed it a little to a sausage after school hunger pangs.

But my greatest satisfaction came from the following delectable little sandwich cookies — though I have been trying to achieve for years — and now I've got it.

EILEEN'S SANDWICH COOKIES.

Dainty — for tea parties. These amounts make 36 1¼" cookies or as sandwich cookies when put together with lemon icing.

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup unsifted icing sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 cup soft shortening (½ butter).

Cream the shortening with the icing sugar until creamy and blended then add the vanilla and milk and blend. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and stir in until dough is evenly mixed. Chill this dough to make it manageable. Remember these things handled. If this dough is "hot cold it cracks at the edges, when rolled out. Use shortbread. However this is a good fault, because you can coax cracked edges to form a smooth shape with your palms. Because it is cold it cuts out very easily and handles easily from board to cookie sheet. If it is too warm it softens and sticks to board and cookie cutter and rolling pin.

* * *

TUESDAY

Chicken Liver Omelette with Mushroom Sauce; Baked Jacket Potatoes; Frenched Green Beans; Caesar Salad; Old-Fashioned Rhubarb Pie with heavy pouring cream (optional); Tea.

* * *

Roll quarter of dough out at a time on lightly floured board to ⅛" thickness. Cut out with 1¾" fluted cutter (or larger cutter if there are no for a party) and bake on buttered baking sheet at 350 deg. F. for. They require about 5 minutes if they are little thinner than ⅛"; 6 minutes if ¼" thick. Do not brown at all. Cool on rack. Put together with Lemon Icing: One and one-half cups unsifted icing sugar, 3 tablespoons soft butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and a good shake of salt. Mix together until smooth, sufficient to put between 40 little sandwich cookies. You will be delighted by every cook who tastes these. Or, so be generous and mix recipe to those who ask for it or don't ask for it here. I will not get a medal for modesty today.

Next Tuesday see my recipe for Pineapple Bar Cookies.

MAIL CALL

Question: I'm to be a June bride, your clergyman who is to perform the ceremony has been a close family friend for years. Would it be permissible to invite him to stand in the receiving line and meet all our friends? I'm not sure if this is customary. Miss A.L., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: Since he is a close friend, your clergyman may be asked to take part in the receiving line. If he accepts, he would take the position between you and your father.

Question: I'm to become engaged next month, and my fiance-to-be has selected a lovely diamond ring, which he showed me for my approval. I suggested he have our initials engraved inside. The idea had occured to him, too, but the jeweler told him this was not done. Is this correct? — L.C.A., New York City.

Answer: The wedding ring may be engraved on the inside with initials, date or anything else that is appropriately symbolic. The engagement ring is not, and the jeweler was correct in advising against it.

Evening Group UCW Plans Future Events

The Evening Group of the United Church Women of Carleton Baptist Church held their monthly meeting in the Sunday School rooms last evening.

The meeting opened and Doris Pound, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Gladys Preston read the treasurer's report and gave the list of paid-up members. Roll call was taken and those in charge of the next meeting were notified.

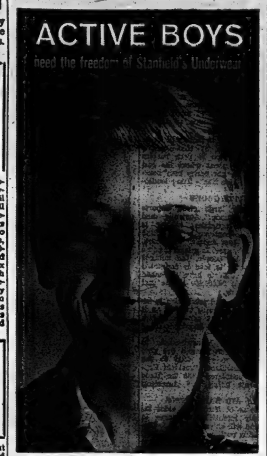
Vera Mitchell, president, invited the members in her home for the June meeting. It was decided not to hold a meeting in August.

The Afternoon Group asked members to bring any large boxes they might have to pack a bale. The members were also reminded of the open meeting on June 6th.

It was moved by Dorothy Dawson and seconded by Myrna Millan that a travelling bale basket be tried. It was moved by Margaret Storey and seconded by Mildred McPherson that $30 be sent to missionary and maintenance allocation. Some of the members retired to help pack the bale on Wednesday. Doris Ellsworth began a pantry shelf with two donations, which were quickly purchased.

The worship service was in charge of Phyllis Parks, Helen Holgate, Ruth MacDonald and Vera Mitchell, who chose the theme, "The Church In Our Community."

Doreen Reynolds gave a demonstration in cake decorating which was much enjoyed and appreciated.



Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

"AT HOME"

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hobbler, Frankford R.R.-1, will be "At Home" to their relatives, friends and neighbors on Sunday, June 10th, from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Cross-Canada Survey

30 Million Americans Will Visit Canada This Year To Spend $430,000,000

By ALEX MORIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Responding to quaint travel-poster lures such as The Fair-est Land 'Tis Possible to See and A Friendly Foreign Country, some 30,000,000 Americans will advance on Canada this year.

Prodded by the highly publicized scenic attractions north of their border, these tourists are expected to spend more than $430,000,000.

Last year, publicity beamed at the world tourist market cost the federal and provincial governments and transportation companies $7,300,000. The investment reaped $429,000,000 from the U.S. alone.

Other foreign tourists added $44,000,000 to make it a record year in spite of unfavorable weather.

A Cross - Canad Survey by The Canadian Press shows that all signs point to an even better year in 1962.

Pegging of the dollar at 92½ cents in terms of U.S. currency is one indicator. Every American dollar spent in Canada will be worth $1.08 Canadian.

MORE STAY HOME

"I say sure, more United States visitors will be encouraged to come here . . . and will spend more money," said Alan Field, director of the Canadian government travel bureau. "It also means, I think, that more Canadians will be encouraged to travel inside their own country."

Last year Canadian tourists spent $453,000,000 in the U.S. and $180,000,000 in other countries, a total of $633,000,000. The imbalance of $180,000,000 between what visitors spent here and what Canadians spent in other countries could disappear with the dollar devaluation.

For the first time the industry is eyeing seriously the European tourist. While Europeans annually spend an estimated $3,000,000,000 on travel, they have never left more than $50,000,000 in Canada.

Speaking to a convention of tourist promoters in Ottawa last fall, Resources Minister Diefaker said it is "surely within our power to raise our overseas travel income to the $100,000,000 mark or beyond."

To that end the government travel bureau has established its first overseas office in London.

MORE ACCOMMODATION

Not all tourist directors approve of the heavy emphasis on attracting foreign visitors. Dan Campbell, Alberta Travel Bureau director, says: "We consider Canadian tourists just as important as Americans. . . . The Canadians who spend their money in this province don't spend it in the United States."

Tourist facilities are in a better position to handle a record number of visitors. Last year 8,261 rooms were added, bringing the total to 209,308.

The official opening of the Trans-Canada Highway in September will probably attract some tourists, particularly in British Columbia where ceremonies will be held. The Seattle World's Fair also is expected to boost tourist traffic in some provinces.

The picture by provinces:

NEWFOUNDLAND: Tourist trade last year was worth $16,000,000, up $1,000,000. Tourist director O. L. Vardy said a healthy increase was reflected in the fact the CNR carried 65,000 passengers by ferry across Cabot Strait, a rise of 5,500.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND: A total of 231,000 tourists—40 per cent from the U.S., 60 per cent from other parts of Canada—spent $8,325,000 in 1961. The growing popularity of camping that worried resort operators was balanced by the over-all increase in tourists. Inquiries for 1962 are up 40 per cent. Those arriving at Borden by ferry will be met by pipers. Other attractions are a school of Highland dancing and piping at Cavendish and a fisheries exhibition at Souris.

NOVA SCOTIA: An estimated 125,000 Americans spent $24,496,000 in 1961 and 450,000 Canadian visitors spent $30,-800,000. Travel bureau director Gerald Redmond says "1962 may well be the best year in Nova Scotia's tourist history."

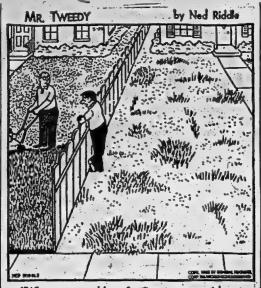
NEW BRUNSWICK: Travel has a record last year with 62 per cent of the 1,630,000 tourists coming from the U.S. Increased interest was shown in historical sites and extensive use was made of campsites.

QUEBEC: A tourist industry spokesman estimated the Quebec population was matched by 3,000,000 tourists, including those who came by 953,000 autos entering from the U.S. Religious shrines such as St. Joseph's in Montreal and Ste. Anne de Beaupre northeast of Quebec City are major attractions.

ONTARIO: The lion's share of the tourist handout goes to Ontario where some 20,000,000 Americans cross the border annually and spend about $300,-000,000. Officials expect a five-per-cent rise in the number of visitors and the amount they will spend.

MANITOBA: Last year 776,-000 Americans and 500,000 Canadians visited the province, about 96 per cent travelling by car. They spent $37,183,000 and authorities predict a 10-per-cent increase this year.

SASKATCHEWAN: The 175,-000 Americans and 400,000 Canadians from other provinces in 1961 represented an eight-per-cent increase. The Saskatchewan travel bureau has set itself an objective of 200,000 Americans and 500,000 Canadians for 1962.



ALBERTA: The travel bureau reports that of the nearly 3,000,000 who arrived by car, national parks in the province last year, more than two-thirds were Canadians who spent an average of $150 compared with $250 for Americans. Sixty per cent of mail inquiries, which are running far ahead of 1961, are from persons who will be on their way to Seattle.

BRITISH COLUMBIA: Travel bureau director R. L. Colby describes 1961 as a year of records, with 1,763,000 American and 632,000 Canadian tourists representing a 14.5-per-cent increase. The Americans spent $70,000,000 and Canadians $25,000,000. Mr. Colby says he expects the World's Fair and nearby-Seattle to mean an extra 1,000,000 visitors to B.C. this year.

U.S. Shedding Crocodile Tears for Red China Hunger

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Some crocodile tears are being shed by the United States government for the hungry people of Red China.

While U.S. authorities publicly say they wouldn't like to see the Chinese starve, there's a widespread private hope in the administration that the food and economic shortages on the mainland will become worse.

The reasoning goes like this: The greater the suffering of the masses the greater the possibility of an internal uprising to crush the Communist regime which has caused the U.S. and the West so much anguish in the Far East.

On this basis there will be no sudden rush by the Kennedy administration to pour surplus food into areas where the easing of hunger pangs may benefit the Mao Tse - Tung leadership.

PROBLEM GROWS

Despite large grain imports from Canada, Australia and other countries, hunger is likely to continue in Red China for at least another two years, maybe longer. In a land of some 700,000,000 people, the number of mouths to feed is estimated by the U.S. to have increased by about 20,000,000 in the last three years.

Chinese food production is reported no greater today than it was five years ago—and there was grumbling about shortages then.

Numerous humanitarians in the U.S. have urged the government to rush food to the China mainland. President Kennedy countered that the Reds haven't asked for American help.

WILL AID BARGAINING

Some of Kennedy's aides indicate intensified shortages in China will enhance the U.S. bargaining position in the Far East. The U.S. may be able to use food to free American prisoners known to be held on the mainland and may even be able to exact an agreement from the Reds to reduce tensions in that turbulent area.

Among hardened experts the anguish fell over Red China is not so much that millions may be going without food — though they lament that—but that some countries, Canada included, may be delaying the demise of the Mao regime by willingly selling grain to the Chinese.

One of the world's largest irrigation projects, that on South Africa's Orange River will cost $630,000,000, take 30 years to complete.

Newly Wed Asks for Help

BORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—When inviting someone over for dinner, and the person you are inviting says, "Don't go to any bother!" What should your reply be?—NEWLY WED.

DEAR NEWLYWED — I have several answers to this one, depending on who makes the remark. One is, "Okay I'll just boil up an old shoe and we can chew on that." Another is, "No, of course not. We always have nothing but the best."

However, in case such things are going to be misunderstood, the most flattering reply might be, "Thanks, but I do like to go to a little extra fuss when you come over. I really enjoy getting it ready."

* * *

DEAR DORIS—We have been married for a decade and have two very small children. During this time I have been out very little, (have not been to a show for two years).

When my husband has been out drinking with the boys he always says he is going to leave me and that he is going to take the children with him.

Please tell me if he can do this, as I have never neglected him nor the children.—LOVE MY CHILDREN.

DEAR "LOVE"—No judge in the country is going to turn over children to a drinking father just because he asks for them. If he takes them without asking, you can have the law on him.

Have you any idea just what is wrong with your marriage? Have you been at fault in any way? Do you nag or criticize his drinking? Do you and your husband have any interests in common.

Talking things over with a social worker might be the beginning of better things for you. Why not try it in Belleville I would refer you to the Children's Aid Society, 63 West Moira Street.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am 38 years of age and single. I do own a farm. I never had time to go to dances and I cannot dance myself.

For one thing I am religious. I also look after my widowed mother. She is 73 years of age.

So now I come to think: If my mother passes away, what will I do myself on the farm? At present there is no girls around here of my age. Only teen-agers. All they care about is twist dances.

Nowadays it's hard to find a quiet, religious farm girl. They all seem to run away to the city and I am getting older. It looks to me, if I get old and forgotten, I will have to land in the old folks home.—MIKE.

DEAR MIKE—Nothing short of a revolution will do. You're going to have to start acting like a person instead of a bug under a board—a pretty critical bug, I might say.

Living means liking and loving—and what sort of religion bans sociability? By the way, do you want a wife or a housekeeper?

You don't belong in an old folks' home yet—unless you deliberately turn your back on the lifetime which is ahead of you.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—A few months ago a girl friend (so I thought) caused me to quit my job that I had six years before she started working at the same place. She needed and instigated against the unfairness of the employer's attitude toward me until I felt quite sorry for myself. She turned me against my very good friend at work with her malicious gossip.

What should I do and how? I can go back but I do not want to be a tattle-tale, or I could take a job paying less money but with a much higher position, since it is a small office.

If I go back we have to work in the same unit and that is what worries me. Can I take it? How could I get her to stop grumbling? Believe it or not I've even tried ear plugs.

Incidentally, if I don't go back, she automatically steps into my place and gets a raise. The boss doesn't know I intended to quit since I've had a nervous stomach since I left and stayed at home. Now I have to go to work and I don't want to make a mistake.—UPSET GAL.

DEAR UPSET GAL—It is always tough when a "friend" lets us down. Let's hope you now realize just how easily led you are. This is the first step to learning to stick by your guns.

What happens next? You may go back to your old job. If you do, you'll be working with a person you know is a grumbler; one who may upset you again. Or you may take the other job in a smaller office with a smaller pay-cheque, but with higher prestige.

If you return to the first job, you know what you are in for and perhaps you could fortify yourself. But we all have limits. Nervous systems sometimes need pampering.

Consider just what the work is in both these positions. Is one more attractive to you than the other, is it more suited to your ability? If both are equally enjoyable, then decide whether the difference in pay is serious. In the new job, can you hope for increases later?

Perhaps the new job really offers more and threatens less. But it's your decision.

* * *

TO DIANA—You have been blessed with far too good an intelligence to quit school yet. I sympathize with your eagerness to get into useful work.

Use that superior intelligence to realize that the time will fly if you devote yourself to the subjects you enjoy. You are at scholarship level. Work at it and you can get help with university.

Without it you will not realize your ambition. With it, the sky is the limit, for you.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO MISS E. G.:—Your friend knows you have both changed and will change more. Apparently the attraction between you is not strong enough to weather long absences.

Take off the blinders and see how really fine that "other male company" is. Later you'll be kicking yourself all over the lot for missing the sterling qualities in some boy you knew all along.

Give a party, have a picnic, pick yourself up by your own shoelaces and accept the past for what it is—the Past!

* * *

(If things are going wrong, do something about it. A letter to Doris will get you some ideas about what will work. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Chances Are You'd Never Know That

OTTAWA (CP)—Unless you had more than a passing interest in Mayors, chances are you'd never know that:

In 1960 there was a Canadian groom over 80 with a bride under 16.

Nobody died of yellow fever in Canada that year.

Of the 261 women who committed suicide, 174 were married.

The 1956 report of vital statistics by the bureau of statistics has all sorts of nuggets of knowledge you've not got to overhear at a hockey game.

Where else, for instance, could you learn that the mother in the 30-34 age group gave birth to her 19th child, and another in the 25 - 29 group gave birth to her 16th.

The Yukon has never had a divorce. The Northwest Territories increased its divorces by 200 per cent—to three.

Four Canadian mothers were only 12 years old. Sixteen of them were 50 and over.

Four Canadian babies weighed more than 14 pounds, five ounces.

The married women with the highest birth rate were those 24 years old, in the unmarried class, they were 19.

The religious denomination with the fewest weddings was the Spiritualist Church—with eight. The Roman Catholic Church had the most—40,724.

While the Yukon was alone in its class the lack of divorces, it also headed the field in the list of oldest brides. Up there, the average age was 26.8. The youngest were in Newfoundland at 22.8.

But these statistics don't seem to mean much when it comes to divorces. The Newfoundland rate of 1.3 per 100,000 population was second only to the Yukon's zero. British Columbia, in a class by itself, had a divorce rate of 93.1 per 100,000.

If there is one clear characteristic in this great volume of digits, it's the conformity of the residents of the Northwest Territories.

They also didn't marry in the socially-popular months.

While July was the most popular for weddings in Canada as a whole, the Northwest Territories favored April. There were 24 weddings in July compared with 9,580 in April.

Nasser Refuses Life Term As President

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (Reuters)— The National Congress of Popular Forces twice during the weekend heard President Nasser reject suggestions that he remain in office for life.

Delegates shouting "Nasser for life" were told by the president Sunday that "we should not be swayed by emotions or sentiments".

"We now are building a new society which must be founded on sound basis", he said. "I want this nation to be in a position to isolate the president if he goes off his path".

On Saturday the 1,750-member Congress, meeting to discuss Nasser's national charter, also heard the president reject suggestions that he stay in power for life.

Canadian Cameramen Got First Pictures of Landings In France Back to London

Canadian Press writer Alan Deckett was chief Canadian Army press correspondent in Northwest Europe after landing in Normandy on D-Day. In this story he recalls the role of Canadian service photographers in making the landing.

By ALAN DUCKETT

MONTREAL (CP)—The cameraman's by entry said simply: "My camera got soaked when a writer and five men blew up beside me. I hope this film is okay."

This was D-Day 18 years ago, June 6, the dull, grey morning when Allied forces landed on the Normandy coast of France. The 3rd Canadian Infantry Division was hitting the coast, mostly from landing craft manned by the Royal Canadian Navy.

It was to be a big day for Sgt. Bill Grant of Vancouver and Capt. Frank Dubervill of Ottawa. They were aboard an assault craft carrying a self-propelled Royal Canadian Artillery 25-pounder.

Sgt. Grant's first log entry showed the start of firing by the self-propelled guns, the first sight of the coast, rocket ships and their wheeled-in sites, and each ship's 60 rockets were launched against the enemy.

For the Canadian Army Film and Photo unit, the day was to go down as another beat in getting pictures back for transmission from London.

TWO DAYS AHEAD

Sgt. Grant's motion pictures and Capt. Dubervill's still photos were the first out of Normandy, in fact, Sgt. Grant had a clear two-day beat on the BBC and U.S. cameramen.

Much of Sgt. Grant's film and other Canadian D-Day coverage is included in the May 30 episode of the National Film Board's Canada at War series on CBC television.

Grant and Dubervill landed near Bernieres-sur-Mer with the 8th Infantry Brigade, made up of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto; the North Shore (New Brunswick) Regiment; Quebec's Le Regiment de la Chaudiere, with tank support from the Fort Garry Horse, a Manitoba unit.

Sgt. Bud Ross of Orillia, Ont., and Lieut. Don Grant of Windsor, Ont., landed with the 7th Brigade at Courseulles-sur-Mer. The brigade was made up of the Regina Rifles, Royal Winnipeg Rifles and Canadian Scottish Regiment, a west coast unit. Armor support came from the First Hussars of London, Ont.

Capt. Colin McDougall of Ottawa and Lieut. Ken Bell of Toronto landed with the 9th Infantry Brigade, a mopping-up force that hit the beaches about two hours after the 7th and 8th. The 9th consisted of the North Nova Scotia Highlanders; Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, an Eastern Ontario unit, and Highland Light Infantry of Galt, Ont. Tanks with the brigade were from the Sherbrooke Fusiliers, a Quebec unit.

When it came to scoops, D-Day — just one of a number the film and photo unit achieved during Second World War operations — it had got out the first still and motion pictures of landings in Sicily, in Italy in 1943.

The pre-dawn parachute landings on both flanks of the later Allied Normandy landings also gave the Canadians a still picture beat.

Sgt. Dave Reynolds of Toronto landed with the 1st Canadian Parachute battalion at the mouth of the River Orne. He lost his motion picture camera in the landing but got the first still pictures back to London.

It wasn't luck that gave the Canadians a beat on the more elaborately equipped British and United States photographic units.

A lot of planning went into it long before D-day, so that the films and news dispatches would be relayed back to the United Kingdom with the utmost speed. From the U.K. the pictures were radioed or flown back to Canada and the U.S.

PR MEN ON WATCH

Army public relations personnel were stationed at every embarkation port in England and it was their job to make everyone so aware of their presence that no unauthorized person would take film and news stories, they would hear of it. They were then responsible for onward transmission to London.

Good fortune was on the army's side because many of the assault craft carrying the 3rd Division set sail from one of the Royal Canadian Navy. First films and stories went back by fast motor torpedo boat.

There was controversy at the time in Canada, about the still pictures and recently in the U.S., motion picture producer Darryl F. Zanuck said D-Day film existed anywhere.

D-DAY RECOLLECTIONS — Sgt. Bill Grant, now a photographic equipment salesman in Vancouver, looks over some still photographs taken on D-Day. He got the first motion picture film of the invasion out of France, a 48-hour beat on United States and British camera-men. (CP Photo from NFB.)

Proof that Canadian cameramen actually got film on D-Day — if any such proof is required — can be seen in some sequences of the NFB D-Day history.

SHOW RARE BEACH

One brief sequence shows the prow of a landing craft approaching the beach at Bernieres-sur-Mer. When the ramp is lowered, the beach, easily recognizable because of landmarks, is absolutely bare of human. German obstacles can be seen clearly.

These obstacles were removed a few hours after the initial landing. The film shows the moment of assault of troops of the 7th Brigade. Once they had landed, the beaches never were bare until the capture of Cherbourg and Le Havre several weeks later.

Those who landed on D-Day will recognize the incidents shown in the NFB series as having taken place then.

Still photographs were transmitted from London to Washington over U.S. Navy radio facilities. They appeared in Canadian newspapers with U.S. Navy credit and caused questions to be asked in the House of Commons.

It wasn't long before the situation was corrected and the credit went to the Canadians.

Five Are Killed As Man Goes on Shooting Spree

MARTENSBURG, Iowa (AP) A young man slipped away from a dance Saturday night, ambushed his aunt and uncle in their lonely farm house, then drove four cousins home from the dance and killed three of them, Sheriff John Wallerich said Sunday.

The only survivors of the shotgun and rifle shooting spree on the Andy McBeth farm were a 15-year-old girl who eluded the killer in the darkness after being wounded in the shoulder, and a six-month-old boy who was found unharmed in his crib.

An alert was sent out for Gayno Gilbert Smith, 24, wanted on a warrant charging him with murder.

Killed were McBeth, about 50; his wife, Dora, about 40; their son and daughter, twins Annos and Anna, 20; and Donna Kellogg, 17, divorced mother of the baby.

The search for Smith was started when another daughter, Patty, 15, stumbled into a neighbor's farm home and said "Gayno shot us."

Patty was sent to hospital.

Wallerich said she was unable to give any reason for the shootings.

"He just started shooting," Patty told the sheriff.

Throughout the school year, student Radio Clubs at Belleville's four high schools present a regular series of radio programs on CJBQ. Agriculture Dept. Denies It Gave Favored Treatment To Financier Facing Fraud

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States agriculture department denied Monday that it gave favored treatment to Billie Sol Estes, Texas farmer - financier now under federal indictment, and claimed his grain - storage operations first flourished under the former administration of President Eisenhower.

These were highlights of early testimony as the first public congressional hearings began into the operations of the now-bankrupt former millionaire.

The House of Representatives government operations subcommittee was told that in May, 1960, a Dallas official of the agriculture department questioned Estes' financial empire and asked his superiors whether a "hands-off" policy on bond requirements should be continued.

In a letter to his Washington superiors, the Dallas official, C. H. Moseley, cited a Dun and Bradstreet report on Estes' operations that showed them to be "exceedingly complex" and involving large-scale indebtedness on the part of Estes.

Representative Ross Bass (Dem., Tenn.) asked Mosely if he was trying in the letter "to tell officials in Washington that there was a rotten apple in the barrel?"

Mosely replied "the only thing wrong that I saw was that there should be a higher bond because of his rapid growth and the size of his operation."

Actually, Estes' bond requirement for storing government-owned surplus grain in his warehouses was increased later that year to more than $500,000.

Chairman L. H. Fountain read a reply to Mosely from his Washington higher-up, Ronald Ballou, which cited several department reports on Estes and munist Chinese response.

said consideration would be given to raising the bond. It was dated June 1960.

In his conflicted with Ballou's own testimony that he first heard the name of Billie Sol Estes, in September, 1961, and then heard nothing beyond rumors in the trade until March 28, 1962, the day before Estes was arrested by FBI agents on fraud charges.

Estes, 37, built a huge financial empire on cut-rate sales of liquid fertilizer, government grain storage payments, cotton allotments and mortgages on allegedly non - existent fertilizer tanks.

How Estes got contracts to store grain for the government which earned him payments totalling millions of dollars—is to be explored in a Senate investigation expected to start in June.

Women's Wear Workers Want 35-Hour Week

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP) The issue of a 35-hour week will be introduced into contract negotiations in Canada soon by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (CLC), it was announced Monday.

Bernard Shane, Canadian vice-president of the union, said it will insist on a 35-hour week without loss of pay during negotiations to be begun in the near future with the women's cloak and suit industry in Toronto and Montreal.

Shane made the statement during a speech to a dinner tendered by the Canadian delegation at the annual convention of the Garment Workers Union here. A number of employer representatives from Canada also are in attendance.

Cloak and suit workers in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg at present work a 37½-hour week.

Contracts in Toronto and Montreal expire July 31, Locals in those two cities include about 4,000 cloak and suit workers. The remainder of the union's 18,000 Canadian membership work a 39-hour week.

Seagram-Tower Soon to Open For Visitors

NIAGARA FALLS — North America's newest major tourist attraction— the Seagram Tower overlooking Niagara Falls— will open its doors Wednesday to the first of an expected one million visitors per year.

Rising 325 feet above the Niagara Gorge, the tower has been planned to provide sightseers with a new dimension to one of the seven natural wonders of the world. In addition to its birds-eye view of the Falls, the tower's panoramic scenes span the square miles on a clear day.

Charles Seagram, president of Niagara Tower Co. Ltd. said the Seagram Tower had been developed in line with a plan to make it one of the most unique tourist attractions in the world.

"Visitors for the first time will be able to see in the Canadian and American Falls, the complete falls of the Niagara Gorge with the Upper and Lower Rapids and the Whirlpool Rapids. They also will be able to gaze as far as the cities of Toronto and Buffalo".

Kill Woman In Ambulance

ALGIERS (AP) — European partisans halted an ambulance in the heart of the city today and killed a Moslem woman wounded in an earlier terrorist attack.

This was the third time in recent days that European terrorists killed wounded persons en route to hospitals.

Elsewhere in the city, three Moslems were slain and two were wounded by bullets of terrorists commando of the Secret Army.

A European policeman was kidnapped by three Moslems in a car, presumably in retaliation for Secret Army attacks.

Miss C. Payette Winner Of West Indies Vacation

A twenty-year-old bowler of this city will enjoy an all-expense paid two-weeks vacation in the West Indies this summer.

Miss Carolyn Payette, 45 Highland Avenue, was one of the winners of the Players' Bowling Festival held at Scarborough on Saturday.

Her prize is the vacation in the Caribbean for two. Miss Payette said this morning she will invite a "girl friend" to enjoy the holiday with her. She is an employee of the Public Utilities Commission.

The tournament was a national affair. Fifty winners came from Eastern Canada. Twenty-five from the west.

Under a unique system, the event pitted each bowler against his or her own previous bowling average to give all contestants equal opportunity.

All the winners were average bowlers, not tournament keglers, and it was the first major bowling prize they won.

During the weekend some 750 finalists competed at rolloffs at 31 centres across Canada. All were attempting to beat averages they established in qualifying rounds.

Miss Payette is not what is called a "steady bowler." This year was her first in league competition.

She was one of four Belleville lady bowlers to qualify for the final roll-offs. The others were the Misses Rosemarie Hovings, Elaine Foley and Barbara Pearson.

Miss Pearson deserved a better fate. Had she not rolled such a high average in the qualifying round her performance in Scarborough probably would have returned her a winner.

Drugs Must Be Properly Used Commission Told

TORONTO (CP)—Every one of the police and drug constantly coming on the market is capable of doing harm if improperly used, the royal commission on health services was told Monday.

Dr. R. F. Farquharson, chairman of Canada's Medical Research Council, said it would be a mistake to make drugs freely available to all who wish to use them. He evidently had in mind the possibility of a government supported health services program.

Dr. Farquharson and Dr. K. J. R. Wigliman, professor of medicine at the University of Toronto and chief surgeon at Toronto General Hospital, were specially invited to appear before the commission to discuss drugs.

Both warned that the increasing abundance of drugs carries with it potential dangers as well as benefit.

MAY NOT UNDERSTAND

Dr. Farquharson said even doctors generally don't understand a particular drug until they have had long experience with it.

Dr. Farquharson said Canadians are consuming far too many sedatives for their own good. Frequently a person will go from one doctor to another collecting prescriptions for sedatives.

Dr. Wigliman told the commission many medicines prescribed by physicians are prescribed because he "hasn't anything better to offer."

Both he and Dr. Farquharson made the point that up to 30 per cent of patients may be improved by taking medicines which, medically speaking, may have little to recommend them. Main factor in these cases was psychological.

Dr. Farquharson, answering

CNR Coastal Steamer Makes Port Safely

LEWISPORTE, Nfld. (CP)— The CNR coastal steamer Hopedale reached here safely Monday after it was pierced by ice in Notre Dame Bay while on a mercy trip to Twillingate island.

The 1,000-ton vessel was on her way from Botwood to Twillingate with an emergency hospital case Monday when ice pierced her hull below the waterline on the starboard side.

Capt. Wilfred Morgan ordered the five passengers and 23 crew members over the side in lifeboats as water rushed into the ship's hold. It filled in 10 minutes, and the ship's bow settled down, heaving her rudder and two propellers out of the water.

The lifeboats — with the unusually ill man on a stretcher in command in the water, reached the vessel for about 90 minutes while the Hopedale settled back on a more even keel and Capt. Morgan decided it was safe to go aboard.

About dawn Monday the transport department icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert reached the scene, and cleared a path through the ice.

The Hopedale followed the Gilbert into port here under her own power. There was no estimate of the damage to the ship.

Commissioner Dr. Arthur Van Wart, said "detail men" sent out by drug manufacturers to push their products often fail to tell doctors about their potential harmful effects.

Yoga Student Figures in Abortion Case

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Doreen Palleske, 30, testified Monday she became pregnant during yoga lessons which she was taking to learn to "overcome the emotions of life."

The mother of three was giving evidence at the trial of yoga student Heinz Benecken, 37, charged with attempting to procure an abortion.

Mrs. Palleske testified she began taking lessons from David Kuhn, alias Dharmey, alias Karne, alias Swami Divanzia.

In January, 1961, she started "private meditations" with Kuhn, she said. They were to "teach me to reach divine love and reach divine mother, overcome the emotions of life and achieve a spiritual relationship with Om or God."

When she told Kuhn in March that she was pregnant, she said, he told her "it was impossible because it was not God's will" and suggested she have an operation.

Mrs. Palleske said the swami arranged for Benecken, a chef, to perform the operation. She said she had two such operations—one in May and the other in June, but continued to see Kuhn until July because, she said, she was still infatuated with him.

The trial continues.

CUBANS DEFECT

Asp Finally Catches Up With Liz

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor was bitten on the breast by an asp Monday in her death scene as Cleopatra, and the long-awaited stockholders of 20th Century-Fox couldn't be happier.

With the completion of their star's last big scene, the stockholders had won at least the first half of a great gamble.

An unprecedented $30,000,000 had been poured into the lavish-from bet that the movie Cleopatra could ever be completed after two postponements had driven trips to hospitals by its star actress.

The second half of the gamble is whether the costliest movie ever made can earn the $50,000,000 needed to put 20th Century's badly shaken financial structure back on solid ground.

Miss Taylor will remain in Rome several weeks. She appears in some other minor scenes yet to be filmed. But her appearance in them is not essential to the movie.

The Pioneers Club at BCI Looking for Money to Post 1,000 Books for E. Africa

The Pioneers Club, a non-sectarian religious discussion group at BCIVS are looking for about $80 in postage stamps. That's what they figure it will cost to mail the 1,000 books they have collected to Makerere University College in Kampala, Uganda, East Africa.

It's not a problem often faced by clubs in Ontario secondary schools, but the Pioneers got themselves into it when they began collecting the books more than a month ago when they heard that Dr. D. L. Mitchell, formerly of Peterborough now a teacher at the college, needed them.

Some of the books are going to Northern Rhodesia too, to Rev. Ewan Steele in Mpareshoo. Glenn Shaver, a physics teacher at BCIVS, met Rev. Steele in Paris, Ont., last year, when the African was in Canada on a good will tour.

Most of the books collected were donated by the student body with members collecting from the 20 members of the Pioneers. Some were donated by the school's book room, run by the Girls' Hi Y, and more were purchased at Schwab's Office Supplies, according to Mr. Shaver.

Donations noted that $80 postage bill have come from the Key Club and are still coming from the student body. But even when the immediate objective is reached, the need will continue, and the Pioneers plan to continue their program through next year. For the time being they've got their work cut out in just packing and mailing the books they've got. That, and finding the postage.

Rampaging Pian Tribesmen Kill 107 in Raid

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters) — Rampaging Pian tribesmen murdered 107 men, stripped and children of the neighboring Suk tribe in northeast Uganda last week, Internal Affairs Minister William Nadiope told parliament Monday.

But Nadiope said the rampage was from a retaliatory raid after the Suks killed 22 Pians in an earlier attack.

He said 40 of the Pian warriors were killed in a four-hour battle with 76 men of the Uganda Battalion of the King's African Rifles, who were attacked by the Pians as they returned from the massacre of the Suks.

Nadiope said the government troops fired at the spear-wielding Pians from ranges of five to 25 yards and this accounted for the heavy casualties.

Nadiope said the government was preparing a document on pacifying the area. Police and military patrols have been reinforced there to keep order.

Govt. Has Lost Confidence Of the People

— St. Laurent

QUEBEC (CP) — Former prime minister Louis St. Laurent said the Progressive Conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has lost the confidence of the Canadian people.

Mr. St. Laurent, 80, was addressing a rally of some 300 persons in support of Maurice Lamontagne, Liberal candidate in Quebec East—the former prime minister's old constituency.

Some of the problems that have cropped up since he retired from public life four years ago would have occurred anyway, he said, even under a Liberal administration.

However, there would not have been so many problems if the Liberals had stayed in office and they would not have been tackled in the same way.

Mr. St. Laurent said the important thing for any government is the confidence of the people—and the people had lost confidence in the federal government since 1957.

Mr. Lamontagne said he regards the current federal election campaign as a struggle between the two major political parties—the Liberals and the Conservatives—with the Liberals out in front.

The economic adviser to Liberal Leader Lester Pearson attacked Prime Minister Diefenbaker as a man confused in his ideas, incompetent in his administration and timid in his action.

The Liberal party had studied Canada's problems and drawn up a manifesto to place before the people, the only such action by any federal party.

This included the part of the other parties, Mr. Lamontagne said, is the result of a lack of ideas.

The Liberal candidate said the purging of the Canadian dollar would result in a decline of foreign investment in Canada and an increase in the price of imported goods.

He forecast an increase in the cost of living and in the cost of production.

Children Blamed

TORONTO (CP) — Two five-year-old boys playing with candles were blamed Monday for a fire which caused $14,000 damage to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

Rev. Joseph Driscoll reported that the boys lit tapers from altar candles and set fire to drapes at the front of the church.

Children under seven cannot be charged under the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

"PAINT UP," the sign says, but the old paint has got to come off first. Murray Naus has a reminder from the Chamber of Commerce in front of him as he works on the front of a Bridge Street store.

AT THE PARK — Janet Munro and Edward Judd find time for love, in the backdrop amidst the shattering predictions of a world holocaust in this scene from "The Day the Earth Caught Fire" opening Wednesday at the All-Canadian Park Theatre. They star in the starkly realistic drama with Leo McKern, also the Val Guest production is a Universal release. On the same program as his farce comedy riot "Never Let go a Nasty Accident", starring Jimmy Edwards, Kenneth Connor and Shirley Eaton. Both hits are first showings.

Circle Theatre Is Renewed For Eighth Year This Fall

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Circle Theatre, one of television's hardiest perennials, has been renewed for an eighth season in the next fall. One reason for its continued existence is an inexhaustible source of material—from life itself.

Circle's specialty is entertainment called "dramatized documentaries," which means that the situations are real (and sometimes the names of the characters are also) but the writers have dramatic license to telescope time, add fictional characters and, sometimes, dream up a whskop to a situation that is actually, wanders along to an inconclusive end.

During the last seven years, producer Robert Costello and his staff have turned out 260 weekly programs on CBS that have ranged from stories of crime and detection on one hand to a story about the successful treatment of cancer on the other.

CAN VARY PACE

"Sometimes we create one or two characters and use them to reflect the attitudes of a whole community," Costello explained. "Other times we stick close to the facts of an all other occasions, we create a fictitious story that is typical of many."

Costello enjoyed most the job of piecing together the story of

Hollywood Is Not Sending Boys to Do Man's Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In its swing back to comedy, Hollywood is not sending boys to do a man's work. Four of the new releases have middle-aged stars playing what they were playing 25 years ago—and doing it marvelously well.

Cary Grant's new That Touch of Mink harks back to The Awful Truth (1937), Holiday (1938) and a host of other screwball performances. Mink offers a familiar theme: Will working girl Doris Day accept a post as tycoon Grant's mistress? Bet you can guess the ending.

The producers saw no reason to alter the formula that has made millions with Pillow Talk, Lover Come Back, etc. It is all there: the charming sets, the gorgeous clothes, the glib talk. This time Gig Young plays the Tony Randall role, and Audrey Meadows subs for Thelma Ritter.

With Road to Hong Kong, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby are back on the same route that has taken them to Singapore (1940), Zanzibar (1941), Morocco (1942), Utopia (1946), Rio (1947) and Bali (1953). It's a pleasure to report that they've still headed in the right direction.

DOROTHY BACK

Dorothy Lamour is back with the boys for a look-brief appearance, and Peter Sellers does a hilarious bit. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, David Niven and Jerry Colonna also get a look-in.

Fred MacMurray's credentials for screen comedy go back to The Gilded Lily in 1935. His deft style remains undiminished, as evidence by the current Bon Voyage.

Another graduate of the comedies of the '30s, James Stewart, is back at the old stand after a succession of adventure stories. Like MacMurray, Stewart got on a family holiday in Mr. Hobbs Takes a Vacation.

The film is an often hilarious telling of the familiar problem —the male vs. his family and the world around him.

SEVEN BEAUTIES — Charlie Keegan (right) and A. Duby hauled in seven fine pickerel while angling off the piers of the CPR bridge. The biggest tipped the scales at seven pounds. Another weighed six, the rest tapering down.

Surprised At Draw

'Wuz Ole Archie Robbed?'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Archie Moore, who has had more than his share of strange experiences in his quarter of a century as a boxer, today reviewed with some chagrin the controversial draw he received in a 10-round match with Willie Pastrano Monday night.

Said Archie, who appeared to have won a decisive victory over an opponent at least 20 pds. lighter:

"This will look good in his record book when I am retired —and old."

The remarkable Moore, who is pushing 50, had something in common with the promoters of the show, matchmaker Joe Louis and the United World Enterprises, Inc.

They were chagrined, too, by an attendance estimated between 3,000 and 6,000 in the 15,000-seat Sports Arena.

The Moore - Pastrano 10-rounder went about as expected, except for the split decision.

Old Archie, 201½ pounds of guile and determination, outboxed the 185-pound Pastrano about the ring from bell to bell, and While the Wisp lapped, dashed, dodged and retreated from round to round.

Judges Lee Grossman and Dick Young scored it even, 5-5 points. Referee Tommy Hart had it 5-4. Moore.

Archie stood in his corner, not believing the verdict.

A consensus of boxing writers favored Moore, with no reservations. The Associated Press scored it 5-3 for Moore.

Fitness Festival At C.N.E.

TORONTO (CP) — A national fitness festival will be held at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds Sept. 25, it was announced Monday. Hundreds of youngsters from all parts of Canada are expected to participate.

The plan, which has the blessing of the federal and Ontario governments, is to focus national attention on better health through participation in leisure-hour physical activities.

"We don't want the festival to be regimented such as they do in Europe," said Ken Farmer of Ajax, chairman of the government - established Fitness Cothcil who announced the festival. "It will be more of a three-ring circus with calisthenics, "acrobatics, gymnastics, cycling, running, table tennis, judo and square dancing," he said in an interview.

Farmer said "ultimately, we hope to have similar rallies across Canada to show the people of Canada the benefits to be derived from such sports festivals. We want them to enjoy living, and getting fit."

The federal government which Mr. Angus announced a $5,000,000-a-year plan to aid amateur sport and promote physical fitness will contribute $50,000 towards the cost of staging the festival. The Ontario government and the CNE will contribute $12,000 each.

Carry Back Kelso's Big Rival

NEW YORK (AP)—Kelso, one of the greatest American handicap horses of all time, makes his 1962 racing debut at Aqueduct Wednesday in the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap.

The five-year-old gelding, American champion for the last two years, must carry top weight of 130 pounds in the 66th running of the mile test. Last year Kelso won the Met with 130 pounds.

Carry Back is rated Kelso's chief rival, and the 1961 champion three-year-old has second-high weight, 126 pounds. The early odds list Kelso, to be ridden by Willie Shoemaker, at 4 to 5, Carry Back, with Johnny Rotz riding, is 3 to 1.

Amblepole and Merry Ruler both are listed at 6 to 1 and the other probable starters are Trans-Way, Ruliah Red, Bel Musette, Beau Purple and Playfield.

FIND SEAMAN-DEAD

OTTAWA (CP) — Ordinary Seaman Laurie A. Davis of Newton, B.C., was found dead Sunday aboard the Canadian destroyer Crusader in Philadelphia, a navy spokesman said Monday night. An autopsy has been ordered.

Will Set Date, Set For Big Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—An announcement probably will be made Thursday on the date and site in Chicago of the heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston, Al Bolan said Monday night.

"There are still some technical questions that have to be answered concerning both players —Comiskey Park and Soldier Field," said Bolan, vice-president of the promoting Chamberlain Sports Corporation.

The Chicago Tribune had said the fight would be held in Comiskey Park Sept. 25.

All-Star Injury List

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—You could field a potent all-star team from baseball's growing hospital list after the 1962 "practice and broken bones brigade."

Veteran baseball men say they can't recall when so many top - name players have been knocked out of action by injuries and assorted ills as in the present season.

If you could patch up all the cracked bones and smooth out all the torn muscles, the ariels all-star squad would add up something like this:

Outfield—Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees (muscular tear in right thigh); Al Kaline, Detroit (broken collar bone); Minnie Minoso, St. Louis (skull fracture and broken wrist).

First base—Joe Adcock, Milwaukee (pitched nerve in back).

Second base—Frank Bolling, Milwaukee (pneumonia).

Third base—Gene Freese, Cincinnati (broken ankle).

Catcher—Earl Battey, Minnesota (split finger).

Pitcher — Whitey Ford, Yankees (shoulder), Frank Lary, Detroit (shoulder) and Luis Arroyo, Yankees (strained left elbow).

RESERVES AVAILABLE

This team would not lack for a bench. Other casualties include Gus Triandos, Baltimore catcher (b r o k e n metacarpal joint on right forefinger); Jim L e m o n, Minnesota outfielder (shoulder muscle); and Bob Allison, Minnesota outfielder (leg bruise).

Ed Mathews, Milwaukee third baseman, Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh outfielder, Harvey Kuena, San Francisco outfielder, Pete Richert, Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher, Lee Maye, Milwaukee outfielder, Russ Nixon, Boston catcher, and Gene Stephens, Kansas City outfielder, all have been out for varying periods with an assortment of ailments. Modern ball players getting brittle?

"Not at all," said Dr. Sidney Gaynor, team physician for the Yankees. "It's the tight pennant races. The fellows are trying harder, taking more chances—and getting hurt."

Palmer Tops In Golf Loot Race

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the king of professional golf's money winners, stayed away from the tournament trail last week and allowed some others to make some money.

Bill Casper Jr., won the $9,000 first money at the Indianapolis 500 Festival Open to increase his earnings this year to $41,308, U.S. Professional Golfers Association money list showed Monday. Palmer, who has won six of 14 tournaments, still leads with $59,308.

Dave Ellis is third with $25,-654, followed by Phil Rodgers, $21,135; Bob Nichols, $20,809; Doug Sanders, $18,744; and Gary Player, $18,463.

Pro Bowlers To Play In Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—The Professional Bowlers Association tour swings into Canada for the first time Wednesday with 15 top men of the circuit bidding for the $4,000 first prize in the $30,-000 Canadian open tournament.

A field of 120 plays Wednesday in the pro-amateur test. Championship action starts Thursday. After a 36-game qualifier Thursday and Friday, the top 32 men will bowl five more games and the high 16 survivors meet Saturday.

The 15 men on the tour have won $156,916 in 1962 tournament earnings and are headed by Don Carter of St. Louis, with $23,417 in prize money after 17 tournaments.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—While United States family car chauffeurs fight bumper-to-bumper Memorial Day traffic, 33 skilled drivers kick off Wednesday in what should be the fastest Indianapolis 500-mile auto race in history.

This annual classic which will jam upwards of 250,000 into the sprawling Indianapolis motor speedway facilities, will feature qualifiers in the event's history, the fastest qualifying field ever, and four former champions.

Death also may be crowded in the tiny cockpits of some luckless drivers, because 30 drivers have perished in this 350-lap grind to nowhere since Ray Harroun won the first Indianapolis 500 in 1911.

The fabulous weather luck of the 500 may prevail again, although it may be touch and go whether the race can beat a predicted mid-afternoon "sundown."

The least sprinkle makes a slithery mess of the concrete asphalt strip, but only two races—in 1925 and 1950—ever curtailed by rain.

WINS POLE POSITION

The favorite is "sophomore" Parnelli Jones, 38, Pacific Palisades, Calif., who won the pole position with a qualifying record speed of 150.370 miles per hour in his 10-mile test dash.

However, Jones will have to ride all the horsepower he can muster to stave off 1959 champion Rodger Ward, last another second - year starter, Bobby Marshman of Pittsburgh, Pa., who share the first row with him, Ward qualified at 149.371 and Marshman at 149.349.

The second of the 11 three-car rows which await the "gentlemen, start your engines" signal at noon EST includes defending champion A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., who last year got the current 500 record of 138.130 m.p.h. Foyt qualified with 149.076 m.p.h.

Other champions in the 33 driver field which qualified at a record average pace of 147.350, include Jim Rathmann of Melbourne, Fla., winner in 1960, and Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., who won as a 23-year-old rookie in 1952.

BROWN TO SIGN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Brown will sign a Cleveland Browns' contract soon to become the highest-paid pro football player of all time at $45,000 a year, the Cleveland Plain Dealer says. Brown is to meet general manager Paul Brown, accompanied by a tax expert, The great fullback, who has led the National League in rushing for five straight seasons, has just completed a two-year contract providing for $32,000 a year.

What You Don't Hear At the Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Pertinent quotes from big league ball players and managers:

Fred Hutchinson, Cincinnati manager, ejected from a game between the Reds and Houston Colts, turned to Bill Giles, Colts' publicity director and son of the National League president, and said in parting: "... and tell your dad he's got the worst umpires in baseball."

Southpaw Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers, shortly after matching his own major league strike out record of 18 in a game, said with a straight face:

"I wouldn't trade a 30-game season for all the strikeouts in the record books."

Manager Bill Rigney of the Angels, upon being told that his order for intentional walks to Maris had angered the Yankees slugger, retorted:

"Maris is getting $70,000. Leave Hector Lopez who followed Maris in the batting order) is getting $18,000. Who would you rather pitch to?"

Solly Hemus, coach of New York Mets, on the rash of sore arms sustained by relief pitchers:

"Relief pitchers are overworked. A manager gets the habit of looking out to the bullpen when he has to get the side out and seeing only the man who has been getting the side out for him."

Moe Huddleston fanned the victory, giving up five hits, striking out four and walking five.

Jones started for the losers, giving way to Smith in the fourth. They gave up 10 hits, whiffed six and passed nine.

L. Hall socked the Woods-Horlock hitters with two doubles and two singles. Gordie Smith rapped three singles, B. Ryan getting two and W. Woods one.

Tuna Battle At Nassau

NASSAU (AP) — Three catches, weighing a total of 1,383 pounds, gave Bermuda's team a first-day lead Monday in the Bahamas international tuna fishing tournament.

South Africa's team caught two, totalling 983 pounds. Teams representing Canada, Argentina and the Bahamas boated one each. Mexican, Venezuelan, Puerto Rican and United States fishermen were luckless on the first of six scheduled fishing days.

The biggest tuna of opening day was caught by Edwin Jay Gould of Bailey's Bay, Bermuda, whose catch weighed 5½ pounds. Don Beasley of Toronto caught one weighing 440 pounds.

The other members of the Canadian team are Douglas C. Hatch of St. Catharines and Charles Rathgeb Jr., of Toronto.

City Bowlers Do Well In Toronto

Two Belleville bowlers finished in the top 50 in the O'Connor Open Bowling Tournament which finished in Toronto Saturday.

Jim McKenzie and Leo LaBelle wound up with averages of 1274 and 1269 respectively to win the winner averaged over 1200.

McKenzie and LaBelle collected $60 each as their shares of the awards.

Over 1,200 bowlers took part in the tournament.

Machen Wins Over Rischer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eddie Machen, the world's No. 2 ranking heavyweight challenger, rallied in the late rounds Monday night to score a unanimous decision over California titlist Roger Rischer in 10 rounds. Machen, of Portland, Ore., weighed 196 and Rischer, of nearby Oakland, 197½.

Machen floored a ragged and surprisingly elusive foe and he didn't take enough credit in the ninth round when he slashed a cut over Rischer's left eye and mended home conditions of jets and rights to the head.

It's continued pressing the attack in the 10th to build his margin before a crowd of 3,000.

PLAN NEW EXERCISES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Jim Asley, general manager of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, announced that the Bombers will use functional isometric contraction exercises for the 1962 season. He said the static-tension-production system, used in the past only by rehabilitation exercises, is the fastest known way to increase strength by 30 to 40 per cent.

Campbell Shrugs Off WHL Stand

MONTREAL (CP) — Indications that the Western Hockey League has taken an anti-National League position was seen by NHL president Clarence Campbell as possibly unwise but without completely by the major circuit.

"We have always thought the WHL was careless to have the formation of its own six-team member clubs, but if the WHL thinks it is big enough to go alone, that's strictly the WHL's business," Campbell said Monday.

Campbell's comment was in connection with the WHL's rejection of a proposed 20-20 joint ownership of Vancouver Canucks by New York Rangers of the NHL and former Vancouver mayor Fred Hume.

Reports from the WHL meeting in San Francisco said some moves were afoot to feel a check must be kept on influences of NHL clubs in the WHL.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

One of the occupational hazards of sports editing is giving the right or wrong answer.

The trouble is a lot of people think a sports editor is a tiered, a seer, and prophet of truth, a sports encyclopedia, a human record book, and a general know-it-all.

Brother, if such were one, there would be no sports editors. They would be in Florida soaking up the sun for the rest of their natural lives, existing on the best salaried jobs playing golf, fishing from launches, world series, and championship fights.

In my experience at the sports desk I have had hundreds of questions tossed at me. Some of them good, some bad, others corny, a few nonsensical, and others personal.

One question has been asked consecutively, particularly during Stanley Cup playoffs or the world series is: "Why doesn't Conn drop dead?"

I haven't answered that one—yet.

Some of the things the habitues of sports desks are supposed to know:

That Bobby Jones' shot nine holes in 42, using his right hand only at East Lake course Georgia.

That Paul McWilliams, Chattanooga pro, can put four golf balls in his mouth at the same time. Held 14, no member-in-law, mother-in-law.

That a sparrow flies at the rate of 17 miles an hour. Sparrow hawks average 25 miles an hour and they, why hawks grow fat.

That Alec Kilrain is exhibition at Long Island, drove a golf ball through a 600-yard telephone directory which stood on end.

That F. H. Oyler played from the last hole at Maidstone, England, to the first hole at Littlestone, England a distance of 35 miles, in 3587 strokes, averaging 9½ days. He lost 17 balls.

Baseballs dropped from the 554-foot Washington monument have an energy of 117 pounds, equivalent to 117 pounds dropping one foot. Miami baby that hit the concrete left a slight dent. Missed balls that landed on hard turf penetrated 2¼ inches.

Successful golfers crack? Well, Bobby Jones said that 75 per cent of success in golf is due to "mental."

Newell Banks of Detroit, played 140 games of checkers in 143 minutes in Chicago, Sept. 1933. He won 133, drew seven.

Not a question. Just a semi-tall one. In Moscow some years ago a dog jumped into a lake to attack a swan. The swan retaliated by jumping on the dog's back, forcing its head under water until it drowned.

The quail flips along at 48 miles an hour; a seagull at 30 miles an hour while an ostrich can pace it off at 45 mph.

This is a believe-it-or-not. The records have it. Babe Ruether, a Memphis third baseman of two decades ago used to eat beaten eggs for Sunday dinner he enjoyed minced electric light bulbs.

Tom Morris of Fernshaw, Australia, years ago, skipped a rope 18,463 times in one hour, 41 minutes. What of it? Break it down and you'll see Morris skipped 184 skips per minute or three per second for 101 minutes. Don't believe it? Well, skip it.

Ever wrote a wrestler? In 1934 King Levinsky, a heavyweight puncher met Ray Steele, heavyweight wrestler. Levinsky swung at Steele's jaw and missed. Steele grabbed him, flipped him, pinned him. Time of bout 35 seconds.

And "Skipper" Morris, mentioned above, decided to rope-skip his way from Melbourne, Austral, to Sydney, a distance of 500 miles. It took him 28 days and 473 000 skips. That's 800 skips per mile or an average distance of six feet, six inches per skip.

Clips Donovan Win String

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tired? Not 42-year-old Early Wynn, who began his career in 1939, and in 1941 got 611 games and 4,531 innings later is crashing his durable right arm for the final drive toward the 300-victory circle reached by only 13 major league pitchers.

Coming back from a sore arm that sidelined him the last part of the 1951 campaign, Wynn has reformed to the tune of five for Chicago White Sox and Monday night came through with his best effort of the season—a three-hit job that blanked Cleveland 9-0.

It was the 109th triumph of a lengthy and distinguished career for Wynn, on record as the oldest active pitcher in the majors. The victory sends his record for Bellow 3-3.

Wynn retired 17 consecutive batters at one stretch, did not walk a man and faced only 29 men—just two over the minimum, while posting his fifth shutout since he stopped the same Indians on Sept. 21, 1951 for the last of a career total of 47, tops among active American League hurlers.

The loss dropped the Indians into a tie for first with New York Yankees, rained out at Kansas City, Jim Bunning allowed Detroit's bats in Detroit's 5-1 decision over Baltimore, Virgil Trucks and Mike Fornieles of Boston combined for a three-hitter that shut out Minnesota 3-0 and Los Angeles Angels beat Washington 6-4.

ERNIE HERLING STREAK

Wynn's 29th ended the amazing pitching string put together by Cleveland's 24-year-old ace, Dick Donovan. The veteran righthander had won all eight previous decisions, and even went the distance with an eight-hitter but Indians couldn't do anything with Wynn.

Wynn also drove in one of the White Sox runs, knocking in Mike Fornieles' second, and pounded home a single. Chicago's first run came in the fourth on a single by Jim Landis and Floyd Robinson's double.

Bunning (5-2), meanwhile, grabbing the ball with his left buckle in his last start against the Orioles, blanked Baltimore until Russ Snyder led off the ninth with a homer. Gene Woodling accounted for the first Tigers' run with a run-producing double in the first inning then clinched it with a two-run homer in the fifth.

Milwaukee (3-1) limited the Twins to two hits before he run into trouble himself in the eighth, walked two men and was lifted after Vic Wertz singled. Trucks got Vic Power to ground into an inning-ending double play and added a three-hit relief effort.

Trailing 6-5, the Angels came up with four in the eighth to whip the Senators and Ray Scarborough. Irv Noren got his's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded, scored when Jim Busby hit a single with the bases jammed by Tom Burgess pushed the Angels ahead 6-5. Busby was lifted in the seventh with the Angels leading 9-4.

Flyers Defeat Juniors

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

RCAF Flyers, playing leadership ball and making the most of the opposing generosity rallied, dumped the winless Rollins Construction Juniors 10-4 in a Belleville and District softball league game at the Fairgrounds last night.

The Rollins infield committed eight of the nine errors with four of them coming in the 26th frame, good for five runs and an 8-1 lead. Meanwhile the Flyers played sound ball afield, charged with just one miscue, got a well-pitched game from Jeffy Miles behind the plate and some timely clouting.

Disbandment was ordered for five hits over the distance, two of them home runs and two others of the infield scratch type. He slipped five on third strikes while walking the same number.

Don Holloway toiled on the Rollins' mound, giving up seven on hits, in clusters of twos and three. He struck out five and walked three. Holoway in the third pitcher on the club to pitch in the distance only to receive poor support from his mates.

The Flyers scored three runs in the first on two walks, Mowatt's double, Miles' infield single, Alexander's long triple it 5-0 in the second on Dreska's single, Alexander's long triple and a wild pitch.

Rollins cut the lead to 5-1 in the fourth on a walk, stolen base, a wild pitch and Robinson's fly ball. Then came RCAF's three unearned markers in the top of the fifth, when they ballyhooed to get a hit.

Don Holloway got one run back for himself when he hammered a long home run with the sacks empty in the bottom of the fifth. Mowatt's double and Taylor's single made it 9-3 and two more errors plated another for the veterans in the eighth.

Pinch-hitter Sonny Holoway hot off the mound with a walk and scored when Don Gardner homered over McDonald's head.

Moe Mowatt hit three doubles and scored three times to pace the RCAF at the plate. Doug Alexander had a triple with singles going to Roger Drake, Billy Mills and Sam Taylor. Mills was forced to leave the game with an injured ankle in the ninth inning.

Don Gardner, with a three-and-single, Don Holoway with two singles, Bob Buckley with two infield safeties, were the only batters to solve Hakimiak's delivery.

Invite 'Sluggers' To Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Madison Square Garden officials sent an invitation Monday to Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco Giants and Ed Chacon and Roger Craig of New York Mets to come and watch a fight instead of a ball game.

They were the four leading autagonists in the big scrap at San Francisco Sunday, when the Giants took a doubleheader from the Mets.

"We've sent them all invitations to the fight next Saturday night, when both fists will be in New York," a Garden spokesman said. "We'd like to have them come and sit together, real friendly like. Of course, if they're still mad by then, the ring is always available."

Welterweights Charley Scott of Philadelphia and Stan Harrington of Hoosick are the regularly scheduled contestants in the televised nationally televised fight.

Pace Teams To Wins

Jay, Haddix Wield Potent Clubs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joey Jay and Harvey Haddix are paid their handsome salaries to pitch. But the big right hander and the slender southpaw aren't exactly helpless at the other end of the firing line in the batter's box.

Both proved that Monday night in pacing a pair of National League clubs on the upward to victory.

Jay banged a homer and two singles and drove across four runs as Cincinnati strengthened its hold on third place by winning its fifth in a row, 9-6 over Houston.

Haddix threw a six-hitter and led Pittsburgh's offensive with three hits in the Pirates' 3-1 decision over St. Louis. The result left the Bucs, who've taken six of their last nine, just a half game back of the fourth-place Cardinals.

In the league's only other game, Glen Hobbie of the Chicago Cubs ended a personal 10-game losing string, downing Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves 5-4. Other NL clubs were not scheduled.

The Reds jumped off early in winning the 12th of their last 14 starts. They rapped Dick Farrell for six hits and four runs in the first two innings, then added a three-run blast, a single off John Anderson in the third, making it 6-0. Cincinnati tied it in the fifth by tagging Bob Tiefenauer for three runs, the final two coming on Jay's homer.

Jay, who has won four of his last five decisions for a 7-4 record, sailed by the Colts until the ninth, when they rallied him for six hits and five runs before he closed the door. Catcher Meltas fired Houston's last shot—a three-run homer.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A national area operators association was organized Monday by operators of 36 ski areas in Canada and 14 states. Purpose of the organization is to co-ordinate policies among the widespread ski areas and to improve services for ski enthusiasts.

'Zaniest Fight Pit In U.S.'

Famous St. Nick's Closes

NEW YORK (CP) — Oldtimers swear the ghosts of long-gone fighters were in St. Nicholas Arena Monday night for the last boxing card at the oldest, zaniest and maniest fight pit in the United States.

The arena will be demolished to make way for a skyscraper television office building.

Welterweights Stefan Redl and Tony Fortunato were featured on the final go at the 58th Street and Columbus circle shrine which has seen 30,000 battles, good, bad and just swollen.

The 65-year-old structure on West 66th Street off Columbus Avenue in Manhattan was originally built as New York's first hockey emporium and in its day it was notables talked about "going over to St. Nick's."

It's been the scene of bowling, ballroom dancing, roller skating, wrestling, dog shows, Communist rallies, Irish wakes, weddings, union meetings and bar mitzvah gatherings.

Heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson was knocked off his pins at the St. Nick's early in his career by a gentleman named Jacques Royer before Floyd got up to win the decision and Creepy vanished into obscurity.

Sam Langford, the Nova Scotia-born Boston Terrible, demonstrated his method of mayhem at St. Nick's, as did Phillies Jim Crowley, Jack Johnson, Sam McVey, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey and Stanley Ketchell. So did Benny Leonard, undefeated world lightweight champ, who died of a heart ailment while refereeing a bout there in 1947.

Almost as colorful as the fighters were the fans, just about as unrestrained a group as could be found. Moms and dads settled quarrels in the balcony boxes. Enraged customers sometimes put on a better fight than the boxers.

Monday night, promoter Irving Cohen distributed "last night at the St. Nick's Club" membership cards to the faithful who attended the nostalgiest bout.

Pearson Accuses Govt. of Raising False Hopes

By JAMES NELSON

WINNIPEG (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson accused the Conservative government here night of trying to make partisan political capital out of its conduct of external affairs.

The former external affairs minister, in opposition leader campaigning to become prime minister June 18, said it is cruel and misleading for the government to raise false hopes about its ability to free the captive peoples of Europe from communism.

Mr. Pearson also denounced suggestions that he was soft on communism. The Communists twice seized his election in United Nations secretary-general, and he fought for freedom as hard as anyone.

The Liberal leader spoke to a capacity audience in the main halls of the Winnipeg Auditorium—4,135 seats in the main hall, and nearly 800 in a concert hall backing onto it.

The overflow crowd, from the 14 ridings of Manitoba, was enthusiastic. It booted and hollered in the smaller hall until the screens separating it from the main one were taken down so the audience could see Mr. Pearson's back while he delivered his speech.

REJECTS CHALLENGE

At one point, Mr. Pearson noted that Prime Minister Diefenbaker rejected his challenge to a joint television debate.

"You're lucky," said a voice from the gallaries.

"If I'm lucky" — the Liberal leader retorted, "its surprising in Grit take up."

The audience roared with laughter.

Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government would reduce chronic unemployment to «the level of only hundreds» and short-term, with full employment as the goal.

"How?" someone demanded.

"How!" Mr. Pearson replied. "By electing a Liberal government pledged to put into effect a Liberal program."

Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government would guarantee a 60 per basket minimum price for wheat sold for domestic and foreign consumption during the next three years.

It would also replace the present system of acreage payments for farmers — under which the government decides on a year-to-year basis whether to make the payments—with "a system of support on which the farmer can rely."

CRITICIZES 'BOASTS'

Mr. Pearson said the government now "boasts" it is going to introduce a resolution at the United Nations for freedom of eastern European countries from communism. The government had five years to do this, he added.

"The government talks as if they wanted nothing so much as to lead Canada in a nuclear crusade to free the peoples of eastern Europe from communism.

"It is cruel and misleading, for partisan political purposes, to raise false hopes about this.

Mr. Pearson posed 10 lengthy and detailed questions about Conservative achievements of the past and policy for the future, which he said he would have asked Mr. Diefenbaker in a television confrontation.

He said he had mailed the questions to Conservative headquarters in Ottawa, and hoped Mr. Diefenbaker would answer them on some public platform before Mr. Pearson winds up his Western tour in Vancouver Saturday night.

The Liberal leader will go to Vancouver from meetings in North Battleford, Edmonton, Whitehorse, and Prince George, B.C.

Socred Leader Carries Drive Into Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said Monday night the Liberal party is trying to divide the electorate with religious propaganda.

Mr. Thompson told a campaign rally at suburban Beauport Psy that former Liberal transport minister Lionel Chevrier recently accused Social Credit of talking about "crucifixes in Quebec" and "about the Bible" in Western Canada "where the Catholics don't have a chance."

"This is the kind of propaganda . . . slander they're throwing at us, trying to divide us when the last provincial byelection in Alberta was won by a man born in Quebec."

Mr. Thompson, speaking entirely in English for about 40 minutes, said children's allowances "stop where they should start" — when youths were about to start their education.

WOULD SET UP BANK

A Social Credit government would establish a municipal development bank within the bank of Canada "to channel the interest loans for school construction and other such projects.

"The cost of money to build a school is more than the cost of the school itself," he said.

"We have the money available, in the June 18 federal election."

PREDICTS VICTORIES

He also predicted the party will win back 15 of Alberta's 17 federal seats.

"This has become a national party," he said, "I think we're going to be the upset in Quebec.

"As things are going now we have a chance of getting as many seats as the old line parties and we'll certainly hold the balance of power."

SCENIC AREA

The first national park in Canada was an area of 10 square miles around the sulphur springs at Banff, Alta., set aside in 1885.

Plans to Double Tourist Trade Now Being Made

By DAVE McINTOSH

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — The government plans to help double the tourist trade to $1,000,000,000 a year by 1967, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday night.

He said the provinces have been invited to a Dominion-provincial conference on future tourist requirements.

Mr. Diefenbaker, speaking to a crowd of about 1,000, used the interjection of a heckler to say he hopes one of the first pieces of business done by the new Parliament in the fall will be ratification of the Canada-United States Columbia River development treaty.

Earlier at Prince George, B.C., Mr. Diefenbaker predicted that the tourist traffic into Canada this year will be the greatest in the country's history and that $1,000,000,000 will be spent.

He said Canadians who want to travel abroad will be hurt financially by devaluation but added: "we are building it here by Canada and we want Canadians to see all parts of Canada."

NUCLEAR DISARMAMENT

Mr. Diefenbaker said an agreement between the federal and British Columbia governments was required before Parliament could ratify the treaty.

Ottawa was "getting along in negotiations" with the province, Mr. Diefenbaker said, and he hoped that, with an agreement, ratification would be one of the first things dealt with by the new Parliament.

The prime minister also referred to hydro power in an earlier press conference.

He said the potential of many Canadian rivers isn't being transferred into power. Power development must be accomplished now—if Canada were to wait for 20 or 25 years alone by energy might be as cheap as hydro and this country's water and 1980 to form a provincial park.

LESSEN IMPORT IMPACT

At Vernon, in the abundant Okanagan Valley, the prime minister said devaluation will lessen the impact of United States fruits and vegetables on the Canadian market.

"Every fruit grower who votes against us votes against his own interest," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

If Liberal Leader Pearson had the chance of forming a government, would he umpe the duties of the prime minister asked.

Mr. Diefenbaker said cattle production can be expanded. The federal agriculture department estimated 500,000 more head of beef a year in the next 15 years would be needed to meet North American demands.

Only the NDP Is Offering Medical Plan — Douglas

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Monday night neither the Conservatives nor the Liberals have "any serious intention" of setting up a comprehensive health insurance plan if elected.

Only the NDP is offering such a plan, he said. Electors could declare themselves in favor of public health care by sending 150 New Democratic MPs to the 265-seat Commons in the June 18 federal general election.

Mr. Douglas' remarks were included in the text of a filmed five-time political broadcast on the CBC television network.

He criticized Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson for their reactions—or lack of them—to the doctors' battle against the Saskatchewan medical care plan.

Mr. Douglas said the doctors consider themselves a privileged group with a veto power over a democratically government decision. The decision had been taken by the provincial government, of which he was premier at the time, only after getting "an unmistakable mandate" from the polls.

Big Lead-Zinc Project in N.B. Now on Way

TORONTO (CP) — Northern New Brunswick's long-awaited big lead-zinc project apparently is definitely on the way to production.

Announcement was made Monday that, subject to shareholder approval, international financing has been arranged for Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation Ltd., with properties near Bathurst, that a market has been assured for 12 years.

The immediate project, estimated to cost $17,500,000, provides for further underground development and a mill that will handle 3,000 tons ore daily by late next year—producing concentrates for export to Belgium.

Brunswick's annual report says the company will rank among the five largest lead and zinc mines in the world.

Brunswick is controlled by a group made up of K. C. Irving, Saint John, N.B., industrialist; M. J. Boyle, head of Manitimes Mining Corporation Ltd.; and Patino of Canada Ltd., Canadian arm of the international Patino interests, formed by the Bolivian tin operators.

The new financing will be provided by Societe Generale des Minerais S. A. of Brussels, whose Canadian affiliate company is Sosemines Ltd.; and by Engineering Consultants Ltd., Saint John, a company controlled by Mr. Irving and his family.

Values of the concentrates is estimated at between $130,000,000 and $230,000,000, depending on world metal prices.

On the Toronto Stock Exchange Monday Brunswick shares closed at $5.75, down 10 cents on the day compared with a high for the year of $4.90 and a low of $3.85.

Misguided Fears Prevent Greater Public Use of Radioactive Isotopes

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—A panel of atomic experts agreed here Monday that misguided fears that are preventing greater public use of one of the most useful of all the phenomena discovered by man—radioactive isotopes.

The five-man panel discussed the use of isotopes in industry, medicine, agriculture and research at the annual international conference of the Canadian Nuclear Association.

Members of the panel included Dr. J. S. Foster, head of the department of chemical engineering at the University of Toronto; Dr. E. E. Fowler, deputy director, division of isotopes development, United States Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. W. Van Winkle, vice-president of Research, Ethicon Inc., U.S.A.; Dr. G. G. Eichholz, head of the physics and radiochemistry subdivision of the federal mines department, and E. W. Leaver, president of Electronic Associates Limited, Canada.

The panel agreed that there must be greater education of the public to bring about an awareness that there is no danger of atomic radio - activity through proper use of isotopes. Members said this could be accomplished through the press, radio, television and in conventions, journals such as business magazines.

FEAR HALTS USE

Mr. Leaver said it is ironical that concern over negligible radioactivity should preclude the use of isotopes which could provide a very real improvement in industrial safety.

Radioactive isotopes are used for food preservation, to detect flaws in castings, to guide machines in processing of materials, to improve accuracy of production methods and for many types of research.

"In view of the overwhelming number of applications that exist for isotopes it is highly regrettable that newspapers, magazines and periodicals have thoroughly indoctrinated the public with a terrible fear of radioactivity," Mr. Leaver said.

He said man has always existed in a sea of radiation and has managed to survive successfully. It was ludicrous that small amounts of man-made radiation could be viewed with alarm.

CRITICIZES WORK

Earlier, the head of Canada's atomic energy project criticized Canadian industry for poor workmanship and the supply, installation and inspection of standard components for Canada's first atomic power plant.

J. L. Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, said in a luncheon address that Canada's nuclear power program has advanced to the point where the Crown agency for Canada should soon leave the construction of nuclear power reactors to engineering consultants and industry.

Mr. Gray said: "We must be very high standard of reliability in much of the equipment used in nuclear plants."

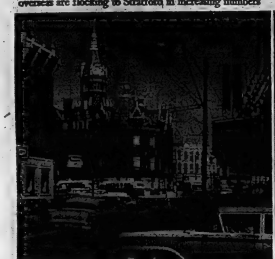
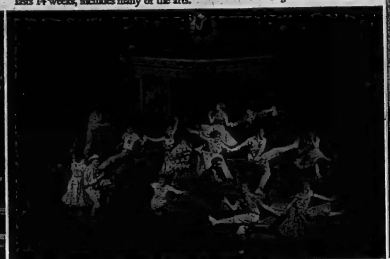
Canada's Stratford: City of Dramatic Art

Exit Steam-Enter Shakespeare

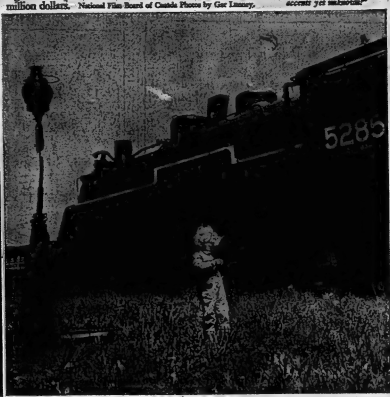
Lovers of Shakespeare from across North America and overseas are flocking to Stratford in increasing numbers —from 63,000 in 1953 to last year's 225,000. Festival lasts 14 weeks, includes many of the arts.



The last act in the story of Canada's steam locomotive was played out in Stratford in 1958. Upstaged by brash new diesels —first appearing on the scene to capture the railway spotlight nearly 10 years ago—the curtain finally came down on Stratford the Railway Town. Today, this southwestern Ontario city is thriving, once more after a comeback sponsored by one of the theatre's most durable playwrights—William Shakespeare. The annual festival of dramatic art, which took its opening bow in 1953, is now a cornerstone of national culture, has put new sparkle in the pace of life for Stratford's 21,000 people. Against a backdrop of new motels, tourist homes and stores full of fine goods, Stratford the Theatrical Town plays to an audience of a quarter million, invites them to stroll its green swards, visit the Shakespearean gardens, relax in an atmosphere of cosmopolitan art amid Ontario's bright summer sunshine.



First festivals were held in huge tent which was replaced in 1957 by two-million-dollar theatre, above. Box office during summer performances is worth three-quarters of a million dollars. National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.



"How many eyes hence
Shall this our lofty scene be acted o'er,
In states unborn and accents yet unknown!"

Downtown Stratford where tourists can shop or watch Gilbert and Sullivan fight opera.

Festival is not exclusively Shakespearean. Above, a performance of Caesar Barricade by top Canadian artists during 1961's June-to-September season.

Remnant of Stratford the Railway Town: an abandoned steam locomotive—main prop in earlier production—awaits scrap yard as another scene fades in a continuing drama.

Ontario's Carleton Riding Has Always Sent Member Of PC Party to Commons

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

OTTAWA (CP)—When school inspector John Holmes ran as a Conservative in Carleton County in Canada's first federal election in 1867 he started the Ottawa-area constituency off on the most unusual record of loyalty to a single party in the country.

John Holmes never ran again in Carleton. But the constituency has remained faithful to his party, electing Conservatives in all of its 24 general elections and six byelections. Its list of MPs includes three party leaders—Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Robert Borden and Hon. George Drew.

As a predominantly rural constituency in 1867, Carleton returned John Holmes by a majority of 81 votes. In 1958, its population largely urban under the impact of Ottawa's growth, it gave a majority of 19,089 to Richard A. (Dick) Bell, who is seeking re-election in the June 18 federal vote.

Study of election records shows that until five years ago, Quebec's Lotbinière was the Liberal party's answer to Carleton. From 1867 to 1953 it returned Liberals in 22 consecutive general elections. But in 1957 Conservative Raymond O'Hurley, now defence production minister, broke the string and then retained the seat in 1958.

LIBERAL SINCE 1887

The Ontario constituency of Russell, which adjoins Carleton, has voted Liberal in 19 consecutive general elections since 1887. Quebec's Drummond - Arthabaska also began a consecutive Liberal string in 1887 but its run is not complete. In 1957 it elected Samuel Boulanger as Independent-Liberal although he later became a straight Liberal and won the seat in 1958 as a full - fledged supporter of the party.

Two of the country's present 263 constituencies are on a consecutive loyalty string dating back to 1900 — Peel in Ontario with the Conservatives and Gloucester in New Brunswick with the Liberals.

The wartime election of 1917 brought four more constituencies into the one - party class. One was Montreal Hochelaga which in 12 previous elections had returned Conservatives seven times, Liberals five times. It has been Liberal since 1917.

The other three dating from 1917 started in their present form that year. Hull, across the Ottawa River from Ottawa, and Montreal St. Denis started a run of Liberal choices. Royal in New Brunswick went with the Conservatives.

NAME'S THE SAME

Montreal St. Denis has gone a long step further than any other constituency in the country. Since 1921 it has elected an MP with a surname to match its own, Dr. J. A. Denis from 1921 to 1954, when he died, and his brother, Azellus, a lawyer, from 1926 to 1926.

Nipissing ranks next in continuous loyalty. The Northern Ontario constituency went Liberal in 1921 and hasn't deviated since.

Five constituencies established in their present form for the 1925 election have clung to their first choices, Montreal St. Henri and Kenora-Rainy River in northwestern Ontario have returned Liberals, Dufferin-Simcoe, Grenville - Dundas and Prince Edward-Lennox in Ontario have elected Conservatives.

Dufferin - Simcoe has stuck with the same man, Hon. Earl Rowe, who won in 1925 and has sailed back in at every general election since. It's victory string includes a byelection in 1937 when he returned to the Commons after a short term in Ontario Conservative leader, the seat remaining vacant during his absence.

STAYED IN FAMILY

Grenville - Dundas has followed much the same pattern, electing Conservative A. Clair Cassimman in every election from 1925 to 1958. After his death in 1958 his widow, Jean, a daughter of Mr. Rowe, won the seat in a byelection and is carrying the Casselman name into the June 18 vote.

The lists grow long from 1935, when the CCF also got into the swing by capturing Vancouver East which it has held ever since. One of the 1925 seats is York East in the Toronto area which has been held continuously from its establishment that year by Conservative H. H. McGregor who previously had captured York West in 1926 and 1930 elections.

Only one of the 10 provinces has shown unbroken loyalty to one party. Since it entered Confederation in 1949, Newfoundland has consistently elected a majority of Liberal members to the Commons.

Until the sweeping Conservative triumph of 1958, Quebec had gone Liberal in 17 consecutive elections starting in 1891. In 24 elections, Quebec went Liberal 18 times, a showing reversed by Ontario which picked the Conservatives 18 times.

Nova Scotia has given the two old-line parties an even split in the 24 elections, 11 victories apiece. In the other two, the two parties wound up in a tie, each with the same number of N.S. seats.

Little Hope Held For Survival Of Boy Aged 4

Fell Down Abandoned Mine Shaft in Alta.

GHOST PINE CREEK, Alta. (CP)—Little hope was held today for the survival of a four-year-old boy swallowed by a cave-in at an abandoned coal mine Tuesday before he played 100 yards from his home.

Faint cries of "Daddy, Daddy" heard from below soon after Kenny Kowalchuk disappeared spurred a mine official to make a hazardous descent on the end of a cable 45 feet down a rickety shaft.

J. J. Rubin of Calgary, district mines inspector in charge of the rescue operations, said as he emerged into the glare of a battery of hastily - rigged lights that he found no sign of the chubby, dark-haired boy. Loose earth plugged the shaft.

"I have no hope the boy will be found alive."

PLUNGES THROUGH CRUST

Kenny, second youngest of the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kowalchuk, plunged through the crust of earth covering the old shaft while playing with his three - year - old brother Johnny, sharing beard noon.

The mine, abandoned 30 years ago, is two miles from this central Alberta hamlet and about 50 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Summoned by Johnny, Mrs. Kowalchuk found a hole in the grass-covered mound marking the old mine site. She was reported in tears, having failed with the trapped boy while her husband went to the nearest phone to call for aid help.

RCMP Corporal Keith Sutherland of Thorsby, one of the first rescuers on the scene, reported he heard a faint child whimpering about 1:30 p.m. There was no further sign of life.

SHIFT CHANGED

After coming out of the mine, Mr. Rubin ordered rescue workers up from the shaft to rest and the air supply which had been pumped down the six-by eight - inch hole for eight hours was shut off.

He ordered a hill to below-ground work until cribbing could be erected around the top of the shaft. He said the cave-in earth piled about 12 feet above the shaft and that much would collapse and trap rescue workers.

Hundreds of spectators gathered in the afternoon around the mound marking the spot where disappointed rescuers filed in hushed tones while rescuers inched their way down the shaft.

Mr. Rubin said it would take two more hours to place the cribbing around the top of the shaft. From then on it would be a job of hours for the small crew of men inside the shaft to brace rotten timbers.

Kenneth's father, who had been at the rescue scene all night, broke down and wept and moaned when he heard that the boy had been found dead.

"My God, my God," he cried. "Oh God, it's awful."

The boy's mother, who had remained at home with five other children in the family, cried: "Bring my baby down the hole."

Kenneth fell down the shaft when a step on a ladder broke, authorities said. His friend, Bill Shrieger, also witnessed the accident.

Bill told authorities that he and Kenneth had gone to a wooded mountain area not far from their home about 2 p.m. and when they noticed a squirrel and chased it around the old mine shaft. They went in a few feet, Bill related, and started to climb down when a step on the ladder broke. Bill was in front of Kenneth, on the ladder and made it to safety.

Escapee Given Five Years for Armed Robbery

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — An escapee from Dorchester industrial farm Tuesday was given a five-year penitentiary term for the armed robbery of a man he had invited to a drinking party.

The term was imposed on William Stuart MacKay, 26, of no fixed address, who escaped April 21 from Burwash where he was serving a term for theft. He was given a three-month term for escaping custody.

MacKay was convicted of the May 4 armed robbery of Allan McColl, 57, of Detroit. MacKay had taken McColl and two other Detroiters, Thomas Cassley, 34, and Robert Draper, 34, to the party in suburban Riverside.

After the men had a few drinks, MacKay pulled a gun and ordered McColl to hand over cash, a $1,000 diamond ring, an other ring and a watch valued Then he ordered McColl and the other men into a car and drove them to a rural area where MacKay ordered the men out of the car.

As the Detroiters ran from the car, MacKay fired several shots at them. One of the shots hit Cassley in the arm.

Another Dorchester escapee, Paul Klein, 23, of no fixed address, was also before charged with robbery in connection with the incident. He has elected trial by judge and jury. A preliminary hearing will be held June 5.

Recover Body Of Boy After Fall Into Mine

SHAMOKEN, Pa. (AP)—Rescuers today found the body of a 13-year-old boy, nearly 10 hours after he plunged down a 230-foot mine shaft while calling a squirrel with a friend Tuesday.

The body of Kenneth Shickley was found at 6:24 a.m. by two miners on top of an ore car in a buggy on an offset of the shaft, an estimated 450 feet down.

The miners, John Varona and Joseph Garcia, had to crawl 90 feet along the floor of the shaft to reach the boy. On the way down their lights showed the sides of the mine shafts to brace rotten timbers.

Kenneth's father, who had been at the rescue scene all night, broke down and wept and moaned when he heard that the boy had been found dead.

"My God, my God," he cried. "Oh God, it's awful."

The boy's mother, who had remained at home with five other children in the family, cried: "Bring my baby down the hole."

Kenneth fell down the shaft when a step on a ladder broke, authorities said. His friend, Bill Shrieger, also witnessed the accident.

Police Avert Violence in Truck Strike

Four Arrested At Ottawa Terminal

TORONTO (CP) — Police moved quickly to avert threatened violence at an Ottawa transport terminal Tuesday night as a strike by 7,200 members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters got tied up most of the province's intercity trucking.

Police action arrested four men following an incident at the terminal of Taggart Trucking Service, one of two Ottawa truckers not affected by the strike against members of the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, agent for 65 firms.

Police said the four, identified as transport workers, are to be charged today with causing a disturbance by interfering with other persons.

The arrests came after about 100 men gathered outside the terminal in an attempt to block departure of transport trucks.

Police said the disturbance occurred when one driver was carrying a load under escort and had fallen down a narrow hole behind steps leading to the shaft.

If he had fallen down the hole, he would have struck cartons in the 25-foot shaft, which once supplied domestic coal for furnaces in the Three Hills district.

Stunned by the accident, Grain Inspector Hooker collapsed and his wife were taken by relatives to their home, eight miles away, for the night.

Commonwealth Parley Delegates Guests of Saskatoon Farm Wives

SASKATOON (CP) — Industrial and union leaders from 35 Commonwealth countries and territories, have been given a taste of western Canadian hospitality as served in mouth-watering fashion by 150 Saskatoon district farm wives.

Home-cooked meals, including a variety of fresh farm products, have been served with special meals for those whose diets were restricted by reason of illness, were a highlight of a 10-hour tour of the farms Tuesday, by the 300 representatives now travelling in across Canada.

The tour, a project of the 4,500-member province - wide Homemakers clubs of Saskatchewan, but the men folk got into the act to answer a variety of questions on farm life which poured from their guests.

At noon, the first stop fell in almost a year, limited planned tours of fields and demonstration projects using various farm equipment. Members stood in the rain to watch those demonstrations that were performed.

But conference members were laughingly told their hosts the night "no air gift for your hospitality." More than half an inch fell in the district and it was welcomed by the farmers as a needed boost to dwindling subsurface moisture reserves.

The tour was arranged a year ago when the late Saskatchewan women's services to join the project.

"The response was terrific," Miss Pattillo said. "We had many inquiries from farm women outside the club."

Under the plan one to four members were assigned to a club member. The university prepared a special folder on each conference member to give them family some background on their guest.

CNR Plans System-Wide Layoff if Strike Develops

MONTREAL (CP)—The CNR has made plans for a system-wide layoff if a threatened strike by railroad trainmen develops June 4.

It was not known immediately how many employees would be affected by a layoff. But it was understood the number would be more than 75,000.

Notices were posted across the CNR system in Newfoundland Tuesday informing all employees of the situation.

The notices were subject to cancellation should the strike be called off.

Meanwhile negotiations were to continue here today between representatives of the railway and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC).

They met Tuesday for seven hours and no statement was issued by either side after the adjournment, normal practice in such contract talks.

The union has demanded a wage increase of eight per cent spread over a two-year contract, while the CNR was reported to have offered 6% per cent spread over four years.

A number of complicated clauses are also in dispute.

Trainmen now earn between 26,500 a year for passenger-train conductors and $4,500 annually for yard helpers.

The union is expected to re-

Threatened Rail Strike Moves Into Election Picture

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A strike threat that could tie up the transcontinental services of the CNR next Monday has entered the election campaign.

T. C. Douglas, national leader of the labor-backed New Democratic Party, said the situation is "critical"—with the Canadian people facing a federal election June 16 and with Parliament dissolved.

He said the government has an "inescapable responsibility" to take the initiative and use its offices to solve the contract dispute between the railroad unions, CNR and 10,000 rail workers belonging to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (CLC).

Britain Given Concessions For Commonwealth Imports

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Representatives of Britain and the six Common Market countries headed into another session here today after a challenge to their first real gain in seven months of talks on Britain's application to join the Market.

Negotiators agreed Tuesday to a compromise solution on the problem of exports from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Sources close to the ministers said under the agreement Britain would increase its tariffs on manufactured goods in three stages until the tariff Jan. 1, 1970, was the same as the Market's external tariff on these goods.

In return, the six Market states agreed that these specific traditional Commonwealth exports should apply to the full list of 387 products named by Britain, and not to only 37 products on the "Six" had originally demanded.

The market also agreed that the enlarged community including Britain should consult Australia, New Zealand and Canada in 1958 and 1969 to see if their industries had been hurt, and if so, what measures to take.

It was the first positive agreement reached in the seven months Britain has been negotiating here for admission to the Market, comprising France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

MAJOR FINED $500, ALLOWED TO KEEP RANK

Guilty of Illegal Gold Trafficking

OTTAWA (CP)—A court martial sentence of a $500 fine and a severe reprimand was given Tuesday to Maj. William Allan Platt, 48, convicted of illegal gold trafficking last year in Iguchina.

Sending an appeal now being considered, the sentence marked the end of the fifth court martial involving military personnel serving with the Canada-India-Poland truce commission in Indochina.

Four other courts martial have given sentences ranging from outright dismissal to severe reprimands for four non-commissioned officers convicted of opium trafficking.

Maj. Platt, a former resident of Picton, Ont., commanded the Canadian contingent of the commission from August, 1951, to January, 1952. He was charged with having in his possession 1,000 ounces of gold without a permit.

Platt, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was accused of having purchased the gold in Saigon, Indo-China, and of having brought it into Canada.

Platt was allowed to keep his rank as major.

Court President Brig. Walter Gooderham, said interprovincial Judge Lac Bell, telephone clinched 75 cents.

Buyers took over from sellers as the market opened with a startling advance in the wake of the big rally which ended the 1929 crash.

Thirty Toronto Industrials index—compiled from 30 leading stocks—rolled up an over-all gain of 18.62 points. That's a net gain of 5.57 on the day to 298.25.

In the first hour of trading the index was driven down 13.33 points—the biggest one-day net loss in history of exchange offerings—as frantic sellers unloading their stocks. The drop looked like a sure bet to surpass Monday's decline of 16.81 points, the steepest since compilation began in 1934. At one point the ticker tape fell 25 minutes behind recording transactions.

However, at mid-day the market began to show signs of recovery as selling orders dropped off. A flood of buyers was being fed by prices began to surge upwards led by the hard-hit base metal issues—the high priced issues considered to be the foundation of the market.

ON BUYING SPREE

Cheers could be heard on the trading floor as "bargain hunters" brought on a buying spree that pushed prices up to the highest since the end of March—a total of 4,998,000 shares.

At Montreal, industrial issues racked up the highest daily gains since 10 days' debacles, and another three more since $100 fines and severe reprimands in Parliament.

The severe reprimand given Col. Platt is a notable one in service record that could impair further promotion. He has been on active service.

Secret Army Tries to Negotiate Co-existence With Nationalists

ALGIERS (AP) — Desperate European settlers are trying to get Moslem nationalists into negotiating Algeria's future with them instead of with the French government.

Offers to negotiate a "system of coexistence" have been made by the terrorist Secret Army Organization and the General Union of French Workers of Algeria, which controls virtually the whole European labor movement.

They have not put their demands into concrete form. But they appear to be calling for a European terrorists are prepared to stop their campaign of violence in systematic destruction. The labor unions are offering to "help the progress of France of the European labor force, ..."

There has been no formal comment so far from the FLN (Algerian Front of National Liberation) on the Europeans' offers.

Nationalists' attitude has always been that the Secret Army represents no valid political force and that it can be destroyed in 15 days if tough enough measures are used.

The French Workers' Union has called a general strike demanding direct negotiations with the Moslems before the Europeans' proposals are made. Admission or its members would quit Algeria.

"If we leave, the economy would collapse," the settlers say. Most support the strike.

But the Moslem nationalists are determined to achieve their political objectives—complete independence and control of the country—no matter what the cost.

Meanwhile, the government reported that two well - armed Secret Army groups, totalling 47 in all—have been arrested. Eight civilians and 39 ex-paratroopers were expelled from Algeria Tuesday for suspected terrorism.

The unofficial death toll in the terror French and Moslem sources, including 22 Moslem men and two Moslem women, Algiers' 17 police and gendarmes.

French Gendarmes still were searching Tuesday for a group of Algiers Moslems who abducted, tortured and slain Mohamed Ben Sadok, 50, secretary of Secret Army killings. Last week 17 mutilated European bodies were found in an empty lot east of Algiers.

The special court set up to try terrorists handed down its first death sentence Tuesday. The two defendants, Dominique de Crisio and Jackie Berthonieu, admitted being Secret Army killers.

Stock Markets Score Recovery, Buyers Move In

Rebound From Worst Declines Since '29 Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York stock market took a much-needed rest today after a dizzy whirl in which it rallied from its steepest dive since 1929.

Stock exchanges are closed for the Memorial Day holiday.

The swirling rally Tuesday afternoon recovered almost all of the ground lost Monday in the worst price collapse in 33 years.

But investors and brokers had this question to ponder:

"Will the rally carry through tomorrow?"

There was no way to tell whether the momentum generated will be sufficient to hurdle the holiday breather.

MAY SEE UPHILL

Some brokers were optimistic but considered it would be an uphill struggle to sustain an advance in a market that has been declining since mid-January.

"People will see what's going on and reflect that this thing isn't as bad as it seemed one broker commented. "It looks like a good summer."

Another characterized Tuesday's action as a "relief" in the morning and an upsurge in the afternoon" "sheer idiocy at its highest."

A sudden surge of buying by public and other investor institutions sparked the rally.

The advance, with blue chip issues in the vanguard, sent Wall Street from a shroud of gloom. Brokers on the floor and spectators in the gallery at the New York Stock Exchange cheered as the closing bell rang at 3:30 p.m.

NOW STILL EVENING

But it wasn't until 3:14 p.m. that the exchange's swamped ticker system caught up with the report on the final transaction.

In the recovery, the Dow Jones averages of 30 industrial stocks gained 27.03 to 292.66, coming close to wiping out Monday's loss of 34.85.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 3.90 to 122.10, after it had dropped 13.40 the day before. It was the highest gain since Nov. 14, 1929.

Trading at the A.P. average's gain, an estimated $12,000,000, was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. This compared with Monday's loss of $19,500,000,000.

Trading volume also skyrocketed to 14,760,600 shares, second only to the 16,410,120 on the Oct. 28 Black Monday crash of 1929

Business Management Talk Given to Kiwanis Club

A talk on business management, its scope, its development and the training of personnel for this vocation by Professor John F. Mee, chairman of the department of management of Indiana University's graduate school provided a most interesting and informative highlight of the local Kiwanis club's weekly dinner meeting yesterday at the Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Mee, former consultant to the executive offices of the President of the United States and editor-in-chief of "Personnel Handbook," spoke on the stages of development of American industry which have led to the professional manager form of administration in the large corporations which account for nine per cent of the number of American business enterprises but employ almost one-third of the working force and produce almost 40 per cent of the gross national development.

He divided the development of American industry into four periods: the owner-management period 1860-1875, the capitalists period 1875-1900, the corporate capitalists and speculators (1905-1929) and the professional business trustee managers (1930-present). The majority of business firms are, however, still in the first stage, the manager connected.

He noted that the professional manager attempted to make his firm's operation as profitable as possible, utilizing to the full the personnel and equipment available to him, minimizing any possible waste of men or material.

Professor Mee did not predict what stage would follow the professional manager stage but noted that so far there appeared to be a change in the method of administration of the major industries with every new generation.

He also outlined the format and content of the management development courses now available in North American universities. It was noted that early training tended to generate a desire for achievement in most youth and that this desire was then moulded, directed, supported and trained at the university level.

Teaching designed to develop a decision-making thought process which could be adapted to the information and variable factors involved in any situation formed the basis of this instruction, he advised.

Management skills was training in proper planning for achieving objectives. This training in setting the theme that whatever man was hired he became responsible for. Mee advised. There was also training in organization, motivation and control systems to supplement the knowledge required by a prospective business manager and to control a business efficiently.

In concluding, the speaker noted that 40 per cent more people would be coming into the North American work force in the near future and posed the question of whether these people could be assimilated into the work force and whether a job between now and 1970 and, following this, what can be done about those who would be entering the work force after 1970?

Kiwanian Don Hickson and Lawrence Kells introduced and thanked the speaker, respectively.

Five new Kiwanians were inducted by past presidents Harold Carruthers. They were Robertson Collins, Al Whitney, Paul Kelly, John Gee and Murray Coles.

Club members observed a moment's silence in memory of the passing of W. H. Mockridge, an honorary club member.

Three Likely To Be Named Next Monday

With less than a week to go before the official nomination everything points to nothing more than a three-way fight in the riding of Hastings South at the June 18th federal election.

The official nomination for the riding is scheduled for next Monday, June 4th, at the city hall, between 1 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Candidates already nominated at party conventions are Hon. E. Gillis, Progressive Conservative; Robert Temple, Liberal, and Gerry McDaid, New Democratic Party.

During the past week voters' lists have gone out to the homes of all urban residents in the riding and the office of the Returning Officer W. A. Vanhelsdonk in Belleville is now busy. To date 13,700 lists had gone out to urban residents in the Belleville area.

SURVEY TO BE REVISED

During the recent canvassing, the enumerators obtained a total of 18,000 names of eligible voters in the riding.

This total is subject to revision but Mr. Vanhelsdonk does not expect that there will be more than 200 additions or changes to be made.

Rural voters have until May 31st to get their names added to the lists. Those in urban areas, while urban voters have until 31 pm. on June 10th to get their names on the lists. Polls will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday for an advance poll in the municipality from 9 o'clock and from 3 until 11 in the evening.

There will be two revising offices in Belleville. The one for residents east of the Moira River will be at 161 Front Street, while West Side voters will be at 224 Front Street. In Trenton the revising office will be at 31 Quinte Street, the office of R. H. Smithrim.

THREATENED

government will convene a national conference on human resources. He did not give any details.

For the second night running, hecklers turned up to taunt the prime minister, Erhard fielded their shouts adroitly.

Keller, on mainland British Columbia, Mr. Diefenbaker was greeted in Clearbrook by some 200 persons, many of them high school students. There were boos and cat squeals in the crowd around him.

Campaign speeches went before the state of the economy and the extent of unemployment.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused Liberal Leader Pearson of "twisting and turning" on whether the Liberals would free the Canadian dollar from its pegged value of 92½ cents in terms of the United States dollar.

Mr. Pearson, speaking at North Battleford, Sask., said the government was forced by exchange pressures to devalue the dollar. The pressure is still on, he said, adding:

"It is not going to be easy to hold it at 92½ cents."

CRITICIZES TRADE

Mr. Pearson was critical of the government's handling of trade and economic policies generally.

At Edmonton, Mr. Pearson attacked the government as a group of men "more skilful at political manoeuvring than at management and government." He also encountered hecklers but not answer their interruptions.

Social Credit Leader Thompson criticized both the Conservatives and the Liberals. He charged them together and said they are offering election policies of debt rather than of positive expansion.

"The Pearson-Baker team is typically social enough to go on indefinitely promising projects we will have to amortize over the lives of our children and grandchildren, rather than offering what Canada's suffering for—money to pay for the things we need," he said in Caroline, Alta.

NEW YORK (AP) —Queens District Attorney Frank O'Connor says he has evidence that mobsters are turning mice loose in beauty parlors in attempts to expand the beautician's in a union.

O'Connor said he expects to present evidence to a grand jury that a new "reign of terror" with extortion and "covert action" in its organizing efforts and that racketeers are running the union.

STOCK MARKETS

PRICES HIGHER

An avalanche of buying sent prices higher on mammoth volume as the exchange's highest and richest spot was reached and 44 minutes late, smashing Monday's record of 29 minutes.

The combined $2,560,000,000 was recovered from the $58,000,000 loss and a net gain of the quoted value of stocks Monday.

The Dow-Jones index of 30 industrials all but wiped out Monday's loss of 34.35 points, at the shot ahead 27.05 points to 695.

The New York Stock Exchange's 1,000 shares, second only to the 16,410,030 shares traded Oct. 29, 1929.

Howard Stock Exchange president of the Toronto Stock Exchange, said the sell-off Monday was "completely unwarranted" only due in large measure to mass psychology.

He said it was wrong to make any comparison between the two record movements of the stock market and the collapse that was experienced in 1929.

The trading covered 1,399 issues, a record exceeding the mark of 1,275 established Monday. Declines outnumbered advances 627 to 530.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, sightseeing in San Antonio, Tex., after a speech, said the rally may be a good sign but declined to venture an opinion on what the market might do next.

Shopping Plaza Phones Cut by Severed Cable

Telephone service to the Belleville Shopping Plaza was suddenly disrupted this morning when a power shovel excavating for a sewer for Applegrove Acres sub-division on East Bridge Street, immediately to the north of the Plaza, sliced through an underground cable.

Up to 300 telephones could be served by the cable, although it was not known immediately how many phones were serviced by the severed line.

Phones went out at about 10.30 and the telephone company was notified shortly before 11.00. Repairmen said it would be about 3.00 o'clock before all phones were back in operation.

Finding Dozen Four-Leaf Clovers Makes Mrs. Sam Turner Nervous

Four-leaf clovers are legendary symbols of good luck.

At least that is what a lot of people think. But proof of ensuing good-fortune has been rare.

Take Mrs. Sam Turner, 74-year-old resident who lives at 17 Evans St.

A four-leaf clover to Mrs. Turner is the same as a black cat crossing in front of one, walking under a ladder on Friday, or spilling a salt shaker without tossing a pinch over the left shoulder.

This morning while using the hose on her lawn Mrs. Turner found twelve four-leaf clovers in an area of two square feet.

"There were two large ones and ten smaller members of the supposed good-luck family," she said.

But Mrs. Turner refused to become enthused over the legendary bouquet of good fortune that was tossed her way.

She picked them and mounted them on a large piece of cardboard.

She did not rush out and buy a sweepstakes ticket, nor invest in the stock market.

Rather she decided to stay in the house until the period of four-leaf clover good luck was out.

"I've lived in Belleville for sixty years," she said, "and I have found four-leaf clovers before. Luck my eye. I never had anything of a 'lucky' nature happen to me."

After all, Mrs. Turner cannot be blamed. If she doesn't place much faith in the good-luck omens.

Last year she found three four-leaf clovers on her lawn. On the way to the house she fell, strained a leg muscle and smashed her eyeglasses.

Toastmasters Club Receives Its Charter

The Belleville Toastmasters Club received its charter Tuesday evening from District Lieutenant Governor Robert Gray of Toronto.

The charter was accepted on behalf of the club by President Bruce Lynch.

The Belleville club has been in existence for almost a year now, and officers holding various offices in the club were officially installed by the Area Governor of Toastmasters International, Ronald Lynch.

Tuesday night's meeting in the Columbus Hall held a double feature, in addition to the presentation of the charter, it was also the first ladies' night to be held by the club.

Mr. Ronald Lynch, Area Governor last October, when he gave arrangements visited the local them a few pointers to help members on their way to earning the charter.

The Belleville Branch of the 27th Club of District No. 81, Toastmasters International is which takes in most of Southern Ontario.

During the course of the regular meeting, four table topic speakers were called, along with two speakers from the Kingston Club.

In addition to the table topic speakers, three special speakers were heard, speaking on "Today's, Modern Woman," "Women Drivers" and "Mistakes."

In closing the meeting President Bruce Lynch, extended the club's gratitude at finalizing of charter after working very hard over the past year.

Gerald Joyce extended greetings to the local club and out of town guests on behalf of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Guests were present from Toronto, Kingston and Trenton clubs.

Fifty-two were in attendance. Immediately following the business portion of the evening a dance was held in the hall to conclude an enjoyable evening.

Quinte Conference Told Christian Dominance Over

KINGSTON (CP) — Panelists at a United Church of Canada conference concluded Tuesday that an end has come to the Christian predominance of the world.

The difficulties of Christian missionaries in Asia bear witness to a decision, four panelists agreed on the second day of activities at the Bay of Quinte conference of the church.

Panelists were Rev. E. E. Long, secretary of the United Church general council, Mrs. B. H. Soper of Smiths Falls, Rev. Floyd Honey of the church's board of world missions and Rev. S. W. Banister of Kingston.

Among reasons for the decline mentioned were the rising expectations of men and women in underdeveloped parts of the world for freedom from want; the population explosion; revolutions, and technological revolutions.

About 400 delegates from Oshawa, Peterborough, Belleville, Brockville and other centres are attending the conference.

United Appeal Team Captains To Hold Meet

Campaign chairman Dr. J. F. Scott reported that most United Appeal divisions were well ahead with their organization work at a recent meeting of the Appeal's directors. Of special note in this regard was the payroll giving division under the chairmanship of V. L. Lewis. This division will be holding its initial meeting of all team captains next week.

Several new publicity ideas were presented by the public relations committee which also reported that Colonel E. A. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, an outstanding speaker, would address the campaign "kick-off" rally, October 1st.

Mr. E. G. Gurnett, budget committee chairman, informed the meeting that all participating agencies' budgets were now in hand and that a review of these, leading to establishment of a campaign objective, would be undertaken within the next few days.

Applications for a participating membership received from two national agencies, were submitted by the agencies committee. Further investigation on there was authorized.

Plans were discussed for playing matches this season against teams from Kingston, Belleville and Campbellford.

Student Enters Scholarship Competition

Two students of the University of Toronto School of Architecture — one of them from Belleville — have entered the Pilkington Scholarship contest and their entries could hardly be more diverse.

The Belleville boy is Carl Hall, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, 76 Geddes Street, who has designed a Trappist Monastery.

The other is David Kobersadi, 30, of Toronto, who has designed a College of Art for the city of Edmonton.

There are no limits to what students may design as entries in the contest. The first prize winner receives $2,500 in the form of a scholarship for travel and study abroad. Entrants must be students at Ontario schools of architecture. The scholarship is awarded by Pilkington Glass Limited and judging is carried out by an independent panel of experts during the annual meeting of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, to be held this year in Vancouver, at the end of May.

Mr. Hall is a graduate of Belleville Collegiate and during his high school years worked part time with Watson and Wiegand, local architects. During his studies at university he has won several awards.

Red Faces

The growing exodus of Chinese people from communist China is a tragic reflection upon the communist system's inability to take care of its own. If one reflects upon the attitude of the Chinese leaders as compared with the Russian communists one might draw the conclusion that the old hard core communist philosophy or the Stalinist version is not at all adaptable for human use.

Human beings, it appears, still come first even if they are not accorded the primary position in a social system. Where they come second a social system is bound to fall apart eventually. The amazing thing is that it has happened so openly and so quickly in China. Under Stalin acknowledgment of such an obvious failure would have been stifled even at the cost of human lives.

One might wonder at the reason why the communists are allowing this exodus. Could it be that China's leaders are actually concerned about the lives and welfare of their people? Such would seem to have been disproved by their actions in setting up the agricultural communes back in the '50's. Earlier whole villages were uprooted and thousands murdered in order to enforce the will of the Reds upon the peasants.

Surely 15 years does not bring about such a great change of heart in these same leaders. Then there is also the aspect of the oriental mind to consider. To lose face is one of the worst possible things which can happen to an oriental. This is an ingrained feature of his way of thinking which is strongly evidenced by the Japanese yen for suicide if placed in a situation where loss of face is to be encountered.

We cannot believe that the Chinese leaders would allow such a great loss of face as is involved here to be shown to the entire world, unless there was some other reason behind such an action.

By their actions the Chinese have placed the Free World in the position of having to show that it has the better philosophy of life by providing for these thousands and thousands of refugees. This is a challenge which cannot be refused yet it poses a problem quite apart from the humanitarian aspects involved.

The entire situation could be one gigantic Trojan horse. One need only look as far back as the German "tourists" who suddenly sprang up everywhere in such countries as Austria, Czechoslovakia and other small European countries just prior to the Nazi Wermacht making its entrance.

Then the red faces would not be on the communists.

Candidate for the Guillotine

Rumor in Paris has it that General Raoul Salan may go on trial for his life a second time.

Salan, head of the blackguardly Secret Army in Algeria, was tried for treason, convicted and sentenced to life by a tribunal. This tribunal has now been abolished. With that decision we have no capital treason should ever be punished by death. Salan then, at most, would certainly appear to fall in the category demanding the most severe sentence. There is, however, something repugnant at the prospect of the government trying to obtain a death decree against Salan on charges of other, less deplorable examples of treason than those for which he first faced trial.

It is said that the French government, which means General de Gaulle, would like a death penalty for Salan because it believes this might help convince European tourists that their attempt to block Algerian independence is futile. There seem to be other methods of driving home this lesson—including really vigorous action against the active terrorists themselves. But if a formal trial is thought to be the best method, there is a possibility that de Gaulle will shortly have a firm ideal candidate for the guillotine—a member of the French cabinet who is alleged to have kept Salan informed of the cabinet's deliberations.

Chopping off the head of the informer while letting his chief escape with his life may not seem quite fair to some—but at least Salan was open and above board in his opposition to de Gaulle's policy, while if there is any cabinet member who played the role now alleged to have been followed, he was a double-dyed traitor. The guillotine would be an appropriate answer, particularly in view of the duplicity of some French politicians during Hitler's day. It would serve notice that there was no double standard for civilians and generals—or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that, if there is a double standard, it will not operate in favor of the highly-placed politician.

British Liberals Revive

Montreal Gazette

The British Liberal Party — the party of Gladstone, Campbell-Bannerman, Asquith and Lloyd George — has not won a general election on a party basis for over 50 years. It has only six members in the present House of Commons. Its once huge majority for a long time is gone.

Yet the Liberals have recently been showing victory. It may have been taken seriously enough by Prime Minister Macmillan for him to take a personal part in the recent by-election campaign in the constituency of Orpington — something which it is almost unknown for a Prime Minister to do.

And three terms of political abuse are beginning to appear which are only heard when someone is worried. Mr. Ian Macleod, Conservative Party Chairman, has denounced the Liberals as "humbug" men of politics with a pretty little trifle for every taste. Others are calling them "Jekyll-and-Hyde" . . .

The Liberal revival has been demonstrated at a number of recent by-elections and, very decisively, in the big municipal elections.

The Liberals have won one by-election, at Orpington — a seat the Conservatives had taken with a majority in the 1959 general election. At municipal elections, in Blackpool, where the Conservatives had won with a large majority in 1959, the Liberals have had been kept in third place. In Rochdale, Liberals won only 973 votes behind the Conservative victor.

In several recent by-elections, the Liberals have won some 25 to 30 per cent of the vote. They have sometimes taken second place in the poll, where they had previously been third, or had not run at all. And in their present by-election, the Liberals had a net gain of about 640 seats, compared with a net of over 700 for the Conservatives.

• • •

Much of the improved Liberal performance may be attributable to the fact that Liberals worry less about the outcome of a by-election. It is a lost cause, then a general election. The Government is in no danger of being overthrown and voters may express minor dissatisfaction that they would suppress at a general election.

But the Liberal Party also improved its position in Parliament between the last two general elections. There are its constituencies. There are its constituencies that in both the 1955 and the 1959 elections the Liberal vote increased by 22.6 per cent. The Conservative Party may be fearful of the Liberal improvement is continuing and that the results of the recent elections are more significant than usual. And for what it is worth, the recent public opinion poll gave the following results — Liberal 33.7 per cent; Labor 32.5 per cent, Conservative 32.8 per cent.

It is not known just what section of the public is now choosing to vote Liberal, although it is widely speculated that the new "middle class" that came into being after the prosperity of the 1920's is responsible. It is also thought that members of this section of the public is dissatisfied with the Government's treatment of the "welfare" state problems, is resentful of the "pay pause" and would like to see Britain's approach to the European Common Market proceed on a more independent and confident manner.

• • •

It must be of particular concern to Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives that the Liberals are drawing more votes away from the Conservatives than they are from Labor. This has always been the possibility that, if the Liberal revival is maintained in the next general election, a Labor Government might come to power.

A writer in the London Observer has suggested that the most likely consequence of the Liberals' current rise of success will be an anti-socialist majority in the country and a Labor Government all the same.

Even if the British Liberal Party is unable to maintain its present performance, and it has already once made a group of little significance, it has nevertheless scored important success. It will have forced the two major parties — especially the governing Conservatives — to give careful and fresh thought to policies and their standing in the country.

We Are Now Facing a New Kind of War

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Mankind has known all sorts of wars in the past — land wars, sea wars, air wars, wars of aggression and reprisal, of defense, of retaliation, of attrition.

Now we are faced with the possibility of an utterly new kind of war, the nuclear war. It will soon be no longer possible to tell where one ends and the other begins.

How are we going to cope with that kind of warfare?

This is the self-defeated function of my own. The concept was expressed by Lyndon Johnson's mush-minded defense analyst Herman Kahn, in his keynote address at the annual honors dinner of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in New York. Kahn told the technically sophisticated group:

"Accurate counter-force warfare would certainly complicate the problem of deterrence. For example, with different nations deploying submarines with Polaris-type missiles, it might be impossible to determine who fired any particular missile. There is a real uncertainty can exist even for missiles fired from land or outer space."

With three, four, or a half-dozen nations possessing small submarines, capable of firing at either Coast from the ocean, how would we retaliate? How would we hit back? Where would our targets be? What war would we declare?

These are real and imminent questions, not just academic ones. And this is why, in past columns, I have stressed the importance of our realizing that the next war will be quite literally unlike any others — and not just bigger and louder.

The possibility of anonymous attack is another reason that we can no longer depend on the instrument of national policy. Terror and fear-inspiring threats drawn up on either side of a clearly marked line, it is no longer a game. It could start like a bomb tossed into a crowded theatre. Old-fashioned concepts as "tactics" and "strategy" mean little when we do not know with whom or where to hit back.

Today we are worried about the Russians. Tomorrow it may be the Chinese or three other nations. Today we started atomic fission and built the fatal weapons. But in the light of developments, all our traditional notions of defense and counter-attack and security have suddenly become obsolescent.

What we desperately need, as I have said before, is a revolution in our thinking to match the revolution in our scientific and technical lives. Future wars are unfeasible because they cannot be won, only lost. If we can persuade ourselves of that truth, perhaps we can begin to persuade the rest of the world of it, too.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

OUR GLORY AND SECURITY

The Bible in a number of places speaks of the earth being full of the Lord. It is full of the goodness of the Lord; full of His riches, full of His mercy, full of His praise, full of His power and His glory.

These little minds of ours cannot understand or describe the relationship which exists between God and His children. God is the Eternal standing off from what He has created, beholding it, and governing it. Also God is a continual presence in the human heart. If we invite Him to do so, He comes into the heart. He supps with us and we with Him. Jesus the Son of God — left the earth declaring that he was with His fellow men even unto the ends of the world.

But the fact that we cannot understand all this does not in the least detract from its reality or effectiveness. Your life and mine are immersed in the reality, existence, love, power, and providence of God. We live in Him and He lives in us. Through the ages we have the Bible and a divine institution called the Church we learn more of Him and are able to grow more and more into His presence. But it was necessary to have the setting of time that God-almighty come into the stream of human history so that we would see His word (His message and creative power) manifested amongst us full of grace and truth.

God is here, and that is our glory and our security.

Here are the new food rationing regulations announced in a broadcast to the Canadian people by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board: sugar — half a pound per person per week; tea — half a pound; canned meats must be cut by one-half; coffee — individual consumption must be cut by one-quarter. The one-half pound sugar ration is the same as that in effect in the United States and in the United Kingdom. Shipping difficulties had made it necessary to build sugar reserve stocks and reduce additions of the refined commodities.

Following several months delays across the country in handing over the 44-gallon drums of gasoline being unable to procure metal for containers, the first carload of 44-gallon drums of gasoline and one-half inch fire hose ordered by the city council for the Belleville fire department arrived in the city the latter part of last week. The capability to procure the necessary non-corrosive metal for couplings was responsible for the delay in the shipment.

The first delivery in the Belleville harbor by boat this season was made when the carrier Calliehall, owned by a Hamilton firm, delivered a cargo of soft coal to the Belleville Cement dock with the sinking last fall of the Henry C. Gambling Necessity

Vancouver Sun.

In sweeping declaration the other day, the Christian Science Monitor declared legalized gambling generally wrong because the person who expects to get something for nothing has a poor sense of morality and responsibility."

That is a sweeping and blanket condemnation.

It's the sort of Biblical-cum-Victorian thing that brings even reasoned morality into disrepute. Suppose a man bets his 10-cent customer of a church bazaar grab-bag into the same category as Mississippi riverboat gambler with his sleeves full of aces.

It can be justified of course by the results of the grab-bag or lack in front. A person with a warped sense of morality and responsibility might object to excess in the hopes of getting something for nothing.

There is the gimmick which automatically frustrates all efforts to get something for nothing.

The whole gambling are a matter of personal excess. So, for example, are the evils of alcoholism. So are the evils of legalized gambling has not been the elimination of kinds and types of gambling be freed from the repression and restriction, just as no sane advocates return of the wide-open cafe of legalized drinking 24-hour saloon.

But even as prohibition, proved it was powerless to curb the man or woman who drinks in excess, so has proved it that gambling laws utterly fail to curb the excessive urge to gamble to excess.

Both types of prohibition restrict only the sane, law-abiding, unwarped, responsible citizen, depriving him of little tot of rye or his mild flutter in the races. Otherwise, nothing is accomplished.

And in both cases, these unrealistic prohibitions breed, nourish, encourage and enrich the gangster, the racketeer and the professional killer.

Gambling is not only a big man instinct it is a human necessity. Everybody gambles a little, and the biggest, climbing out no Canadian voter is likely to forget our existence.

Machine Rule Is Resented

Montreal Financial Times

A machine for dispensing cigarettes may be a boon to the lazy if grudging respect for the categorical exercise of mechanical devices. But it is suspected there is room for an anti-mechanical political movement.

The particular machine has the task of giving 20 cigarettes and dropping a penny change for cents. But the Tilting means at least tender will be willing to pay ten to fit its limited undersanding.

There are seven combinations of silver money for 40 cents. Each of the combinations has two of them. Include one cent piece, which for human vendors and legal tender, and there is a quite large number of combinations adding to 40 cents. The Thing still accepts only two.

The authorities in turning over much of the routine administration of law to machines should be alert to the "conform and we will perform" law which governs machines. Past experience with the authorities offers little comfort to the citizen in this respect. Consequently it agrees that a party of Luddites, smashing machines in their animosity towards machines, would prove to be an aggravating necessity.

Use of Baking Soda Not Advised for Stomach Acid

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am so troubled with acid stomach that I almost literally have to go around with a can of baking soda in one hand and a pineapple in the other. I would like to get a list of foods that are very acid-forming. Sara H.

I'm at a loss, sir, to see how pineapple fits into the problem.

But as far as that's concerned, I think I can say that the baking soda doesn't make any real sense, either.

Yes, I know baking soda is an old favorite but it doesn't deserve its popularity. It doesn't do any permanent good.

In fact, soda carries what is known as a "rebound effect." It temporarily counteracts such acid as it finds in the stomach. Then the body reacts by producing even more acid. That's why so many habitual soda-swallowers get into such a circle of soda-and-more-acid that their poor stomachs don't know what to do.

In fact, there are much better antacid preparations available, if you really must use them. But remember that the stomach is supposed to have acid in it to help digest food.

As to "less acid forming," the fact is that foods themselves don't produce the acid. Your body does that.

If you have excess acid, then frequent feedings of protein foods, such as milk, cheese, eggs, custard, meat, etc., will combine with the acid, bringing it to natural reduction in the amount.

Your best bet by far, however, is to find out what is really ailing your poor stomach. Is it nervous tension? Worry? Indigestion or liver trouble? Too much smoking, coffee or alcohol?

Remember, too, that you will get anywhere until you take some steps to find out — and the best starting point is a trip to your doctor, instead of going on and on, trying soda and hoping to stumble on to some sort of "cure" that will solve your problem. You can see where this has got you so far. Maybe it's time to go in some direction? Try a different approach.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: My 2-year-old has been found with chest. Is this what is called "pigeon chested"? Will it cause trouble for him? How can it be cured?

Mrs. M.A.

Such a chest is called "funnel chest," and the opposite, a protrusion, is called "pigeon breast."

Both are defects in the formation of the bones of the chest area. The cause is not always clear.

Funnel chest, which tends to become more pronounced as the child grows, may narrow the chest to the point of crowding the organs inside. It depends on the degree of funnel effect, of course.

Either funnel or pigeon types can be corrected by surgery. In the case of your son you have a few years to wait, but eventually correction is recommended necessary, it should be done before the bone structure becomes too rigidly fixed.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Lately I have been under mental strain, and find that even simple chores almost exhaust me. Are these related? Can it cause any real damage or will it pass in time? — Mrs. T.C.

Yes, nerves and fatigue are very closely related indeed. Too often a person complaining of being unduly tired isn't aware of the nervous or psychological tension until it is called to his attention. It may be worry, boredom, depression.

Your physician can help more than you think with some of these, depending on the source. Your mental health may simply suggest help by someone else. Could be a psychiatrist, your attorney, clergyman or someone else.

It wouldn't expect permanent damage, but you are somewhat more vulnerable to illness in general when you are constantly weary.

• • •

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, send to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 4866, Chicago 80, for my booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15c in coin to cover handling and postage.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

My son-in-law has sent me a letter from Saigon in Viet-Nam covered with ten stamps of various denominations so as to show me the beautiful art work, design and colors employed. There is great variety in the subject matter of the stamps; some are landscapes, others are an almost geometric treatment of modern technological subjects, still others are beautiful native Indonesian art. I have been unable to find out exactly where these Viet-Nam stamps are designed and printed, but I would guess by ninety dealers in that they are the product of one of the Western countries and it is manufacturers who do such work for various less developed nations.

What is it we lack in Canada that results in such stamps as the recent Red Riverboat commemorative, the purple and colored portrait of Lord Selkirk? Do we lack machines, or lack? Is it artistic talent, or maybe lack of artistic judgment at the stamp shop operation of superintendent level, or wherever the decision lies in the selection of stamps?

Ten times ten thousand billion dollars all over the world could not bear witness to a nation's lack of artistic imagination and sense of design, as do the humble postage stamps. Do the Canadian people deserve this judgment on us? Are we that humdrum?

British Liberals Revive

Scattered Gamble

The British Liberal Party — the party of Gladstone, Campbell-Bannerman, Asquith and Lloyd George — has not won a general election on a party basis for over 50 years. It has only 6 members in the present House of Commons. No one has ever seriously looked for a long time.

Yet the Liberals have recently been putting victory. They have been taken seriously enough by Prime Minister Macmillan for him to take a personal part in the recent by-election campaign at Orpington — something which it is almost unheard for a Prime Minister to do.

And the terms of political strife are beginning to appear which are only heard when someone is winning. Mr. Macleod Conservative Party Chairman, has denounced the Liberals as "the spiv party of politics with a pretty little trinket for every taste." They are calling them "Poujadists".

The Liberal revival has been demonstrated at a number of by-elections, and very decisively, in this month's municipal elections.

The Liberals have won one by-election, at Orpington — a Conservative seat which was taken with a comfortable majority in the 1959 general election. Then at Rochdale, in Blackpool, where the Conservatives had a very large majority in 1959, and the Liberals had been kept in third place, the Liberal candidate was only 973 votes behind the Conservative victor.

In several other by-elections, the Liberals have won some 25 to 30 per cent of the votes. They have sometimes taken second place in the poll, and they had previously been third, or last and even at all. And in the municipal elections the Liberals had a net gain of almost 640 seats, giving them with a loss of over 700 for the Conservatives.

Much of the improved Liberal performance must be attributed to the fact that voters worry less about the outcome of by-elections than of a general election than a general election. They can afford to take a chance of being overthrown and voters may express minor discontents which they would not express at a general election.

But the Liberal Party also improved its position between the last two general elections. There are clear indications that the Liberals contested in both the 1955 and the 1959 elections and improved their vote increased by 22.6 per cent. Conservative vote, they may be fearful that this basic improvement is continuing and Conservative results of the recent elections are more significant than they had first seem to be worth, one recent public opinion poll gave the following percentages: the 33.7 per cent, Labor 23.5 per cent, Conservative 43.8 per cent.

It is not known just what section of the public is now choosing to vote Liberal, although it is widely speculated that the "new class" of middle-class professionals — the "affluent" people being during the affluence of the 1950's is responsible. It is also widely assumed that this section of the public is disillusioned with the "establishment", treatment of Britain's economic problems, is resentful of the "old school tie" which would like to see Britain's approach to the European Common Market presented in a more inspired and confident manner.

It must be of particular concern to Mr. Harold Macmillan's, Government that the Liberals are drawing more votes away from the Conservatives than they are from Labor. This has created the possibility that, if the Liberal revival is maintained in the next general election, a Labor Government might come to power.

A writer in the London Observer has concluded: "The most likely consequence of the Liberals' present lack of success will be an anti-socialist majority with renewed life as a Labor Government all the same.

Even if the British Liberal Party is unable to maintain its present momentum, and becomes once again a group of little significance, it has already scored an important success. It will have forced the many people who normally vote for the governing Conservatives to re-assess their political beliefs and their standing in the country.

We Are Now Facing a New Kind of War

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Mankind has known all sorts of wars in the past — land wars, sea wars, air wars, wars of aggression, of independence, of defense, of retaliation, of attrition.

Now we are faced with the possibility of a totally new kind — the anonymous war. It will soon be no longer possible to know who is attacking us. How are we going to cope with this kind of war?

This is no soft-headed fantasy of my own. The concept was expressed not long ago by the tough-minded defense analyst Herman Kahn, in the keynote address at the annual honors dinner of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences in New York. Kahn told the technically sophisticated group:

"Anonymous warfare would certainly complicate the problem of deterrence. Not only with different nations deploying submarines with H-bomb missiles, it might be impossible to determine who fired any particular shot. There is an uncertainty can exist even for missiles fired from land or outer space."

With three, four, or a half-dozen nations armed with atomic submarines, capable of firing at either Coast from New York to Los Angeles, the sticking last fall of Khrushchev's Emperor in the St. Lawrence River, the one cosier which made regular trips to Cuba, will not be available this season.

Here are the new food rationing regulations announced in the House of Commons by Canada-ads by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board: sugar — half a pound per person per week; tea — 2 ounces per person per month.

Gambling is not compulsory; it must be cut by one-half; coffee — individual consumption must be cut by one-quarter. The one exception to the rule is sugar — half pound per week as fast in effect in the United States and in the United Kingdom. Shipping difficulties had made it essential to conserve reserve stocks and to boost consumption of the rationed commodities.

Following several months delay as the result of supply firms being unable to procure metal, the Bellevill Y's Men's Club has a two-and-one-half-inch fire hose ordered. The hose, costing $200, the Bellevill Fire Department, arrived by the city the latter part of last week. The hose will procure the necessary non-coupling for the fire hydrants and is responsible for holding up the shipment.

The first delivery in the Belleville harbor by boat this season was made on Friday, Carrier Caldwell, owned by a Hamilton firm, delivered a cargo of soft coal to the Belleville Company dock. Gambling Necessity

Vancouver Sun

In a sweeping declaration the other day, the Christian Science Monitor declared "gambling is not immoral or wrong because the person who indulges in it is something for nothing has a warped sense of morality and responsibility.

That's a pretty sweeping blanket condemnation.

It's the kind of all-black-or-all white view that helps prevent reasoned morality into dimness by association. It puts the 10-cent customer of a church bazaar gambling on the same class as a Mississippi riverboat gambler with his sleeves full of aces.

It can be justified or course on the part of the Monitor back to front. A person with a sense of morality and responsibility gambles to excess in the hopes of getting something for nothing.

There is the dimness which automatically condemns all efforts to enforce private morality by public law.

The effort of gambling are a matter of personal excess. So, for example, are the evils of alcoholism. No sane advocate of prohibition has ever, even at the height of its zane sovereignty, proposed that all kinds and types of gambling be freed from all restrictions and restriction, just as no sane advocate of prohibition has proposed the case of legalized drinking 24-hour saloon.

But even as prohibition, proved it was powerless to curb the man or woman who drinks to excess, our present prohibitive gambling laws utterly fail to curb the man or woman who gambles to excess.

And in fact, prohibition realistic, prohibitions feed, nourish, encourage and enrich the gangster, the racketeer and the professional killer.

Gambling is not only a human instinct it is a human necessity. Everybody gambles — crossing the street, climbing a mountain, financiers making an investment, merchants selecting merchandise to sell in a profit, farmers planting a crop.

Gambling to excess is a form of insanity. But so are eating, drinking and smoking to excess. All these excesses should be prevented or cured if possible. But it is the excess that is morally wrong, not eating, drinking, smoking — or gambling.

Machine Rule Is Resented

Montreal Financial Times

A machine for dispensing postage stamps has been given, and if grudging respect for the ingenuity of the inventor of such mechanical devices. We now suspect there is room for an anti-mechanical protest movement.

The particular machine has been set up in a Montreal office to put its limited understudies to shame.

There are seven combinations of silver money for 40 cents. The machine accepts only two of them. Inclade one and you get a stamp. Include two and you get two stamps. The machine vendors are legal-tender, and there is a quite large number of combinations adding to 40 cents. The thing still accepts only two.

The authorities in turning over much of the routine administration to the machine should be alert to the "confirm and we will perform" law which governs machines. Past experience with the authorities gives little comfort to the citizen in this respect. Consequently, we suspect that a party of Luddites, eternally vigilant in their animosity towards machinery, may prove to be an aggravating necessity.

Use of Baking Soda Not Advised for Stomach Acid

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am so troubled with acid stomach that I almost literally have to go around with a can or baking soda in one hand and a pineapple in the other. I would like to get a list of foods that are less acid-forming. — Sam N.

I'm at a loss, sir, to see how pineapple fits into the problem.

But as far as that's concerned, I think I can show you that the baking soda doesn't make any real sense, either.

Yes, I know baking soda is an old favorite but it doesn't deserve its popularity. It doesn't do any permanent good.

In fact, soda carries what is known as a "rebound effect." It temporarily counteracts the acid so it floats in the stomach. Then the body reacts by producing more acid. That's why so many habitual sodaeaters get into such trouble. Acid — or soda-called-neutralized that their poor stomachs don't know what to do.

In a word, there are much better antacid preparations available, if you really need them. But remember that the stomach is supposed to have acid in it to help digest food.

The only trouble isn't that the fact is that foods themselves don't produce the acid. Your body does that.

If you have excess acid, then frequent feedings of bland foods, such as milk, egg, cheese, custard, meat, etc., will combine the job of helping a natural reduction in the amount.

Your best bet, Mr. Sam, however, is to find out what is really doing your poor stomach. Is it nervousness? Is it bad habits or liver trouble? Too much smoking, coffee or alcohol?

I strongly doubt that you will get anywhere until you take some positive action to find out — and the best starting point is a trip to your doctor. Instead of going at it blind, gobbling soda and hoping to stumble onto some sort of relief, let him solve your problem. You can be sure he'll be glad to help you; why keep on in the same direction? Try a different approach.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 3-year-old son has a dent in his chest. Is this what is called "pigeon chested"? Is it cause enough for him? How can it be cured? — Mrs. M.A.

Such a dent is called "funnel chest," and the opposite, a protrusion, is called "pigeon breast."

Both are defects in the development of the bones in that area. The cause is not always clear.

Funnel chest, which tends to become more pronounced as the child grows, may narrow the chest to the point of crowding the organs inside. It depends on the degree of funnel effect, of course.

Either funnel or pigeon types can be corrected by surgery. In the case of your son, you have a few years to wait, but if surgical correction is deemed necessary, it should be done before the bone structure becomes too rigidly fixed.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner; Lately I have been under mental strain, and find that even a simple chore almost exhaust me. Are there related? Can it cause any real damage or will it pass in time? — Mrs. T.C.

Yes, nerves and fatigue are very closely related indeed. Too often a person complaining of being totally tired isn't aware of the nervous or psychological factors involved. Until it is called to his attention, it may be worry, boredom, depression.

Your physician can help more than you think with some of these depressing aspects of your mental strain, he may suggest help by someone else. Or, if you're interested in a spiritual counselor, clergyman or someone else.

I wouldn't expect permanent damage, but you are somewhat right about fatigue results in general when you are constantly weary.

• • •

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Tribune Syndicate, P.O. Box 128, Dundee, Ill. for my booklet, "What Noises in the Head Can Mean," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover handling and postage.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

My son-in-law has sent me a letter from Belgium in Flem-Nese covered with ten stamps of various denominations so as to show me the beautiful art work, design and execution involved. There is great variety in the subject matter of the stamps; some are landscapes, others are a skilful geometric treatment of modern technological subjects, still others are heraldic designs based on native Indonesian art. I have been unable to find out locally where these Viet-Nam stamps are despatched from. The Flem-Nese guesses by stamp dealers is that they are for export to one of the Swiss or German stamp manufacturers who do such work for various small African nations.

What is it we lack in Canada that results in such stamps as the recent Red River centenary issue, with the carrying colored portrait of Lord Selkirk. Do we lack machines, or lack of it artistic talent, or maybe lack of the necessary contracts for printing shop foreman or supervisor? Or, wherever the decision rests with the selection of stamps?

Four times ten thousand billboards all over the world could not bear witness to a nation's love of art, its imagination and sense of design, as do the humble postage stamps. Do the Canadian stamps really represent us? Are we that humdrum?

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

OUR GLORY AND SECURITY

The Bible in a number of places speaks of the earth being full of the Lord. It is full of the goodness of the Lord, full of His riches, full of His mercy, full of His praise, full of His power and His glory.

These little minds of ours cannot describe or even describe the relationship which exists between God and His children. God is the Creator standing off from what He has created, both above and governing it. Also God is a continual presence in the human heart. He invite Him to do so. He comes into the heart. He supplies with us and with Him. Jesus — the Son of God — left the earth declaring that he was with his fellow men even unto the ends of the world.

But the fact that we cannot understand all this does not in the least detract from its reality or effectiveness. Your life and mine are immersed in the reality, existence, love, power, and providence of God. We live in Him and He lives in us. Through a book called the Bible and in divine institution called the Church we learn more of Him and are brought more and more into His presence. It was necessary with the passing of time that God Himself come down from the heavens of human history so that we would see His word His message and creative power) dwelling amongst us full of grace and truth.

God is here, and that is our glory and our security.

brutal methods in dispersing the crowd.

The province 2 wide walkout came in advance of a Thursday midnight deadline set by the union in case a strike ballot favored a walkout. The 2,456 to 1,232 vote against a settlement proposed by a conciliation board and approved by the companies was announced Monday night and the strike was in effect within a few hours.

By Tuesday night trucking was almost paralyzed in Toronto, Hamilton, London and many smaller centres as the Teamsters set up pickets at warehouses and terminals.

First of the five locals involved to break the union deadline was Toronto-based Local 938, which officially went out Monday night. A faction of the local, anticipating the vote, set up pickets Sunday.

Neither side seen an early end to the dispute at the centre of which is a union demand for a guarantee that drivers will not be laid off as a result of the practice of transporting trailers "piggyback" by rail.

HIT 'PIGGYBACK'

The conciliation board recommended that no worker with five or more years seniority be laid off because of piggyback, but said workers should be required to take other jobs if their highway runs were eliminated.

The rejected contract provided for a wage increase over the next three years of 22½ cents an hour in the current basic rate of $1.78. Some 200 maintenance men voted in favor of accepting a similar pact.

In connection with the campaign, special mention has been given to Archie Smith who had a great deal to do with the mailing of the seals to Trenton householders.

This is 60 per cent of the total population, a figure which is higher than many other areas in the province.

The most significant and gratifying response came from the preschool and school children, the most important segment of the population as far as being carriers is concerned, with 77 per cent of school children and 75 per cent of preschool children receiving their oral Sabin poliomyelitis vaccine. Only 45 per cent of the adults received their first dose of Sabin.

Canada Praised For Assistance To Middle East

TRENTON — Bimal Chatterjee of India who has spent the past few months taking a special study course at the Bata Shoe Company's plant in Batawa, was the guest speaker at this week's meeting of the Trenton Rotary Club.

Mr. Chatterjee, who has travelled extensively in Europe, the Middle East and the United States, spoke in glowing terms of Canada's contribution to his country's fifteen-year program of social, political and economic development.

"Every Indian is grateful for the financial and moral support which Canada has given our country," said Mr. Chatterjee. "Canada is at the forefront of the world in the eyes of the people of the Middle East."

"From 1950 until now," the speaker said, "Canada has given more than 30 million dollars toward India's re-development program. Canada has assisted with India's educational program; provided training in agriculture, "cottage industries," helped to develop larger industries, and joined with India in the development of an outstanding scientific research project in Central India.

"In India, we all have a special respect for Mr. Diefenbaker." Mr. Chatterjee told the Rotarians, adding, with a smile, that he wasn't quite sure if he should introduce this thought at election time.

The speaker traced the development of his country from its emergence as a democratic republic in 1950 until the present day. India's system of government is very much like that of Canada. Before independence less than eight per cent of the 400 million population could read and write. Now, 41 per cent of Indians are literate.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL

Now, all children must attend school until the age of 14. "Open air" schools are to be found in back-country villages and the student may go on to government-sponsored universities.

With scientific progress, said Mr. Chatterjee, India's death rate has gone down. This poses population problems. Lately, "family planning," or birth control has been introduced into the villages and cities.

On the "social" side of development, Mr. Chatterjee said that India's caste system, so long a sore spot with thinking Indians, has been declared illegal. The government is endeavoring to introduce a contributory form of health insurance. Self-help in the training of villagers is stressed. Large landowners have been induced to give away large tracts of their land which have been redistributed to individuals. India now raises only 40 per cent of the food necessary to feed her teeming millions, but it is hoped that newer, technical methods of agriculture will better this. The government is concerned with the construction of a country-wide railroad system and hydro electric power is being developed.

"It's been a big job," the speaker admitted, "but with the help of Canada, the United States, West Germany and the United Kingdom, India is really 'going places.'"

Urges IODE To Intensify Drive on Reds

The head of the order's democratic action committee suggested the IODE step up its work to halt expansion by Communists.

Mrs. O. M. Martin of Toronto, said in a speech read by Mrs. D. W. McGibbon of Toronto, second vice-president of the national order, that there is reason to believe women are increasing the fight against Communism.

Canada Sadly Lacking In University Education

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A strengthened plea for more financial support for universities was made Tuesday that Canada is "sadly lacking in university education."

Mrs. Bennett, the order's national secretary, said Canada's needs must encourage higher education if it wants to help in the fight for world freedom.

She said Canada's survival as a free nation depends on the response of students to the "challenge of an all-out race for world supremacy."

Only 15 to 20 per cent of students able to graduate from high schools did so. She said this was a "shocking waste" of Canadian human resources.

She said a large number of students who held IODE bursaries and scholarships were forced to leave school during the past year because of failure or other reasons and said this was a matter of "deep concern" to the order.

Home Still Comes First To Mrs. P. Page as Wife Of Lieutenant-Governor

By JIM WHELLY

EDMONTON (CP) — Living by protocol as wife of Alberta's lieutenant - governor hasn't greatly changed Mrs. J. Percy Page's way of life. Home still comes first and with it the choices every housewife knows so well.

Mrs. Page does her own cooking, washing, ironing and house-cleaning at the couple's home in west Edmonton, a two-storey white house where they have lived for 23 years and which now doubles as a Lieutenant-governor's mansion.

As patron of many women's organizations and hostess by a constant stream of visiting dignitaries, Mrs. Page has won many compliments on the job she has done as Alberta's "eighth chatelaine."

But she has taken on these new duties without a thought of surrendering the role she chose in St. Thomas, Ont., 31 years ago as wife of a young school teacher.

And although neither the Alberta nor federal governments has formally offered any alternative, Mrs. Page says she and her husband live in their own home by choice.

SUNDAY FOR FAMILY

"We keep Sunday for the family and make no official engagements that day unless they are unavoidable."

It is on Sundays that their son-by-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Hollingsworth, who live only a few doors away, drop in.

"And Sunday is when we see our grandchildren," says Mrs. Page with a grandmother's pride.

Donald Page Hollingsworth, 18, attends the University of Alberta and his sister Diane, 11, is almost ready to enter Victoria Composite High School where her father is principal.

Mirella Roche was a teacher herself before she married Mr. Page. After her husband accepted a teaching post in Edmonton in 1912 and began coaching the girls' basketball team, Mrs. Page was invited to come to see the girls play.

During the next 25 years the many girls who played for Edmonton Grads were as well come and as often in the Page home "as if they had been our own children."

For 25 consecutive years the team won the Canadian women's senior championship. Of 338 games, it won 502. When they went on tour, travelling a total of 125,000 miles to play at four Olympics and a host of exhibition games, Mrs. Page was chaperone.

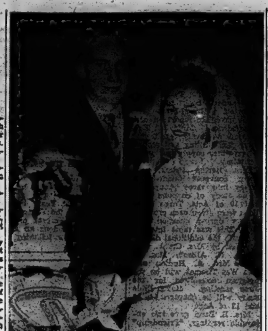
BECAME POLITICIAN

The year the Grads disbanded, 1940, Mrs. Page became a politician's wife as her husband was elected to the Alberta legislature, first as an independent and later as a Progressive Conservative. With characteristic enthusiasm for her husband's activities, Mrs. Page was active in PC women's organizations.

When Mr. Page was appointed lieutenant - governor in 1959, Mrs. Page said:

"This will be living by protocol."

Yet, thanks to the relative informality of life in the West, the job's responsibility has not greatly changed their life.



There are many military functions to attend but not nearly as many engagements as in the capitals of some eastern provinces.

"An interesting aspect of the job is entertaining the round of visitors from all parts of the world. I enjoy that. And visiting the hospitals and other institutions is rewarding for both of us. They need visitors so much—the children and the old people."

She is delighted by telephone and has so many engagements that her appointment book begins to fill up three months in advance. Yet she acts as her own secretary.

She has only one small regret.

"If this appointment had only come when we were 10 years younger, more of the energy and enthusiasm of those days could be put into the job."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Arthur Goodman are shown cutting the wedding cake at the reception following their recent marriage in Canniffton United Church. The bride is the former Marguerite Ruth MacPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacPherson, Canniffton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Goodman, of Belleville. (Photo by Don.)

GOODMAN — MacPHERSON

Canniffton United Church was the setting recently for a lovely spring wedding, when Marguerite Ruth MacPherson, of Canniffton, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacPherson, became the bride of Earl Arthur Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Goodman, Belleville. The Rev. H. O. Nicholls, pastor of Plainfield United Church, assisted by the Rev. C. A. Dawson of Canniffton, officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a background of yellow chrysanthemums and gladioli. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a ballerina length gown of chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice having a Peter Pan collar adorned with seed pearls and featuring long sleeves ending in lily points over the wrists. The three-tier skirt of lace was bordered by accordion pleated nylon. Her crown headdress was attached to a veil of tulle illusion and she carried a bouquet of red roses mingled with baby white mums.

Miss Marie MacPherson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in apple green satin with fitted bodice. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of tinted brown roses and baby white mums with green streamers. Miss Jean Stone, cousin of the bride and Miss June Goodman, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids and both wore gowns of similar style to that of the maid of honor. They wore gold and white accessories and carried bouquets of red roses and baby white mums with gold streamers.

Mr. Keith Goodman of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Messrs. Clare Millage of Burlington, and Ian McConnell of Deseronto, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the basement of the church with the bridal table pretty appointed with pink streamers, centred with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and misted about the base with tulle. Yellow mums and tapering white candles in silver candelabra completed the bridal accent.

The bride's mother in turquoise organza over print sheath with matching jacket, beige accessories and corsage of baby yellow 'mums, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in pale pink cotton sheath with white accessories and corsage of baby white 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a beige suit with brown flowered blouse, brown accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Hamilton, Burlington, Toronto, Pickering, Peterborough, Millbridge, Oshawa, Thurlow, Corbyville, Canniffton and Belleville.

Showers were held in honor of the bride previous to her marriage at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Jones with co-hostesses Miss Betty Jones and Miss Joan McCafferty; at the miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Helen Goodman, also on at the home of Mrs. A. Boyd, with Miss Beth Boyd, co-hostess, and relatives were present for a personal shower held at the home of Mrs. Shirley MacPherson.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman are residing at 37 Main Street, Picton, Ontario.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. C.G. — Perhaps I can save you first grandchild from the awful names they've chosen.

Ruth P. — Our child is unique as he is, like fits or her to have a name that's unique.

• • •

Mrs. C.G. My daughter and her husband expect their first child this summer and, since there's not much else to talk about while waiting, we discuss names.

I feel a name affects a child all his life. I've known people who've gotten into fights over them as children, and later they reduced their names to a mysterious initial. That's why I gave Ruth and my other children simple, plain, unconspicuous names.

But Ruth and Jim are poring over directories and dictionaries looking for something "odd." So far the winners are — wait for the mark! — Chloe Allegra for a girl and Major Ambler for a boy.

Why burden a poor unborn baby with unnecessary problems?

• • •

Ruth P. — Well, those names aren't definite, in fact we fancied them up a bit to tease Mother! But we do believe a name should embody a little inspiration, some music and some proof of how special you consider your child among all other children in the world.

While we know our parents loved us, Jim and I drew names so common that in school the teachers always had to call on our full names to distinguish us from a half-dozen other Ruths and Jims. The names didn't say anything. They were just words to fill in on blanks.

Unless we give our little one a name that makes him stand out and appear different, we might as well give him a number or a letter to identify him. No, We may coin a new name. If we can't find one we like.

• • •

The Council: Norman Rockwell, in his recent autobiography, told of the muscles and back-spinning nurse. Her the Percival (long since dropped) is his name. Small children can be very cruel to each other and a nonconformist name becomes a convenient handle for torment. Thus, we must advise Ruth that a great deal of self-love, self-pride and self-respect must invest the holder of a name-spelling nurse. Her child must be ready to take time out in explaining and defending it.

Many children have. Note Mahalia, among others. We must discourage the unique name so long as the parents aware of the emotional hazards it may invite, for which they must arm their young standard-bearer.

But we'll take this opportunity to make a plea that Ruth and Jim choose a clearly masculine name for a boy and a clearly feminine one for a daughter. Admittedly this gets tarder, with names like Evelyn, Vivian, Shirley and Marion preempted by both sexes, as are Orin, Leslie, Sidney and Lee. It can be pretty maddening to read about Dr. Robin G. and Mother Snow for pages whether it's a he or a she unless a pronoun is required.

As Mrs. G. puts it, a name affects a child all his life. It's one way of helping to establish sex identity from the start.

Another point, Ruth. Don't sweat so hard over the perfect name. By teen-age your action will mean to be known only as Freckles be Jigger or Scotty. And you're Chloe will soon be being hailed as Tomato or Bag! So, close your eyes, pull one out of your grab bag, and get on to the real problem — turning that child and that name into a Somebody!

Sandwiches For A Tea Party

by Mary Moore

There is something about a plate of dainty tea sandwiches that turns grown women into children again.

Their fingers hover over the plate, hesitating. Which one shall it be? This plowbeef egg sandwich with a slice of stuffed olive nestling at its centre? Or the mouth-watering open face chicken spread with lobster and garnished with stripe of ripe olive? Remember! Your partner is waiting for him. Frustrating decision! Take one! You can have a second and a third.

Dinner Menu

WEDNESDAY
(Guests)

Broiled Herbed Lamb Chops; New Mint Sauce; Casserole of Eggplant and Tomatoes; Quartered Potatoes in Parsley and Chive White Sauce; Lettuce hearts with Cucumber Dressing; Creme de Menthe Parfait; Emem's; Sandwich Cookies (see Tuesday); Coffee.

EGG PINWHEELS:

Hard-cook 6 eggs by putting them on to cook, covered with cold water. Put on lid and bring to boil and stand off heat for 15 minutes. Drain. Chill covered, with cold water. Shell and put through food chopper with 1 average-sized dill pickle (or equivalent in sweet cucumber pickle). To this ground mixture add ½ cup soft butter to eliminate step of spreading bread with butter; 2 tablespoons grated onion; 1½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. This yields 1¼ cups and will cover 2 or 3 lengthwise slices of sandwich bread. Amount depends on how generous you are. To make pinwheels spread (as sketched) of white or whole wheat sandwich loaf with egg filling. Cut off end crusts. Place 3 or 4 stuffed olives parallel with short end of long slice of bread. Carefully roll up. Having eggs end down cut off side crusts. Wrap roll snugly in wax paper. Then wrap all rolls in towel and refrigerate. At serving time cut each roll into ¼" pinwheels.

OPEN FACE LOBSTER OBLONGS:

Drain and shred one 7-oz. can lobster, removing any bones. Add ¼ cup each finely chopped inner celery and mayonnaise and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Mix until it is of spreading consistency. Spread on lengthwise slices of buttered sandwich bread. Cut off crusts all round. Cut crosswise into oblong, oblongs or fingers about 1½" wide. Garnish daintily with stripe or crescents of stuffed olive, or slices of stuffed olive. Or if to be served promptly, little strips of green pepper or bits of parsley.

DAINTY CHICKEN SANDWICHES:

These can be different and economical by using dainty for you can use giblets with the chicken meat. Use either 2 cups coarsely ground chicken meat or 1 cup each ground chicken meat and finely ground cooked giblets. Add 1-3 cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons soft butter, 1 teaspoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon curry powder. (Go ahead, try it. It is good.) Mix well. Let stand closely covered, overnight. Spread on 5 or 8 unbuttered ¼" thick slices of white or whole wheat bread. Cover with unbuttered top slice. Cut off crusts. Stack, wrap and chill. At serving time cut into squares or diamonds or oblongs or garnish with little "nulips" — using canned pimientos for the flower and strips of green pepper for stem and leaves.

Women's Activities

COLLEGE HILL U.C.W.

The regular meeting of the evening unit of College Hill United Church Women was held on May 18th, 1962.

An invitation was extended to all the women to attend the regional meeting to be held in Bethel Methodist Church. An invitation to the opening meeting of Canniffton United Church was also extended to all members. A motion was passed to hold the June meeting in the form of a pot luck supper.

Worship service was conducted by Mrs. Lorena Byrd and her group, Betty Whiting, Ida Defoe, Doreen Hay and Rhoda Marriott.

A Bible study was held on St. Luke 11:1-13 under the leadership of Mrs. Veesey.

The meeting was brought to a close with refreshments served and a social half hour enjoyed.

WED 65 YEARS

HANOVER, Ont. (CP) — A couple who recently celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary in this community 60 miles north of Stratford are never grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. Henry Selin is 86, and his wife 80.

Spike-Heeled Shoes Worn At Own Risk

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal decided Tuesday that women who wear spike-heeled shoes do so at their own risk.

The court dismissed an appeal by Irma Arendale, a Toronto law office secretary, of a non-suit decision against the Federal Building Contractors Limited.

Miss Arendale fell while going downstairs Feb. 8 in the federal building.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach said she "believed her heel had caught in a small hole on the stairway. The hole was so small it could be covered by a dime, he said.

"Women who wear shoes with heels so small that they can fit into such holes and so styled that when that happens they are liable to lose their balance and fall must be taken to accept that risk," said Mr. Justice Roach.

U.C.W. Meetings

WELLINGTON U.C.W.

WELLINGTON — Mrs. Carman Barr was guest pianist at the May meeting of Unit 4, United Church Women at the Centennial Parlor hall Tuesday.

The unit leader, Mrs. S. Yourt read a poem and warmly welcomed the members and guests. Mrs. Ross Pyne was in charge of the devotional period using the theme "What Is The Trust of The Church?" Mrs. George Durland and her guest, Mrs. Eugene Spider, rendered a vocal duet "Not My Own Will, Lord," accompanied by Mrs. Barr. Mrs. C. Cassidy chose passages from Matthew and John for her Scripture readings. In enlarging on her topic, Mrs. Pyne said: "The church is called to worship God to watch over and care for all within her fellowship, to preach the gospel to all mankind, to minister to the needy, to wage war on evil and to strive for right relations among men."

The minutes of the April meeting and a report on an executive meeting were read by Mrs. Nash. Twenty-eight quilts and six books read, were reported. Mrs. Norman Allison gave her report on correspondence. Mrs. H. East showed a lovely quilt top ready for quilting and reported on other supply and social assistance.

Mrs. Barton Crotch, program convener divided the ladies into four groups for Bible study of chapters 8, 9, and 10 of Acts. Three questions were given each group to answer during question period. This was most interesting with the additional discussion led by Mrs. Crook.

Mrs. R. Allaby, Mrs. R. Todd, Mrs. A. Hudson and Mrs Wes Thomas will be the program committee for the June meeting. Home Bible study will be chapters 11, 12 and 13 of Acts.

Mrs. R. Bond gave two enjoyable readings, "Friendship" by Edgar Guest, and "The Meals at the Camp."

Mrs. C. Clarke told the story, "Second Harvest" from "Hasten the Day" the rewarding experience of the Rev. Charles Mayer and his wife, Malmle, after their so-called retirement.

Mrs. Crook, who was a delegate to the regional convention at Amelialburg, gave a fine report of the afternoon session.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

MOTHER OF YEAR

ADAMSVILLE, Que. (CP)—Mrs. Henri Rombender, mother of 47 children, was named "Mother of the Year" by the local branch of the Young Catholic Farmers. Several of her children were among an amateur talent show following the presentation.

Council of Women Calls For Stiffer Enforcement

TORONTO (CP) — The National Council of Women of Canada called Tuesday for stiffer laws enforcement to eradicate the practice of criminal abortion — "the most common cause of maternal mortality in the big cities."

Most of the illegal operations are performed on married women, the council told the provincial committee on health services.

The council, representing some 700,000 women across Canada, also advocated greater dissemination of information and techniques that might help lower the infant mortality rate in Canada.

The Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation, with a membership of 315,000, called for expanded physical and mental health programs for school children.

Establishment of a federally-operated consumer information centre was advocated by the Ontario Dietetic Association. Its purpose would be to keep the public informed about food and nutrition.

The dietitians also pleaded for a national school milk program.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Should Older Sister Leave Home?

DEAR DORIS—I don't seem to get along with my 21-year-old sister and mother (and never have) because we are so different. I've had to go along with them all of my 25 years but sometimes I feel I should stand on my own two feet.

When I do, I seem to be hurting my mother and my sister won't speak to me.

All of our friends seem to get along with my sister and mother, and I am left out. Do you think I should leave town and try a new life for myself, or shall I keep trying to get along?—MIXED UP.

DORIS CLARKE

DEAR MIXED UP—Leave town. Threesomes are always bad. This time your young sister and your mother are the kindred spirits, and you are the one who is left out. They don't see what this does to you. When you try to stand on your own feet, they sense that this is rebellion—which it is!

Going to another place to live does not mean that you separate yourself from them, but that when you come home for a visit, they prize you more. They see in you a more interesting and capable individual. This is bound to happen.

Keep on loving them, doing kind things for them and showing them that it isn't because you don't care for them that you are going off. It is just your bid for self-expression. There are books on this subject and if you will write to me again, sending me a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will give you the names of a few.

• • •

DEAR DORIS—I am only 24 years old and have a problem of wrinkles in the forehead. I use cold cream and lotions but to no help. Is there something I can do to prevent this?—WORRY WART.

DEAR WORRY WART—Wrinkles in the forehead are usually caused by wrinkling the forehead. You are going to have to lose your tensions or your skin will keep right on showing them. Once you get those eyebrows down, keep them there.

Then the creams and lotions can get in some work for you in softening up the skin and making the wrinkles less noticeable.

• • •

TO THE GROOM—You respond to the toast to the bride. Pay your lady a compliment of your own; let folks know how glad you are they are there; thank both sets of parents for the wedding and friendship.

Invite just everybody to come and see you in your little love nest. Make it cheery and informal. And sit down soon.

• • •

TO MRS. J. D.—It does sound as though you have managed on very little over the years. I think your suggestion that your husband pay part of the expenses is excellent.

From what you tell me, he is not really carrying his share, if he gets a pension as well as earning money from time to time. You are wrong not to insist on your rights.

(Doris Clark, Master of Social Work, is a graduate of McGill, Toronto and McMaster universities, and has had broad experience in social work. If you would like help with your problems, write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

MAIL CALL

Question: When issuing a verbal invitation, and the person you're inviting says "I'll let you know," is it then proper to set a deadline for a refusal or acceptance? Sometimes I think people don't bother to call back until the last minute, and it's hard to make final plans until you know how many people will show up. — Mrs. I.C.B., Miami, Fla.

Answer: If someone is doubtful about accepting an invitation (a wife may have to check with her husband, for instance), then it's proper for the person issuing the invitation to request an answer by a given date. If the deadline passes and there's still no reply, the prospective hostess may then call to check, but it is inconsiderate of the person who was invited to put her to this extra inconvenience.

Question: My closest friend has asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding. Our gowns have been chosen and we've already had a fitting. The wedding is next month. My mother passed away last week, and I'd like to know if it would be suitable for me to take part in the wedding. I'd like to because the activity is good for my morale and, also, because I'd hate to disrupt my friend's plans for her wedding. Would you advise me how to proceed properly? — Miss B.V., Trenton, N.J.

Answer: There's nothing "improper" about a person in mourning taking part in a wedding. The decision is very personal, if, after giving the matter second thought, you feel you cannot cope with participating, you should let the bride know as soon as possible so she can find a replacement. But if you do decide to go ahead as planned, friends and relatives will probably sympathize with your decision, so I don't think you have to worry about any raised eyebrows on the sidelines.

Dawson City Will Feature International Fashions At Gold Rush Festival

DAWSON CITY, Yukon (CP) — Sixty years ago a scurrying throng who had struck it rich in the Yukon gold rush or in the poker table could visit a shop here and pick out a Paris or London original for his favorite dance hall girl.

This summer in Dawson City, the men with money in their pockets will be tourists here for the Gold Rush Festival July 1-Aug. 25. The women they're likely to spend it on will be their wives. And once again there will be international fashions to choose from.

Original creations by Norman Hartnell, internationally famous London couturier, will be on display in one of the original Dawson City shops, Madame Tremblay's.

Hartnell's whole 1962 line, some 60-odd gowns, is being shipped from England for showing and sale here. They will be complemented by an exhibition of Eskimo fashions made right in this area.

STORE IS SAND

The idea of bringing the London fashions here came up when Tom Patterson, general manager of Ontario's Stratford Shakespearean Festival and a moving spirit behind the festival here, was in London some months ago.

Patterson had taken shovel some rare books, one dated 1500, that had been found in the back of a Dawson City saloon. While in London he was in contact with Hartnell.

After hearing how Dawson City had once become a fashion centre, Hartnell agreed to contribute to the revival of the city's past by sending his creations along.

Mme. Tremblay, who came to Dawson City before the 1898 gold rush and was the first white woman to cross the Chilkoot Pass, was originally from Quebec's Saguenay region.

She had several gold claims and accumulated considerable wealth in business dealings with miners. Recognizing that the community's sudden wealth made it a natural for a fashion-able dress shop, she set up business in a frame building and began importing expensive gowns from Europe.

Mme. Tremblay died years ago but the store, which she operated for many years, remains in much the same condition and will require only minor renovation before it again blossoms with international fashions.

London Actor 'Hangs' Self, Repeats Scene

LONDON (AP) — Actor Hugh Griffith still was considerably shaken up today after accidentally hanging himself on the set last night.

"I have had forebodings about the scene ever since we started rehearsals," the 49-year-old actor said, "and as the play has run on, I have become more worried."

Griffith plays the lead in the Royal Shakespeare Company's production of Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle."

Midway through the play he stands on a box with his neck in a noose.

Monday night his foot slipped. He tumbled from the box. The noose tightened around his neck, and he lost consciousness.

As other actors and stagehands ran to help, the curtain came down. Michael Flanders, another member of the cast, came out in front of the curtain and explained what had happened.

Ten minutes later, after he had been revived with smelling salts and brandy, Griffith returned to the box and the play continued.

"The soles of my shoes were slippery and that box was a bit tickety," he explained.

Opposition Building Up Against Plan

REGINA (CP) — Petitions, plans for mass car cavalcades to Regina and a request for a court injunction bespoke the opposition of some Saskatchewan residents to the medical - care plan today.

Provincial Attorney - General R. A. Walker, meanwhile, absorbed the opposition to a scare campaign by Saskatchewan doctors.

The government's comprehensive, compulsory medical-care plan is scheduled to start operation July 1. The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, representing the 800 Saskatchewan doctors, has declared its opposition on the grounds of "government control."

The application for a court injunction was filed Monday in Regina by Olive Beaton of Regina. Miss Beaton asked an injunction against the Saskatchewan Medical Care Insurance Commission, the body set up to administer the plan, restraining the commission from continuing registration of herself as a beneficiary.

Miss Beaton said she has been wrongfully registered. Her claim objects to automatic registration under the plan. It says she has not at any time registered under the provisions of a elected section of the Medical Care Act, but that a notice was delivered to her about May 22 notifying her she had been registered.

Plans were reported in several centres to organize car cavalcades to drive to Regina and ask the government to delay implementation of the plan until the impasse with the doctors can be resolved. One organizer said a 200 - car group was expected to originate in Moose Jaw.

Case Histories Show Need for Health Scheme

TORONTO (CP)—Two social service organizations Monday told the royal commission on health services their case histories show a need for a national health scheme.

The Young Women's Christian Association and the Canadian Association of Social Workers reported that voluntary health insurance has proved inadequate in their experience.

"Our brief makes only one recommendation," said the YWCA, "namely that the government of Canada endeavor to reach agreement with all provincial governments and the Canadian Medical Association to insure progressive implementation of a comprehensive national plan of health services for all residents of Canada."

The YWCA detailed "serious and widespread problems" which could only be solved by a national scheme. They included:

The damaging psychological effect of financial worry that frequently accompanies illness; inadequacy of existing medical plans and of federal-provincial hospital plans; increase in mental illness; decrease in physical fitness.

The Association of Social Workers, representing 2,500 professionals in Canada, said their case load includes many relief recipients who have to "shop around" for a doctor willing to treat them.

Space Capsule Needs Changes Says Carpenter

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter told Tuesday it could have "disastrous" effects on American space capsule if he had had more oxygen.

Carpenter made the statement at a press conference climax of a day-long welcome by thousands of residents of his home city.

Earlier in the day, Carpenter was awarded a bachelor of science degree in aeronautical engineering which he failed to get when he flunked a course at the University of Colorado in 1948.

The 37-year-old naval commander said the space capsule itself was "a marvelous machine." He said it required just three major modifications, the most important, he said, should be greater oxygen-carrying capability.

He suggested also that inflated emergency capsule should be jacketed and a system to remove carbon dioxide from the cabin.

Major Space Experiment May Be Under Way

LONDON (Reuters) — Four points in Western Europe Tuesday picked up snatches of radio messages in Russian, sparking speculation that a major new Soviet space experiment was under way.

But some experts thought it was more likely that the messages were passing between a Russian fishing fleet and a marine station than an astronaut and his tracking station.

The Reuters radio receiving station near London picked up the following scraps of conversation: "We are continuing on our route," "Temperature" and "Yes."

Monitors at the station said bits of messages were heard for more than 30 minutes and that the length of identifiable conversations made it doubtful that they were between a spaceship and the ground.

Forthcoming Mac-de Gaulle Talks Get Full Treatment

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

As happens when the good guy and the bad guy admit their holsters and fan out into the West for that last desperate duel in the sun, the forthcoming de Gaulle-Kennedy-Macmillan meeting in Paris is getting the full technicolor treatment.

Already the saloon is swinging doors, the sidewinders are saying that this is it, the gunfighter's last chance for Prime Minister Macmillan to show whether he can beat the deadliest gunslinger on the draw and save the old Empire's honor—and for Britain.

Well, the script may be something else again. In fact, quite big is likely to be settled in Paris. The probability is that de Gaulle will decide on whether to bar the door to Britain will come in the Brussels negotiations.

A POLITICAL REALIST

In his present mood, de Gaulle certainly seems to oppose any concessions that would let this all part of the organizing process?

In other words, a sophisticated view is that even if the general meant every word he said in May 15 press conference, he is still enough of a political realist to bend with events, if the circumstances command.

The British attitude may be something more than just an exercise in stiff-upper-lippery. Nobody underrates de Gaulle's capacity for intransigence, but his position has seldom been more fragile.

TROUBLES AT HOME

One by one, his political allies wither away. An alienated army, sulking over frustrated dreams of glory, stands by indifferently as horror piles on horror in Algeria and taxpayers in metropolitan France pay the bills for incoming refugees who boast of their Frenchness, though most have never been in France, are usually of Spanish, Maltese or Italian descent, and basically hold an unflattering opinion of their cousins on the mainland.

In the circumstances, de Gaulle's concrete view of Europe as a balanced force between Russia and the United States seems all the more romantic and other-worldly. At Brussels, oratory may finally give way to practical considerations.

Holstein Cow Brings $33,000

OAKVILLE (CP) — A cow called Elsie was sold here Tuesday for $33,000, the highest price ever paid for a dairy cow.

Elsie, whose full name is Rosafi Shamrock Elsie, was purchased by Angelo Agro of Agro Acres farm near Hamilton from R. S. Bonnie of Bonnidale Farms of Unionville, Ont., at Hay's Farms Sales Arena.

John Powell, an official of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, said the records show $33,000 is the highest ever paid for a dairy cow anywhere. The previous high was $31,000 paid for a Holstein at Minneapolis, Minn., in 1918.

Mr. Powell said six-year-old Elsie has rich blood lines and is rated an excellent individual in cattle classification.

Jean-Guy Legault, fire director for this district about 30 miles north of Montreal, said the fire appeared to have started about 4 a.m. but the alarm was not received until two hours later.

Yoga Student Acquitted on Morals Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Yoga student Helen Donaldson, 27, Thursday was acquitted on a charge of attempting to procure an abortion in a Chatham hotel.

Mrs. Doreen Pallesen, a slim, red - haired mother of three, testified she took yoga lessons to learn to "overcome the sensations of life."

She said the first went to classes in 1959 because "my mother had been a student of yoga and had "got a lot of good out of it."

In January, 1961, she began "private meditations" with her teacher, David Kahn, a 41-year-old Nevadan, to "teach me to reach divine love and reach divine method, overcome the emotions of life and achieve a spiritual relationship with God or God."

She told Kahn in March that she was pregnant, she said, and he told her "it was impossible because it was not God's will."

The woman said the record arranged for Donaldson to perform the operation and that she had two such operations done in May and the other in June—but the continued to see Kahn until July because she was still infatuated with him.

If you're fed up with "sky-high" heating costs ... here's an opportunity to do something about it!

Many customers of Lakeland Natural Gas have found they could save $20, $40, $60 or $100 per year when they changed to natural gas. You can do it too!

Because we know natural gas will heat your home more efficiently and economically, we'll let you "try" it for a year so that you can prove to yourself it actually does. Lakeland Natural Gas will install a conversion burner in your present furnace. You don't have to buy it! You don't have to pay to have it installed! All you pay for is the gas you use. At the end of a year, when you've discovered how much you've saved with natural gas, you can either buy the conversion burner, or rent it for only $20.00 per year. If you're not satisfied we'll take it out at no charge to you!

Will you really save on heating costs? Try it and see! You save because there's no furnace cleaning with gas. You save because there are no moving parts to be replaced. You save on service call costs because Lakeland provides FREE 24 hour service on all gas equipment. You save on hydro costs because natural gas does away with electric burner motors. And you save because natural gas does a more efficient job—heats your home better for less.

Don't put up with "sky-high" heating costs any longer. Have your Lakeland home heating specialist give you further details on Lakeland's free "home-trial" heating plan. Arrange to have him call, at your convenience, by returning the reply card mailed to your home, or use this handy coupon; or contact your local natural gas dealer.

$30,000 BAYFRONT HOME—Owned by the Hous-ton Company and situated on site of the city's sewage disposal plant, is being expropriated by the Ontario Water Resources Commission. Due to be vacated by June 15th, the home will be sold and moved from the property.

SCENERY CHANGE — This is the view which Mrs. Houston now has from her back door since construction of sewage plant commenced. Picture shows flotation tanks constructed as part of the sewage disposal plant.

Captain Says Four Shots Fired at Ship

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) Capt. J. R. Stephens of the Canadian Great Lakes freighter H. Bruce Angus said Tuesday night at least four shots were fired at his ship Tuesday morning in Buffalo harbor.

Two struck the superstructure close to a porthole, he said as the vessel arrived here.

"The shots must have come from shore as the men on watch did not see any small boats in the area," he said.

"I gathered 19 fragments of what appeared to be high-powered rifle bullets from the deck. I notified the United States Coast Guard at Buffalo immediately and they called in Buffalo city police who carried out a routine investigation."

Capt. Stephens said the crew did not appear to be disturbed.

"We can't say who fired the shots or where they came from definitely. It could have been some crackpot."

The 250-foot vessel, carrying a load of grain from the Lakehead, stopped here for fuel on its way through the Welland Canal. It is bound for Montreal.

The Angus is owned by Upper Lakes Shipping Limited, which this year signed a contract with the new Canadian Maritime Union (CLC) displacing the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.).

Three Workmen Overcome by Gas Fumes

HALIFAX (CP)—One by one three workmen entered a pump-house pit and were fatally overcome by gas fumes Tuesday in a waterpumping station at Big Indian Lake, eight miles south west of here.

The dead were identified as Gordon Hector, 33, of Upper Leon, 32, and James Carmichael, 28, employed by the Halifax Public Service Commission.

The deaths happened one after the other. Carmichael went into the 18 - foot deep pumphouse pit to work on some equipment. When he failed to return from his task, Hector and when he didn't report, MacLean entered and also lost his life.

A supervisor prevented a fourth, Jim Ross from going in search of his companions and sent him to a telephone two miles away to call help. The lakeside fire department was quickly on the three.

Commission Manager Doug Kinley pronounced carbon monoxide from a gasoline pump the men were using to pump the water the cause. Being collected in the bottom of the pit during the eight hour few yards away from him and exclaimed: "You colonialists."

Rather than and smiling he toasted "to the liquidation of the colonial system."

In his speech, he said that if the peoples of the world turned to socialism the earth would be "transformed in 10 or 15 years."

He went on: "It would be paradise. Christians promise it after death but we will have it on the first planet, on the planet earth."

Colonial System Criticized by Khrushchev

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev Tuesday night accused "the capitalists of-fool following the teachings of Christ.

The Soviet leader said heatedly at a reception here given by a Mali government delegation.

I can quote to you from the Bible. It says that Christ once took a stick and started to chase the traders from the church. That is in the Scriptures."

Khrushchev said that capitalists "thus had no excuse" and that while they talked about Christian brotherhood they did "nothing but rob."

At the end of a 90-minute speech without notes Khrushchev held out his palms to correspondents standing about a LOCAL SALES-ADMEN RING BELL —The Belleville Sales and Advertising Club certainly rang the bell when it came to earning national awards at the recent convention of the national association of Canadian Sales and Advertising clubs. Phil Flagler (left) holds the national association's trophy for the club which has done the best job of promoting the public's interest in responsible advertising. Past president Don Barrett (right) holds the Simpson trophy awarded to the club which has done the best job of providing instruction in sound advertising for local businessmen. This past year over 500 attended the local club's classes on better advertising.

Miss Frances Young, of Sir Winston Churchill School; Miss Olive Elson of Queen Alexandra School and Mrs. Edna Emery of H. J. Clarke School, were the three teachers honored at a retirement banquet in the Masonic Hall, Monday evening.

Says Church Out of Touch With Reality

KINGSTON (CP)—Rev. E. C. Kelloway of Cobourg Tuesday urged United Church authorities to "get in touch with reality" concerning the religious education of teen-agers.

He told 400 delegates at the church's annual Bay of Quinte conference: "Our church authorities are out of touch with reality and they have been for the past 15 years. They are still producing programs geared to the mentality of the 16 to 24 age group for teen-agers aged 14 to 17."

Mr. Kelloway, past president of the conference, warned that if something is not done about religious education there will be a loss of young people who could "make a magnificent contribution to the life and work of the church."

He also suggested there should be closer co - operation between the United Church council headquarters in Toronto and conferences across Canada.

It was announced at the session of the five-day conference that a lay school of theology will begin next fall in a co - operation with Queen's University Theological College. The school will be the fifth of its kind in Eastern Canada.

The principal of the Theological College, Dr. Elias Andrews, on Tuesday was elected president of the conference, succeeding Mr. Kelloway. Rev. K. J. Cowling, Kingston was re-elected secretary and Rev. J. M. Glover of Marmora was named treasurer.

3 Public School Teachers Honored at Retirement

Approximately two hundred and thirty persons were present at the Masonic Temple on Monday evening for a banquet sponsored by the Belleville Teachers' Institute and the Belleville Public School Board in honor of three teachers, who are retiring at the end of this present school semester in June.

The three retiring members of the Belleville Public School Board teaching staff are Miss Olive Elson, Mrs. Edna Emery and Miss Frances Young, who combined hold an enviable and distinguished record of nearly one hundred and ten years of teaching, the majority of which was being done in the Belleville schools. These three women are known far and wide for their fine qualities and remarkable abilities in their chosen profession and are fondly and nostalgically remembered by the thousands of pupils who have passed through their various class-rooms over the nearly dozen decades that they have given of their services.

Previous to the introduction of the guests at the head table by Mr. K. Harnden, Principal of Prince of Wales School and president of the Belleville Teachers' Institute, grace was said by Mr. M. M. Hackett, B.A., M.Ed., principal of Queen Alexandra School and the toast to the Queen was given by Mr. J. M. Cousins, B.A., Board of Education Inspector of Public Schools.

Following the dinner a chorus made up of twelve teachers, conducted by Miss Phyllis May, and accompanied by Miss Carol Hill sang two selections, one temporarily fitting at this time, "Three Little Maidens" from "The Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan and "The Lord is My Shepherd," by Schubert.

GUESTS WELCOME

President Harnden welcomed out - of - town guests from Oshawa, Peterborough, Prescott, Willowdale, Deseronto and Hamilton who were present. These guests were mainly relatives and close friends of the three retiring teachers. Mr. L. A. Kells, B.A., B. Paed., Superintendent and Chief Inspector of Public Schools spoke briefly on the many fine years of service that the three retiring teachers had so unsparingly given and unstintingly granted their valued services over the years.

The presentatio, speech was tendered by Miss Hazel Thompson, Vice Principal of King George School. In her remarks Miss Thompson summarized individually the teaching careers of these outgoing members of the staffs and brought out the salient points of their lives that have been devoted to the teaching profession.

PICTURES PRESENTED

The actual presentations of Manly Macdonald paintings were made by Mrs. Dorothy Blakely to Mrs. Emery, Miss Kay McPherson to Miss Elson and Miss Mary Cook to Miss Young. Following this a second presentation in the form of a gratuity was made by Mr. William Towsley, Chairman of the Belleville Public School Board on behalf of that organization.

The three recipients of these presentations each spoke briefly and graciously thanked all in attendance for the kindness and attention showered on them at this time. They stated in their individual responses that they will miss greatly, returning to school on Tuesday but as Robert Browning so aptly penned "Grow old along with me, the best of life is yet to be" the forthcoming years of retirement will be anticipated with yearning and a feeling that each may contribute and find a full life in a job well done. May their coming years be the most enjoyable of all, and may they have a life ahead of peace good health and longevity.

Doctors, Nurses Have Unfounded Fear of Press

TORONTO (CP)—Doctors and nurses have an unfounded fear of the press, Dr. F. A. Dunsworth, associate professor of psychiatry at Dalhousie University, said Tuesday.

Dr. Dunsworth, speaking to the Canadian Public Health Association, said the press can carry the message of the CPHA to many more people than could normally be reached through doctors in daily practice.

"Why aren't we closer, why aren't we friendlier to the press? I can remember back to hospital experience when parents and doctors both had the attitude that the less you told the press the better."

He said the interview behind the feeling was that the press did not print things correctly in the first place, was only interested in the vivid and sensational and would not understand the ethics of medicine.

"I feel these attitudes are most unfortunate. Not only that it has a sense of truth which has often been forgotten by all of us."

Reporters often write what the speaker meant to say but did not have the courage to say bluntly.

Dr. Dunsworth, public relations chairman of the Canadian Medical Association, warned the doctors present at the meeting not to get involved in battles over new public health measures.

Must Give up $30,000 Home To Build Disposal Plant, Owners to Vacate June 15

City officials and residents generally will be happy when the city's new sewage disposal plant goes into operation some time before the year end.

But that happiness is not the shared 100 per cent by one Belleville couple who will have to give up a $30,000 bidecked home on the city's waterfront.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Houston, whose spacious one-storey will confront home is on the site chosen for construction of the sewage plant, are seeing their home and property expropriated and have been given notice to vacate by June 15th.

Of course they are not happy about having to leave the home where countless hours and expense have gone into modernizing since they moved to the property in 1946.

Along with the house nine and a half acres of Houston property is being expropriated by the Ontario Water Resources Commission which is building the city's sewage plant project.

NO SETTLEMENT

"The property is being expropriated and we can't do anything about that," noted Mr. Houston, "but no settlement has yet been reached and the matter may possibly have to go to arbitration."

Like her husband, Mrs. Houston hates to have to leave her waterfront home.

"We have a million dollar view down the bay from our front window," Mrs. Houston says.

And Mr. Houston agrees the view is one of the best anywhere in the Belleville district.

The rambling one-storey home will be offered for sale by the OWRC the condition of sale being that the purchaser move it from the property.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Houston are looking for another home. In anticipation of the forced vacating of their home, they have dug up and given away most of the shrubs and landscaping put in since 1956.

HARD AT WORK

Only a 100 feet or so from the Houston back door, construction crews are hard at work rushing the sewage plant to completion.

"All spring bulldozers and cement trucks have been turning around in our backyard," noted Mrs. Houston.

In various stages of completion are the various flotation tanks, settling tanks, pumping stations and administration building.

Schwenger Construction Company of Burlington have the contract for the sewage disposal plant, while Beaver Construction Company are in the final stages of three contracts for the installation of trunks sewers, east and west along Bayshore Drive to the outskirts of the city and the main trunk line north to the College Street area.

OPEN THIS YEAR

Lightfoot Construction of Belleville have the contract for two pumping stations, one at Firemen's Park and the other on West Dundas St.

The contract for the construction of the forced main from Firemen's Park to the sewage plant has been awarded, as has the contract for the 1500-foot outfall into the bay.

As noted above the plant proper and the three trunk sewer contracts are well underway, as are the two Lightfoot contracts. Work on the forced main from Firemen's Park and on the outfall into the bay have yet to be started but completion is expected in time for opening of the sewage plant some time before the year end.

Cool Attitude of de Gaulle Factor in U.K. Negotiations To Join Common Market

The cool attitude of President de Gaulle of France has been a factor in British negotiations with the Common Market. In the following story a Canadian Press writer who has covered meetings of the European group reports on the present stage of bargaining.

By DAVE GANCIA

LONDON (CP)—The bargaining on Britain's application to join the European Economic Community is moving into its final phases against a background of political uncertainty.

More than at any time since the British government made known its decision to try to draw closer to Europe, there is pessimism about the outcome of the negotiations.

The betting odds favoring British membership seem to be roughly 3 to 1. They have shortened to even money, and there are some who won't even take a bet at that price.

"One can visualize for the first time the possibility of failure," said one veteran diplomatic observer of the European scene.

The reasons:

1. France's—and particularly President de Gaulle's — views about the political future of Europe.

2. The relatively cool reception given the British proposals for Commonwealth trade.

3. A decision by the six-nation Community formed by France, Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries to speed up the tariff - cutting among themselves.

FRANCE IS OBSTACLE

Even before the meeting of ministers from Britain and the Six in Brussels May 11-12 there was speculation that the continental powers would take a tough line.

At the heart of this talk was the suggestion that the community would confront the mother country of the Commonwealth with a choice between Europe and her family of nations around the globe.

British observers still tend to see de Gaulle as the biggest obstacle. The French president did little to allay their fears during a recent press conference.

He did nothing to remove the uncertainties associated with France's position on Britain's prospective Common Market membership. The Daily Herald, a staunch supporter of Britain's attempt to draw closer to the continental group, commented with some bitterness that "there was a hope gap where some attitude to Britain should have appeared."

Now Britons tend to look to Prime Minister Macmillan's Paris visit early in June for a clue to where the general stands.

WANTS THIRD FORCE

Some commentators now say that de Gaulle is not keen on having Britain in the Europe he envisages. The goal, they add, is to build a big new power-bloc on the French-German partnership. Such an entity, complete with French nuclear weapons, could be the third force between Moscow and Washington.

Some view the hard French line in the economic talks as part of a diplomatic manoeuvre aimed at getting what de Gaulle wants on topics ranging from nuclear arms to the future political shape of Europe.

The Brussels negotiations continue against this background of political doubt and conjecture.

In the nine months since Britain made her formal bid to join the Community, ministers and their deputies have moved out of the exploratory into the hard bargaining stage.

They have assembled most of the facts needed to solve the problems. They've even thrown out the possible range of solutions for a number of problems.

ASKED TARIFF DELAY

The task now confronting both sides is to settle on solutions that will satisfy the Common Market, the British government, and opposition, the Commonwealth, British farmers and Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association.

This will be far from easy. The first real bargaining session was the ministerial meeting in mid-May. Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, Britain's chief Common Market negotiator, tabled proposals for dealing with some aspects of Commonwealth trade.

He also obtained Community agreement that the possible accord between Britain and the Six covering the whole field of agriculture should be worked out by the end of July.

Heath's proposals, which proved coincidental, were:

1. Britain wants special treatment for exports of wheat, dairy and other temperate zone foodstuffs produced by Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Heath asked for outlets in an enlarged Common Market comparable to those Commonwealth countries now have on a preferential basis in the British Isles.

2. Britain asked for a delay in the application of the Community's external tariff on imports of manufactured goods from the developed Commonwealth countries—Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

CRITICIZE TIMING

Heath asked that the Community have no tariffs at all on 27 different raw materials, including aluminum, lead, zinc, newsprint and wood pulp. These are important Canadian exports.

The Six, effectively led by France, took the position that the timing envisaged by the British negotiators in their proposals was too slow and inflexible. After a withering Paris attack, the suggestions were turned over to deputies for further study.

Britain wants arrangements on manufactured goods and foodstuffs to run for a lengthy transitional period, followed by a review conference of the interested parties. During the transition attempts would be made to reach world-wide arrangements to deal with these trade problems.

The Six concede there should be special transitional arrangements for the Commonwealth, but they want to keep it as short as possible—preferably no longer than it takes to eliminate tariffs among Community nations and build their common customs duty wall.

TENSION MOUNTS

The Six argue that if satisfactory transitional arrangements are conceded, there will be no incentive to work for world-wide agreements.

These proposals, with replies from the Six, were handed to the deputies for consideration. They are to report their progress at the next ministerial session May 28.

Recent Brussels reports say tension "outside the deputies' conference rooms is mounting. A development considered disturbing since it comes in the wake of months of intensive exploration of the problems.

While the bargaining continued, the Six decided to speed up the tariff-cutting process in the Common Market. On July 1 duties on industrial goods traded within the Community will be slashed another 10 per cent, making the total cut 50 per cent since the Common Market's inception.

The decision puts the Common Market's development roughly 5½ years ahead of the program envisaged by the treaty of Rome.

Some observers view this as still another blow at Britain's hopes for membership. In practical terms it means that should Britain join next Jan. 1, the earliest possible date, she will have to slash her import duties on goods from the Six by half. The present members did this gradually over a period of four years.

The Six themselves view the latest decision as another indication of the virility and strength of their community.

Their biggest test was at the end of 1965, in 40 days and 40 nights of ruthless bargaining they hammered out a common agricultural policy that eventually is to operate to the whole of the Community.

Their one notable failure—intrinsically linked with the Britain negotiations—was to agree on political institutions for their community. President de Gaulle heaped scorn on the federalist solution offered by Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

He wants a Europe of nation states co - operating under the benign government of a minimal central structure.

Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, former NATO secretary general, angered by the French stand, finally refused to have anything to do with any political agreement until the issue of Britain's membership is settled.

Saskatchewan CCF Govt. And Doctors at Bitter Odds Two Years, Near Showdown

By PEM. ADLER

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan CCF government and the doctors in the province, at bitter odds for two years, are nearing a showdown in their fight over compulsory medical care insurance.

The government says it will implement its medical care insurance plan July 1, with or without the co-operation of the 800 doctors in Saskatchewan.

Doctors say they will boycott the plan and provide only emergency services if they are not prohibited to practise outside the government plan.

The prepaid medical insurance plan, first of its kind in North America, is designed to cover almost all the 925,000 people in Saskatchewan. It will cost, estimated at $22,000,000 during its first year of operation, with one-half coming from premiums and taxes.

Most of the fighting has been done by the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons and the provincial government. Both sides have stood firm.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

The rigid stand also is reflected in positions being circulated throughout the province by private citizens. One petition asks the government to ditch the plan; the other asks doctors to give the plan a trial.

The medical profession objects strongly to what it calls government control of the medical insurance scheme. The government says in reply that it has no intention of interfering with the exercise of professional judgment by doctors in treating patients.

Government members say they heard similar objections 10 years ago when the CCF government in Saskatchewan introduced Canada's first compulsory hospital care plan. The plan served across Canada and now there is a combined federal - provincial hospital care program.

Saskatchewan doctors, with the backing of the Canadian Medical Association, launched their action in 1959 when the CCF government fought a general election on a promise of introducing a medical care insurance scheme.

The CCF government was re-elected and the division between the medical profession and the CCF party grew wider.

Doctors felt their case was strengthened when Public Works Minister J. Walter Erb resigned May 3 from the cabinet and the CCF party to sit in the legislature as an independent.

Mr. Erb, who helped guide the medical care insurance act through the legislature in 1959 when he was minister of public health, said one of the reasons he quit was the medical plan.

The present plan, he said, does not fulfil the principle that it must be acceptable to both physicians and patients.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd said the timing of Mr. Erb's resignation was political opportunism.

The letter of resignation reached Mr. Lloyd a few hours before the premier appeared before an emergency meeting in Regina of 600 doctors to ask them to give the government plan a fair trial.

The doctors rejected Mr. Lloyd's plea and voted not to work under the government scheme.

The two - day meeting in Regina was viewed in some government circles as a muscle-flexing exercise by doctors. Most medical offices throughout Saskatchewan were closed. Emergency cases were handled through hospitals.

"Doctors cannot, of course, strike, but we are not prepared to work under the act," said Dr. H. D. Dalgleish of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The college has not ruled out the possibility of trying to obtain a court injunction to halt the operation of the plan and test the legislation. A law firm is studying the act.

The government has set up a seven - member commission, headed by economist Donald Cameron, to administer the insurance plan. There are three doctors on the commission, including Dr. J. G. Cleland, former head of the medical services division of the department of public health, who serves as executive director.

The medical college has ignored the commission but has had discussions with the cabinet.

"The commission has power to act as agent for all beneficiaries in making payments, setting rates of payment and acting in any court action over medical bills."

Dr. Dalgleish described this power as a "serious conscription of the rights of citizens."

The government replied that the legislation does not infringe on civil rights of doctors but only prevents patients from being overcharged.

The doctors have not objected to the scale of fees under the government medical plan.

The commission says it will pay doctors at a rate of 85 per cent of the 1959 college schedule of fees. This is the same rate paid by the two doctor-operated hospital insurance plans in Saskatchewan and government agencies.

The medical college said in opposing the government plan that there were more urgent health needs to be looked after, such as the care of the aged, the mentally and chronically ill and the indigent.

The profession also proposed that the government help subsidize medical care insurance coverage by subsidizing private plans. The government rejected this because, it said, it would not think doctor - patient relationships would not be public - conditioned.

Doctors have singled out sections of the medical care insurance act which they claim contain government control powers.

One section gives the insurance commission power to make regulations governing the manner in which persons may be classified as beneficiaries," says Dr. E. L. Weeks of Regina.

"It is not unreasonable to assume that if the government is short of money it could decide that if a person has received $100 or $200 worth of service or does not pay, those who have had a long illness will have no benefits of protection. This is one method of keeping costs of the plan down," Dr. Weeks said.

He said the commission has power to ask doctors to send any information on any patient. The doctor could alter the patient's attitude toward his doctor, he added.

Another Regina doctor said the government plan has "complete control over doctors as to how, where and to whom he can render service."

But the government says it will not interfere in any way in the doctor - patient relationship and will not have anything to do with the treatment and diagnosis of patients.

The government has "no intention of desiring to influence the exercise of your professional judgment," Premier Lloyd told doctors at their emergency meeting.

Some doctors have indicated they will move out of the province after July 1 but the college would like all Regina doctors to urge its members to stay until the insurance problem is solved.

The college has not spelled out what service doctors would provide under the emergency program.

Premier Lloyd, referring to fear expressed by doctors that they will be unable to practise outside the government plan, said:

"Just what this means, I don't know. If a person goes to a doctor and willingly, without any pressure, wishes to pay his bill, there's nothing to stop him. But if the person says his bill will be paid by the medical care commission, he has that right and no individual or organization should take it away from him."

Mr. Lloyd said the issue is whether the people of Saskatchewan shall be governed by a democratically elected legislature, responsible to the people, or a small, highly organized minority.

Dr. Leonard Cowan, asked if the decision to provide only emergency services would violate a doctor's oath of Hippocratic, said:

"This oath is taken by a free man in a free society. . . . Changing conditions frequently demand a change of philosophy. . . . Medicine, internationally, ethics states it is deemed unethical to take part in any medical care plan in which the doctor does not have professional freedom."

There is no law which compels doctors to treat a patient, says a lawyer for the medical college.

Personal premiums for the government medical care plan have been set at $24 a year for families and $12 a year for single persons. They will not be deducted from pay. Even when premiums are due for the established compulsory hospital plan. Hospital plan premiums now are $48 a year for a family and $24 for a single person.

Remainder of the money for the plan will come from a sales tax, income tax and a corporation tax, all of which were increased July 1 January to handle the extra expenditure.

The sales tax went to five per cent from three, but half of this is earmarked for education. Income tax was increased by six per cent of payable tax and corporation tax went up by one per cent.

The plan is expected to cover 893,000 persons. Exempt are those covered by existing federal and provincial plans, such as members of the armed forces and patients covered by cancer and TB programs.

De Gaulle Called 'Nuisance' During War, Asked to Get Out of St. Pierre-Miquelon

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Early in the Second World War the U.S. government called French General Charles de Gaulle a "nuisance" and told him to get out of St. Pierre-Miquelon, the two tiny Gulf of St. Lawrence islands which his Free French forces had seized from the Vichyites.

In fact, friction between de Gaulle and the Americans became so heated that at one time a Free French representative was appointed to an American diplomat for help to prevent a possible explosion between de Gaulle and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Details of the spat — which may shed further light on the roots of current friction between the two countries — are disclosed in U.S. diplomatic papers for 1941 recently made public. They show there was a great deal of belittling by the U.S. of de Gaulle's great talents for rallying French resistance.

They also show that de Gaulle was bitter about American slowness in severing diplomatic relations with the Vichy regime and for paying too much attention to Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, cabinet vice-president in the Vichy regime which condemned de Gaulle to death in absentia.

Appearing as a modifying force in the de Gaulle-Roosevelt struggle is the Mackenzie King government of Canada. Mackenzie King was reported most eager to back up the U.S. demand that de Gaulle vacate St. Pierre-Miquelon — guilty because of de Gaulle's great popularity in Quebec.

Mackenzie King also wanted to cut off relations with Vichy in the spring of 1941. U.S. diplomats were told he was under great pressure in Canada to do so.

But Mackenzie King didn't want to leave the U.S. out on the diplomatic limb. Though he did not formally sever ties until Nov. 9, 1942, the day after Vichy broke relations with the U.S. because of American invasion of French North Africa.

On this point, Sumner Welles, U.S. undersecretary of state, reported on April 23, 1942, that Leighton McCarthy, Canada's minister in Washington, had stated that Mackenzie King had come under increasing criticism at home for continuing to do business with Vichy.

"Mr. Mackenzie King therefore, wished me (Mr. Welles) to know that he felt it was necessary in the interest of the United Nations to proceed to sever diplomatic relations with Vichy and the U.S. were most emphatically to urge that this step should not be taken."

Welles said he did not put up any objection, State Secretary Cordell Hull called in the British ambassador two days later, and said the U.S. could not long keep up relations with Vichy if Canada cancelled hers. This apparently kept Canada from making a formal break at that time.

However, diplomatic relations with de Gaulle continued to be bitter. On May 28, 1942, Welles said it would be unwise and unexpedient to recognize de Gaulle as leader of French resistance because there was not a large number of Frenchmen no inclination to accept his leadership.

Memos show that even in December of that year Cordell Hull voiced the sentiment that while the U.S. did not feel unkindly towards de Gaulle, "we have frankly felt that at times he was making himself a sort of nuisance by constantly injecting personal and political matters when we felt that we should have been confining our thoughts and efforts jointly to military matters and objectives."

In 1942, a plan was afoot to have de Gaulle and Roosevelt meet. This stirred a French representative in Washington to plead with an American diplomat to help prevent "a complete explosion" between the two leaders. The Free French were even suspicious the meeting was being arranged for just that purpose — so that de Gaulle would explode with heated passion and so destroy himself.

The American diplomat, Assistant State Secretary A. A. Berle, Jr., said that was possible but expressed the hope de Gaulle could restrain himself. That meeting was cancelled and the two leaders did not meet until 1944.

In December, 1941, the Free French seized St. Pierre-Miquelon, off the southern coast of Newfoundland, and the U.S. demanded they get out. When the British and Canadians appeared to be siding with de Gaulle, Cordell Hull called in the British ambassador and accused Winston Churchill and the British government of influencing public opinion against American relations with Vichy.

Churchill, who was then in Canada, wired his cabinet in London a few days later that de Gaulle be informed that an American warship, The Arkansas, might be sent in if the Free French did not leave. To this, de Gaulle was reported to have stated: "Does this mean they (the Americans) would be willing to fire on me?"

The upshot of all this was that de Gaulle agreed to keep the two islands out of the war, with a secret proviso that the Free French would still maintain their influence over these French possessions.

Cancel those get - well cards for Ernie Banks, who resumed to action only four days after a pitch hit him in the head, and fired a homer-an salvo that put him among the leaders in the National League one - run derby.

Fortified with aspirin for an aching head by the injured-and Chicago Cubs' slugger returned to action Tuesday, doubled in first appearance, then followed with three consecutive homers in an 11-6 loop to Milwaukee Braves.

Banks drilled a double in his first at-bat, then a pitch by Cincinnati's Moe Drabowsky sent him to the hospital last Friday night, hit a two - run homer in the third and wound up his onslaught three wild bases-empty homers in the fifth and seventh.

TIES WITH CEPEDA

The first three - homer performance of the season pulled Banks, No. 1 homer - hitting shortstop in major league history, into a tie for second place in the National League homer race with San Francisco Orlando Cepeda.

Both have 14. Willie Mays of the Giants has nine.

A total of nine homers were hit by the Cubs and Braves, one shy of the National League record. Billy Williams, Bob Will and Ed Bailey also connected for the Cubs while Joe Adcock, Eddie Mathews and Amade Samuel connected for the winning Braves.

Twenty-one hits, but not a homer, were sprayed to all corners at Pittsburgh in the only other league game played, and when it was all over an error made it possible for the Pirates to take over third place by beating St. Louis 5-4 and dropping the Cardinals to fourth.

BEATS THE CUBS

Milwaukee came to a 9-6 lead over the Cubs with a six - run third inning in which all the tallies were unearned due to an error by shortstop Andre Rodgers.

The Braves held on while Chicago's homers cut the lead but couldn't quite get the job done.

A walk to Howie Goss, Don Hoak's single and Al Flabe by Don Leppert that got by Curt Flood allowed the tying and winning runs to score for the Pirates in the last of the ninth.

The Cards had moved ahead 6-5 in their half of the inning when Bill White drove in a run with a triple and a contentious home when Bill Mazeroski hammled the throw from the outfield. Tom Sturdivant (3-2) won it with Bobby Shantz (1-2) taking the loss.

Expect Record Performances

250,000 See Indianapolis Epic

IND ANAPOLES (AP)—Some 250,000 speed fans came to see records smashed today at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, site of the 46th 500-miler.

Starters include Jim Hathmann, who set the world closed course competitive record of 140.292 m.p.h. at Daytona International Speedway in 1959. He got considerably more publicity (and cash) by winning the 500 in the next year at 138.767.

There is a chance the Memorial Day classic will be run under 10 hours for the first time—little more than half what it took Ray Harroun to win the 1911 opener in his Marmon Wasp.

The crowd at the 40th running of the event was expected to far favorite after cracking the 150-mile-an-hour barrier but he faced formidable competition from four former winners—Rodger Ward, A. J. Foyt Jr., Troy Ruttman, Rodger Ward and Jim Rathmann. Parnelli led twice last year in his first 500.

FOYT HOLDS RECORD

The four-hour race would like an average speed of 142.- 301 m.p.h. against Foyt's record of 139.130 last year in his 8%-second victory over Eddie Sachs.

A series of bad wrecks, or rain, could spoil any record although the Speedway has had phenomenal weather luck.

The race was twice postponed only once, in 1915, when it was called after 392 miles because of day. The 1926 race was stopped by rain at 400 miles and the 1950 race at 345 miles.

If the race goes beyond 250 miles, the leader wins. A restart is necessary after any halt at a shorter distance.

In the 46th race, No. 1 starter Jones faces the fact that the pole car has won the event only six times. The last driver to start first and finish the distance was Wilbur Shaw in 1956.

The five rookies, headed by Jim McElreath, one of seven qualifiers at over 140 miles an hour, include the 46th starter, Gurney, also are bucking traditional odds. The last first-time starter who won was George Souders in 1927.

Track Trials At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian track and field championships and the British Empire Games trials will be held here Aug. 4 and 5.

The event, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, is open to about 200 athletes from across Canada take part. The AAUC selection committee will choose the athletes which it will send to represent Canada at the 1962 British Empire Games, to be held at Perth, Australia, in November.

SWAP PITCHERS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins Thursday traded Pitcher Lee Lee, a right - handed pitcher, to Los Angeles Angels for Pitcher Ken Johnson. Johnson has been in nine games this season, has three and four record and has a 4.50 earned run average. Donohoe has appeared in 18 games principally as a reliever and has a 1-0 record and an earned run average of 3.70.

Hundreds Join Track Melee

Odds Drop Causes Riot

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Hundreds of spectators rioted for more than an hour at Yonkers Raceway Friday night in what police described as a "spontaneous uprore" over the last-minute drop in odds of the winner of the eighth race.

At least one man was injured and four other persons were arrested.

More than 70 police responded to a riot call after scores of shouting spectators surged onto the harness-racing track at the start of the ninth race. Hundreds more in the crowd of 31,054 followed within minutes.

Several persons set small fires in the grandstand. Three were quickly extinguished.

One spectator was struck down by the arm of a starting gate also by a pacing car leading the horses down the track for the start of the ninth race. The race was stalled back and cancelled.

A police spokesman said the spectators were angered because the odds on Miss Chief Mokem, which won the eighth race, dropped to 5 to 2 from 9 to 2 when the race got under way. She won 10 to 1 in the morning line.

Police said the riot, which broke out shortly before midnight, was under control after an hour and five minutes. However, thousands of persons still milled around the track at 2 a.m. The injured man was identified as James Green, about 45, of New York. He suffered lacerations.

FORM PUCK LOOP

BOSTON (AP)—An amateur league patterned after junior hockey in Canada will make its debut in Greater Boston next winter, it was announced Tuesday. The league, for players 18 and under, has been named the Art Ross League in honor of the National League player. Arthur H. Joyces Defeat Bobcats

By GARRY 'ALEXANDER
Staff Sports Writer

Joyce Real Estate moved to the top of the Belleville and District Softball League standing last night when they dumped the Bobcats 7-3 in the Fairgrounds.

This was the first meeting of the season between the two hotter-city rivals but the battle continues when they clash again here Thursday at 6.15. Rollins Juniors visit the RCAF Flyers Friday.

Joyces took a 5-0 lead with four runs in the third and one in the fifth last night. Bobcats made it close with two in the sixth and one in the seventh before the winners sewed up the decision with a final pair of runs in the seventh.

The 'Cats used a makeshift lineup when regulars "Wiener" Brown, Lou Smrke and Jackie Hughes had to work and were unable to make the game.

The Real Estaters won the game in the third inning after two men were out. Kingston beat out a drag-bunt for his third hit in as many at-bats rally. Bobcat pitcher Rob Green walked the next two batters to fill the sacks and Jackie Elliott rapped a base hit to plate two runs. Ron Davis followed with another hit to drive in two more for a 4-0 score.

Elliott accounted for the fifth-frame marker when he blasted a long one to left field. Dr. Loud failed to bold the ball and Elliott went all the way around for the four-base crown.

The Bobcats came to life in the sixth when Green and winner Bob Butterfield got himself in trouble, failing to field hits by Crawford and Clapp sandwiched around F. Murray's single, to load the bases with one out. Gilmour and D. Murray drew walks to force in two runs.

Again in the seventh the losers threatened and this time sent Butterfield to the showers. Locas banged a one-out double and rode home on Crawford's hard single to left. Doug Ellis took over the Joyce pitching to preserve Butterfield's victory. Ellis struck out two and walked one while throwing mo-hit stuff for the final 2 2-3 innings.

Butterfield struck out nine, including six in a row, and walked three in his 6 1-3 innings. He allowed seven safeties.

Ralph Plane drove in the winner's final two runs when he hit a home run in the seventh inning following a single by Davis.

Bob Green gave up seven hits over the distance for the Bobcats. He struck out four and walked nine. Green hit a long triple but was cut at the plate trying to stretch it into a homer.

Dave Kingston, with a double and single, and Ron Davis, with two one-baggers, paced the winners. Ralph Plane homered for two runs, Jackie Elliott singled for two more and Ted Batchelor also had a hit and cut short the 'Cats rally in the ninth with a fine running catch.

Cheryl Crawford led the losers with three consecutive base hits. Green tripled, Roy Lacas doubled, "Wiener" Murray and Earl Clapp added singles.

Big Newk To Play In Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don Newcombe, former pitching star for Brooklyn Dodgers, said Tuesday it's "pretty definite" he will accept an offer to play baseball in Japan this year.

"The way it looks now, I'm going," Newcombe told reporters at the White House after talking with Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary.

Newcombe said Salinger told him he felt Newcombe could "do the government a lot of good" from a goodwill standpoint.

Newcombe said Japan's Chunichi Dragons have offered him a bigger salary than he made when he was a pitcher for the Dodgers in 1951. He said he made $17,500 that year.

Newcombe, 35, said he was not being asked to pitch in Japan unless he felt his arm was in shape. Instead, he said, he would play first base and outfield, at least at the start. He said the contract calls for him to be in Japan from June 15 to Oct. 30.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

"Our manager, Gene Tolan," observed the rollicking Greek duo, Chris and John, "had the opposition in Memorial Arena one Friday night well in tough. All he mention a little clever and not altogether unacquainted with our modus operandi."

This concession on the part of the tough Spartans of the wrestling ring is understandable since feeling them will be more rather than the populace generally whatever, who will be ably aided and abetted by the clever Gentleman John Hady.

The foursome will have at it in a tag-team hassle billed as the main bout of a highly attractive card for fish-day swaping.

Gentleman Jim Hady, you will remember, is the chap who Dick "Bulldog" Brower used as a battering ram in his efforts to push the ring into the Bay of Quinte last Friday night.

The two teams are being twins, also. It would have written their own ticket at the box office had the fateful their first exhibition here two weeks ago and immediately qualified for the Number One spot on the Hale Parade.

They're young and th ey're rough and tough. Fan reaction off their brutal backs like the water off the proverbial duck. They care less for the opposition. They pack more skullduggery in their close-cropped noggins than an old western medicine man.

But methinks in the Whip and the Gentleman, they will meet their match, maybe not their rambunctious steel. It should be a wing-ding of a tussle.

And the show won't lack for color... In the semi-final appetizer will be the strutting "Sweet Daddy" Siki, the peacock of the pachyderms and elongated Tom "Tarzan" Jones, the huge Ottawa Kench Elders football star.

"Sweet Daddy", the most colorful showmen seen here since the Motor and Gorgeous George, will parade the "body beautiful," the blonde curls and all for those against the long negro headdress. This should settle something or another. Ray Gordon and George Kosti open the show.

THE TROTS

Harness racing buffs of the district are in for another successful season of their favorite sport at the Trotz Grounds this summer. Officials of the Quinte Riding and Driving Club are planning a series of night harness meets that should satisfy the most excacting fan.

Night racing will again feature the meets. Introduced last season, the trots under the lights proved a highly successful and club officials believe it will attract larger crowds this season since post time is eight o'clock.

The best sulky horsebeat of the district will be seen in action with horses from Kingston, Brighton, Picton, Campbellford, White Island, Belleville, and many other centres seeking the purse money.

A new betting system which officials believe will meet with fan approval will be introduced this year. It is the pari-mutuel which enables a bettor to put his money on the winner or the second-place horse.

The Quinte Driving Club is holding a meeting tonight at the Metro Street Fire Hall where plans for the season's meets will be finalized. Membership cards can be obtained at the meeting or from Al Vance at the track anytime before raceday. The first meet is on Saturday night.

THE "SALLY ANN"

The Salvation Army's campaign for much-needed funds is drawing to a close. The "Helping Hand" always entertained a great success to the needy is asking for a helping hand from you, me and others who appreciate the tremendous work being done.

"Old and young sweats" of two world wars know what the Army did for them. But that was just part of "Sally's" job. Their good works extend to many other fields where assistance is needed. The Army always stands ready with the hand of help, advice and friendship.

The Salvation Army's good work will be needed this year as much or more than in previous years. We cannot let it down. Help the Helping Hand!

Birds Lose Boog Powell

DETROIT (AP) — John (Boog) Powell injured his hamstring muscle when he crashed into the wall at Tiger Stadium Tuesday and will be lost to the Baltimore Orioles for several days. It was his second injury in eight days.

Powell banged into the left field fence as he tried to catch Dick Brown's home run in the second inning of Detroit Tigers' 12-4 victory over the Orioles. He was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for x-rays.

Leafs Lose To Chiefs, Suns Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lloyd Gregory must be in a dilemma. He's paid by the Atlanta Crackers to pitch in the International League. Pitchers don't know as power-hitters. So Gregory's batting average so far this season is .300.

But that isn't all. It appears that Gregory's pitching is suffering from his hitting. At least that's a conclusion one could draw when looking at his pitching average, a meagre .625.

Gregory tried to help his own cause Tuesday night at Atlanta when he hit a homer in the bottom of the ninth to send a game against the Columbus Jets into extra innings. But he got run-ner on base in the top of the tenth.

Then Al Vickery came on to relieve Gregory and served up a ball which Columbus catcher Orlando McFarlane lashed for a two-run double. That was the game and Gregory suffered his first loss against three wins.

ERROR'S ADVANTAGE

In the only other games played, Syracuse climbed took advantage of four Toronto errors to defeat the Maple Leafs 7-4 and the Richmond Virginians handed Jacksonville Suns their second straight shutout, 4-0.

The Chiefs trailed Toronto through most of the game but in the 11th Jim Hicks' single jumped on two Toronto errors and scored four runs. Two of them scored on Bud Zipfel's single. Jim Hannan was credited with the win while Jack Coleman suffered his fifth loss against one victory.

Lefty Jim Bunning threw a five-hitter at the heavy-hitting Suns to lead the Virginians to their victory. Only one Jacksonville runner reached second base.

Olympics Committee Agrees

Athletes Should Be Paid

MONTREAL (CP)—A statement upholding the right of Olympic Games athletes to receive pay for time lost at work was issued Tuesday by four highly-placed officials.

The statement took note of claims made by Ken Farmer, former Canadian Olympic Association president, that time-off —or "broken-time"—pay is not allowed under Olympic regulations. But Dr. Jack Ledyard, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, which operates the Olympic hockey tournament, said such pay is permissible to a certain extent.

The statement was issued by Dr. Ledyard, Dr. Otto Mayer of the International Olympic Committee, Monaco, Walter Troeger of the COA; Frank J. Shaughnessy, Jr., vice-president of the COA, and Farmer.

The statement said:

"Except for the discussions in the press that have been going on between Bob LeBel, president of the IIHF, and Mr. P. C. Farmer, former president of the COA, we are familiar with the rules and regulations and particularly the definition of an amateur and the paragraph entitled 'pseudo amateurism' laid down by decisions of the IOC.

"We agree with the remarks of Bob LeBel that time-off pay may be made either to the athlete or his family, subject to the regulations as expressed above."

Brundage said the regulations are expressed negatively—what may not be done beyond certain limits. Other interpretation according is permitted.

He said that the new 1962 IOC book allows three weeks' time-off pay compared with two weeks as provided in the 1958 book.

STAMPS, AIS TRADE

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Tuesday halfback and corner Roebucker John McMurtry and offensive guard Joe Carruthers have been traded to Montreal Alouettes for guard Harold Krebs and another player to be named later. McMurtry and Carruthers signed their first year with Calgary in 1961. All players involved in the deal are Canadians.

Wildlife Body Seeks $50,000

WINNIPEG (CP)—Officials of the Canadian Wildlife Federation have urged the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport to put them a bit closer to the top.

Stan Hodgkiss, federation committee chairman and president of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and Paul Murphy, executive director of the Manitoba Federation of Game and Fish Associations met in Toronto Monday with Ken Farmer, chairman of the advisory group. They were observed in conjunction with the federation's submission for a $50,000 grant under the terms of the Fitness and Amateur Sport Act.

Mr. Murphy said in an interview on his return to Winnipeg Tuesday: "We feel the federation will be the most effective organization in the country to assure that our citizens and future generations will be able to participate in the healthful outdoor pursuits of hunting and fishing."

Probe Sale Of Redlegs To Dewitt

CINCINNATI (AP) — Last year as Cincinnati Reds were surprising baseball by sweeping to the National League pennant the owners often asked wear: "Are the Reds for sale?"

This year the question may be: "Who owns the Reds?"

The question of who is entitled to own and operate the club conceivably could wind up in the courts.

It began to come to a head Tuesday when Ohio Attorney General William McGrey III disclosed in Columbus that he was delving into the sale of the franchise to Bell Jr. by baseball league executive William O. DeWitt last March. DeWitt paid $4,625,000 for the club and Joseph F. Ripps Jr., a Cincinnati banker, claimed that a group of associates offered $5,500,000.

McGrey said he might suspend the deal with DeWitt if the Ripps groups meets certain conditions. He also he is asking trustees of the Crosley Foundation, which owns the club, to open the books for Ripps's study.

Ted Saker, McGrey's chief assistant, said a court order would be sought if the books are not made available to Ripps.

McGrey indicated that if Ripps comes up with an offer which is higher than DeWitt's it might be in the public interest to recommend acceptance.

First Game After Injury

Banks 'Headache Homers'

CHICAGO (AP)—"You can call 'em headache homers," says Ernie Banks, who returned to the Chicago Cubs' lineup with a bang Tuesday.

The great slugging star clouted homers in both ends of consecutive home runs in his first game back from the injury list the head by a Moe Drabowsky pitch at Cincinnati' Friday night.

But even Ernie's productive, play short or first baseman teammates Billy Williams, Bob Will and George Altman, who also are short on power, didn't mind as the Cubs whacked Milwaukee Braves, who won 11-9.

The Braves added three circuit blasts themselves—by Joe Adcock, Joe Torre and Rico Samuel. The game's total of nine was one short of the National League record which has been accomplished four times.

Banks, running his homer output for the year to seven, had been in a Cincinnati hospital since observation until Sunday morning.

PROMISED HEADACHES

They proved to be anything wrong, but said I would have headaches off and on for a while." Banks said Friday night, my head ached and I didn't think I could play Tuesday. But when I got to Wrigley Field I felt better and decided to do it for '57.

"After hitting a double, my head started aching a little bit in the third inning before I went to bat. I took a couple of aspirin. Then I hit my first homer. Then I got the other two, but my head still ached a little."

Banks had hit three homers in a game twice previously—Aug. 4, 1955, and Sept. 16, 1958, both in Wrigley Field.

Hampered by a knee injury and eye trouble during most of 1961, Banks collected 29 homers, his lowest total since 26 in 1954, slammed 41 in 1958 — a major league record — and 37 in 1959, before 1960 when he had his most valuable player both years to shatter records.

The 31-year-old star, who has been out from short-stop to first base, now has a career total of 312 homers for the Cubs.

Colony's Recent Romance With Remakes Cooling Off

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywoodis recent romance with remakes seems to be cooling off.

For a while producers were saying "why put out big money for new properties? Let's look in the vaults."

The argument looked good. Readers could pay $3.95 for a best-selling book, but producers had to shell out considerably more (latest sale: Ship of Fools to Stanley Kramer for $500,000). Hit Plays came even dearer—Warners is putting up $5,500,000 for My Fair Lady.

Besides, look at the record: Two of the three top money-makers—Ben-Hur and The 10 Commandments — were remakes.

There is nothing new about re-doing old films. Alice in Wonderland has had five film versions, Gone With the Wind two. Spellers have been turned out four times. Romeo and Juliet has also been done four times, not including the current West Side Story version.

With these precedents, producers have been filming many remakes than ever before. Now the scorecard can be toted up.

The returns during the last year or so have not been so hot. Most did get slotted to big time, Cimarron and The Hoaxmaster of the Ajoces type. Both had only fair successes at the box office, by cinema-go either their immense cost. That is a prime problem with remakes: Producers feel they must be done much more grandly than the originals.

This urge to make remakes bigger than before is part of the same for the bloated budget, et, of Cleopatra and Mutiny on the Bounty. There are other chemicals, as well — weather, temperament, etc. But these two most expensive films be history, reflect the thinking that immense cost justifies remakes.

Meanwhile, the fate of others' great studios is in the balance.

Split End, Flanker

New Era For BC Lions

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions are observing their "new era" in professional football to all aspects of the game.

Coach Dave Skrien says the team itself will have a new offensive look in the 1962 Western Conference season, spreading the playing front through use of a split end and outside flankers.

C. B. (Slim) Delbridge, the team's president-heading a streamlined nine-man board of directors that recently replaced the 30-member body, says Empire Stadium will get a fresh paint job featuring green colors of the nine Canadian Football League clubs.

And Dal Richards, Vancouver musician and bandleader who is head coach of the club's new pre-game and half - time show operations, says the season will bring a new era in entertainment apart from the games themselves.

Skrien, who took over as head coach in the middle of last season when Coach Wayne Robinson, was fired as the club dropped along to last place, said the new offensive alignment will take advantage of Lions' fast speed.

KAPP IS KEY

By this he meant largely Willie Kapp, Lions' former Iowa halfback who was picked as an all-star in the West last season.

"The basic formation will find the left end split out, a halfback flanked to the right, a fullback directly behind the centre, a flanker to the left between the tackle and the split left end, and another halfback to the right of the fullback."

Skrien says that with a good passing quarterback — Joe Kapp, his injured knee appearently healthier than ever, is the man here—the Lions "will give the defence the initial burden of defending against the quick pass to the flanked receivers."

World Soccer

Brazil Meets Mexico

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Favored Brazil today opens its defence of the World Soccer Cup championship determined to prove it is just as good now as it was when it won the title in Sweden in 1958.

The Brazilians are rated strongly to retain the Jules Rimet Cup, up for competition every four years. Their first-round match is the seventh world championship will be against Mexico at Viña del Mar.

Other opening first - round matches are Uruguay-Colombia at Arica, Chile-Switzerland at Santiago and Argentina - Bulgaria at Rancagua.

The other eight teams will play their first games Thursday: Russia - Yugoslavia at Arica, Spain - Czechoslovakia at Viña del Mar, West Germany - Italy at Santiago and Hungary-England at Rancagua.

"Every year sportical teams get better and the standard of soccer improves," England manager Walter Winterbottom said. "This is an open championship. There could be some surprises. The gap between the countries of the world is being closed."

Many experts agree with Winterbottom. Brazil has collected the favorite spot because of its powerful attack, but lots of upsets could come up between now and the final June 17.

The top two teams in each group — at Arica, Santiago, Viña del Mar and Rancagua — will move into the quarter - finals at after round-robin play.

The quarter - finals will be June 10, the semi-finals June 13 and the final June 17 in Santiago.

Connor, who is often likened with Jimmy Edwards and the glamorous Shirley Eaton, is also featured in "Carry On Constable" on the same program. The Earls Court Film starring James Mason, Lee McKern and Howard Vernon, tells the story of a prison guard's attempt to escape.

Hethersett Derby Favorite

LONDON (CP) — If betting tends to rule my guide, the Canadian owners of Prince d'Amour picked the wrong one when they paid a reported £30,000 to Mrs. Susy Volterra for the bloodstock.

In the latest calliover of odds for the June 6 derby at Epsom, Prince d'Amour remained unchanged at 20 to 1 while the quotation on his ex-stablemate Le Castillan was clipped from 20 to 11 to 1.

Le Castillan is the Derby candidate Mrs. Volterra decided to retain, presumably on the advice of veteran trainer Francois Mathet.

Prince d'Amour now is to run for Alberta Ranches, owned by Frank McMahon and Mark Bell of Toronto. Jockeys say Prince d'Amour needs plenty of give in the going and it looks as though track conditions will be firm at Epsom.

Reuters have installed Hethersett as the 5-to-1 favorite. The second choice, Miralgo, is 19 to 1.

Some of the other leading people are Larkspur, 12 to 1; Sodderich, down from 20 to 1 to 14 to 1 after a victory at Lingfield last Friday; Silver Cloud, 14 to 1, and the American-owned, Irish - trained Sebring, clipped from 16 to 14 to 1.

The Trots

MONTREAL (CP) — The big share of the featured $7,475 race at Richelieu this evening was awared by Key Tone.

The five - year - old brown gelding from the Shadd and Roach Stables of Hamilton, Ont., with Otis Crawford driving, paid backers $6.50, $4.80 and $3.10.

One - fifth of a second behind Key Tone was Riddell Volo paying $3.30 and $3.70.

Third was Bye Bye Erva who paid $3.90.

TORONTO (CP) — Kenava moved into higher claiming company at Old Woodbine Tuesday and won by a neck over Robsia in the featured sixth race.

Kenava began the season at Fort Erie in $4,500 claiming company but the three-year-old colt couldn't find his way home. After dropping in the $3,500 level, Kenava won easily.

Back in $4,500 company, Kenava, ridden by George Gubbins, Tuesday took his second straight win. Swap Off was third.

Kenava went to the post as fourth choice in the six-horse field before 6,856 and paid $11.90.

Trainer Wolfgang von Richthoven's winners came back to back in the first and second races, and accounted for a $20.30 daily double.

Jockey Paul Kallai rode both winners, Pickbud in the first and Leonard Friend in the second.

Meyer won with Solid Stone in the fifth and Tonjoum in the seventh. Solid Stone combined for a Quinella Fame $8 a $21.40 quinella.

Video Village, Clear Horizon To Leave Network June 18

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — People are creatures of habit, a characteristic which is an important element in a successful television schedule.

At our house, we hurry through Monday night dinner in order to watch To Tell the Truth, and plan Sunday meals so that we will be free to see Meet the Press.

When a program is moved from one time period to another, it often loses an important part of its audience—it either just gets lost, as far as viewers is concerned, or becomes one of those programs that must be watched, to the detriment of other duties.

CBS has a complicated reshuffling of its daytime schedule coming up on Monday, June 18, and is trying its best to spread the word, so soon get back.

In the course of the realignment, two programs will disappear: Video Village and Clear Horizon, the former a game show and the latter a daytime serial (which has a hard core of devoted viewers who have been doing a lot of letter-writing trying to save it).

The Verdict Is Yours will be moved from afternoon to the 11-11:30 a.m. period, followed by the Brighter Day, which will be expanded from 15 to 25 minutes. Video Village's version of To Tell the Truth, turns up in the 3:30-3:55 p.m. period.

CBS will also bump the Alvin Show (7:30-8) tonight for a news special on the subject, called The Bear Market. Douglas Edwards will preside.

BROWN SIGNS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Brown, Cleveland Browns' jolting fullback, Tuesday signed a one-year contract which the Browns said may make him the highest-paid player in professional football. Arthur Modell, the Browns' front-office boss, declined to give specifics. Brown was paid $32,000 last year.

Tougher Soviet Line Seen On Laos, Viet Nam, Berlin

By DOUGLAS VALE

GENEVA (AP)—High West-ern diplomats, believe Moscow's scrutiny of the early significant East-West agreement thus far of the 14-nation disarmament talks foreshadows tougher Soviet policy on such cold war issues as Laos, South Viet Nam and West Germany.

The diplomats note that Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin of Russia made particular mention of these three cold war 'hotspots' in explaining his government's repudiation of the three-day-old agreement to condemn war propaganda.

A harder Soviet position also would be in line with the resumption of Soviet nuclear tests, expected within two weeks, the Western diplomats added.

Zorin surprised the non-Communist delegates to the conference Tuesday with the withdrawal of his government's agreement to the war propaganda document. It was worked out in weeks of patient negotiations between Zorin and U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, the conference co-chairman.

ENCOURAGING SIGN

War propaganda is only a side issue of disarmament, but the agreement to condemn it had been hailed as an encouraging sign for the generally deadlocked conference.

What worries Western diplomats is the reason behind the Soviet about-face. They are convinced the reason must be a major to outweigh the loss of prestige the Soviet Union is certain to suffer, at least temporarily, among the non-committed nations at the talks.

Western sources speculate the Kremlin may have made some dramatic and still unknown major policy decision last weekend. The Western officials are convinced this Soviet reversal was not merely a case of Zorin having received his instructions.

Last week Zorin had adamantly opposed any suggestion of revisions in the war propaganda document, even by the UN General Assembly to which the declaration eventually was to be submitted. Tuesday Zorin reversed this stand by offering unanswered amendments acceptable to the West.

Ask Province Pay Full Cost Of CAS Wards

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies at its annual conference Tuesday agreed to ask the provincial government to pay the full cost for upkeep for a CAS ward.

The province now pays 60 per cent and the municipality from which the child comes pays 40 per cent.

The conference passed the resolution because it felt CAS officials often spend much time and money tracking down the right municipality. A legislative change would allow the province to determine in each individual case how much a municipality should pay.

A resolution also passed calling for a monthly allowance of $100 in the amount paid by the Ontario government to the OACAS for each person doing protection work—working with children in their homes—by an agency. The government now pays $100 a month for each resolution, F. C. Promoll, director of the Wellington County CAS, said different forms of aid because requirements of an agency in a densely populated area are different from those in a rural region.

The conference agreed that the child welfare act be changed to prevent a child's surname from appearing on an application and final order for adoption.

Speaking the opposition to this ministration might be needed.

CNR Settles Dispute With 9,000 Trainmen

Workers Get Increase Paid in Five Steps

MONTREAL (CP)—Five days before they were to strike, the 9,000 trainmen working the Canadian National System, have agreed on a settlement of their dispute.

Words of negotiation calmed Tuesday in an agreement announced jointly by W. T. Wilson, CNR vice-president of personnel, union Vice-Presidents Gordon C. Gale of Winnipeg and William J. Kelly of Ottawa.

Retroactive to June 1, 1961, the new contract will run to Dec. 31, 1963, and provides for an eight-per-cent wage increase to be paid in five steps.

It also irons out a complicated set of working rules that, in the union's point of contention to the negotiations between the CNR and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC), with the same token is to remain with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company since May 31.

NDP Taking Legal Action Against Reds

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario New Democratic Party is taking legal action in an attempt to stop Communist party support of NDP candidates in the federal election, it was learned Wednesday night.

Mrs. Peg Stewart, Ontario NDP secretary, said the signed an affidavit Wednesday applying for a court injunction to prohibit the Communists from supporting NDP candidates with said advertisements and distribution of leaflets.

Two NDP candidates, Val Scott in York Centre and F. A. Erwin in Toronto Greenwood, with provincial party officials, last week authorized lawyers to prepare an application based on a section of the Canada Elections Act.

Truck Driver Burned to Death In Flaming Cab

NEW LISKEARD, Ont. (CP) Two drivers were killed today—one on impact and the other burned to death—when a car and a transport truck collided on Highway 11, 14 miles north of here.

The driver of the car, whose body was found still inside the vehicle, was identified as Joseph Martin, father of 12, of Rand Avenue West, Kirkland Lake.

There was no immediate identification of the truck driver, who was burned to death in the flaming cab of Star Transfer transport Trucking company offshoots in North Bay and Timmins when confined to attempt to identify him.

Police said the accident was a head-on collision of such force that both engines were flung about 20 feet from the crash site. The truck's load of lumber was scattered over the highway and up a side road.

The truck burned for about three hours, destroying the cab and the trailer. The car did not catch fire.

TRADE DEFICIT IS $72,900,000 IN 1ST QUARTER

Selling More To United States

OTTAWA (CP) — An 11-percent gain in exports was offset by a 15-percent rise in imports to give Canada a $72,900,000 trade deficit in the first quarter of 1962.

Biggest factor in the higher export figure, contributing a monthly rise which began last June, was a $71,900,000 increase in sales to the United States over the first three months of 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today in a preliminary report.

The 1962 returns, reflecting the lower value of the Canadian dollar in terms of U.S. currency, showed total exports in January-March at $1,403,200,000 compared with $1,264,000,000 in the similar 1961 period.

However, imports in January-March rose to $1,476,100,000 from $1,291,500,000, mainly due to an 18.9-per-cent increase in purchases from the U.S. These included some $45,000,000 of pilitary aircraft imported under special arrangements.

EXPORTS UP

So March exports were up also over 1961 by $18,200,000 while imports rose 18.4 per cent to $330,800,000, resulting in a trade deficit for the month of $35,100,000 compared with $19,-600,000 in March, 1961. The January - March trade deficit last year was $17,500,000.

Today's trade statistics contained no information on what commodities contributed to increased exports.

Trade figures by major areas for January - March this year and last year, in millions of dollars:

	Jan.-March 1962	Jan.-March 1961

Jeannie's Itchy Bra Irritates Women Into Plea for Protection

LONDON (AP) — An itch Jeannie Jackson's brassiere led to a demand Wednesday for the British government to set up a ministry of consumer protection.

The demand was made by 300 women leaders of the Labor party after having their trips in vain to get back her money or get her to buy a brassiere.

Intrigued by an advertisement which suggested that almost any girl would stop traffic in a bra of this brand, Mrs. Buchan invested 18 shillings in one of them.

"It itched," she told women's conference at Blackpool. "It was so scratchy that within 24 days I had to discard it. I know why the girl in the advert stopped the traffic — she had to take her bra off. Well, I complained to the makers.

"Correspondence went backwards and forwards. The firm told me they said this product is 33 countries, 13 of them English-speaking.

"What the language spoken has to do with the quality of a brassiere I cannot say. In the end I had to write the price off as 'a high worth of experience.'"

The conference agreed with Mrs. Buchan that the complaint of an individual consumer carries too little weight to get much action out of a big company. It formally resolved that a government department should be created to deal with such bents.

Melee Disrupts Diefenbaker Rally Held in Vancouver

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A melee disrupted a major election rally of Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Vancouver Wednesday although he did not stop him from speaking.

The disturbance, apparently staged by several hundred jobless workers, involved fisticuffs, kicking, elbowing, pushing, shoving, angry boos, catcalls and insults.

Some of the 6th was directed at the prime minister, some at the organizers.

The result was noise and confusion that repeatedly drowned out the prime minister's remarks to a crowd estimated at 8,000 in Vancouver Exhibition.

"We want jobs," chanted the demonstrators, "open the bomb."

Through it all, Mr. Diefenbaker kept talking, ending his 70-minute address with: "These people would deny and refuse each and every one of us the right to speak."

He was given three tremendous cheers and a tiger.

The eruption was by far the wildest demonstration encountered by Mr. Diefenbaker so far in a campaign drive that has included public disrobing by five Doukhobor women, some by heckling and placard demonstrations.

The incident capped a busy day for Mr. Diefenbaker, who drove through Vancouver in an 80-car cavalcade that included pretty girls, balloons, pennants and streamers.

In Vancouver's Chinatown, Mr. Diefenbaker received from 5,000 worth of skim milk and enjoyed dinner with his host, Hong Kong for the refugees there.

Saskatchewan Emergency Medical Care Plan Drafted

REGINA (CP) — An emergency plan to go into effect if needed after implementation of Saskatchewan's medical care scheme was unveiled by Premier Woodrow Lloyd Wednesday.

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, which represents the province's 901 doctors, has voted to provide only urgent and needed medical care if forced to work under the emergency plan, compulsory medical scheme.

Mr. Lloyd's emergency plan is designed to combat any withdrawal of services by the doctors after July 1, when the medical care scheme is to go to operation.

The premier's precautions were outlined in a prepared statement handed to the press after he addressed a 100-minute per delegation from provincial Key-Doc-Doctors committee.

The committees turned over petitions signed by 48,000 persons asking a delay in the start of the medical plan until the full controversy with doctors can solve their impasse.

Mr. Lloyd's emergency precautions include an "emergency pool" of doctors willing to work under the medical care scheme and air and ground transportation arrangements to get these doctors to patients.

Emergency services for those requiring urgent care are being arranged and "hospitals are being assured of financial and legal support, to make possible the full use of their resources."

Provision will be made for doctors who will work under the medical care scheme, either as members of the emergency pool or in normal capacities.

He reiterated that the government will not delay implementation of the plan, saying he is sure the petitioners asking the delay are a minority. He said the situation is not as black as many persons seem to think.

Some of his comments were interrupted by sharp comments from petitioners such as "to hell with the Thompson committee" and "Where is Walter Erb?"

Trent University Will Start Peterborough Classes in '64

TORONTO (CP)—A group of citizens in Peterborough have been given provincial approval to begin a new university there, the 14th recognized university in Ontario, Premier Robarts announced today.

The institution will be called Trent University. It is to start classes in September, 1964, with an enrolment of some 100 students. Within 10 years, enrolment is expected to increase to 1,000.

A press release said the new university will work out of Peterborough Board of Education buildings for its first two or three years. In the interim, permanent buildings will go up on a site north of the city donated to the university.

The city has already given $100,000 toward establishment of the university and this "will be supplemented by provincial assistance," Mr. Robarts said, without indicating the extent of provincial grants. The citizens' group will seek private financial support "at the proper time."

The premier said the government has agreed to a recommendation by the Peterborough organizers that Trent University be eligible for both capital and maintenance grants.

Present plans call for capital expenditures of about $2,000,000 in 1964-65, $1,750,000 in 1965-66 and $1,800,000 in 1966-67.

Trent is expected to "provide a broad range of degree courses in the arts and sciences."

CEMENT TRUCKS BUZZED BY CAR, ONE ARRESTED

Strike Officially Starts Tonight

TORONTO (CP)—An incident in Tavistock Wednesday night resulted in the arrest in a strike by 7,300 Ontario truck drivers which doomed officials get under way until midnight tonight.

The deadline set by officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.) became wholesale against others. Results of a strike ballot were announced Monday. By Tuesday the five locals involved all had walked out, protesting against alleged lockouts.

Tavistock Police Chief Peter Grant said he arrested Allan Matz of Dorchester Wednesday night after four cars — striking truckers driving loads of cement to Kitchener from Woodstock was harassed and buzzed by a car.

Chief Grant said he saw a car with five occupants swerve in front of the trucks on Highway 59 in the middle of Tavistock, 15 miles north of Woodstock.

BELONG TO RIVAL

The four cement trucks were members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC), a Teamster rival. Chief Grant said they complained that during their trip from the Canada Cement Company's car had passed them constantly.

Chief Grant said Matz, taken to jail in Woodstock, was being held for appearance in magistrate's court there today.

The four previous arrests developed out of an incident at an Ottawa truck terminal Tuesday.

Henry Berns, 30, Robert Leger, 25, Patrick Covey, 30, and Robert Lecompte, 32, all of the Ottawa area, pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of caus-

Italian Freight Rams Express Train, 60 Dead

Police Seek Engineer And His Assistant

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A freight train ploughed into the Po River Valley Wednesday a standing express jammed to the brim with vacationers, killing at least 60 passengers.

A railway official said the freight train had run through a red stop light and roared past switchmen frantically waving flags and lanterns. Just before the crash at the Voghera train station, 30 miles south of Milan. The freight train's engineer and assistant engineer disappeared after the crash and police issued warrants for their arrest. Their bodies could not be found in the wreckage and police said they may have fled the area.

At least 70 other persons were reported injured in the wreck, Italy's fourth major train disaster since last December.

Station master Samuel Verani said the freight roared through the red stop signal 300 yards outside the station. He said station watchmen, in a cabin 300 yards inside the stop light zone, hurried to the tracks waving flags and lanterns when they saw the freight train was slowing down.

Officials estimated the freight was travelling 50 miles an hour when it piled into the rear of the express, which was estimated 700 passengers, many of them bound for a holiday on the Italian Riviera.

Eight hours after the crash, workers with blow torches still were trying to clear a way for doctors to reach more victims and a wreck still alive in the wreckage.

WATER HOT PLATES

Other rescue workers poured cold water on the torch-heated coaches to keep them from burning the trapped victims.

A priest crawled into the first gin of wreckage to give last rites of the Roman Catholic Church to the dead and dying.

Most of the injured and all of the dead were in the last two coaches of the 12-car express, a get train en route south from Milan to the Italian Riviera on the French frontier.

The coaches were so full that the aisles had to be used in the sales.

Police with blow torches cut into the twisted wreckage to reach the dead and dying. Doctors amputated the legs of a woman and a man pinned helplessly in the tangled, twisted steel.

Three hours after the wreck an infant was found inside one wrecked coach alive and unhurt.

As blow torches opened up more pockets in the wreckage, more dead bodies were pulled out. Cries for help spurred rescue workers on.

The freight, pulling 40 empty petroleum tank and cement cars, was bound for Genoa from Lecco on Lake Como and had left Milan's Parish Railroad Station.

The express train, a locomotive virtually sliced the rear coach in two and lodged itself inside. The

No Guarantee of Medical Care For Millions Says United Church

TORONTO (CP) — Millions of Canadians have no guarantee of adequate medical treatment, the royal commission on health services was told Wednesday.

The United Church of Canada said the present system is comprehensive and contributory but inadequate in many areas, to an adequate level.

The church said there are three groups of Canadians which need better health treatment—those who live in isolated places, the economically handicapped and the chronically ill.

"The net income of the average Canadian is the lowest since the dirty '30s," it said.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind told the commission it also was concerned about concerns of government should be the provision of medical care "to Canadians in all walks of life." Its brief said although free or low-cost clinics are a feature of most out-patient care for persons who lack money, many Canadian cities do not have them.

The Anglican Church of Canada told the commission that the federal government should help develop a program of rehabilitation in its ministering to the sick. It urged that "the whole question of the formation of joint committees—Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish—be explored by provincial training of clergymen.

It said that research should be assisted by federal grants, could organize 10 six-week courses for 30 students each year at a total of 24 trainees across the country for an annual cost of $40,000.

The Metropolitan Windsor Health Unit told the commission that public health departments try to integrate and coordinate medical care and rehabilitation services.

Keep Troops Out of China Monty's Advice

LONDON (AP) — Viscount Montgomery told the House of Lords Wednesday night the first two rules of war for Britain are: March out on Moscow and keep troops out of Red China.

During a debate on the army estimates, Montgomery, 74, said:

"We must first declare about certain rules of war. Rule 1 on page 1 of the book of war is: March out on Moscow.' Various people have tried it, Napoleon, Hitler—it is no good. Rule 2 is: 'Do not go fighting with your land armies in China.' It is a vast country with no very clearly defined objectives and an enemy fighting in China would be engulfed by the people's soldiers."

Boxcar Facilities Being Stretched to Limit on CNR Due to Trucking Strike

Drivers and employees of highway transport companies in this city have been hired by the province wide teamsters strike, but the restrictive silence on the highway has resulted in a business boom for the railways.

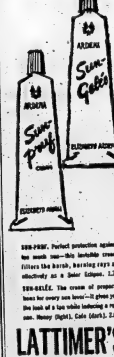
Heavenly bodies go about the sun in a special way; a Solar System that's prepared to keep you orbiting beautifully all the days of summer.

"Our boxcar facilities are being stretched to the limit, but so far we have been able to take care of the extra business," Mr. W. Pollock, CNR area manager at Belleville stated today.

The area manager said that every boxcar in the area between Brockville and Toronto was being pressed into service to handle the extra freight.

So far no additional trains have been necessary to handle the extra business, he added, but Mr. Pollock said if the highway strike continued this might be necessary.

"With diesilization we can handle a lot of extra cars without requiring additional train crews" he said.



Sleeper cars and express and freight handlers have been the busiest, according to Mr. Pollock.

In a jocular mood, Mr. Pollock said "It is nice to put a piece of the highway business" adding that "it had been quite a piece".

"We are giving our regular customers priority, but we are refusing nothing and so far we have been able to handle everything that has come our way".

Tweed Voters Turn Out to Hear Temple

TWEED — Over 200 persons jammed the Lions Pavilion here Wednesday evening to greet Liberal candidate Robert Temple. A cheer of welcome pressed in from all sides to hear the candidate and his spontaneous applause and cheers broke out from time to time during his address.

Mr. Temple spoke on the Liberals' program for a contributory, portable pension plan to supplement the present old-age pension. This plan would belong to each individual no matter where he worked, even if he were self-employed, and would, after an initial period during which the insured necessary to provide a sound financial base for the plan were collected, provide each contributor with a pension based on the best ten earning years of the period during which he was in the plan.

Mr. Temple stressed that this would be no give-away program requiring additional taxation somewhere along the line but would be built up by the citizens of Canada and administered on a sound financial basis.

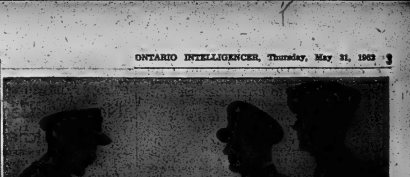
He also spoke on the educational objectives of the Liberal Party. These call for the provision of free tuition in any Canadian school of advanced education, whether agricultural, technical, professional or academic, for any Canadian student who was able to carry on with his work in the course of his choice.

A fund is also to be established if the funds are available, to provide loans to needy students encountering financial difficulties in carrying on with their advanced education, Mr. Temple said.

This fund will be operated in a fashion which will relieve the individual student of his personal responsibilities in the immediate repayment of the loan, but will be self-sufficient by making provision for each student to repaid at a low interest charge by the users once they have completed their course of employment.

Mr. Temple criticized the Conservative government's record of the past five years as being "a record of failure for Canada which must grow and develop if Canada is to take her place, her own, provide jobs for the many thousands of young people who leave school each year to work force as well as the half million unemployed now and to have a sound financial footing.

He noted that the growth of the Canadian economy has fallen behind Canada's normal development rate which indicated that Canada was actually sliding back under the Tories. He cited the growth of the Canadian dollar at 92.5 cents under the Diefenbaker economy as indicative of a lack of confidence in the stability of the Canadian economy by her international creditors.



"This situation is not good enough for Canada", Mr. Temple commented. Also present at the meeting were Frank Follwell, former Liberal MP for the riding and Reginald Bush. Reg Dunbam, president of the Tweed Liberal Association conducted the meeting.

PEARSON IN VANCOUVER

Liberal Leader Pearson heads into Vancouver for a big parade, a visit to Chinatown and a major rally tonight. He sleeps at Abbotsford, B.C., on the way.

T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party makes stops at Dauphin, Man., and Kamsack, Sask., while Robert Thompson, leader of the Social Credit party, heads for Penticton and Grand Forks, B.C.

Meanwhile, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay said Wednesday night he expects about 9,800,000 Canadians to be eligible to vote June 18—about 700,000 more than in the 1958 election.

A preliminary tabulation showed at least 9,640,331 eligible voters, with about 160,000 more expected in revisions to voters' lists between now and the election.

PROMISE NEW PROGRAMS

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Douglas, campaigning in northern constituencies, Wednesday promised new programs to develop Canada's northern resource house of resources.

At Whitehorse in the Yukon Territory, Mr. Pearson said the Conservative government was "resurrected" the idea of roads to the North. He promised new northland priorities, more air strips, better radio communications, more up-to-date municipal laws, better surveys of all kinds.

Mr. Pearson was the first party leader to visit the Yukon during a general election campaign.

At Fin Flon, Mr. Douglas said natural resources have frequently been sacrificed to private profit rather than public welfare. He promised a new capital development fund with shares for Canadians to help exploit resources — largely by studying resource wealth, then extracting the raw resources and building processing and marketing industries around them.

The Canadian dollar, devalued and pegged by Finance Minister Fleming at 92½ cents U.S., the United States silver dollar, also figured prominently in campaign speeches.

SAYS STABILITY REACHED

At Cornwall, Mr. Fleming said the government inherited "a 92-cent dollar" from the Liberals, but has achieved monetary stability now.

"Through dollar devaluation Canada's position was greatly improved in relation to the International Monetary Fund," he said. "Businessmen no longer find themselves at the mercy of fluctuating international currency rates."

At Prince George, B.C., Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government would "save the Canadian dollar."

He also took up Mr. Diefenbaker's challenge on whether a Liberal government would upset the dollar. The important question, said Mr. Pearson, is not whether the dollar is at a fixed rate, but its value in terms of other currencies.

Thompson said in Nanaimo, B.C., the free enterprise system is in danger and the country's currency and credit are put under control of Parliament.

Canadians had lost confidence in the country's economy and future—with investors finding it more profitable to invest in Canada's debt than in its development.

On trade, Mr. Thompson listed Social Credit plans for expanding trade and developing new trade patterns.

"Unless we are willing to use daring and imaginative trade concepts, we will be left standing in the market place with most of our wares left unsold," he said in Victoria, B.C.

J. Paul Getty Buying, Not Selling, Stocks

LONDON (AP)—J. Paul Getty — one of the world's richest men — said Wednesday he is buying, not selling, stocks.

In an interview he said that last Monday, when the New York Stock Exchange suffered its worst slump since 1929, he asked his broker to buy stocks.

"My broker picked up about between 40,000 and 50,000 oil shares for me," he said, "and I would have bought some more if I'd been able to get them."

He said that if prices stay down, he will continue to buy.

Getty's vast fortune comes primarily from oil.

Asked for his version of why the stock market sagged so badly, he replied:

"I think it was largely emotional. Some speculators had been forced to sell after pushing their luck too far."

He said he felt the market has begun to recover.

Asked what he thought the future held, the oilman answered:

"I don't think the slide will go on. In fact, I think there will be a rather substantial rise and very quickly."

Asked if he had been following the ticker tape at his palatial stately home, Tutsham Place, Americas - born Getty said:

"Oh, good gracious no, I haven't looked at one of those things for years."

100 Killed On First Day Of Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents in the United States during Memorial Day Wednesday killed nearly 100 persons, close to the record for the one-day holiday period.

The count showed 97 highway deaths, but belated reports may boost the toll to near the one-day Memorial Day record of 109 in 1956.

Other violent deaths boosted the one-day total to near the record of 174, also set in 1956.

Fine Send-off Given Two Vets Of Boer War

TRENTON — Yesterday afternoon at the Trenton CNR junction, passengers on a crack Ottawa-bound train passed from the windows to witness a colorful—if unusual—ceremony being enacted on the platform below.

Led by a Scottish piper, a procession of men, young and old, pensioners, soldiers and others, sporting the navy beret of the Royal Canadian Legion, marched up and down the platform, to the strains of "The Green Hills of Tyrol."

Marching directly behind the piper and at the head of the column, were two spry oldsters, clad in traditional Legion garb.

This was Trenton's send-off for South African War veterans Charlie Baker of Trenton, and Fred Pound of Brighton. Charlie and Fred were embarking on the first leg of their journey to Canada's capital city where they will attend the dedication of the Book of Remembrance for those who died in the turn-of-the-century war. Ceremonies will be held today. Tomorrow, Charlie and Fred will return to Trenton to tell their families and the youngsters in their respective Legion branches, all about the official ceremonies and of reunion with many of their old comrades.

Mr. Baker fought in the 21st Battalion of the Suffolk Regiment from 1900 to 1902. According to tradition, handed down for more than a day, War of the Roses, men from the Suffolk Regiment are entitled to wear a red rose when in the presence of the reigning monarch. In the First World War he saw overseas service with the 39th Battalion.

Mr. Pound, who is a member of Brighton Legion Branch was a lance-corporal in the 38th Company, Imperial Yeomanry, in the Boer War.

Charlie will be 85 at his next birthday. Fred is 84.

On hand to wish Charlie and Fred "Godspeed" was a half of the Trenton Legion branch was branch second vice-president, C. G. Smith.

Representing the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was RSM Bob Wigmore. The piper was Sgt. Pere Richardson.

The train conductor told reporters that between Kingston and Trenton the train had picked up more than 100 South African War vets, and that more would join the merry crew down the line.

ing a public disturbance.

Ottawa police said the arrests were made after a crowd of about 100 men hurled bricks and milk cartons full of paint at trucks leaving the terminal of Taggart Trucking Service, which employs non-union drivers.

ADJOURNED ONE WEEK

Cases against the four were adjourned to June 6 when date for hearing will be set.

The strike ballot, rejected a conciliation board's conciliation board and approved by the Ontario Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, seeks for the trucking firms. The pact would have provided a 40-cent-an-hour increase in the present basic hourly rate of $2.

Membership meetings of the striking locals are expected to be held next week to spell out union demands in view of the rejection of the conciliation board's proposal. However, most of the Teamsters' criticisms of the proposal concentrated drive aimed at improving Canadian trade in the U.S. centred around the board's proposal that a cost-of-living bonus be paid to workers.

READY TO MEET

No settlement talks were in sight today, however. J. M. (Casey) Dodds, Canadian director of the Teamsters' Union, said locals are ready to meet the employers any time.

Meanwhile heavy freight bookings and express trains running late as shippers seek alternative means of moving their goods.

One grocery chain, Steinberg's, with union approval, set up its own deliveries; produce from its warehouses to the stores by leasing equipment and drivers from other firms operating the trucks with members of a Teamsters local with which the chain has an agreement.

The union announced Wednesday that M. and P. Transport Limited of Windsor, a firm outside the MTIRB, has signed a pact providing a 35-cent-an-hour general increase, a modification based on eventual settlements with the other carriers.

Cold Storage Plant Will Receive Subsidy

TRENTON — A subsidy for Trenton Cold Storage Ltd., to help build an addition to its Trenton plant, was announced yesterday by Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South, on behalf of agriculture minister, Alvin Hamilton.

When completed, this addition will make Trenton the largest vegetable freezing area in Eastern Canada.

Mr. Grills welcomed the news as giving encouragement to fruit and vegetable producers which is the main item of farm income in the Trenton area.

The existence of increased freezing and storage capacity is an insurance to growers who want to increase their acreage of perishable products, such as peas, the announcement said.

It would also assist the comparatively new enterprises of frozen apple pies and pie fillings, which are being developed.

Not Another 1929

The rampaging of the bears on Wall Street the first of this week was so reminiscent of the 1929 crash which ushered in the depression of the thirties that there is an acute danger some may conclude prevailing economic conditions for the two periods are identical.

In the first place, while there are several similarities between conditions today and in 1929, there are also great differences. In the second place, even if prevailing economic conditions were identical they could hardly produce identical results, because, whatever may be true on the economic front, there has been a great change in the prevailing political philosophy.

It is true that today, as in the summer of 1929, some may think they can find at a trade of apparent bargains. It is also true that the stock market has long been operating in an atmosphere of unreasonable optimism, a prevailing conviction on the part of many that stocks can only move in one direction, up.

Today, the employment front, however, there is still a brisk demand for men and women with certain specialized skills, a condition which did not exist in 1929. Even more important, almost every industrialized country has some system of unemployment insurance, which will provide some all-important brake on any deflationary trend, should it develop, by enabling the unemployed to provide an effective demand for at least the necessities of life. Thirdly, labor is much more highly organized today and its resistance to extensive wage-cutting would be much more stubborn than in the thirties, thereby helping to prevent the development of price cutting pressure and all the resultant evils which were exposed by Hon. H. H. Stevens' probe of price spread conditions in Canada, which were matched by similar developments in other lands.

Aside altogether from the difference in economic factors, there is the extraordinary one of a whole new set of political conditions. Besides the social security systems they have evolved, most democratic countries have come to accept an increasing measure of governmental regulation. Whatever may be said of such regulations at a time when the economy is operating normally, there will be few who would not welcome vigorous government action to check panic. Experience has shown that governments have several useful weapons, in taxation policies, fiscal policies and by direct intervention, through a program of public works.

Even if the deflationary trend does not spread too rapidly from the financial markets, no tears need be shed about the millions in paper losses resulting from the decline in the prices of securities. The truth is that most of these securities were not worth the prices at which they had been selling, the yield in dividens being far too small. The only reason they had found a ready market at such high prices was that many people had continued to fear inflation.

Insofar as the decline in stock prices is the result of a belief that the danger of continued inflation has eased, and insofar as this belief proves correct, the decline of the market will be a healthy sign, rather than otherwise. What we must hope, though, is that this easing of inflationary pressure will not be carried too far, to the extent that panic ranges decline sharply. There are so many people of modest means who have incurred substantial long-term debts that any sharp deflationary trend would be much more dangerous than in 1929, when the amount of such indebtedness was much smaller.

Fifty Year Cycle

It's Holland for tulips, Normandy for apple blossoms, England for daffodils and Washington for cherry blossoms.

Washington's claim to floral fame is by courtesy of the Japanese. Fifty years ago the people of Tokyo made a gift to the U.S. of the trees which line the tidal basin in the capital and annually they explode into a wonderland of pale pink, deep pink, white and greenish-yellow blossoms.

In the half century since they were planted, relationships between Americans and the Japanese have gone a full circle, from friendship to hatred and back to friendship. Largely as the result of the war-born hatred and the hardships it inflicted on the Japanese, the parent trees at Washington's famed showpieces disappeared from the Arakawa embankment in Tokyo. Ten years ago the people of Tokyo asked for help in restoring their cherry trees. Forty grafts, five from each of the eight varieties originally sent from Tokyo to Washington, were shipped to Tokyo. This spring the trees from these grafts are blossoming again on the Arakawa embankment.

There seems to be a lesson here for mankind.

No More Cadillacs for PM After Butcher's Comment

BY RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Notes from the Campaign Trail . . . Ever noticed how Prime Minister Diefenbaker, when stumping by motorcade, always travels in a medium or low-priced car?

Most of the prime ministerial entourage may be riding in style in a line of glittering Rolls Royces, but "Dief" will be in a Ford or a Chev or a Plymouth.

It happens that he got it "caught out" in Nanaimo, B.C., aboard a long black Cadillac, one day back in '58 campaign.

As the motorcade rolled slowly along the street, a butcher stepped out of his shop front door, wiped his hands on his red-stained apron, and in a voice that those who heard it agree could well have been heard clear up and down the waterfront in Vancouver Island, bawled:

"Wouldn't you know that the SOB'd would come riding in Cad's!"

The incident so shook Dief that for a few days he wouldn't ride in anything else but rattletrap Fords.

So, ever since then, when the Prime Minister is on tour, in order to re-establish that campaign magnaym when planning the motorcade is . . . "Get the PM in 'Joe's car' . . . 'Joe' being Joe Clark, the newspaperman character, even as you and I.

TOUCHE

Every time the Prime Minister lets his speech run too long, he generally tries to laugh his way out of it with a story.

Since he feels the ideal campaign meeting shouldn't run more than 45 minutes — and he regularly runs an hour or more on the platform, he has, of necessity, quite a fund of jokes.

Perhaps his best is this:

"The other night I was usual. I found myself going away over my time, and I looked down at the audience and chairman for being so long.

"So, good as I am, apologize, sir," the chairman graciously assured me. 'As a matter of fact, I'm sure all of us thought you were a lot longer than you actually were!'"

IRISH AND FLEMING

Mitchell Sharp, former Deputy Trade Minister, and protege of the late great C. D. Howe" Howe and co-managing as a Liberal candidate against Finance Minister Fleming in Eglinton, was a fish story his most potent platform point.

When he and old "Trader" were touring Japan, recalls Sharp, following a busy day on the platform, it was arranged that they would go fishing.

Their Japanese hosts took them to a fish hatchery and gave them the details of the stream just outside its gates.

Then the pair of them spent the hatchery gates, permitting some fish to swim downstream past Howe and Sharp.

The "Trader" quickly hooked a couple of big brookies, but Sharp got nary a bite.

Consolation came from old C.D.

"Mitchell," he said, "I don't know whether it's worse to say that you went to a fish hatchery and caught a fish, or that you went to a fish hatchery and didn't catch fish."

And so, says Sharp, pointing up his story that is the way it is today with Finance Minister Fleming and the deficits and dollar devaluation.

"I don't know whether it is worse to say that he is responsible for the financial mess or that he isn't responsible for the fiscal foul-up."

Medical Social Worker

By Claire MacAlister in Canadian Welfare

There is death.

None of us is the hospital can say it more than James Malcolm are confronting one another for the last time, or if this time death can be disguised, dispelled, dismissed.

Least of all can the doctors say.

I wonder in myself if James Malcolm has his own way of knowing? He seems to be arranging his affairs, looking back over the years. He has wisdom and content. I am supposed to be helping him, but it seems to me that the flow is the other direction, from James Malcolm to myself. He has a source of strength from which I can refresh myself, to give to others.

Here at the hospital where I am a medical social worker, James Malcolm was first sent up to me by an surgry doctor, a good one, who felt he had had attended the Outpatients Clinic several times with him, then, and the doctor said he must at once get into a hospital bed, but be refused. "See if you can knock some sense into the fellow," the doctor said, "it's urgent that he be admitted."

I had found a quiet, resolved old gentleman who had come determinedly up the stairs to my office. His dilemma did not show its shape all at once. Slowly I found that his wife had died in another hospital during of cancer. "They" had said that she did not any longer require acute care in hospital, but James Malcolm knew that he could not care for her at home himself. He did not know how to make any such decision. Together we worked out a plan but then, before she could be moved to a nursing home, she died.

Some weeks afterwards, with an instinct for what was seeking by, James Malcolm came to offer me his thanks for nothing I had done. Some feeling has passed between us this all I told myself, I think his thanks.

He has suffered a lot before she died," he proffered. With the acuteness of the newly bared his grief, I could tell how he had husbanded his slight old energies, tangled down his own pain, to meet her need.

"It was a mercy when she was taken," I said. I used the oft-repeated cliche, knowing it carried the truth. James Malcolm smiled, wordlessly saying I knew myself understood it was all right for me to feel relieved when she died. We moved on rapidly as a reminder that now he must urgently come into the world of living.

Strictly Personal

Do Not Urge Children to "Love" Parents

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Children should not be urged, or pressured, to "love" their parents; for if the love doesn't exist naturally, no prodding will stir it — and it is worth remembering that even the Ten Commandments orders us simply to honor our parents, for love cannot be ordered.

The literary hoce is the worst offender in this line, for he never insists on boring fixture general generations with his work.

It is one of Adler's inevitable laws of compensation that when she withheld wisdom from books, she gave them good taste instead.

There comes a time in life when we have to retreat in order to advance; when we have to turn part of our path in order to find the right turning to go forward. Only a fool cannot go back are doomed to travel in circles.

Most of the so-called "incompatability" in marriages springs from the fact that the two men's sex is an act; while to all women it is an emotion. And no difference in attitude can be bridged only by love.

The world does a humbug out of the world, as we wring all the water out of a sponge, our daily duties could be reconcluded in an hour.

The young people who write for "professional" advice, I can only recommend the reply given by Socrates to a young man who once asked him how to write a symphony. "You're still young, Mozart said, "why not begin with ballads?" "But you composed symphonies when you were 10 years old," the lad insisted. "True," admitted Mozart, "but I didn't ask how."

Nobody is harder to pity than the self-pitier — which is something he never learns his whole life long.

When a man needs to recapitulate his ideas by saying, "In this connection," he is generally in that his explanation requires a certain tenuousness.

The road to Hell is paved with inattentions; surely more sins are committed by those who neglect than through calculated purpose.

The first rule for writing a truly effective letter or recommendation is: Tell me about the person very well, so that one's reaction is unconditioned by harsh reality.

What the parasoid calls a "life" is a very painful truth — and who is to say we are not all a little parasoid in this direction?

We make positive judgments about men, and negative judgments about women, in the sense that a good man is known by what he does, but a good woman is known by what she doesn't do.

The smoke nuisance in Belleville has become quite a problem in residential parts of town, although there is a smoke by-law on the statute, it has been noted in its enforcement. On Friday night the aldermen were agreed that something should be done to eliminate some of the nuisance. A recommendation was endorsed "that the Police Department in conjunction with the city engineer be instructed to take immediate action to have the firm on Coleman Street conform to the smoke by-law, and if the situation is not cleared up to the satisfaction of the departments by the 26th inst., the necessary steps to prosecute are to be taken."

People Do Not Realize Danger of Carbon Monoxide

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can carbon monoxide poisoning leave bad aftereffects? My husband was working on the car a year or two ago. I told him to leave the garage doors open but he didn't.

He came staggering into the house 15 minutes later and said he couldn't breathe and threw up his arms. He got better, but had a headache for several days and says now that he hasn't felt well since then. — Mrs. L.B.

He was lucky to get out alive because monoxide works fast. If he had stumbled when inside the garage instead of managing to stagger out, a few short minutes would have worked tragedy.

Each cell I call attention to monoxide, but people still refuse to realize what a dangerous killer it is. It has no odor. You may smell fumes from an engine, or smoke from a faulty furnace, but what you smell doesn't hurt you. What you don't smell can kill in a matter of minutes.

The after-effects of such poisoning are difficult to predict. Here's why.

The danger of monoxide is to blind itself to the red corpuscles

The blood cells which are supposed to carry oxygen. Air monoxide gets into the lungs, the monoxide and air divide themselves to the blood cells as they pass through the lungs seeking affinities.

The presence of the monoxide in a cell prevents it from accepting pure oxygen and transporting it throughout the body.

The brain, as I've pointed out in a number of articles, is the most sensitive to the lack of oxygen being carried by the blood. Thus a victim of carbon monoxide will have a complete new supply of blood, devoid of its poisons, within a few months at most.

While the poisoned cells remained, some organ of the body was damaged, that could be permanent, and that is how a long-lasting after-effect.

The brain is the most sensitive organ, that would be the first vulnerable point. I would suspect that your husband's absence of unusual behavior symptoms, that he suffered no any permanent ill-effects.

It could be that he got the daylights scared out of him but certainly would have scared you. Even making him "not feel well since" is very much

STRENGTH for the DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

DO SOMETHING

The prophet Joel, who lived about 2,500 years ago, rebuked the generation of his day for sins and shortcomings. It was customary among people in that day to rend their garments when sense of wrongdoing overcame them. Joel's rebuke came conscious of the enormity of their sins.

Joel brushed all this aside. Read your hearts, he cried, and then pour penitent tears out unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and of great kindness and repenteth him of the evil. To other words, he is a loving and forgiving God.

We have people amongst us today who do the equivalent of rending their garments. They wring their hands, they shriek, they weep, they carry on at over the place. If they are detected in something evil or if genuine sorrow for sin and evil living overtake them. They make much of their sins. They denounce their sin. But in a great majority of cases there is no change in their lives. They commit the same sins. They do not turn their backs on evil. They lapse into their old weaknesses. They will pull another breast beating stunt later on and declare that they are too mean for words. God can not have anything to do with them. But there it ends.

Rend your hearts and not your garments. Change your lives. Turn your backs on short the evil of them. Do something. Don't just weep and wail and regret.

Do something.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of the great advantages of living in a small town or village is that when you call the doctor on the phone, you get him, not an answering service. If you don't get him, you get his wife, or a nice member of the family who can help tell you what to do. Once he is, or where he is likely to be within twenty minutes so that he can get back to you himself.

The answering service is undoubtedly a great advance in the science of modern living. Not only do doctors and other professional men and many business men and women as well as plumbers and furnace men use the answering service but I have heard people promise-flowing the reverend Sunday

A state of emergency was declared in Pretoria, South Africa 24 years ago today—in 1961 — and troops were recalled out to fight the floods.

Local Trucking Firms Have 100 Drivers on Strike, Walked Off Jobs Tuesday

Approximately 100 truck drivers from local transport companies went on strike here Tuesday morning as trucking employees joined the province-wide strike which began Monday.

Companies affected here are Smith Transport Ltd., Direct Winters Transport Ltd., Argosy Carriers Ltd., Quinte Transport Ltd. of Trenton.

The drivers walked off their jobs before about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

A spokesman at Toronto-Peterboro-Transport here said yesterday that their branch was not out on strike, but, due to the Toronto and Peterborough branches striking, they were forced to lay off their 16 employees.

He said they were one of two transport companies in the city that were not a member of local 91. The Toronto-Peterborough branch here is a member local 938 of the Teamsters.

It is understood that the "leader" system on the railways now in effect is the sole reason for the strike. He said that the Belleville branch would gain nothing by whatever settlement was here, and that by transporting trailers by rail, it was taking a great deal of business away from the drivers.

The strike is almost the reverse of the railroad strike in 1951, when shipments by rail were stopped, thus giving more work to the truck drivers. Now, work is being taken from the truck driving companies and given to the railroad companies, he said.

PICKETS SET UP

Picketing has been set up at Argosy, Smith, Direct Winters and Quinte Transport of Trenton. Action is resumed on Tuesday.

He said the entire Direct Winters Transport system had been shut down, putting about 700 men out of work. They are unable to draw unemployment insurance he said, but they will be eligible for strike pay after a certain length of time.

"We had been expecting this for quite a while, so we tried to keep our shipments up as possible, although we did get caught with some, before we had a chance to deliver them", he said.

He said none of his employees were armed, anything to do with the strike but had to hire security of head office and, he added, everything is very quiet so far.

WHITE CANE TRAINING — Miss Pat Baverstock, blind typist at Belleville General Hospital, tries out new longer white cane used for greater mobility. Giving instruction is Mr. M. Carlton, Toronto, director of adjustment training for the C.N.I.B.

New Longer White Canes To Give Greater Mobility

Longer canes for greater mobility.

That's the prospect for thousands of blind white cane users across Canada who are to be encouraged to increase the length of their canes by from 3 to 12 inches.

In Belleville yesterday to introduce the new longer white canes to blind persons in this area, Mr. M. Carlton, director of adjustment training for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, noted that immobility of the blind was one of the greatest handicaps to be overcome.

Mr. Carlton poled the new travel training * technique recommended by the CNIB is the use of longer sectional white canes which will give users greater freedom of movement. A rhythm touch is required for successful use.

He expects that the newly-blind will take to the longer canes easier than present white cane users.

"Those blind for some years don't take readily to the change," he said.

Miss Pat Baverstock, blind dictaphone typist at Belleville General Hospital, is the first local blind person to be trained with the use of the long, white canes.

Pat has never adapted herself to the shorter 33-inch canes presently used, but instructor officials are hopeful that she will take readily to the new technique.

The longer canes reach considerably further ahead than do the old type and their afford greater protection for the user against walking into obstacles.

Mr. Carlton gave Miss Baverstock her initial training with the new cane yesterday and the training will be continued by Mrs. R. C. Seldon, who is acting as the training volunteer for the Belleville area.

Forty Oppose Township Plan At Meeting

Of about 125 people at Ameliasburg township's open meeting last night called in the township hall to discuss the proposed township plan, about 40 spoke in opposition to the plan. Several suggested an open ballot be held, and they predicted the plan would be thrown out if it were.

Main points of objection were the provisions for houses in non-urban areas. Citizens felt the minimum lot sizes of two-thirds of an acre on the Bay-shore and two acres in the central part of the township, were unrealistic.

The proposed "parkette," giving access to the water, were criticized on the grounds that township people would be paying for them for the use of Belleville people.

The planning board will meet again to consider these objections, Wilbur Hunter, chairman of the board of trade, decided. If the board decides the objections are justified, the plan will be revised before it is presented to council. After council approves, approval from the Minister of Municipal Affairs, Hon. Frederick Cass, is required, under certain circumstances, before the plan will be passed. The whole process could take several objection by the voters, because the plan itself is a non-restrictive by-law. If this were done, however, the voters would be able to vote on whether the laws required to implement the plan.

The medical care plan was drawn up along lines recommended by an advisory committee headed by W. P. Thompson, former president of the University of Saskatchewan. Mr. Erb, who as health minister has had preliminary drafts of the plan, quit the government recently and criticized handling of the question.

Bert McKay, chairman of the provincial Keep-Our-Doctors Committee, called the delegation to order.

"We were heard without interruption by members of cabinet," he said, "Let us extend the same courtesy."

Sub-Lieutenant Ralph L. Sykes, RCN, was awarded his pilot's wings after successfully completing approximately one year of pilot training with the RCAF. After graduating from Crescent Heights High School in 1957, SLT Sykes enlisted in the RCN as a member of the Regular Officer Training Plan. He graduated from Royal Military College in June, 1961, and then commenced flying training with the RCAF. SLT Sykes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Sykes of 3640 1st Ave. NW, Calgary, Alta. He is married to the former Miss Barbara Robb of Belleville, Ontario.

SLT Sykes has been assigned to HMCS Naden for service with VU 32 Squadron at Pat Bay, B.C.

Lewis Tweed May Again Be Weaved

VANCOUVER (CP) — An energetic little woman is travelling around the world on a campaign to preserve the homeweaving industry on the Scottish island of Lewis.

Catriona Tolmer is trying to sell shares in a company headed by author Sir Compton Mackenzie that hopes to revive the industry.

Lewis tweed is almost as famous as that of the neighboring Hebridian isle of Harris.

After the Second World War, she says, she succeeded in selling 200 veterans to return to the looms their fathers and grandfathers had operated in their homes.

"But we didn't have enough backing to survive. When the recession came, the men drifted away to find other work."

Now she hopes to lure them back, saying that if she secures $30,000 the Scottish Council of Industry and other government departments will support the endeavor.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Rupert N. — I wish Dad had more of a program for his senior years.

Mr. J.N. — I can't convince them that I really like doing nothing!

* * *

Rupert N. — I'm about to leave on a Government assignment overseas, which will keep me out of the country for three years. I'm leaving behind a 68-year-old father, a retired widower who lives alone in a hotel room.

It would give me great peace of mind to know that he has some design for living worked out, some program. But he seems willing to just drift, day by day, whiling away the hours in such aimless activities as idle chatter, movie going, staring into space and a weary "Well, hello. He refuses to join a senior centre, sturdy, or do light work. He says he likes doing nothing.

I'd hate to receive an SOS from him later when he got tired of vegetating. I'd like him to make some realistic plans now.

* * *

Mr. J.N. — Others at my stage of life may want to study or work. I don't. I'm happy taking each day as it comes and enjoying what it offers. Rupert needn't worry. Now that he and his family are sailing, I'll cultivate my friendship with other relatives as well as old and new acquaintances.

But I don't want any fixed schedule. I had enough of that all my life and now I don't want to have to watch clocks and calendars so closely. There's plenty to do. If the spirit moves me I amble off to watch the excitement in a stock brokerage office, or a railroad station. Sometimes I like to sit quietly.

Rupert would like me to buy a farm or turn into a Grandpa Moses. Why must a man do something after he retires? I've done enough.

* * *

The Council: Mr. N. is saying that if he has nothing to do, as Rupert claims, then he's like Porgy in "Porgy and Bess" who had "plenty o' nuttin'."

Believe it or not, Rupert, some elderlies can age gracefully, no kicks, no regrets, no at-loose-ends panic. All depends upon "the citadel within," the inner strength and resources which don't show up clearly, the way a job, or weaving, or a college degree show up.

But 68 isn't 79 and 88 and we questing, Mr. N., so that he'll question himself, as to whether he can go along indefinitely without a goal — an unselfish goal, no matter how vague. Does he give a bought to others? How much of his self-centredness can they take? How many ears will he be able to bend with the same old tales of his past glories, past achievements (puffed-up to incredibility with each telling!) and present Save-the-World theories? He'd have to find other retirees like himself, people who have retired not only from jobs but from challenge. Those who keep themselves somewhere near the thick of things will find him a boon at least as entertainer, and, while humouring him, will seek the company of those who are still going somewhere. He's "jes' a-settin'."

A specific long-range goal — even one so simple as helping a youngster with his homework for the P.T.A. meeting — the aged in nursing homes — might help Mr. N. remain his perky self for many long years.

With this alert, Rupert may rest easy. During one of his dad's at-sessions, the idea of a senior centre full of bright people may look good to Mr. N. and propel him to formalize somewhat his blueprint for relaxing.

Ritual Night Held at Gamma Mu

The final business meeting of the season of Gamma Mu Sorority was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John O'Flynn. It was opened by president, Mrs. Roy Jeffrey.

Five new members received the Ritual of Jewel Degree. They were Mrs. Robert Temple, Mrs. George Whitson, Miss Elizabeth Black, Mrs. Abel Nightingale, and Miss Beth Klein.

Highlight of the evening was the presentations to Mrs. Victor White, honorable past director of the chapter, of an honorary membership and a Royal Doulton figurine in recognition of her years of service with the group.

Mrs. Hugh Murray, the immediate past sponsor, was installed as director and Mrs. Kenneth Ross as the new sponsor. Three members moving on to the exemplary chapter were presented with silver spoons — Mrs. Douglas Bateman, Mrs. Garth Sine and Mrs. Eben James. Mrs. Nightingale, who is being moved from Belleville, was also presented with a parting gift. Mrs. Doreen Green, the immediate past president, was presented with a special pin for her services.

Refreshments served by co-hostesses Mrs. Leo Curtin and Mrs. William Bowen brought the colorful evening to a close.

IODE Will Endow Chair For Indians

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — The annual meeting of the IODE moved Wednesday to improve the living conditions of Canadian Indians.

The order recommended that its national executive endow a chair at a Canadian university to aid research into "the unfulfilled needs of our natives."

The final session of the conference also passed a resolution urging the government to accord the Red Ensign as Canada's national flag. The order said it had learned the federal government had replaced Dukes Jacks in a citizenship court with Red Ensigns.

Similar resolutions have been passed by the order every year since 1946.

Mrs. Peter L. Robinson of Toronto was re-elected national president.

There was a large number of interested people in attendance.

MAY GET TOUGHER

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) Premier Robarts indicated Wednesday that Ontario's regional liquor laws may be subject to stricter enforcement. Addressing a Rotary Club meeting, he said changes in liquor laws and policies announced at the last session of the legislature, were designed to face facts "and meet them as they would. However, "the answer to stricter control may well lie in stricter enforcement."

No Special Privileges For Captain's Daughter

MONTREAL (CP)—Being the captain's daughter holds no special privileges for Keethe Ottmann, one of three wireless officers aboard the German vessel Seven Seas.

"She has to do her work like everyone else," Captain Heinrich Ottmann said during a Montreal interview.

"In fact, it's a poor job for a girl. She has to work from eight until 12 every morning and from eight in the evening until midnight. She has no time to spend dancing."

But he admitted the job has compensations, among them the chance to "see a bit of the world and get paid for it." And "that's what most girls want, isn't it?" he said with a grin. "A man's job on a man's salary."

Blonde, clear - complexioned Keethe came to her father's crew well - equipped. She has had one year of electronics training and two of apprentice-ship and has worked on an oil carrier and on several freighters, including a Russian one.

She joined the Seven Seas 10 months ago and has since been ashore in Tahiti, Samoa, the Fiji Islands, Australia and New Zealand with her pet monkey, Abel Tasmin.

The Seven Seas calls into the Ottmann's home port of Bremerhaven about eight times a year but a complete family reunion is seldom possible. Two of Keethe's brothers are also at sea and a third lives in New York.

ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

SPEAKING of MANNERS

— PATRICIA LEWIS —

MAIL CALL

Question: In this morning's mail, my husband received an engraved invitation to attend a cocktail-buffet given by a widow whom he knows through business. The envelope was addressed to him, and only his name was written on the invitation. We have met this woman, but since the party is strictly social and not a business meeting, I do think I should have been included. My husband wants to go, but would this be proper? Your opinion would be appreciated. — Mrs. M.L., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: To invite a man to a party and deliberately exclude his wife definitely shows poor judgment and taste. Even if Mr. Holmes has never met the man's wife, this still does not excuse her rudeness. If the party were strictly business, the invitation should have been sent to his office. But, since it was a social home, this party obviously is strictly social. If your husband accepts, he would be sanctioning the affair. Under the circumstances, it would be more considerate of him to send his regrets.

Question: Both friends have invited my husband and me and their stepmother-to-be to their home for a forthcoming week end. The couple has made plans to take us to a dance on Saturday night, and the wife has hired a competent baby-sitter for the evening. I'd prefer paying the sitter fee. How can I handle this slight problem with tact? — Mrs. A.J., Joplin, Mo.

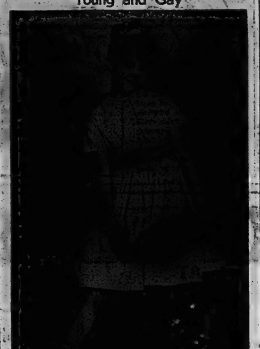
Answer: A considerate host and hostess usually absorb all guest expenses for a week end. Since your hostess hired a baby-sitter on her own, she most likely intends paying the fee.

As a close friend, you certainly may broach the subject on arrival, but if your hostess insists that "everything's taken care of," then you should pursue the subject, but accept this graciously.

Question: My husband keeps his hands jammed into his coat pockets all the time, even when we go to parties or dances. You talk him it's impolite, but he doesn't listen. Would you be good enough to add your opinion? — Mrs. S.M., St. Albans, N.Y.

Answer: When a man has his hands in his pockets, it makes it harder for him to shake hands and light a woman's cigarette under party conditions. He does seem more attentive when his hands are free. But, let's face it, millions of kind, thoughtful, successful and influential men have the same habit, and it puts more of a strain on the fabric of their jackets than it does on the fabric of their social standing.

Question: I know that a soup bowl should be served on a place plate or a serving plate, but is this also true when one is serving a cup of soup on a saucer? I'd appreciate a reply to settle a discussion with a friend. — Mrs. H.M., Bayside, N.Y.



Answer: Even though a soup cup is accompanied by a saucer, it still should be set either on the place plate or served on a larger plate if the place plate is removed. Soup cups and saucers, just like soup bowls, should never be set directly on the table cloth or mat.

Question: When introduced to new people at a party, is it correct to start calling them by their first names immediately? I've always called new acquaintances Mr. and Mrs., but a friend says that I'm being stilted and that you are expected to use first names when introduced socially. Which is proper?

— Mrs. J.C., Great Neck, N.Y.

Answer: Contemporaries usually adopt first names very quickly, but it's wise to take a cue from the way the hostess makes the introductions. If she says "I'd like you to meet Mary and Bill Smith," then it's safe to assume first names to be used. But if she introduces them as "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," it's more prudent to use formalities unless invited to do otherwise. Older persons should always be addressed by surnames, even though they may address younger people by their first names immediately.

Chicken Supper—Cordon Bleu Style

by Mary Moore

If you join me in this cooking session you will have to have the patience of a saint. In the first place you have to remove the bones from chicken breasts and unless you happen to be a trained butcher this is tedious. If I get away with no cuts I consider myself lucky.

To add to the fun, my venture it is not cheap — but in spite of all these counts against it I think you will want to try:

Cut the meat from the bones and skin on each chicken breast, keeping the meat in one fillet. Roll the slices of ham around the fingers of Swiss cheese. Place at centre of chicken fillet and wrap sides and end around it, and place smooth side up, in large shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle generously with salt and white pepper. Pour the boiling water over the butter and stir until melted. Add cream. Pour one-third of the basting liquid over the chicken evenly. Cover and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1½ to 1¾ hours, basting with remaining liquid at 15 minute intervals. During last 15 minutes before serving remove cover to brown bird. When serving this, spoon rest gravy over each chicken roll; if served this with a product that is new on the market and delicious with chicken dishes (and meat balls too).

NOODLES ROMANOFF

All the instructions for this are on the package. It contains enough noodles and packaged sauce ingredients for four, but we made it stretch for six because we had 2 pounds of asparagus and a big salad. You boil the noodles in plenty of salted water until tender — about 8 to 10 minutes. When they are drained you add a little butter and milk and the contents of the saucepack-aged sauce. These are a rich smooth blend of cheese and dried sour cream. We is rich and good and I predict that it will be a big seller.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Meat Loaf with Spanish Sauce; Buttered Noodles; Quick-Cooked New Cabbage Wedges; Celery Hearts; Strawberry and Rhubarb Compote; Date Squares; Tea.

SUNDAY

Chicken Cordon Bleu (see Thursday); Cranberry Sauce; Noodles Romanoff (see Thursday); Asparagus with Hollandaise or Mock Hollandaise; Outside Grapefruit Halves with Maraschino Syrup; Assorted Fancy Crackers; Assorted Fancy Cheeses; Coffee.

CHICKEN CORDON BLEU (serves 6):

(Remember Veal Cordon Bleu? Well this is a copy of that, but uses chicken breasts which are half the cost of veal.)

6 chicken breasts (1 is sufficient for each person to be served), 6 4" square slices cooked ham, 6 4 x 1 x ¼" fingers of genuine Swiss cheese, salt, white pepper, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup cream, ½ cup boiling water.

Cut the meat from the bones and skin on each chicken breast, keeping the meat in one fillet. Roll the slices of ham around the fingers of Swiss cheese. Place at centre of chicken fillet and wrap sides and end around it, and place smooth side up, in large shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle generously with salt and white pepper. Pour the boiling water over the butter and stir until melted. Add cream. Pour one-third of the basting liquid over the chicken evenly. Cover and bake at 325 deg. BELIEVE NEEDY CHILDREN — Miss Mary Campbell, 80, is propped up in bed beside her sewing machine as she works on another quilt for the Canadian Save the Children Fund. Needy Children Benefit From the Misfortune of Bed-Ridden Woman

By JIM MEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Needy children throughout the world have benefited from the misfortune of a bed-ridden but indomitable Winnipeg woman.

Miss Mary Campbell, 80, was honored recently when officials of the Canadian Save the Children Fund visited her to mark the completion of her 1,000th quilt.

The quilts have been sent to children in Korea, Greece, Italy and in various parts of Canada.

Following a lifetime of travel, making the quilts has proved as much benefit to Miss Campbell as they have to the children. The quilts are called "vitamin pill quilts" by her doctor.

The bright-eyed woman with a young mind and eager hands was bedridden three years ago after breaking her hip. One of her friends showed her a bundle of patches and suggested she might like to make them into a quilt.

USED LEFTOVERS

When it was finished there were patches left over and Miss Campbell began another, smaller one, "just the right size for a child."

Since then, propped up by pillows as she lies in bed, she has turned out 1,060 of the 50-by-40-inch quilts and says "I try to make five a week."

Talking about the therapeutic effect of the work, she related:

"I woke up one night and the pain was bad, so I reached for a pill. But my hand picked up a quilt and first thing I knew I was sewing. After two hours the quilt was done and the pain was gone."

When her doctor teasingly asked her whether the pill or the quilt did the trick, she replied:

"Keep your breath to cool your porridge."

The pill was still there.

The Scottish expression is one of many that color the speech of the daughter of a Scottish missionary.

Mary Campbell was born in Formosa (Dec. 16, 1881), her mother was Australian. When she was five she was taken to Scotland for her education.

At 21 she returned to Formosa where she accompanied her father on his missionary tours to 96 churches across the island. Head-hunters added to the excitement of the trips. Mary, and her father were the first white persons some of the head-hunters had ever seen. They were fascinated by the color of her skin and she in turn was fascinated by the knives they wore, each of which was decorated with locks of hair representing a decapitated head.

Six years later she was appointed by Zenana Bible and Medical Mission to travel across Canada telling of the mission's work in India. First, however, she travelled extensively in Asia to become acquainted with the work.

For 25 years from 1911 she crossed and re-crossed the continent telling of the mission's work. When the Second World War broke out she turned to Red Cross work and continued it until her accident.

Helping children doesn't end with quilts. She supports the work of the Shriners' hospitals for crippled children and has endowed a bed at Winnipeg Children's Hospital.

RELIEVES ITCH

A compress soaked in epsom salts or baking soda will often relieve the rash caused by poison ivy.

The Experts Say

Choose Agent Carefully When Purchasing Home

By JANE KASK

MONTREAL (CP) — Unless you have lots of money, the first thing that must be accepted when home - hunting is that you're unlikely to get a home with every advantage you want.

You must therefore decide what features are most important to you, says Isobel Holme, a Montreal real estate broker.

Next step is to choose an agent carefully. "Buying a house is an emotional time for a couple, and a conscientious agent can do a great deal of spade work for the house shopper."

A house should always be looked at with an eye for resale, Miss Holme says. Market value was determined by the law of supply and demand, whether there was a shortage or excess of houses in an area and whether the house was in keeping with current trends.

For example, dining rooms were becoming more important, recreation rooms were losing popularity, two and three-storey houses were in growing demand and many people were also getting tired of all living on one floor in bungalows.

Knowledge of the market included familiarity with the neighborhood, whether it was equipped with sewers, whether roads and sidewalks were adequate, what might be built down the road, convenient access to shopping areas, schools, churches and transportation.

The outside appearance of the house was important. Buyers should steer clear of freakish houses or antique architectural designs because they were often difficult to resell.

If the house was old-fashioned, is there scope for redesigning its front to make it more modern?

TILED VESTIBULE

Is the vestibule spacious and tiled floors? Is there an adequate cloak room near the vestibule?

It's most important there be hardwood floors of birch or oak, Miss Holme says.

Cracks in walls or ceilings, particularly in older houses, shouldn't cause concern because usually these houses have settled and repair work will last.

Are bathrooms conveniently located, and are there enough of them? Is the kitchen planned? If not, can electrical equipment be fitted in easily? Is there adequate cupboard space?

Electrical wiring should be checked. If heavy wiring is needed, there should be 220-volt current available.

Are basement laundry tubs near windows? And is there an entrance to the basement from the outside?

Miss Holme says she finds that garages are not in as great demand today. Many preferred to leave their cars outside in winter with block heaters. But be sure to find out whether you have a private driveway.

Wife Preservers

For best holding results, heat your cans at least 12 minutes before using.

Mother's Helper

IS YOURS a comfortably fussy baby when it's time for sleep? If he's well fed, dry and comfortable, what next? There's a special hospital-tested device available which produces a low humming sound only baby will hear. Plugs in in the crib (he can't hurl himself on it) and he should drop off to sleep promptly.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart R. Rosenberg

Recently, a newspaper feature about one of the world's great men gave readers options. Not since he died has he died.

The report described how Mr. Raymond Baxter, of the Beverly Hillbilly's motor cycle system at the moment of World War II, was one of the gang-mates in the field of electronics, and his uncle! He picked up the line end of a 240-volt electrical connections while barefoot.

"It was the sort of accident a fellow only makes once," he said. "And yet, there is a positive side to it. It certainly taught me such a terrific respect for electricity that I've never interfered with it since, or been over-confident about electricity".

Of course, Sir Raymond may have been daydreaming, when he accidentally involved in powerful, a mistake, but he was not. He got out to the pursuit of the complicated set struck down by the electricity.

Most likely, however, his made a foolish error in judgment, or underestimated the power to meet the — errors of judgment in their own lives, experiences, which even leading men recognize as of commonplace.

Ours is an imperfect society, so helping hands and a sympathetic mind are of as have disasters and confusions as those whom they help, and are equally as human. Let us not forget that fact, lest we justify the unforgivable.

But, truth to tell, while they often look like gods, they nonetheless are human. They take the admission of the public to be authority, and believe themselves worthy to be what the bewildermed public thinks they are.

There are no greater victims than those of the "specialized" men. When he errs — he errs big.

He may be sure of his knowledge; he is, often much less sure of himself. Specialists have over-concentration and "expertness" serve to trip him up — he himself he knows best, and he should have known better.

Hitler's professional yes-men of great scientific fellowship, who stood in the forefront of human intellectual attainment, but they were appalled at how used and prostituted to destroy human life barbarously — in cheap, effective and quick ways.

They were outstanding technicians — but as men, they were dopes and knaves. They made no small, insignificant errors — theirs were big, massive — expert!

We admire proficiency and mastery, and in our technological age, those who know about precious little, reach top ranks in blind unconsideration, we snub broad, humane knowledge in favor of "specialized" information. Or what's worse: We disqualify the good men on the grounds that he is not the best man. The diverse is more likely: The "best" man is not always a good man.

Over-confident in what he thought he knew about electricity, Sir Raymond went to his death. Here is a parable for our times, when men are so certain that they will get to the moon and master the heavens. What about this poor earth? What has their confident knowledge achieved for them here — here where the "experts" know not enough to save their own lives?

Tonight the prophet with inclusive understanding:

"Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom;
Neither let the mighty man glory in his might;
Let not the rich man glory in his riches . . ."

The real wisdom lies not in the confidence that we know, but in humble recognition of how little we do.

Humility, not arrogance, may yet lead us to the greater wisdom which can help save us all.

A luscious shade of strawberry pink adds extra charms to this coat of fine tweed.

A ribbed, narrow band that ties in a casual knot finishes the small, notched collar, and may be detached, if desired. Double seaming, curving from the dropped shoulder seams, gives pretty, shallow folds to the panels. The back is also marked by double seaming.

A young and pretty all-around daytime coat.

Suspects Younger Sister

DEAR DORIS—I have a steady who is 16 and quit school. One night she came home quite late from a date. She said they had been necking. The next night she did the same thing with another boy. Both times she claims it was love at first sight.

For the last three months she has been dating another fellow, and recently they were married. She is expecting a baby in September. Now I think she is pregnant by one of the others she saw the two "necking" with.

SORRY CLARK

Please explain necking. If she has twins, could she have one to each of the first two boys? Should she or I tell her husband or my mother? If my sister's husband finds out that the baby isn't his, do you think he will support it? Does he have to by law?—WORRIED SISTER.

DEAR WORRIED SISTER—I am told that necking is "any lovemaking short of the act"—kissing, sitting or standing cheek-to-cheek—the lighter expressions of affection.

Keep any suspicions to yourself unless you want to be a busie-brother. Any child who is born will be here and her husband's by law. You are probably wrong anyway.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—My problem is a spouse that pouts. Do you know if there is any answer to this very childish behavior? Don't tell me to talk it over, as when this condition sets in there is absolutely no consideration.

It makes me feel very bad. I could just die. I also think it is very unfair as I do a lion's share of the chores in this place, and have always complied with the wishes and plans of my spouse.

Do you think it will do any permanent damage to the children? Has the moon got anything to do with it as it seems to go in cycles; that is, every few weeks; and it takes very little to touch it off. Please don't use my name or I'll be in real trouble.—FED UP.

DEAR FED UP—Don't go blaming the moon. Your husband is just plain moody—a constitutional defect in some spouses. I suggest you train yourself to expect moods, like rainy days, and cope accordingly.

But why not talk it over? If he is silent while pouting, talk while he is not pouting.

So many married couples just never talk things over. So they drift farther apart in their separate worlds. Perhaps it makes for less strain on the surface, but it is dull and it is marriage-shattering.

But there is more to this than meets the eye. It's a counsellor you need. You may think this means trouble, but the real trouble will be yours if you carry on the way you have been doing.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SEPARATED—You are going to have to decide whether you want financial help enough to ask more trouble with the man who is your daughter's father.

* * *

British Agreement to End Commonwealth Preferences Called Surrender by Some

By DAVE GARCIA

LONDON (CP)—Did Britain get her foot in the Common Market door—or slam it—by agreeing to the six-nation community's demands?

The majority of Britain's national newspapers took the view today that the ministerial meeting in Brussels resulted in important progress on Britain's application to join the European Economic Community.

But the right-wing Daily Express, which has battled British moves aimed at community membership from the six first ran "surrender," which has started an empire-wide row.

The end of the two-day ministerial meeting coincided with the arrival in London of Prime Minister Menzies of Australia.

He said he regarded as "tentative" the Brussels announcement of firm agreement between Britain and the six following up Commonwealth preferences on industrial goods from Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

DISCUSSES CONFERENCE

"We are to have a prime ministers conference in September and it is to that we look that we will have a series of agreements which will enable us to render the conference unnecessary."

Manchester Guardian's Commonwealth correspondent Alastair Mcintyre in London was a flight "into the eye of a diplomatic storm rather than a peaceful Commonwealth members over the Common Market issue."

"His whole manner made a fascinating contrast to the blustering attitude with some Canadian ministers have resorted to, notably Mr. Diefenbaker," the correspondent adds.

The Guardian comments in an editorial that the Brussels talks seem to have gone "as well as could be hoped and certainly better than the pessimists — in Britain and elsewhere — had feared."

CITES TEST

The newspaper notes that the critical test of whether an acceptable arrangement is possible will come over the treatment of Commonwealth agriculture.

The Daily Telegraph regards the Brussels agreement on manufactured goods as important because it is "the first full-scale agreement on a major trading issue."

The Daily Mail refers to Premier Khrushchev's attack on the Common Market and adds that "if the Common Market is valid for colonialism it must be good for us."

Only The Daily Express, published by Lord Beaverbrook, attacks the Brussels meeting in an editorial the newspaper says Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, Britain's chief Common Market negotiator, "has just conducted one of the most humiliating retreats in British diplomacy."

"He has agreed with the six Common Market countries tax the manufactured goods which Australia, Canada and New Zealand export to this country, while admitting the manufactures of Germany, Italy and France duty free into Britain," the newspaper says.

Church Would Sponsor Forums For Candidates

KINGSTON (CP) — The right of congregations and presbyteries to sponsor forums in which all candidates for public office may be heard was supported Wednesday by the May of Quinte conference of the United Church of Canada.

The resolution was presented by Rev. Melville Buttars of Pickering, Ont., on behalf of the committee on evangelism and social service. It arose from a motion stating the democratic form of government depended on an informed electorate and that curbing corrupt politics was the concern of Christians.

Tabled for further discussion was a resolution expressing opposition to nuclear testing by military purposes and opposition to the possession of nuclear weapons by Canada or their presence on Canadian soil.

The royal commission on organized crime in Ontario was commended by the conference for "its persistence in its investigations."

Another resolution endorsed the new curriculum for religious education of which The Word and the Way is the first text book. It was written by Dr. Donald Mathers of Queen's University. Theological College.

Douglas Claims Controlled Press In Election

By GRAHAM COX

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, told 800 persons in this mining community Wednesday night that the people of Canada has been taken over by a few men to "brainwash" the people.

He said these few who "have control of the economy of Canada thought we have a pretty good thing here and we had better not lose it." They bought control of newspapers, radio and television stations and even media as new as 208 men in Canada who control five chartered banks and more than 1,000 corporations.

He was speaking in support of Terrence Matthews, 32, contesting the far-flung Churchill riding of northern Manitoba in the June 18 general election and for NDP candidate Charles E. Mitchell in the northern Saskatchewan riding of Mackenzie.

REDINGS ADJOIN

The two ridings adjoin here with the Saskatchewan border only about three miles west of Flin Flon. Just nearby Creighton, Sask., Mr. Douglas went to an afternoon tea attended by about 125 persons.

He rode to the Flin Flon meeting in a 30-car cavalcade that wound through the town and adjoining communities for an hour.

His only heckler during the meeting was given short shrift when, after asking Mr. Douglas a question, the heckler arms and receiving an answer said, "I think you're bedging."

"Because you get an intelligent answer to an unintelligent question, don't say I'm hedging," Mr. Douglas said.

DISCUSSES NORTH

Turning to northern affairs, Mr. Douglas said:

"The storehouse of Canada's northlands must be developed on a planned basis for all Canadians. The sellout of resources belonging to the Canadian people has been an historic tradition of the old-line parties.

"In 1957 Mr. Diefenbaker sketched a vision of northern development that turned out to be a mirage.

"In 12 months after taking office, an NDP government would have every able-bodied man in Canada who wants work working.

"There is enough need for advancement in Canada to keep the chronic unemployed of the country working for the next 14 years, with all the material coming from right here in Canada."

A capital development fund would be shared by Canadians themselves would exploit natural resources under an NDP government.

Would Restore Lost Confidence In the Dollar

By JAMES NELSON

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson launched the strongest attack yet on the government's dollar defending policies Tuesday night on the eve of a high-interest Liberal rally in Vancouver. He spoke tonight—the last major address this week in Western Canada — after he was given top billing by his political organizers because he followed immediately after Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Conservative rally in the west coast city.

Mr. Diefenbaker delivered his 70-minute speech over the turbulent of a noisy audience of 8,000 in the Vancouver Forum.

Mr. Pearson's meeting is to be held in the smaller Queen Elizabeth Theatre which can hold only 2,000. If overflow space is needed.

Some of the prime minister's reception reached Mr. Pearson here after he had delivered his speech in which he dealt with a handful of is own hecklers.

MAY DEVALUE AGAIN?

Mr. Pearson declared that the government may be forced to devalue the Canadian dollar before the June 18 election, and said this would mean another increase in the cost of imported goods for Canada.

"What the people are interested in is the value of their dollar," he said. "How much will it going to be worth—62 cents for ever? Less, more?"

Mr. Pearson said the question now is whether the dollar "can be saved" or means another increase in the cost of imported goods for Canada.

"The problem today is to save the Canadian public from yet higher living costs and from further devaluation.

"The policy of a new Liberal government will be to restore confidence, to put the affairs of the country in order, and to get economic growing again."

"We will save the dollar and when we have cleared up the mess we will begin to be worth more again."

VISITS YUKON

Mr. Pearson who answered questions from the audience about Liberal policy at the end of his speech — flew to Prince George from Edmonton with a brief stop at Dawson Creek where he became the first national leader to visit the Yukon during an election campaign.

There, he said the Conservative government has become are you a unitarian-universalist without knowing it?

- Do you believe that religious truth cannot be contrary to truth from any other source?
- Do you believe man is capable of self-improvement and is not condemned by "original sin"?
- Do you believe that striving to live a wholesome life is more important than accepting religious creeds?
- Do you believe in the practical application of universal brotherhood?

Then you are professing Unitarian Universalist Belief.

Social Credit Only Party to Solve Problem - Thompson

VICTORIA (CP) — Robert Thompson says Social Credit is the only party with a program that can solve the problems of Canada.

The party's national leader said Wednesday night that the essence of Social Credit's program is free trade.

He told a crowd of about 250 in a city high school gymnasium that young and old persons alike are suffering from an insecurity over Canada's future.

The old parties offer promises; they have always offered promises," Mr. Thompson said. "But promises will never meet our needs.

"We in Canada have become an industrialized nation. We must now take the trade offensive." Mr. Thompson said that taking the offensive in trade "doesn't mean selling our wheat to Communist China.

"We make matters worse, we are being paid for this wheat in British pounds which were stolen from banks in China when the Communists took over there."

What was needed was a profitable market for wheat which would lead to free trade with the United States.

The Social Credit program would develop freer trading but would maintain the whole ideology are designed to destroy democracy.

Canada should also take the lead in establishing a Commonwealth free trade area, he said.

The Social Credit program would encourage industry by offering tax reforms.

After Mr. Thompson finished, a question period was called. One man, who said he wanted "to give a short explanation" on the issue of wheat, was refused permission to speak.

Other Faiths Invited To Share 300th Conventicle Anniversary

By AUBREY WICE

It is the climate of the times: An old Scottish tradition has gone modern and we now have an ecumenical conventicle.

As the Presbyterians mark the 300th anniversary of the first conventicle in her homeland they are inviting other denominations to share the modern version.

This will be June 10 at 4 p.m. at Glen Mhor Camp, five miles north of Beaverton on the shores of Lake Simcoe.

Letters and personal invitations will go out to pastors of other faiths to share in this glorious hour of worship in God's out-of-doors.

SECRET SERVICES

The first conventicle came about because of the hatred of Charles II for Presbyterianism. His parliament passed laws which forced the ministers to hold services in secret.

So, in 1662—exactly three centuries ago—they took to the hills and glens and the faithful gathered around them to pray and hear the Word. It has been called the Second Reformation.

Many suffered because of it. They were beaten or put to death for going against the king's wishes.

Meanwhile the King brought incompetent people into the north to fill the vacant pulpits and they were given a hard time by the Presbyterians.

RESISTANCE

When the rope was pulled to ring the bell to call worshippers there would be no bell. Some one had removed the tongue from the bell.

Church doors were often locked so no one could get in. The same with the door to the high pulpit. This made the unwanted preacher climb over it in a most undignified manner.

One of the preachers arrived at a wedding hand-in-hand the women formed a solid wall, barring the way. Then they pelted him with stones.

Those were rough times in the Presbyterian Church.

OUTDOOR TRADITION

This modern conventicle is peaceful in spite of the tensions of the world. Still it carries on the proud tradition of worship in the cold-doors their forebears established in 1662, when tension was just as great.

Rev. Donald McQueen, a clan name from away back, is busy with a dedicated committee preparing for this great event.

The conventicle is being held at the same time as the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Toronto it becomes the official Assembly service for delegates from across the country, deliberating in Toronto, will be taken by bus to this beautiful setting of worship.

Buses will be available for those who want them and information can be obtained from Glenview Church, Toronto.

The majority will be travelling by car and these will be in the numbers from many places in Ontario.

What they will participate in will be a colorful worship service by the lakeside as the waves lap the shore and the breeze ripples the evergreens.

There will be color and pageantry. The Lieutenant-Governor and party will be there. Pipes and drums of the 48th will quicken the hearts of these Scottish worshippers. A great massed chorus of many choirs in colorful robes will sing stirring hymns under the leadership of Henry Rosevear.

SOUNDING THE KEY

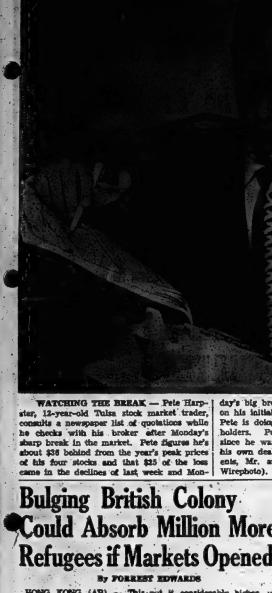
The authentic conventicle touch will be the precentor (Norman Black) sounding the key.

In charge of this inspiring service is Rev. John Waldie of Port Hope, Moderator of the Toronto-Kingston Synod.

Taking part will be the present moderator of the Canadian Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. R. L. Taylor, and his successor, to be elected the first day of the General Assembly.

The speaker will be the General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, Rev. Dr. K. G. McMillan.

Long green benches are in abundance for the comfort of the congregation.



Family groups will be making a day of it. For some it will be reunion time. Picnic baskets are advised because the setting is perfect for a meal outside.

But for all it will be a service of witness to their faith in God and renewed thanksgiving for the freedom to worship. Not like the first conventicle 300 years ago when a claymore or some other weapon and a Bible always went together.

(Reprinted from The Telegram, Toronto.)

The Presbyterian Conventicle at Glen Mhor Camp on Lake Simcoe is the 300th anniversary of such gatherings. The modern service is held out-of-doors as were the original ones . . . but with a difference. Early Conventicles had to be held in secret. Picture shows the setting for this year's assembly.

WATCHING THE BREAK — Pete Harpster, 12-year-old Tulsa stock market trader, consults a newspaper list of quotations while he checks with his broker after Monday's sharp break in the market. Pete figured he's about $38 behind from the year's peak prices of his four stocks and that $35 of the loss came in the declines of last week and Monday's big break. He is just a little behind on his initial investment and his broker says Pete is doing better than many adult stockholders. Pete, who has been in the market since he was about eight years old, handles his own deals, without advice from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harpster.—(AP Wirephoto).

Bulging British Colony Could Absorb Million More Refugees if Markets Opened

By FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — This tiny British Crown colony which already has absorbed 1,500,000 refugees from Communist China can absorb as many more in the next eight years if it has free access to the world's markets.

Severely limited by export quotas imposed by other nations upon its manufactured goods, Hong Kong is going to have an extremely difficult time just supporting the 3,250,000 people already jammed into its 62 square miles of usable land. Absorption of more will be impossible.

That is the collective appraisal of Hong Kong's prominent voiced not only by leading newspaper industrialists and a businessmen but by government circles as well.

Hong Kong's government is known to believe that industrial expansion permitted by free access to world markets would support a population of 5,000,000 by 1970.

MUST BE GRADUAL

It would have to be a gradual influx — nothing like the 70,000 who stormed across Hong Kong's border in the first 22 days of May. Approximately 62,000 of those, it was revealed today, were forcibly returned to Red China.

Up to 10,000 are believed to have eluded police and soldier patrols and reached the city's crowded streets and tenement areas.

In addition to those, it was learned, another 45,000 are known to have entered Hong Kong since the first of the year. All except 5,000 are classed by the government as illegal immigrants.

The colony accepts only 30 legal immigrants a day.

Colonial authorities have little hope of rounding up and returning more than a relative handful of the others.

This year's influx of refugees is expected to reach 150,000. Some non-government sources put it considerably higher, up to 350,000.

Hong Kong's only solution to it's "problem of people" is manufacturing. Its fishing waters and 55 square miles of arable land — out of 396—produce less than one-fifth of the food it needs.

HAS NO MINERALS

The colony has no minerals to appreciable amounts and never enough water, which currently is rationed to only four hours a day. Its only natural resource is its people and the only way Hong Kong can support them is to expand its manufacturing and increase its exports.

Against that background, Hong Kong has seen the United States, Britain and Canada impose quotas upon its cotton textile exports, which make up three - quarters of its total exports.

More than 5,000 cotton textile workers were thrown out of work and nearly 30,000 spindles made idle when the United States clamped restrictions on Hong Kong cottons earlier this year.

Japan has just banned the export of transitors and diodes to Hong Kong in an attempt to protect its own transistor radio industry.

"The solution to Hong Kong's population—refugee problem depends almost 100 per cent on industrial expansion," says one high Hong Kong source.

"With no bars upon our exports, the colony is capable of an expansion which can support 4,000,000 by 1967, up to 5,000,000 by 1970."

The major fear is that the capital needed for that expansion is being scared off by protectional quotas and duties being imposed by other nations upon Hong Kong products.

Eichmann Seeks Mercy

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Nazi Murderer Adolf Eichmann appealed Tuesday to president Itzhak Ben-Zvi for mercy.

He asked in a formal application that the death sentence, imposed on him for organizing the wartime slaughter of millions of Jews not be carried out.

Defence Lawyer Robert Servatius, speaking to reporters before flying home to West Germany, said his client's fate was in the hands of the president.

Eichmann's plea came a day after the Israeli Supreme Court rejected his appeal against conviction and the death sentence. A reprieve from the president is his last chance to avoid being hanged.

Wildest Political Meeting In Canada for Many Years Fails to Halt PM's Speech

VANCOUVER (CP) — A riotous, 90-minute demonstration almost drowned out but didn't halt a speech by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the jam-packed Vancouver Forum Wednesday night.

Mr. Diefenbaker plugged on through a 70-minute address despite a series of fights and scuffles on the floor in front of the platform, prolonged booing and shouted interruptions.

It was the wildest political meeting in Canada in many years.

Some 180 demonstrators chanting "We want jobs" and "Ban, ban, ban the bomb" crowded the centre aisle of the forum and set up a continuous din which made it impossible at times for Mr. Diefenbaker to be heard.

Progressive Conservative party organizers tried to push the demonstrators back and out the exit. This didn't work. The demonstrators pushed back.

WORRY ABOUT ELDERLY

Party workers said they became anxious about elderly persons sitting in floor seats among the crowd of at least 8,000. All 7,000 seats were filled and hundreds were standing. Some sat on the floor around the platform.

Conservative supporters several times formed a flying wedge—at one point led by a 300-pound man at the front—to point—which charged into the demonstrators.

The placard-waving demonstrators, including at least one woman, fought back with elbows, knees and feet. Short, sharp fights broke out with egme wild fist-swinging. Few punches apparently hit home. One youth was carried out.

Just when things seemed to die down and Mr. Diefenbaker could be heard straining to speak above the racket, a fight would break out in a new place.

"I came here to make a speech and I'm going to make it," the prime minister declared.

At first, the rather - jamming crowd appeared to be about evenly split between boosers and applauders.

But as Mr. Diefenbaker carried on, the cheery became more pronounced. The prime minister received three tremendous cheers and a cheer when he concluded. his face bathed in sweat.

Some persons rushed to the platform to congratulate Mr. Diefenbaker. At no time did the demonstrators attempt to gain the platform or to molest the prime minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker was escorted from the forum by eight policemen who earlier had made no attempt to halt the fights and scuffles on the arena floor.

The escort was to enable Mr. Diefenbaker to get through the crowd of well - wishers, not to fight off the demonstrators who identified themselves as members of the British Columbia Federation of Unemployed and B.C. Federation of Labor.

WILL CONTINUE STAND

There were loud cheers when Mr. Diefenbaker said that in the future, as in the past, he will continue to observe the attitude of those who deny free speech, to stand for the right to be heard.

"Now you can see what would happen if a leader of these people was the head of the government," he said.

"These people would throttle, deny and refuse each and every one of us the right to speak."

Conservative candidates sat behind Mr. Diefenbaker throughout the demonstration with anxious faces or fixed, frozen smiles.

The scufflers were confined to 10 and 40 persons at the most.

Reporters passed to and fro through the scuffles with only the odd bruised rib or shin.

Throughout the meeting there was a constant barrage of heckling, shouted interruptions and the noise of whistles rattles.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied indirectly to the demonstrators, by outlining government measures to combat unemployment. He said 500,000 more Canadians are employed than when his government took office and that by this fall unemployment will be at its lowest point in years.

On the carrying ban - the bomb placards, he said his government has taken a stand against the acquisition of nuclear weapons in peace time.

The evening began easily—if loudly — for Mr. Diefenbaker when he went to the heart of Chinatown to announce he is a mid-street meeting that Canada will supply $486,000 worth of skimmed milk and canned meat and some flour to Hong Kong refugees. There were "initial steps."

He received a firecracker welcome.

He revealed that Mrs. Diefenbaker for the last two years has sponsored a Hong Kong child who writes to her and "gives her the news."

MET BY DEMONSTRATION

He then drove to the Forum where he was met by a demonstration before he even got inside the building. There was loud booing from about 150 persons carrying placards saying "No nuclear weapons for Canada" and "Died must go."

Inside, External Affairs Minister Green, chairman of the meeting, was booed.

In the aisles, the demonstrators held up signs saying "New glasses for Dief, his vision is blurry," "We pay and wages," "We want jobs, not bombs," "Diefenbaker" was still greeted by "Dief led us to relief" and "We want beef, not bull."

There was still greater bedlam throughout the prime minister's speech, with cries of "confederation platform." He didn't neglect one of the issues carrying placards saying recent speeches though the strain of trying to raise his voice over the hubub was obviously telling on him.

The demonstrators did not attempt to continue their protest outside. The forum soon emptied, leaving a litter of torn placards and Liberal-distributed "guaranteed pre - shrunk genuine devalued Diefendollars" with $2.5 cents printed in the corners.

May Not Finish District Count Until August

YELLOW KNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—The official counting of votes in the June 18 federal election for the electoral district of Northeast Territories may not be complete until August.

This will be one of the last of many difficulties faced by the 1,309,682-square-mile district because of the job of placing its one representative in the House of Commons in Ottawa.

The 116 polling divisions of the district all are listed as rural. They include the most remote parts of the country.

Some points where polling stations have been set up are visited by aircraft only once or twice a year and it is likely that some of the nomadic Eskimos who are eligible to vote still do not know that they have been enfranchised.

The district includes all of Canada north of the 60th parallel except the Yukon Territory, far northern Quebec and Labrador. Also included are the Islands in Hudson Bay, James Bay and Ungava Bay, except those within the geographic limits of the mainland coast.

It was created by a March 23 amendment to the Representation Act which added the districts of Keewatin and Franklin to the 227,400-square-mile electoral district of Mackenzie.

Enumeration is not yet complete but the estimated number of eligible voters is 13,700. The population of about 34,000 is composed of approximately equal numbers of Indians, Eskimos and whites.

Justice Lazure, Dean of Quebec Court, Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice Lazure Lazure, 70, dean of the Quebec Superior Court and one of the great Canadian criminal judges of the last 25 years, died Wednesday after a lengthy illness.

Until taken ill last fall, Mr. Justice Lazure had presided over almost every important trial in the Montreal criminal district—the Court of Queen's Bench—since 1936.

He sat on the bench for many years, giving him the opportunity to preside over such famous cases as the post-war spy trials of Fred Rose and Dr. Raymond Boyer.

The spy trials were the outcome of an investigation into leakage of secret scientific data to Russia, revealed by Russian cipher clerk Igor Gouzenko. Rose, then a Labor-Progressive (Communist) member of Parliament, and Dr. Boyer, millionaire scientist at McGill University, both were found guilty of violating the Official Secrets Act.

Mr. Justice Lazure sentenced Rose to six years in penitentiary and Dr. Boyer to two years.

Mr. Justice Lazure was a former newspaper man, having worked a few years with Sherbrooke La Tribune with Bernard Jacob Nicol, founder of the

Is End of Victoria Park Barred to Public Use? No--Say Parks Bd. Officials

Can it be that only water-borne visitors are now welcome at the south end of Victoria Park?

That is the question being asked by park frequenters who in recent weeks have noticed work underway which would appear to indicate the general public is being excluded from the south part of Old Victoria Park.

And the truth of the matter seems to be partly yes and partly no.

A big Bay of Quinte Yacht Club sign at the southern tip of the park says "welcome" to waterborne visitors.

But the general north suggest the lower end of the park is private property.

NO MOTOR TRAFFIC

Actually motor vehicles are, and have been for several years, barred from proceeding directly to the tip of the park, but pedestrians are not being excluded.

Several years ago the Belleville Yacht Club acquired rights at the south end of Victoria Park when a long term lease was signed with the Belleville Parks Board. The lease covers park property for a distance of 400 feet north from the point.

One of the terms of the lease is that the public is not to be barred from that section of the park.

BUILT NEW CLUBHOUSE

Since the lease was signed the yacht club has had the dilapidated old bath change house and the band stand torn down and has built a new club house. This year in addition the clubhouse has been erected.

Automobiles have been barred from the point and this year cars are being barred from an additional section of the park. The turnaround road is now 400 feet north of the point and a hedge has been planted across the park.

A parking area for club members' cars is being prepared inside the new building. A new entranceway for members' cars leads to the club house and the parking area.

Signs at the entrance facing north say "Bay of Quinte Yacht Club Entrance" or "Exit," depending on which sign is being viewed.

SPENT LOT OF MONEY

There is no suggestion that pedestrians are excluded from south of the park and in fact the narrower gate to the hedge have been left for pedestrian use on both east and west sides.

Parks Board chairman William Hurst noted that the lease with the Yacht Club was signed before his time on the board. He emphasized, however, that at no time can the public be excluded from any of the park area.

He said the lease with the Home of Quints To Be Preserved As Memento

CALLANDER, Ont. (CP)— The birthplace of the Dionne quintuplets is to be preserved and maintained as a permanent memento to Canada's famous sisters.

The two - storey farmhouse where the Dionne quintuplets were born 28 years ago has been purchased by a private company and will be restored as nearly as possible to the appearance it was when the quints were born to Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne on May 28, 1934.

William Anderson, general manager of Pinewood Park Company, which bought the house, said it was bought from Daniel Dionne, a brother of the quints. It is expected the house will be moved to another location in West Ferris Township within view of Highway 11.

The quints live in Montreal except for Emilie, who died during an epileptic seizure in 1953.

yacht club had been signed at a time when Victoria Park was badly run down and the parks board had no money to do any improvement work.

"The lease with the yacht club offered an opportunity to see improvement work done at no cost to the board" he said.

"The club has done a lot of work and has spent a lot of money", he pointed out.

WAS MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ernie Colebourne, Commodore of the Yacht Club, said the reason the hedge planted to the clubhouse was cut off this year was that it was being used as a "merry-go-round" by youthful drivers.

The result was there was danger to parked cars and also a traffic nuisance was created for the clubhouse.

"There is no intention of excluding the general public to the lower end of the park," Mr. Colebourne said. "In fact along the east side by the docks we are going to provide a wooden sidewalk."

Mr. Colebourne said that although the parking area was intended for members' cars and for the cars of visiting boatsmen, he did not expect there would be any objection to public parking — providing there was room.

The Yacht Club now has an investment of close to $35,000 on the park, the addition to the clubhouse this year providing washroom and other facilities for visiting boatsmen.

But if the park loving public do wish to the extreme end of Victoria Park they should will be found on which to sit and enjoy cooling bay breezes.

By actual count there are four small park benches with-in the Yacht Club area — and no park picnic tables.

Body of Boy Found 54 Feet From Surface

GHOST PINE CREEK, Alta. (CP)—The body of five-year-old Kenny Kowalchuk, who fell through the mine covering of an abandoned mine shaft, was found Wednesday night 54 feet from the surface.

Rescuers found the body caught between the steps of a mine ladder. The head was buried in loose earth and the two-man rescue team said the chubby, dark-haired boy appeared to have suffocated. He also had broken bones.

Soon after the boy plunged down the shaft at noon Tuesday his father, Peter Kowalchuk, heard him calling "Oh, daddy, oh daddy." Mine officials speculated that his fall started a trickle of loose earth that eventually buried him. The shaft soon fell silent.

The body was raised gently to the surface in the bucket of a power shovel. Unknown to officials, the boy's mother was in the crowd at the gathered.

RESTRAINED BY RCMP

She rushed forward just as the bucket was lowered to the ground. An RCMP constable restrained her while the body was taken away in a police car to a funeral home at nearby Three Hills, which is 70 miles northeast of Calgary.

In the shaft for their fifth consecutive day digging since the start of the 34-hour search, Alfred Fox, 46, a miner from Three Carbon, Alta., and Robert Shaw of Drumheller, Alta., a mining coal, made the discovery at 10:23 p.m.

A crowd of 200 was at the pithead when the body was brought up into the glare of headlights. Many of the neighbors of the boys' parents, Peter and Cecily Slatter the search ended. Many were in tears.

The Kowalchuk farm home, 100 yards frome the shaft, was deserted and silent deserted, all day. A single light glowed in the house during the evening. Only clothes like a small boy's clothing flapped in the breeze.

The evening temperature was a chill 40 degrees and a few drops of rain fell on the unhappy scene.

Cannot Pass Flashing Light On School Bus

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario motorists will be required to keep a sharper lookout for school buses when new amendments to the Highway Traffic Act go into effect Tuesday.

When a school bus stops at the side of a road and begins flashing its amber lights, motorists following must stop and not pass until the lights have been extinguished.

Motorists approaching from the other direction must slow to a "reasonable and proper" speed no less than 20 feet from the stopped bus and continue at that speed until 100 feet past it, except on four - lane divided highways where the regulation does not apply.

Aid to Underdeveloped Countries by Canada Said Creditable by Officials

OTTAWA (CP) — How does Canada stand in relation to other countries in providing aid to underdeveloped countries?

The question was raised following publication of testimony before a United States congressional committee by U.S. aid chief Frank Coffin that Canada "now is far behind the leaders" in this field.

H. O. Moran, director of Canada's external aid office, said Wednesday he thinks Canada's aid efforts to date have been "creditable" and ascending in the amount given.

Mr. Coffin, who visited Ottawa early this year, said that in terms of economic aid, Canada gave 21 per cent of her Gross National Product—value of all goods and services produced—compared with about .60 per cent by Britain and the U.S. and .56 per cent by West Germany.

He added that Canada allowed a far shorter period for repayment of development loans to less industrialized countries. Whereas the U.S. sometimes provided loans at a subsidized rate of interest, or interest-free, Canada required a regular interest payment along with a service charge.

Mr. Moran, whose office coordinates most of Canada's foreign aid efforts, said the government aid programs, said Canada has been in the foreign aid field since the end of the Second World War. In this however, plan, of which this country was a founder-member in 1950, Canada's assistance to South and Southeast Asian countries had increased to $50,000,000 annually from $25,000,000 at the outset.

He said Canada's total aid-programs, including payments to certain United Nations programs, totalled $82,000,000 this year.

Unofficial estimates place Canadian aid of all kinds, including private and voluntary programs, at approximately $75,000,000 a year.

These figures do not include sums involved in the new federal government arrangements for long-term credit financing to help finance the export of Canadian capital goods, such as the recent sale of locomotives and a pulp plant to Latin American countries.

At present the United States is the principal Western country which subsidizes some of its loans or makes them interest-free. Canadian practice has been to make loans generally in keeping with the international borrowing rate, ranging between 5 and 5½ per cent, with a repayment period of one-half per cent service charge.

Canadian Stock Markets Wipe Out Previous Days' Losses in Brisk Trading

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian stock markets belonged to the buyers Wednesday as industrial issues wiped out previous days' losses.

Buying power on the Toronto and Montreal markets was supported by investors from the United States where markets were closed for the Memorial Day holiday.

Prices of stocks listed on both American and Canadian exchanges, such as General Motors, Ford of Canada, International Nickel, Aluminum Limited and Walker Gooderham, showed advances of from $1.75 to $5.50.

Wall Street, the acknowledged leader of North American stock markets, will be placed in the unusual position today of adjusting their prices to those posted on Canadian markets Wednesday.

The industrial index at Toronto, compiled from 30 leading issues and considered the key to the market's trend, bounced ahead 13.67 points, which, coupled with Tuesday's gain of 5.77, more than completely the 18.31 drop suffered Monday when prices were staggered by heavy selling pressure. It had moved 14.94 points earlier in the day for the largest one-day gain in recent memory.

As the market opened, heavy trading forced the ticker tape to lag five minutes behind but 18 soon caught up and the final volume was 3,314,000 shares compared with Tuesday's 4,986,000, indicating the lack of leadership found then.

Trading in the interlisted Montreal-Toronto and over-the-counter shares, Steel Company of Canada 16,515, Bell Telephone 15,726, International Nickel 8,618 and Walker Goderham 7,200.

At Montreal, prices on the industrial and Canadian markets moved sharply ahead and almost all major issues, as at Toronto, were higher than at Friday's close, before the onslaught began.

Gains far outnumbered losses, 182 to 32. Trading was moderate-heavy compared with Tuesday when industrials set a new record high of 445,400 shares. The total was 233,200 shares.

Overseas markets, which caught the full force of Monday's decline on Tuesday, made strong recoveries; in heavy volume. Prices rose steadily on stock exchanges in London, Paris, Zurich, Brussels, Frankfurt, and Tokyo.

ZOO GETS RARE CAT

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec Zoo has acquired a two-year-old snow leopard, the only one in Canada, it was disclosed Wednesday. The animal, a female, was purchased in Moscow for a reported $2,000 and will be shipped by air.

Prestige of the Kennedy Administration Threatened By Major Political Scandal

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — The national prestige of the Kennedy administration is threatened by a major political scandal swirling around federal contracts and grain storage bins touching on other segments of government and Congress.

Featuring two mysterious deaths and other bizarre events, the cause of Billie Sol Estes is developing into the biggest expose of money-grubbing since Republican White House aide Sherman Adams admitted accepting gifts from textile manufacturer Bernard Goldfine in 1958.

Four federal heads—two of them presidential appointees—have already rolled and Republicans are yelling for the scalp of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman on grounds he dragged his feet in investigating relations between the department and Estes, 37-year-old Texas tycoon whose bankruptcy has turned to dust.

Estes faces federal and private complaints charging arising from the illegal purchase of price-supported cotton production quotas.

HURT FREEMAN

While President Kennedy has rushed to Freeman's aid with claims he has a "record of which there's still a question whether Freeman's political usefulness to the president has been fatally jeopardized.

Two agriculture department officials, including a former assistant secretary, have been dismissed for accepting gifts from Estes. Another was forced to resign and still others were suspended or shifted from their jobs.

The end is not in sight. President Kennedy, noting that two Congressional committees as well as the FBI and justice department are trying to find out whether any members of the executive or Congress were involved, has promised that any impropriety will be met with immediate disciplinary action.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg for a moment was in trouble, too, as Estes boasted to friends he paid for a lavish dinner Goldberg threw for Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson to warm up relations between Johnson and American labor leaders.

Goldberg denied this, maintaining he picked up the tab and could prove it. But Assistant Labor Secretary Jerry Holleman resigned, admitting he had accepted $1,000 from Estes last January, shortly after the dinner took place. Holleman, an old friend of Estes and of Johnson, said he took the money for his personal use.

ESTES FENAZLIED

Several legislators admitted dealings with the friendly and obliging Estes, but denied giving favors. Estes was reported to have told friends his political connections cost him between $100,000 and $200,000 a year.

Freeman has argued that his department showed no favoritism, but Republicans observed that Estes became a member of Freeman's cotton advisory committee after the department had found it necessary to penalize the cotton grower and grain warehouse man $46,000 for breaching production regulations.

The records also show the department kept Estes' bond at $700,000 when other elevators storing government grain argued they had to put up 10 or 12 times that amount in relation to the value of grain stored. The department replied that it kept the bond low because Estes' personal fortune was high, indicating great security for public grain.

As it turned out, the department had accepted an Estes financial statement that proved worthless.

Estes made his money partly through buying price-supported cotton production quotas from impoverished farmers and building up his own quotas without facing federal penalties. When the government found it, it slapped a $544,000 penalty against him—after he already had been exposed.

SLASHED PRICES

Estes was involved in attempting to corner the west Texas fertilizer market by sharply undercutting competitors, using proceeds from federal grain storage payments to finance his gamble. When fresh supplies low, he sold iron-enriched fertilizer tanks to farmers—the final blow that brought his downfall.

Oscar Griffin, 53 - year - old cotton gin owner and part-time newspaper known as The Pecos Independent and Enterprise, made a survey and calculated there were thousands more mortgages than banks. Estes' creditors began to worry.

But months before that, Henry Marshall, a federal farm employee in Texas, got his hands on evidence indicating Estes was making illegal side deals with farmers to buy their cotton production quotas.

Last June, eight months after the 51-year-old Marshall made his report, his body was found beside his truck in a wooded section of his ranch, the lower abdomen struck by five bullets. A bolt-action, .22-calibre rifle was nearby.

The local sheriff, deputy sheriff and judge decided it was a suicide. Congressional investigators are aghast. Each time the rifle was fired, they said, the bolt had to be worked by hand. Death by suicide was unlikely.

The sheriff had not examined the death weapon for fingerprints. The local Texas judge, in routine fashion, ruled that Marshall was self-afflicted. A Congressional source now says Marshall's widow told them she suspected murder at the time but said nothing, fearing for her own life and those of her children.

Another mystifying death was that of George Krutilek, an Estes accountant found dead behind the wheel of his automobile shortly after he had been questioned about his employer's operations.

Death was officially attributed to a heart attack. A Congressional source, close to the investigation, said a hose was attached from the automobile's exhaust into the vehicle's interior. The windows were closed.

Northern China Hit by Drought And Hailstones

PEKING (Reuters) — The Chinese press today reported that hailstorms and droughts were causing difficulties affecting crops in parts of northern China.

Reports earlier this week said there were agricultural difficulties in the central provinces of Anhwei and Kiangsu while it was announced recently that there had been droughts and floods in parts of the southern province of Kwangsi.

This year, as last year, the Chinese authorities have been quick to report in the press natural calamities which may reduce the harvests of grain and other crops. Previously, according to observers here, they were reluctant to acknowledge the extent of such difficulties.

The People's Daily reported today that drought still prevailed over much of Shantung province in east China. Little rain has fallen since the beginning of May.

INTERPRETS PHOTOS

Last summer he gave a paper on his water current studies to the U.S. coast and geodetic survey branch of the commerce department in Washington. The previous year he explained the method to the international Congress of Photogrammetry in London.

The United States navy also has shown interest in his aerial photography reductions in connection with their work on water currents and ice floe movements based on photos transmitted from orbiting satellites.

Prof. Cameron says he wants to continue air-photo work and is confident it will have wide practical applications.

In the back of his mind are plans to map the Arctic from the air to determine where the ice moves and why, to map Nova Scotia with the object of finding oil, to photograph the Bay of Fundy and learn more about the giant tides, and to study the Atlantic's warm gulf stream from the air.

HELP CAUSEWAY PLANS

He says oil may be found just north of the Cobequid mountain range in northern Nova Scotia where partial and other surveys indicate land formations similar to the coral that produced oil in Alberta.

Aerial photography could be used to gather water and tide information needed for constructing a causeway to link Prince Edward Island and the mainland.

One application of his work was made at the Fundy village of Five Fathom, N.S., two years ago. Fishermen were wondering why their boats circled around each other, tangled when moored near the docks. One solution was thought to be construction of a breakwater.

Prof. Cameron flew over the area at rising and sibbing tide in an RCAF plane, took photographs and decided that a breakwater would not stop the trouble but that a causeway would.

Chubby Little Scientist, Wants to Give Something Of Value to Nova Scotia

By IRA DEYDEMAN

HALIFAX (CP) — Harcourt Leslie Cameron is a chubby little scientist who leaves Nova Scotia more than money and sweets in Halifax-Dartmouth as a lasting value to the province.

At 48, he heads the geology department at Acadia University in Wolfville, N.S., and the photogrammetry division of the Nova Scotia Research Foundation.

Relaxing his five - foot - two frame in a big wooden chair in his foundation's office here, Prof. Cameron chuckled:

"Some of my friends regard me as slightly cracked for not leaving Nova Scotia."

He says he might double or treble his earnings by joining a big university or mining outfit but he says seriously, "I'm not leaving."

Prof. Cameron recently was recognized as the first man to make practical use of a scientific theory of measuring the movement of water currents by aerial photography.

Leafs Whip Wings Twice, Suns Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jacksonville, which was threatening to run away old Nick from the rest of the International League, suddenly is in trouble.

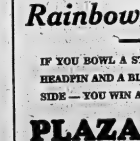
The Suns still own a comfortable four-game lead, but the margin is dwindling rapidly in the face of a prolonged Jacksonville scoring drought.

The Suns' woes shot out for the third straight time Wednesday as Rochester Red Wings swept a doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs, 14-0 and 11-7, cut 11½ games off the Suns' lead.

Toronto Maple Leafs vaulted into third place with a sweep against Rochester Red Wings, 3-2 and 8-4. Columbus Jets and Richmond Virginians split a pair, Columbus winning the first 9-2 and losing the second 2-0.

Delts, a righthander who specializes in slow, breaking stuff, stopped Jacksonville on seven hits. The Suns have scored one run in the last 33 innings. A two-run homer by Bob Burda climaxed a four-run eighth inning that put it out of reach for the Crackers.

BIGGY BATS BUSY



Buffalo hammered out 26 hits, including four homers and eight doubles in the two games with Syracuse. Bob Morgan had a single, three doubles and a home run and Lee Ella had four hits and drove in seven runs, including four on a grand-slam homer.

Rod Zipfel hit two home runs for Syracuse.

Toronto was helped along with seven Rochester errors and six unearned runs in its sweep. Pitcher Carl Greene's solo homer built the lead to 3-0 in the fourth inning of the first game, but he weakened in the sixth and needed help from Claude Raymond.

Rocky Nelson drove in three runs with a double and his 20th International League homer in the second game. Luke Easter had a homer in each game for Rochester.

Says Third Will Miss TV Games

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for the CBC said Wednesday it "regrets" that the Canadian Football League did not accept the CBC's bid for rights to televise the 1962 Grey Cup game. The rights went instead to the privately-owned CTV network.

The spokesman, who declined to say how much the CBC offered, said that award of the rights to CTV will mean a third of the Canadian TV audience will be deprived of seeing the game.

"We absolutely will not split our network," he said. It was against CBC policy to carry differed telecasts at the same time on various stations.

Lightfoots Shade Point 2-1

Lightfoot Construction's Percy Long and Point Anne's Dave Feeney hooked up in a Commercial softball league pitching duel last night with the Lightfoots pulling out a tight 2-1 victory.

In last night's thriller, the Lightfoots scored single runs in the fourth and sixth frames with the Connemarans combo back for their loner in the seventh and final inning.

Long allowed four singles, struck out eight and issued just one base-on-balls for the winners. Feeney was also touched for four singles while whiffing one and not walking a batter. Errors led to his defeat.

Lynch scored the winner's initial run when he reached third on an error and scored on an infield putout. The same pair made it 2-0, singling and scoring all the way home on a throwing miscue.

An overthrow at first base, moving Ron Hull to third, and Dennis Feeney's single, plated the Pointers only run. Maracle followed with another base hit to put the tying run on second but Long struck out the next batter to end the game.

Tom Lynch had two singles with one each for Cam Mc-Venna and Percy Long for the Lightfoots.

Lightfoots sent only 23 men to the plate in their six times at bat while Point Anne sent up just 26 in their seven innings.

Orioles Lose Jerry Adair

BALTIMORE (AP)—The injury-riddled Baltimore Orioles suffered another crippling blow Wednesday when shortstop Jerry Adair dislocated his left shoulder in the third inning of the first game of a double-header with Cleveland Indians.

Adair was injured when he made a head-first dive into first base to avoid a pick-off throw by Cleveland catcher John Romano. The shoulder was put back into place, but reports from the Orioles dressing room said Adair would be out of action at least 10 days.

Ron Hansen replaced Adair in the lineup. However, Hansen is in the army at nearby Fort Meade and won't be available for week-day games on the road.

Oriole catcher Gus Triandos is currently on the disabled list with a broken finger, and outfielder John Powell is sidelined with a pulled leg muscle.

'Bums' Win 10 In Row

Giants, Dodgers Set Hot Pace

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two traditional rivals streaked through the first of baseball's 1962 holiday battles in half step, still waging their duel at the top of the National League race.

Both San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers swept Memorial Day doubleheaders, leaving the Giants with a 1½-game lead over the Dodgers.

The Giants extended their winning string to seven games by beating Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 12 innings and 5-2. The Dodgers made it 10 in a row with 12-4 and 6-5 wins over New York Mets, who have been beaten 19 straight times.

Other clubs lost ground in the tournament chase.

The third - place Cincinnati Reds slipped six games behind by splitting a twin bill with Milwaukee Brewers. They beat the Braves 4-3 in 14 innings and lost by the same score in nine frames as Hon Pinche of Verdun, Que., fired a six hitter for his third victory without defeat this season.

PIRATES TAKE GAME

Pittsburgh Pirates, seven games off the pace, took a single game from St. Louis Cardinals 3-1. Houston Colts beat Chicago Cubs 8-6 in 14 innings on Dave Goltz's brilliant relief pitching and Carl Warwick's hitting.

The Giants had a struggle with the Phils in the opener, blowing three leads before Jose Pagan's leaping single scored Felipe Alou with the winning run in the 12th inning.

Jim Davenport rapped four hits for San Francisco, including a homer in the 12th following Alou's double. Stu Miller gained the pitching victory in relief with three shutout innings.

The Giants made it easier for themselves in the second game. Willie Mays scored two runs in the first inning and got a two-run homer from Tom Haller in the second, staking Mike McCormick to a comfortable lead.

Davenport finished the day with six hits, Pagan had five and Roy Sievers of the Phils smacked a homer in each game.

GETS TWO HOMERS

In the first game at New York the crowd saw the Dodgers mount an awesome 19-hit attack against Jay Hook and nine other pitchers as Dodger base-counting flash Maury Wills turn slugger with two homers and s e v e n southpaw Sandy Koufax give up 13 Met hits, but add to his impressive strikeout total with 10.

The second game however, was a cliff-hanger decided by Willie Davis' homer in the ninth inning.

Former Dodger hero Gil Hodges was chiefly responsible for keeping the Mets in the fight with his second and third homers of the day. The Mets added a bit of spice with the first triple play of the year, started on a sensational leaping grab by Elio Chacon on Willie Davis' line.

Hank Aaron of the Braves and Don Blasingame of the Reds got the deciding hits in the marathon doubleheader at Milwaukee, which stretched out to nearly eight hours. Hank singled home younger brother Tommy in the ninth inning of the opener.

Trudeaus started out with three runs in the first and added to their total in every frame except the fourth. The Pepsi's lone marker came in the seventh.

"Shaker" Baker, Lyle Wannamaker, Larry Potter, Percomba and Casey each had two hits for Trudeaus with Jack Whiting getting one.

Ron Mercer's home run for the Pepsi's with other safeties going to Campbell and Ron Lamber.

Girls Lose To Firemen In Softball

In exhibition ball last evening the Fire Department were victory over the newly-formed girls' intermediate team, 10-5.

Playing with reversed batteries it was a close battle with each team scoring six runs until the seventh inning when the Firemen were able to pull the game from the fire by scoring four runs.

The girls would like to issue a challenge to the Police, Public Works and Utilities teams in the hope that people will again become interested in girls' softball.

Carry Back Beats 'Kelso'

NEW YOR (AP) — Carry Back beat the mighty Kelso, horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, in the $111,000 Metropolitan Handicap at Aqueduct but trainer Jack Price still has an illusion about who is the champ.

"It's still Kelso," said Price, who trains Carry Back for his wife, Katherine.

"You must throw out Kelso's race. It was the first start of the year."

Kelso, favorite of a crowd of 43,065, finished sixth in a field of nine, more than eight lengths behind Carry Back, the 1961 champion three - year - old Derby and Preakness.

Carry Back not only staged his usual great rally in beating Merry Boler by 3¼ lengths, he tied the track record of 1:32 3-5 for the mile—set by Bold Eagle in the Metropolitan two years ago and equalled by Steuben Purple last April 5.

"Carry Back can't be that good," Price said. "If we had beaten Kelso in a nose-and-neck battle, that would have been different. I can't say Carry Back is a better horse than Kelso, but even at equal weights he wasn't going to beat Carry Back this time."

Carry Back carried 10 fewer pounds than the champ—hauling 126 to 126 for Kelso.

By winning, Carry Back picked up $73,725 and became thoroughbred racing's fourth millionaire, joining Round Table, Nashua and Citation. His career total is $1,004,153. Price also found a new jockey—Johnny Rotz, who won the Preakness with Greek Money 11 days ago—and got the mount on Carry Back when it looked as if Manny Ycaza would be under suspension for the Metropolitan.

PREDICT FLIGHT DELAYS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Delays of up to 36 hours in flights across the Pacific once U.S. nuclear tests resume on June 2 were predicted by airline spokesmen here today. The tests are expected to black out radio communications from 24 to 36 hours. Without radio navigational aids and ground-to-air communications, flights can not be scheduled, airline spokesmen said.

Jaipur Wins Rich Derby

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)—George D. Widener's Jaipur won the $130,700 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park Wednesday after a double foul claim against Crimson Satan, first home across the line in a three-horse photo finish, was upheld by the stewards.

Admiral's Voyage was moved up to second and Crimson Satan dropped to third.

No sooner had Larry Adams, aboard Jaipur, and Braulio Baeza, astride Admiral's Voyage, dismounted than both jockeys lodged a claim of foul against last year's two-year-old champion.

The disqualification gave Jaipur $84,855 first money.

Roman Line, favorite off a second in the Kentucky Derby and third in the Preakness, faded badly to finish fifth in the field of 12.

Jaipur returned $8.20, $3 and $4.40 to his backers, Admiral's Voyage paid $6.40 and $5.00 and Crimson Satan $7.80.

NEW B.F.GOODRICH SILVERTOWN TIRES

BIG EDGE
PUTS EXTRA RUBBER
WHERE THE WEAR IS ON THE EDGES

TODAY'S DRIVING, with new power and suspension systems, faster speeds, puts terrific loads on tires' outside edges, little in the centre. Outside ribs wear first. Photo shows turning tire as you normally see it.

PASSING ANOTHER CAR. This photo, shot under glass highway, shows stress on outside ribs. Centre ribs where other tires concentrate rubber, are "dead centre" of least action and wear.

STOPPING. Only small area of tire stops car. Again, outside edges take worst beating. That's where BFG puts twice as much rubber as other first-line tires.

MORE MILEAGE! New BFG Silvertown tires put extra rubber—THE BIG EDGE—on the outside edges of the tire. Other tires have narrow edges, rubber is concentrated in centre ribs, where wear and action are least. There's twice as much rubber on BFG Silvertown's outside edges as on other major first-line tires. You get THE BIG EDGE in safety and mileage.

NEW TREAD RUBBER! Making the most of new-car suspensions, BFG worked with car engineers to develop "soft rubber" tires. They smooth bumps beautifully, they're tough yet bounce-free, they give a safe, soft, new-car ride. And they cost no more than other first-line tires!

DOUBLE GUARANTEE! BFG Silvertowns are guaranteed a lifetime for workmanship and materials, guaranteed 24 months against blow-outs, cuts, breaks caused by road hazards of normal driving.

What Does Television Have Against Housewives?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — What does television have against housewives?

This is a plaintive question, asked after those disenchanted evenings before the TV screen, watching a dreary procession of ill-tempered, ill-groomed, nasal-voiced females using poor grammar.

There are a handful of bright, pretty, intelligent married women on the situation comedies—Donna Reed, Harriet Nelson, Mary Tyler Moore—but they are a decided minority.

The ladies of daytime serials, of course, have their problems—"other women," ailments, and accidents.

In the dramas, the housewives are a pretty sad lot—either drunken, irresponsible, spoiled, jealous, suspicious, complaining.

But perhaps the "average housewife" of the commercials are the worst of all. There's the wife, irritable woman who reacts crually at her family—until she finds the right laundering remedy. There are the helpless, harried women who wring their hands because they can't get their children to brush their teeth after every meal.

There is housewife who is so incompetent she licks the furniture because the aroma of her kitchen are so dirty.

Who are the glamor-girls of television? Well, there are the hostesses of the dance halls and bars and the west, the secretaries of the private eyes, and—above all—the slim professional models who use the right shampoo and hair colorings, Career girls, every one.

CFTO-TV Pays $175,000 To Televise Grey Cup Game, Network Has 8 Stations

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian television network (CTV) and Toronto's private television station, CFTO-TV, have bought the exclusive rights from Canadian Football League to televise this year's Grey Cup final Saturday, Dec. 1, at Toronto. The price was $175,000.

The announcement was made in a statement by John Bassett, chairman and president of CFTO-TV, and Spence Caldwell, CTV president. It was confirmed in Winnipeg by Sydney Halter, CFL president.

The CTV network has eight stations in Canada. They are located in Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Windsor, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver.

Gordon Keeble, CTV vice-president, said in a statement that the private network and CFTO-TV are prepared to make the cup telecast available to any television station in Canada which is outside the coverage area of the network's basic stations.

"We are most anxious to make this national event available to everyone, and we welcome other stations joining us in bringing it to as wide an audience as possible," Keeble said.

The CTV network was the successful bidder for CFL games in the Eastern and Western conferences this year and will carry conference playoffs and the cup classic.

ABC Offers Option

Meanwhile, the American Broadcasting Company has taken a two-day option on United States television rights to the Grey Cup.

Lew Hayman, managing director of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference and Jake Gaudaur of Hamilton, president of the Canadian Football League, met officials in New York Monday.

Hayman refused to give any details of the talks with Roone Arledge, executive producer of ABC's Wide World-of-Sports.

"I don't like to talk money. I'm more concerned with getting the cup final to American football fans," Hayman said in an interview.

If ABC takes up the option, Hayman said it would carry the game on about 135 American stations starting immediately after the Army-Navy game in the U.S.

The Grey Cup final and Army-Navy game are scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EDT.

"I personally would video-tape the cup final, feed it into New York and have it ready for air soon as the Army-Navy game is completed," Hayman said.

If ABC picks up the option it will be the first time Canadian football has been on U.S. television since 1954 when the National Football League bought the game. Company had a $250,000 contract with the Eastern Conference and television it league games. That was a one-year deal.

To Promote College Sports

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union Wednesday laid groundwork of a program to encourage and promote intercollegiate athletic competition in Canada.

The newly-formed body, representing four intercollegiate athletic associations across Canada, held its first annual meeting here and formulated plans the CIAU hopes will reflect the highest standards, of amateur sport.

As a first step, the board of governors approved a plan to stage national intercollegiate competitions including hockey, basketball and football.

A committee of university directors of athletics was appointed to organize and supervise the competitions. The CIAU also formed a committee to formulate plans to seek financial aid from the National Advisory Council of Fitness and Sport to carry out the competitions.

Baseball Players Natural Actors Says Don Drysdale

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Acting by day and pitcher by night is handsome young Don Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers mound ace.

How does he do it?

Easy, says he; baseball players are natural actors.

This confirms something long suspected by those of us who have watched those conspiratorial talks between pitcher and catcher while the batter waits. Pure ham.

Drysdale is the most experienced of the big-league actors, having appeared in such television shows as Lawman, The Millionaire and Rifleman. One can see him again tonight on The Donna Reed Show.

So far Don has managed his double career with no trouble from the front office.

One day last week he finished a role in an Alcoa Theatre show starring Jacque Stewart and directed by John Ford. He went home, caught a few hours' sleep, then went out to Dodger Stadium and pitched a four-hitter. You can't complain about that.

NEEDED NO LESSONS

"I took radio speech at school, but no acting," he reported. "Don't think I'll be needing it pretty good training for an actor.

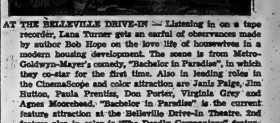
"You take a pitcher. He's got to stand out there on the mound and shake his head at the catcher's signals until the batter starts to think: 'Gee, just what is he going to pitch?' Or, 'how many different pitches does he have, anyway?'"

Drysdale declared that some of his best baseball friends and opponents are actors.

"Talk about actors, there was Gil Hodges," Don said. "He roomed with him for six years, and boy, he could put on a better act than most pomedians. I remember when he played Japan, he put on an act of imitating the catcher and the pitcher that was a riot. The Japanese ate it up.

"And when you're talking about actors, what about Jimmy Piersall? He's one of the best. Some people says he's crazy. Yeah, he's crazy like a fox."

Don conceded that Casey Stengel could win anybody's Oscar in the acting field.



AT THE PARK — Lassena, pert and lovely Janet Munro is starred in "The Day The Earth Caught Fire" now showing at the air conditioned Park Theatre, the stirring report on mankind's fight to avert final pressure background, with Leo McKern and Edward Judd. RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Belleville Kenmors senior baseball club, their artillery silenced after a brief first inning barrage against Peterborough in their opening tilt, have realized that the Lakeshore Baseball League, senior division, is much tougher company than they battled in the same circuit a year ago.

Bob Gatfield, the Petes southpaw, after giving up three back-to-back extra base clouts, settled down, put the silencer on his forkside automatic, and confined the Kenmor bludgeons to a pair of measly singles.

True, it was the first outing of the season for the Kenmors and they may have taken a little too much for granted. In any event the defeat didn't do them any harm and helped Manager Ken Soden and Coach Sid Forster put the finger on possible weak spots.

In fairness to the Kenmor squad they didn't beliefit by any "breaks" in their opening defeat, but these are part of the game. Besides their pitching did not stand up to any great extent and Gatfield saw to it that they didn't deliver any run-producing clouts in the clutches.

Manager Ken Soden said today that since their inaugural contest, the team has been going through strenuous practices under the eye of Coach Forster. They face a tough team on Sunday when they meet Kingston in the Limestone City for their opening clash. Kingston whipped the Petes 16-3 in their first outing.

"We have had several new faces turn out with the club," Soden said, "and as a result the team's regular line-up has not yet been decided."

A glimpse at the Kingston line-up that played the Petes revealed a number of baseball veterans who have turned out with the club. It is not the junior aggregation that played the Kenmors in OBA playdowns last summer. Far from it, for that matter.

The next two or three games should reveal how the Kenmors stack up against the reinforced Kingston and Peterborough clubs. There is little room for sentiment in sport, and that includes baseball. If the need arises the Kenmor management should not hesitate to use the services of veterans to bring about an equalization of strength.

The Belleville club has received an invitation to play at the new High View Park, Toronto, on Friday evening against an all-star squad of the Scarboro League. The club leaves the CNE Park at 5:30 and there is bus-room for a small number of fans.

Detroit Tigers scout Bob Prentice is in charge of the invitational series in Scarboro and is keenly interested in looking over the Kenmors. Coach Forster plans to work everyone in the lineup and give all his pitchers a short workout on the mound. It should be a sharpener for Sunday's game with Kingston which is being played in McGeeHn stadium in the afternoon.

The Kenmors parade their diamond wares for the home town fans here next Wednesday, starting at 8.15 under the klelgs. The management is planning a gala opening with a band, free treats and lucky draw prizes.

The opposition will be the Peterborough Fannings and the Kenmks, still smarting under that initial setback in Peterborough, hope to square matters. Should weather conditions prevent the game being played it will be staged on Friday night, June 3rd, at 8.15.

Coach Sid Forster is well fitted for the job. He has a lot of background experience as a first-baseman and pitcher. He knows a lot of baseball answers and has his own system of coaching. He fights for the club and takes an individual interest in the players. He is a big, personable chap who will be well liked by the fans.

And Picks Up $100,000

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Roger Ward, who dresses like a bank president, plays tournament bridge and golfs in the low 80s, will politely relieve Speedway owner Tony Hulman of something over $100,000 tonight at the annual 500-Mile Auto Race victory dinner.

The 41 - year - old master of closed course racing was just as smooth Wednesday when he drove his cow A. J. Watson custom-built speedster to his second Memorial Day victory in four years. He set a record of 140.292 m.p.h. against A. J. Foyt's year-old mark of 139.13.

It was a remarkable 12th straight start in the world's richest auto race for the veteran Indianapolis sportsman — but no Gentleman. And he proved again that you can't beat experience at the 2½-year-old track.

Parnelli Jones, who turned the first 150-mile-an-hour lap over the relatively flat track during the time trials, did his best to back up predictions that he would run away from the pack in his Agajanian Special.

Jones, in only his second 500, led for more than half the race but brake-line trouble messed up his pit stops and he finished in seventh place.

LEADS BRIEFLY

Ward also won the pole position by virtue of his 150-mile-an-hour qualifying time. Sutton started third and Sachs fourth.

Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner also showed the huge crowd some tremendous charging. He started in 30th place and fought his way up to second before an overheated engine retired him.

Unofficially Jones was back of Sachs was Don Davis.

The first four finishers broke the record.

Dodgers 'Return Home'

'And Some Came To Scoff'

NEW YORK (AP)—It will be a long time before New York Mets find out what a world series is like, but until that faraway day arrives Wednesday will do.

It was the day the Dodgers returned to the scene of the crime and there were plenty of witnesses on hand.

They started arriving at breakfast time, with their lunches in paper bags, their kids by the hand and their lungs well-oiled. By noon they were standing three deep behind the grandstand seats at the ancient Polo Grounds, deserted five years ago when the Dodgers and Giants moved west, taking National League baseball with them.

"If we'd had crowds like this it might still be here," mused Leo Durocher, who managed both the Dodgers and Giants and now is a coach with the Los Angeles outfit. "Boy, there is going to be some fun today," he added.

There was. The Mets pulled the first triple play in the memory this season and got three runners from Gil Hodges but still dropped both ends of the doubleheader 13-4 and 5-3.

Old habits seemed to die on the 126th lap, Foyt lost a wheel and was lucky to walk back to the pits.

Ward's teammate, Len Sutton, led nine laps after Ward made his last pit stop, but came back to finish second after his final hail for tires and fuel.

Ward and Sutton were financed by Robert C. Wilkie of Milwaukee, who also owned Ward's 1959 winning car.

Popular Eddie Sachs was a hard - luck loser for a second straight year. Taking third money, he actually was on the track a shorter time than Ward or Sutton. Sachs finished 2.43 seconds back of Sutton and 20.29 seconds back of Ward, but his pit stops took 34.5 seconds longer than Ward's efficient stops.

Sachs started in 27th place, gaining 24 positions. Ward had to advance only one spot. He started in second position as a result of the second - best qualifying time. Sutton started fourth.

Jones, in only his second 500, led for more than half the race but brake-line trouble messed up his pit stops and he finished in seventh place.

LEADS BRIEFLY

Scots Tie Slavs 3-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Dundee of Scotland and Hajdok of Yugoslavia battled to a 3-3 tie in the second game of an International Soccer League doubleheader before 6,387 persons Wednesday at Downing Stadium.

Guadalajara of Mexico won the opener, defeating Reutlingen of West Germany 2-0. The loss was the first for Reutlingen and the first time the team has been scored against.

Says Moss Will Race This Summer

TORONTO (CP)—Ken Gregory, manager of British motor racing ace Stirling Moss, said Wednesday the injured driver plans to resume his career late this summer.

In a telephone call to the Canadian Racing Drivers' Association from London, Gregory said Moss would not be ready to attend the 200-mile race at Mosport, Ont., June 9—either as driver or spectator.

He said Moss had wanted to accompany team members Inner Ireland and Marien Gregory to Canada.

"In fact, Stirling told me before going in for the minor operation on his broken nose Saturday that he still thought he would be in Toronto. Not to race, of course, but he wants to watch Ireland drive his car."

Ireland has taken over Moss's new rear-engined Ferrari.

"But the doctors say no and I feel the same way. We all want him to take it easy—that's our big problem now."

Plans call for Moss to be transferred to St. Thomas Hospital in London this weekend, then to take a six-week holiday at Nassau.

Gregory said Moss is recovering rapidly from the brain injury he suffered Easter Sunday at Goodwood, England, in a crash.

Three-Hitter, Two Homers, 5 RBI's

Ramos One-Brave Gang For Tribe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rubber-armed Pedro Ramos and Vic Power once were ranked among baseball's seasonal rubbers by Cleveland Indians and Minnesota Twins.

So it was not surprising when the Indians and Twins cooked up a trade involving the pair for the 1962 American League campaign. Ramos and Power merely switched clubs, Pedro going to the Indians and Power to the Twins.

The deal looked mighty good for both clubs Wednesday.

Ramos, a right-handed hurler whose loss leg for the last four years reads 13-13-12-10, stopped Baltimore Orioles on three hits in the first game of a double header and drove in five runs for his 7-0 triumph with a pair of homers—one a grand-slam per. The Orioles won the nightcap 7-6 in 10 innings.

Power hit an 11th - inning home run for a 5-4 Minnesota triumph after the second-place New York Yankees had taken the opener of their twin bill 10-3. That restored Cleveland's half-game edge at the top of the league race.

Minnesota remained a game back in third place. The Seattle Pilots' Tigers and the fifth-place Los Angeles Angels, percentage points apart, are two games behind the Twins. The Tigers split with Chicago White Sox, winning 7-3 before losing 6-5. The Angels beat Boston Red Sox 10-5 and 4-0.

DIVIDE DOUBLEHEADERS

Washington Senators split Kansas City Athletics also divided a doubleheader. The Senators took the opener 6-5 but lost the second game 5-2.

At Minneapolis, the Yankees and Twins drew 39,720 fans for an afternoon Memorial - Day game and 33,625 for the night battle. This helped swell the league's total attendance for nine games Wednesday to 155,972.

The National League drew 134,620 customers on its eighth-game program, plus the 25,000 fans a total of 200,802 for the holiday.

Stanzas (3-1) was in complete charge against the Orioles, blanking them without a hit after the third inning and getting added homer support from Al Lopez.

The Orioles won the nightcap behind Jackie Brandt and Dave Nicholson off Harry Latman (3-4) and the five-hit pitching of Ed Bevens (2-2) and Hoyt Wilhelm. Wilhelm came on in relief when Bevens developed a blister in the eighth inning.

Johnny Blanchard paced the Yankees' 16-hit attack with the first grand-slam homer of his life and single for three runs batted in, while Bill Stafford (4-3) checked the Twins on seven hits. Victim of the heavy hitting was Joe Bonikowski (3-4).

Power's one-out blast in the 11th got the Twins the split in games, with Dick Stigman (3-1) getting the victory and Bill Coates (4-2) taking the defeat.

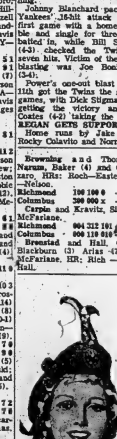
HIDDEN DANGERS IN CAR POOLS

In all provinces except Quebec, passengers ride in private cars at their own risk. But, the driver is generally responsible for passengers when he is being paid to carry them, and lies in the business of passenger transportation. And the way courts are interpreting the law, some car pools may be a business arrangement, particularly if passengers pay a fixed fee for the ride to work.



The law does not make it clear whether or not the driver taking his neighbors to work is making a business of it. It is our opinion that a man is taking a large risk if he takes money or some reciprocal advantage from the passengers and doesn't have proper liability insurance coverage on his motor vehicle.

We have the proper endorsements for this type of coverage and suggest that if you are engaged in a car pool arrangement or receive compensation for transporting passengers, then let us endorse your auto insurance policy to include your liability to your passengers.

The Traoks

blee's sixth and feature race, the Memorial Day purse, provided the highlight of Day for the Ontario racing season Wednesday.

Com Smythe's Caledon Belle and the American-bred I Recall raced neck and neck down the head heat. In the process, Caledon Belle leaped to the front by a nose for the distance of any Canadian bred this season, Caledon Belle's time was 1.58 2-5 for the one fifth of a second behind the record 1.58 3-5 set by Cam Fella as a favorite in the $25,000 Canadian Oaks to be run June 9 at Woodbine.

The payoff on Caledon Belle, $16.60 straight, was the highest of the meeting. The $16.60 was the highest payoff on a straight ticket since Bellini Hanover paid $17.60 in the Canadian Oaks in 1960. Bellini Hanover is owned by Mrs. Ruth Bell of Toronto and was driven to victory by Alberta Ranches partnership of Frank McMahon and Max Hill in the $25,000 Canadian Oaks to be run June 9 at Woodbine.

Prince d'Amour is 20 to 1 for the Epsom event, which may one day be in danger of losing its pre-eminent position on the turf calendar.

In the past, the Irish Derby used to be a fairly ordinary classical race. This year there is to be a sweepstakes on the race, as with the Grand National steeplechase and the Cambridgeshire.

Nevertheless, the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes are sponsoring the event and putting up £30,000 in prize money. Entry and acceptance fees are expected to boost total prize money to between £70,000 and £75,000, which would make the perhaps the richest race in Europe.

At the moment, the honor belongs to France's Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, worth about £70,000.

Last year the Irish Derby had prize money of only £10,000. It was won by Our Highness, with Sayrambo, representing Brit, in second place only half a length away.

Irish Sweeps Derby will be run at The Curragh, 20 miles southwest of Dublin.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Jane Morgan was discharged from hospital Wednesday after the elimination of a half-inch metal bolt she swallowed two days ago. She apparently swallowed the bolt in some home sewing chore. Doctors said it faced surgery for its removal, until its natural elimination during the night.

Bookies Offer 1000-1 Odds

LONDON (CP) — Irish book-makers are offering the colossal price of 1,000 to 1 against the Canadian - owned Prince d'Amour for a race to be run June 30.

The race is the Irish Sweeps Derby, and the installed quotes don't altogether the result of Irish generosity. The hitch is that the bookies don't expect the "Canuck" colt to run.

Prince d'Amour, now in Ballydoyle, Ireland, is owned by former Canadian jockey Sir Gordon Richards, was purchased recently by the Alberta Ranches partnership of Frank McMahon and Max Hill for the $25,000 Canadian Oaks to be run June 9 at Woodbine.

The Epsom Derby will be run next Wednesday.

$50,000 Loss In Galt Fire

GALT, Ont. (CP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Hannen Paint and Varnish Company plant on Water Street during the night with an estimated loss of $50,000.

A fire wall in the centre of the three-story building prevented flames from spreading to a second-hand store and post-room.

A series of explosions blew out sections of the brick walls and broke hydro wires.

C. Ready, manager of the company, said there was no serious loss was of formulae and government specifications. They had just come ready for shipment but delivery was prevented by the Teamsters strike. The company was planning to move its plant equipment to nearby Glenmorris in three weeks.

At the height of the blaze, guests at the nearby Albion Hotel were told to move out.

Will Probe Betting After Riot

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — An investigation into betting patterns and other factors at Yonkers Raceway was ordered by New York State harness racing commission Wednesday in the wake of a riot after Tuesday night's eighth race.

The race was won by Miss Chief Mokea and bettors, apparently angered by fluctuating odds—which dipped from 9-2 to 5-2 at the last second—rioted and inflicted heavy damage to the harness racing track.

Later, track judges suspended the driver of the winning horse, Charles Fitzpatrick, the trainer, J. Mace, and the owners, Herbert Calhoun and H. Tingle of Hagerhon, Del.

Public address systems were broken, fences crushed and seats ripped. The rioters broke a plate glass window, overturned concession stands and set a number of small fires.

A crowd of 25,012 turned out Wednesday night and saw Duke Rodney, the odds-on favorite, win the $31,150 1¼-mile Hilltop trot by three lengths in a time of length over Portchoque, returning $3.40.

Astrological Forecast

For June 1

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): If you can attain realization of ability, authority, no need for self-assertive comments which later could prove embarrassing. Let record speak for itself.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): If you try to play game "two ways," you may find yourself caught short in the middle. You are strongly urged to "play" for future, not necessarily for immediate results.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) You can make demands; you will have to be there "in person" before achieving results. Day when personal initiative pays off. Otherwise, it is all talk.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Meaning well may not be enough. You will have to provide an example. Some personal sacrifice may be necessary. If you go ahead, you will ultimately be rewarded.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Challenge is key. Overcome temporary obstacle. Otherwise, opportunity could fly by. Nothing worthwhile is really easy. Day to show abilities.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Nagging fears should be brought out in open and eradicated. Best achieved by taking care of details, answering mail, catching up on business matters.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22): Being impatient with friends, those who really are concerned about you, is wrong. Take time to be right. Check tendency to speak out of turn. Show appreciation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You seek harmony, but get upset over minor matters. This is negative side to today's cycle. On positive side, you should make most of what you possess.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Hurrying to get somewhere could slow you down. Take time, think. Make sure all is in order, especially regarding transportation. Otherwise, you must start again.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Favorable lunar aspect today means success is highlighted. Also spotlighted are your ability to put across ideas, and need for self-expression.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Uranus sparks you into action; most of it impulsive. Check "hole card." Let others gamble. Be sure you know what you really desire, then go ahead.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Versatility, originality demand. But if you are to make most of day, No time to merely follow. Present own ideas and take initiative. Originality key for success.

* * *

If today is your birthday . . . you are learning more this year than you have in the past nine years. This month you must attend to details, and be willing to admit past errors. Much improvement, beginning with October, especially where financial affairs are concerned.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Aries, Taurus, Gemini. Internationally known woman celebrity could make headlines. Special word to you: remember there is difference between recognition and notoriety. Show what you can do. But avoid sensationalism.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I figured it was a good time to water the back yard. Why?"

Relations in Britain's Car Industry Near Breakdown

By DOUG MARSHALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"How about an hour's token work as a protest against strikes?" suggests a bright young car worker to a militant shop steward over mugs of tea.

While many Britons laughed at Waite's cartoon in The Daily Sketch, the punchline left an acid aftertaste. The absurdity is too close to the truth.

Industrial relations in Britain's car industry are approaching a total breakdown at a time when manufacturers are gearing for a vast expansion and hard-earned export orders are beginning to flood in.

The trouble has been most evident in the Ford Company's huge plant at Dagenham, Essex. Since the last wage settlement eight months ago there have been 69 go-slows, overtime bans or unofficial stoppages.

PLEADS FOR SOLUTION

Last week the company rejected a new wage demand and pleaded with the 22 car unions involved to help find a way to solve the endlessly recurring labor troubles.

Shop stewards in the factory, led by two avowed Communists, immediately called for a one-day token strike. They seemed for a time to have the support of the workers.

But on a ballot held Tuesday the workers rejected calls for an unofficial strike and voted to wait until the unions' executives decide whether an official strike is justified.

Ford is the first British manufacturer in recent years to reject a wage increase on the grounds of declining profits. If they succeed in obtaining union submission, other manufacturers will certainly follow suit.

WALKOUT SNOWBALLED

A similar two-week dispute at the British Motor Corporation's Birmingham works ended Tuesday after an initial walkout by 55 electricians eventually left 21,000 men on strike.

Prospects of an easy solution to the industry's labor problems are slim. Ford is determined to limit unofficial stoppages and has threatened to transfer the bulk of its British operations to West Germany unless production lines run more smoothly.

At the same time the union leaders, although reluctant to declare an official strike, seem to lack the authority to influence decisions taken at the factory level.

Part of the unions' weakness results from the division into 23 separate organizations within the same industry. In the United States one union represents the entire car industry and wildcat strikes are much less frequent.

Prime Minister Inonu of Turkey Resigns Post

ANKARA (Reuters) — Prime Minister Ismet Inonu of Turkey today submitted his resignation in the face of growing opposition within his coalition government.

The 78-year - old Inonu announced his decision to resign Wednesday after a series of meetings with cabinet ministers and legislators of Republican People's Party.

Inonu's move was brought about by a crisis within his coalition government over rival proposals for granting amnesty to about 500 imprisoned former officials of the regime of the late premier, Adnan Menderes who was executed last September.

The Republican People's Party has backed a step-by-step amnesty while its coalition partner, the Justice Party, has been pressing for a sweeping pardon for the former officials of the ousted Menderes regime.

Inonu's resignation left the Justice Party were Menderes supporters.

SOME SUPPORT INONU

However, about 100 legislators from the Justice Party in the coalition Party are known as "moderates" and accept the view of Inonu's party in the amnesty issue.

Political sources said Inonu may make a bid for the support of the moderates in an attempt to form a one-party government and drop his difficult coalition partner.

The position of Turkey's two smaller parties in a manoeuvre for power is very important because they might end up with the balance of power in Parliament.

They are the Republican Nation Party, led by Inonu and the New Turkey Party, which have formed a bloc in opposition to Inonu's coalition government.

The Justice Party Wednesday night proposed a 24-hour time limit before Inonu's final decision on his resignation but the move was rejected by the Republican People's Party.

Inonu formed his coalition government last November following October elections in which neither the Republican People's Party nor the Justice Party won a clear majority in parliament.

The elections were called by President Cemal Gursel, who has ruled Turkey since he led a military junta since the armed forces overthrew Menderes in May, 1960.

Lions Club Entry Places Third in Hamilton Parade

The Belleville Lions Club placed third out of 80 entries in the huge District "A" annual parade held in Hamilton last Sunday.

The entry, an African scene, consisted of a realistic mobile float, a large crocodile and a native grass hut. Designing and supervision was under the direction of Bob Waite of the Bellville City Works Department.

The forty-foot long crocodile, with a harnbino in its mouth, drew more than its share of attention during the three-hour long parade as it travelled the three-and-one-half mile route.

The Belleville entry was preceded by Gail Hendricks and her group of majorettes, who put on an excellent display.

The district convention began in Hamilton on Sunday and was expected to be completed some time yesterday. The convention commenced with the annual parade and ended with the election of officers. About 300 clubs were represented. Nearly 2,000 delegates were in attendance.
